

Chapter 361

Among the four robbers, only Fourth Elder Brother was left. He was the one who was holding and controlling the driver.

Fourth Elder Brother was thin and small. At this moment, he was so frightened that he trembled. He couldn't stand still at all.

As soon as he saw Fade Chen looking at him, he immediately raised his hands and knelt down on the ground. He trembled and begged for mercy, saying, "I will surrender. I'm willing to go to jail. It's my mistake..."

Before he could finish his sentence, Fade twisted Fourth Elder Brother's neck directly. With a crackling sound, Fourth Elder Brother fell to the ground softly and lost his breath.

It took Fade less than a minute to kill these four robbers.

At this moment, the people in the car saw what had happened. All of them were shocked and they gazed at Fade with their mouths wide open. They didn't know what to say at all.

Even Eileen Yao, who had tried her best to help just now, looked at Fade in surprise at this moment. Her face was full of disbelief as she said, "You, you actually..."

Fade hugged Quin Lin gently and walked forward. When he passed Eileen, he nodded gently at her, saying, "Thank you very much."

Then, Fade helped Quin get off the car, but after a few steps, he seemed to remember something. Fade turned around, took out a bracelet, and handed it to Eileen. He said, "This is for you. Wear it always and don't take it off anytime. It will bring benefits to you."

Then, Fade's eyes fell on the frightened man, Marco Ji, and they suddenly turned cold. It was still understandable that this man did not attempt to help them just now, but Eileen had wanted to lend a helping hand, and he had stopped her. He had no sense of justice or any air of masculinity at all.

Glaring at him fiercely, Fade said to Eileen, "In the future, I advise you not to be close with such a person."

After saying that, Fade helped Quin out of the car and walked directly into the forest from the side of the road.

Fade had gotten off the car because he was unable to judge whether these robbers had anything to do with the kidnapping of Jeremy Lin.

If they were involved with the kidnapping, then it would be better for them to depart from the scene as soon as possible. In that case, the other party would not be able to figure out their whereabouts.

Even if these robbers were not involved in the kidnapping, the four of them were dead, and there were so many witnesses. The police and even the Stealth Team would be informed and they would be alarmed by this matter. It would be troublesome for them to provide confessions at that time, and it would delay Jeremy's rescue. Therefore, Fade felt that he had undoubtedly made the best choice to get out of the car and leave now.

Fade and Quin disappeared into the woods. Then, the people in the car came to their senses gradually.

Eileen gazed at Fade's vanishing figure, and her eyes showed a hint of excitement. She muttered, "He is amazing indeed. Is he an example of an authentic martial-arts master that Uncle Xu was telling me about?"

Uncle Xu was the bodyguard of Eileen's father, and he was a martial-arts warrior at the middle stage of the Yellow Level. His strength was considered decent compared to the average person. However, Uncle Xu had always said that his strength was very poor, and that authentic martial-arts masters were much stronger.

Eileen didn't believe him before this. She felt that Uncle Xu was really strong. After all, he could deal with dozens of punks by himself, which was considered very powerful. However, at this moment, when she witnessed Fade's actions and skills, she became aware of the gap between Uncle Xu and authentic masters of the martial-arts.

With a sense of excitement and wonder in her heart, Eileen carefully put on the bracelet that Fade had given her. The bracelet was one of the amulets that Fade had created out of ice silk and warm jade.

Eileen was still contemplating Fade's skills. At this time, Marco stood up from his seat and went with the other passengers to search for his belongings in the robber's bag.

In the end, he came back with both Eileen's and his belongings. He handed the wallet, cell phone, and camera to her with a flattering smile and said, "Eileen, everything is here. Nothing is broken."

Looking at Marco's phony smile, Eileen couldn't help but think of Marco's timid and weak appearance just now. She immediately rolled her eyes at him and walked away directly, unwilling to remain with him.

A fawning smile appeared on Marco's face. He approached Eileen and said, "Eileen, don't be angry. I was too nervous just now and said something wrong."

Eileen said coldly, "You are timid and afraid of death. You even told me not to bring trouble to you. Is that what you mean by saying something wrong? Marco, I misjudged you. From now on, we don't need to be friends anymore."

Hearing her words, Marco felt a jolt in his heart and his face fell. Eileen was a friend that he had known for five years. They were very familiar and close with each other. Recently, their relationship was getting closer. They had almost reached the level of being a couple.

Moreover, the Yao Family's background was also very good, and it was even better than the Ji Family's background. If he could marry Eileen, their family's business development would be much better.

Therefore, Marco already viewed Eileen as his girlfriend in his heart. He even wanted to take this opportunity for both of their fathers to participate in the investment team this time. Their investigation and research would enable him to travel together with Eileen. His purpose was for them to become closer in their relationship, and confirm the status of their relationship publicly.

However, something like this had happened. Fade's previous words had completely changed Eileen's attitude toward Marco. She felt now that there was no need to even think about their relationship as a couple.

As Marco noticed that Eileen was directly getting out of the car, his face fell. He said, "Eileen, will you really listen to that guy's words, and not contact me anymore?"

Eileen shook her head and said, "Marco, it is not because of someone's words, or that guy just now. It is a matter of your attitude and character. In this critical moment, I saw your true colors."

Marco's expression became darker and he said, "Even if, even if I was a little timid just now, it is considered normal. After all, it's unusual for ordinary people to fight with robbers who are holding daggers. Besides, I tried to advise you and persuade you against acting that way, for your own safety."

Eileen's eyes showed a look of extreme disappointment and she said, "Marco, you speak in this manner to defend yourself. However, do you really believe your own words? I won't mention anything about being courageous or wanting justice. However, at that time, when I wanted to fight, you asked me not to cause trouble for you. This statement is really selfish, and you are indefensible."

Marco's expression was extremely unpleasant, and he became gloomy and rather desperate. He said, "Eileen, is it just because that man has more powerful skills, and because he gave you that rotten bracelet, that causes you to trust him so much? I have been friends with you for many years, we..."

Eileen touched the bracelet on her wrist and said lightly, "Yes, he is a good person. The bracelet is not valuable, but it is also a nice gesture from him. If a person's character is revealed to be not good, everything positive about the friendship will be meaningless. Marco, we won't keep in touch anymore in the future."

As she said this, Eileen got out of the car directly with the other frightened female passengers. She began to comfort them.

When the passengers called the police and waited for them to arrive, Fade and Quin had already walked for quite a distance in the dense forest beside the mountain road. At this time, they were surrounded by lush green trees and rugged hills.

Chapter 362

The trees were dense and the mountains were steep. Quin Lin's physical strength was limited, so she couldn't move fast when walking in this kind of terrain. After a while, she began to pant, and many parts of her clothes became dirty. Even her hands and feet were stained with dirt and blood.

Seeing this, Fade Chen said, "Quin, I'll carry you on my back!"

Quin shook her head and her white teeth, saying, "There's no need for that. I can still walk."

As she said this, she deliberately quickened her pace to show that she could still proceed forward.

Seeing this, Fade couldn't help but shake his head and slowed down to follow his wife. His wife was capable and was good in many things, but she was too strong-willed. At this time, she still didn't want to show her weaknesses in front of him.

After walking for another ten minutes, the surrounding forest grew thicker and the mountain path became even more difficult to walk on. Quin's speed slowed down once again.

Fade did not ask this time. He walked to Quin's side and stretched out one arm to grab her back, while he held Quin's legs with the other arm. Then, he lifted Quin into his arms.

Quin was startled by Fade's actions. "What are you doing? Put me down. I can walk on my own," she said.

"Don't pretend to be strong, I'll carry you all the way!" Fade said. His large hand pressed against his wife's voluptuous thigh, and he felt an unusual soothing sensation and elasticity. Then, he took a step and bounced like a lively rabbit, moving swiftly through the forest.

Fade moved quickly, and the sound of wind could be heard as he made his way. The surrounding trees also seemed to be left behind as he darted forward like a shadow.

The excitement caused by his rapid speed caused Quin to experience an unprecedented pleasure. Her cheeks became flushed, and her whole body was completely glued to Fade's chest. She could feel Fade's powerful heartbeat, and a warm sensation surged in her heart.

Of course, Fade also held her hands and caressed her hands from time to time, causing her to feel aroused.

In this way, Fade carried Quin all the way through the forest. His speed was twice as fast as the car they were on just now. Half an hour later, they were close to the edge of the forest. Looking through the cracks of the trees, they spotted buildings and people from a small town.

"We're here!" Fade said. With a smile on his face, Fade carried Quin and headed toward the direction of that small town.

Quin lay in Fade's arms like it was her usual habit to do so. As a result, she felt that her surroundings were suddenly brighter. Only then did she discover that she had already emerged from the woods. When she arrived at the edge of the town, she heard voices of some people around her.

Immediately, Quin's pretty face turned red. She said quickly, "Put me down now!"

Fade embraced his wife tightly in his arms and smiled. He said, "Why do you want to get down now? I'm not tired at all."

Quin punched Fade's chest gently a few times, and she urged him to put her down as she blushed. "Put me down. It will not be a good situation if someone sees us like this," she said.

"What's wrong with our situation? You're my wife. It's normal for me to carry you," Fade said. However, he put his wife down with a smile.

As soon as Quin landed on the ground, her legs gave way and she almost collapsed on the ground. Fortunately, Fade caught her just in time and helped her to stabilize herself.

Quin steadied herself and tidied up her messy clothes. She coughed softly and said, "You can let go of me now. I can walk on my own."

Fade pinched her with his large hand and said, "It's alright, Quin. I'll hold you like this."

"There's no need for that. I can walk on my own," Quin said. She blushed as she pushed Fade's amorous hands away. Then, she quickened her pace and took a few strides.

Fade rubbed his hands reluctantly and followed his wife into the town.

The town was not big, and it was not very prosperous. However, due to the development of tourist resorts and investment projects at Fuma mountain, there were quite a few outsiders in town. The arrival of Fade and Quin did not seem special at all.

However, the town had a problem. There weren't enough hotels in town.

The hotels of higher quality had long been booked by the investment team consisting of businessmen who were involved in the investigation and research here. The remaining small inns were also almost full.

Some hotels, which were obviously seedy, had vacant rooms, but the environment was not appropriate for them. Fade did not want his wife to live in that kind of place.

Hence, after searching the town, he finally spent triple the amount of the usual price and booked a guest room in a medium-sized hotel.

The guest room's environment was relatively decent. It was basically at the level of an ordinary city's bed and breakfast, but the amenities were a little low in quality. Fade and Quin were not planning to stay too long, so they naturally did not care much about these issues.

By the time they arrived at the small town, it was already evening. Quin was exhausted, and she had no choice but to begin the search for Jeremy Lin the next day.

Thus, after dinner, the two of them did not have any extra time. They went straight back to their room and prepared to wash up before taking a rest.

His wife was very tired, so Fade naturally asked her to take a bath first.

Quin took her clothes and towel into the bathroom. Then, she stepped into the shower, and began to wash herself.

Fade looked at the warm yellow light in the bathroom and the graceful figure reflected by the light. Suddenly, he felt a burning desire and his mind began to run wild. He couldn't help but think of some nocturnal activities.

Just as Fade's imagination was running wild, Quin suddenly let out a scream in the bathroom.

Fade came to his senses instantly. He bounced up and rushed to the bathroom. He pushed the bathroom door open and asked, "Honey, what's wrong?"

Quin, who was drenched all over, did not expect Fade to come in. She was stunned at that moment. Then, she came to her senses and realized that she was naked in front of him. Immediately, her face turned red, and she quickly grabbed the towel to cover herself.

However, the towel in this small hotel was smaller in size, and not a standard bath towel. It only covered a limited area. Her skin, which was white as snow, and the magnificent scenery, were exposed. Fade could not help but stare at this beautiful scenery. He could not move his eyes away at all.

When Quin saw this, she became even more embarrassed. Her face was red from shame. She quickly pulled up the towel to block the important parts of her body. At the same time, she shouted, "You, you, go out quickly, now!"

Fade wiped his nose, which was rather warm, and said, "Quin, I'm worried about you. What happened just now when you screamed?"

Quin shook her head and said, "Nothing, nothing at all. It was just a mouse that had jumped out. I was scared."

"A mouse, that isn't good. I can't leave you here. If it bites you, my wife, and leave ugly scars behind, that will be bad," Fade said earnestly. He did not leave, but moved further into the bathroom instead. "Quin, I'm here to catch the mouse for you,"he said.

"There's no need for that. The mouse has already left. Don't enter..." Quin shouted. She had just said this when she saw a fat mouse crawling over along the pipes.

Instantly, Quin was so frightened that she let out yet another scream. She loosened her hands and the towel fell off naturally. The beautiful scenery reappeared once more.

Fade rushed over with his bright eyes, hugged his wife, patted her back and comforted her. He said, "Don't be afraid, don't be afraid, I'm going to catch the mouse. My wife, don't be afraid!"

He could feel his wife's tender skin and his palm was touching her graceful curves. At this moment, Fade's heart was about to soar. Looking at the little mouse who was sneaking toward the window sill, he blinked his eyes and smiled. "Little fellow, since you have done me a favor, I won't kill you. Go away now!"he whispered.

Chapter 363

Quin Lin was in Fade Chen's arms. After waiting for a long time, she didn't notice that he was making any movements in chasing away the mouse. Instead, she felt that Fade's amorous hands were slowly caressing her body.

Instantly, Quin blushed. Her face was red as she pushed Fade away. She covered her chest and said in a delicate voice, "You, you get out!"

Fade looked at his wife's graceful figure. His nose was getting warm, and it seemed like a stream of blood might spurt out anytime soon. "Quin, this small hotel is quite dirty, and there are quite a lot of mice around. Why don't I accompany you as you shower? Rest assured, I will turn my back on you. I won't look around,"he said.

"That's no need for that!" Quin said. She rolled her eyes at Fade and did not dare to move her hands. She was afraid that her important body parts would become exposed if she moved her hands slightly. Therefore, she could only lift her leg and kicked Fade gently.

However, the moment she lifted her leg, her private parts became exposed, which immediately caused Fade's nose to spurt out warm blood .

Upon seeing this, Quin's face instantly turned as red as a peach, and this peach seemed ripe and juicy.

At this time, Quin could no longer resist Fade's fiery gaze. Ignoring her exposed state, she stretched out her hand and pushed Fade out. Then, she slammed the bathroom door and deliberately locked it.

Fade wiped off the blood from his nose. Looking at the queen-sized bed in the room, his mind began to indulge in flights of fancy again.

"Looks like I have a chance to make out with my wife tonight!"

"I didn't expect to have such an advantage staying in such a small hotel. When I travel with my wife the next time, I should specifically choose a small hotel to stay in."

"Oh no. I have forgotten to buy some condoms. I'm in trouble now. I remember that there is a supermarket located downstairs. They should be selling these things."

Just as Fade thought about these things, Quin had put on some clothes. She walked out of the bathroom with wet hair.

Fade's eyes lit up when he saw his beautiful wife getting out of the bathroom. His nose had just stopped bleeding, but at this moment, it felt itchy again.

When Quin noticed Fade's expression, she immediately tightened her grip on her clothes. She said to Fade, "I'm done. It's your turn now. You can go and wash up!"

Hearing his wife's words, Fade's heart began to race again. "My wife asked me to wash up. Is she thinking of that too, so she urged me to..." Fade thought to himself.

Thinking of this, Fade felt a fire burning in his heart. He quickly found some clothes from his bag and rushed into the bathroom. At the same time, he shouted, "Quin, I'll take a quick shower. You just stay on the bed and watch TV for a while. I'll be right back."

Then, Fade rushed into the bathroom, whistling. His mind was preoccupied as he began to wash up.

He was worried that he would have an unpleasant scent if they were intimate later. Therefore, Fade spent quite some time washing up. He rubbed himself twice with the bath gel and cleaned up properly. Finally, he felt that he was fragrant, so he put on a pair of shorts and came out of the bathroom with his bare upper body.

Walking out of the bathroom, Fade couldn't wait and he walked directly toward the bed. He was ready to make out with his wife.

However, when he came over, he found that the bed was empty and that no one was there. The TV was still on, and there were traces of someone sitting on the bed previously, which indicated that his wife was watching TV just now.

Then, Fade looked around, but he still did not find his wife. This hotel was just a small place, and he could see everything with one glance. There was no place to hide.

Fade couldn't find his wife, and he couldn't help but wonder, "What's going on? Where is my wife? Did she go out?"

Walking to the door and discovering that his wife had changed her slippers there, Fade's deductions were confirmed. "My wife has really gone out. She must have gone out to buy something," he said.

Thinking of items that needed to be bought, Fade couldn't help thinking of what had just happened. He thought to himself, "Did my wife also realize that we didn't have condoms, so she went to the supermarket downstairs to buy them? Hehe, looks like it is my lucky day today."

Fade thought about this matter, and he changed his slippers as well. He walked out of the door and was ready to go down to greet his wife.

Although the supermarket was located next to the hotel and it was not far at all, they were in a foreign town. They were not familiar with this place, so Fade felt like he had to be careful.

Fade walked out of the room, turned into a corridor, and was ready to go downstairs.

At this time, Fade saw that his wife was walking along the corridor in front of him. She seemed to have bought something and was about to return to the room.

Fade smiled and was about to go up to her when a man in his late twenties suddenly appeared in the side corridor. He stopped Quin and shouted, "Where are you from? Who are you working for?"

Quin frowned as she glanced at the fierce man. She said, "I don't know what you're talking about."

As she spoke, Quin was about to pass the man and continue walking forward .

However, this man did not give up and he chased after her. He continued to block Quin and he said, "This is our territory. Who allowed you to come here and hunt for wild game!"

"I don't know what you're talking about. Get out of my way!" Quin said in a deep voice.

The man frowned and spoke coldly, "You're still arguing with me! It seems to me that you want to do this the hard way. I will teach you a lesson. Only through this way will you know what's good for you."

As he spoke, the man stretched out his hand and tried to grab Quin's wrist, but Quin avoided him. Then, the man grabbed Quin's leather bag and dragged her outside.

Quin immediately cried out in fear, but the guest rooms around her were all shut tightly, and no one came out. Some of the cleaning staff avoided them quickly and left in a hurry, looking frightened.

"Follow me," the man bellowed. He was about to use force to bring Quin somewhere else .

At this time, Fade happened to turn around and saw this scene. He immediately simmered with anger and shouted angrily, "What are you doing?"

The man looked at Fade, raised his eyebrows and shouted, "Where are you from? Do you know that you've crossed the boundaries?"

"Cross what f*cking boundaries!" Fade answered. He stepped forward and threw a punch at the man.

As soon as the man saw Fade attacking, he became angry and punched him back. At the same time, he cursed in rage, saying, "Boy, how dare you attack me? This is the territory of Brother Mantis. Are you looking for death?"

Fade didn't bother to talk with him at all. He threw a punch at the man's face. The huge force struck the man onto the ground and caused a loud sound.

The man's mouth and nose started to bleed. He felt dizzy and almost fainted.

However, Fade didn't let go of him. He pulled him up and punched him twice. Immediately, the guy let out a scream like a pig being slaughtered and he howled in pain.

Seeing that Fade was about to strike him again, Quin was worried that he might kill the man. She quickly came over to stop Fade and tried to persuade him to let him go.

Being pulled back by Quin, Fade's anger was slightly reduced. He coldly asked the man with blood all over his head, "Tell me, who are you? Why did you do this to my wife just now?"

Chapter 364

"I am a follower of Brother Mantis. How dare you..." This guy said. He was still trying to show off his status and strength. Fade Chen didn't care about his words and he kicked the man's waist directly.

Suddenly, the sharp pain caused the guy to scream, and he almost bounced up from the ground.

"Answer my questions," Fade said coldly. "What are you doing here? Why did you take action against my wife? Who is Brother Mantis?"

This time, the guy didn't dare to say anything more. He quickly nodded and said, "Brother, Brother, please don't hit me. I'll answer your questions, I'll tell you everything!"

"I'm in charge of the small businesses at these two streets around the hotel. Brother Mantis is my boss. The southern part of this town is his territory. All of the hotels in these parts of the town need to get his approval for additional businesses. Any ordinary woman can't come here casually to solicit customers."

"Just now, I regarded her as a businesswoman from a foreign land, so I asked her where she was from."

"Our business has improved recently due to the arrival of investment teams, and many foreign businessmen have arrived as well. Brother Mantis has told us to pay more attention to what is happening and not allow any outsiders to take advantage of us. That's why I acted like that just now."

When Fade heard his words, he understood that this guy's gang was engaged in providing escorts in hotels. Generally speaking, this type of business was territorial, and other outsiders were not allowed to come here. This guy had misinterpreted the identity of his wife, so he wanted to take her away and teach her a lesson.

Thinking of this, Fade's heart was filled with anger. He kicked the guy and said coldly, "You are doing these businesses, but you aren't keeping a low profile at all. How dare you simply pull people out in public? Aren't you afraid that someone will call the police?"

The gangster said, "This, this is the order from Brother Mantis. Besides, the boss of this hotel and the people nearby are aware of these things. They have a discreet understanding between them for a long time now. Brother Mantis has also established a good relationship with them. Generally speaking, nothing strange will happen."

"Nothing strange will happen? Then what's going on right now? What do you think we should do about this?" Fade asked, and he looked at the gangster coldly.

The gangster wanted to say that Fade would be better off not causing trouble for himself. However, when he thought of the ferocity of Fade's attack just now, he suddenly felt pains in his body. He quickly said, "I, I apologize to you. I'm sorry for what happened just now. I'm willing to pay you a compensation."

"Pay me a compensation? As if I want your money!" Fade shouted coldly. Then, he thought for a while and said icily, "Get out now. Ask Brother Mantis to grovel before me and apologize. Otherwise, I will kill you."

The gangster didn't dare to say anything more, and he scrambled away.

Watching him leave, Fade was still angry. He went downstairs directly to the front desk of the hotel, pointed to the surveillance screen on the computer next to him, and said to the girl at the front desk, "Didn't you notice what was going on at the corridor from the monitor just now?"

"Yes, I noticed something. What happened?" The girl at the front desk said faintly.

Fade said angrily, "Look, didn't you see that someone was being bullied? Does the hotel management just sit back and do nothing about these matters?"

The girl at the front desk glanced at Fade in an unpleasant manner and said, "Bullying? I didn't see anything like that."

"You..." Fade was about to fly into a rage when Quin Lin, who was beside him, stopped him. She then asked in a cold voice, "Could you please ask your boss to come forward, as I want to make a complaint."

The girl at the front desk glanced at Quin and spat out the melon seeds in her mouth. She said flatly, "Our boss is not around. You can voice your complaints to me."

"You..." Even though Quin was good-tempered, she could not help but turn pale with anger at this moment.

Fade couldn't help but pound the counter, and he shouted, "Ask your boss to come forward right now. I want him to come and explain the situation to me!"

The girl at the front desk was a little impatient. She frowned and said, "Don't pound the desk. It's obvious that you're strong! As I said just now, our boss is not around."

"Really?" Fade launched his fist downward. The solid tiles made from cement at the front desk were smashed by Fade. The tiles broke and shards flew everywhere. The red bricks inside were shattered as well.

This time, the girl at the front desk was finally scared and she started to tremble. She said in a trembling voice, "What, what do you want?"

Fade said coldly, "Ask your boss to come forward."

The girl at the front desk picked up the phone with trepidation and began to dial the boss's number. She said, "Boss, there is a hotel guest who wants to meet you."

"He insisted on meeting you. He's so powerful that he smashed the front desk of the hotel. I..."

"What? He smashed up my hotel? Obviously, he is there to make trouble. I'll bring some people right away." The angry voice of the hotel's boss could be heard from the phone.

In less than five minutes, a middle-aged man in his forties, who had a tiger tattoo on his neck, came in aggressively. There were around seven or eight young men in their 20s and 30s behind him.

As soon as the girl at the front desk saw the man, she quickly shouted, "Boss, you're here."

"Where are they? Who smashed up my things and caused trouble here?" The tattooed boss shouted angrily as he came in. He had spotted the damaged front desk.

The girl at the front desk was a little timid and she pointed at Fade's direction. The boss immediately glanced at him and came over. His eyes sank and he said coldly, "It's you who is causing trouble in my hotel? Also, you requested for me to come over."

Fade looked at the boss and said in a deep voice, "I asked you to come here to give me an explanation."

"You want me to give you an explanation?" The tattooed man sneered. "What kind of explanation do you want me to give you?" he continued.

With a gloomy expression, Fade told him what had just happened. Then, he said coldly, "As a hotel guest, we have been hurt in your hotel. Shouldn't you give us an explanation?"

As soon as the tattooed man heard his story, he was aware of what was going on. He snorted and said, "I thought that this would be some serious issue. Didn't that guy just pull your wife over? Isn't she fine now? What else do you want me to say?"

"Is this how your hotel treats guests?" Fade asked. His eyes darkened, and his expression was a little gloomy.

The tattooed man chuckled and he said, "Boy, you must be from a foreign town. You don't know our rules, do you? Let me tell you, I don't want to meddle in these affairs. Even if I wanted to, it would be none of my business. This is the business of Brother Mantis. Can you afford to offend him? I advise you to pay some money now, go back to your room, and have a good sleep. Then, everything will be fine. Otherwise..."

"What do you mean when you say 'otherwise'?" Fade asked coldly.

"I mean that you are asking for trouble," The tattooed boss said. He waved his hand, and those seven or eight people behind him surrounded Fade instantly with fierce expressions.

Fade's expression did not change. In a cold voice, he said, "I thought you were innocent and that you were forced to go along with these rules. I wanted to give you a chance to explain this matter and ask for our forgiveness."

"However, it seems to me that you are in cahoot with all these criminals. In that case, you all deserve to die!" Fade said coldly.

"Boy, what are you talking about?" The tattooed man said disdainfully. "You want to fight against us? You don't even think about how thin and small you are. You can't even endure three punches from myself."

Chapter 365

While they were talking, the tattooed boss of the hotel rolled up his sleeves and approached Fade Chen in an aggressive manner. The followers behind him also surrounded Fade with fierce looks.

After stretching his muscles, the tattooed man threatened, "Boy, I'll give you one last chance. Pay me the money and get out of here, or..."

"There's no need for such words!" Fade interrupted the tattooed man in a cold voice. Before the man could react, Fade punched him in the face.

That guy was struck by Fade's fist and his nose was immediately broken. His face was covered with blood and he fell down.

The tattooed man wiped his face. When he saw the blood all over his hands, he was furious and shouted, "Go forward now. Beat him up."

In an instant, seven or eight gangsters rushed toward Fade .

The tattooed man got up from the ground and glared at Fade angrily. He gritted his teeth and said, "Damn it, how dare you hit me? I want you to know what it means..."

Before the boss could finish his words, he saw the scene in front of him and was completely dumbfounded.

The seven or eight gangsters he had commanded were gathered around Fade at this moment, but they were no match for Fade at all. They had not even touched Fade, and they were struck by Fade with a punch and a kick. They had no strength to fight back at all.

A series of screams were heard with a heavy crash. In less than ten seconds, the boss saw that his few men were all beaten by Fade. All of them were lying on the ground, groaning and twisting in pain.

As for Fade, he clapped his hands as he looked calm. It seemed easy for him to deal with these people.

Suddenly, the tattooed man knew that he was confronted with a powerful man. His face turned pale and showed an expression of fear.

Fade walked over and slapped the boss's face. He said coldly, "Now, are you willing to give me an explanation?"

The hotel owner was on the verge of crying. He didn't dare to say no. He quickly nodded and said, "Yes, I will."

"Go ahead!" Fade said coldly.

The boss immediately told him the story on how he had cooperated with Brother Mantis to arrange for escorts in the hotel.

After hearing this, Fade's face turned cold and he said, "Who is this Brother Mantis?"

The boss's expression changed slightly when he heard Brother Mantis's name. He said, "He's the boss of this area. Basically, he's in charge of all the motels and hotels around here. He has more than a hundred subordinates. He's very powerful."

Fade frowned slightly, pondered the matter for a moment, and continued to ask, "In Fuma Town, are there anymore big bosses who are influential?"

Speaking of this, the boss suddenly acted like he was counting rare treasures. He said, "In addition to Brother Mantis, there is Boss Wolf in the northwestern part of town. He is an old gangster of Fuma Town. He is not very powerful but he has very deep roots here. Ordinary people will not dare to provoke him."

"In the northeastern part of town, Big Sis Ma's family owned a butcher's shop, which counts as her husband's territory. Previously, her husband had passed away and his territory was coveted by others. Big Sis Ma rushed directly to that person's home with a butcher's knife in her hand, which shocked everyone who was eyeing her territory. Now she has become the boss of the Northeastern area in town."

Then, he mentioned some other names. The boss sighed and said, "Although these people are famous, they are at most on the same level as Brother Mantis. They are in charge of their own territories. If you ask who is the most influential person in town, it is Big Brother Gu."

"Big Brother Gu! What's his background? Tell me about him," Fade said.

The boss said, "Big Brother Gu was originally named Fairman Gu. He first ventured out of town and traveled around for more than ten years. He learned some martial-arts skills. After he came back five years ago, he was invincible in Fuma Town and became the most powerful master in town. After defeating everyone, Big Brother Gu immediately collaborated with some partners and opened the first supermarket in town."

"In the following years, Big Brother Gu's business grew bigger. He was also involved in all kinds of businesses, such as motels, hotels, restaurants, supermarkets and construction of buildings. Big Brother Gu's connections were also very wide, and he knew a lot about the businessmen and masters outside the town. He also made many friends locally. Big Brother Gu also has friends in the town's bureaucracy."

"Other so-called important people, such as Brother Mantis and Big Sis Ma, are actually working for Big Brother Gu. Big Brother Gu is the real boss of Fuma Town," The tattooed boss said. He seemed excited and open to conversation.

Fade immediately asked, "Did Big Brother Gu order these people to do these businesses in the hotel?"

The tattooed boss shook his head and said, "No, these businesses have nothing to do with Big Brother Gu. They are all arranged by the bosses of different territories. Generally, Big Brother Gu does not care about these small businesses. When Big Brother Gu first returned, he would still do some shady businesses. But later, he made a fortune. Many people became his acquaintances, so he carried out his business transactions in a legal manner. He would not be involved in these shady businesses."

"After all, Big Brother Gu is now a famous businessman in our town and a representative of the business world. Even when it came to the investigation and research of the investment team in regards to the tourist resort of Fuma Mountain, the officials called Big Brother Gu to deal with this matter. They wanted him to welcome the businessmen who were involved."

Fade nodded to indicate his understanding of the division of forces in Fuma Town.

At this time, there was a loud commotion outside the hotel. The young gangster who had been beaten badly by Fade just now had returned with a bloody nose and a swollen face. Beside him stood a thin man in a green shirt.

The tattooed man's expression changed as soon as he saw the man. He looked at him with respect and fear and shouted, "Brother Mantis!"

"This is Brother Mantis!" Fade looked at the thin man and narrowed his eyes. He could sense the man's strength.

This Brother Mantis could be considered a martial-arts expert. He possessed the strength of the early stage of the Yellow-Level. To Fade, this was not worth mentioning. However, in this small town, he was considered an expert. Thus, he was able to suppress so many people and become the boss of this area.

Behind Brother Mantis, there were about 50 or 60 gangsters. They came over aggressively.

Brother Mantis sized up the situation inside the hotel. His gaze landed on Fade and he said coldly, "You were the one who beat up my follower just now?"

Fade said coldly, "Yes, that was me. I also asked him to go back and call his Boss to come over. So you are Brother Mantis?"

"I'm Mantis Tang," Brother Mantis said. His eyes darkened as he looked at Fade with a hint of anger.

Fade glanced at him and said, "Since you're the boss, come and kneel down and apologize to me!"

"What did you say?" Brother Mantis said. The expression on his face turned cold. His eyes became fierce as he glared at Fade.

The gangsters behind him also began to stir after hearing what he said.

"F*ck, where did this silly boy come from? How dare he speak to Brother Mantis in such a manner?"

"You're looking for death. You're an ungrateful bastard."

"Brother Mantis hates arrogant people the most. This guy is dead."

Chapter 366

Amidst the noise, the corners of Brother Mantis's lips curled into a cold smile as he walked over to Fade Chen. "Did you just say that you wanted me to come over, kneel down and apologize to you?" he said.

Fade looked at him coldly and said, "Your follower hurt my wife just now. You should apologize to us."

Brother Mantis sneered and said, "What's wrong with him hurting your wife? In this place, no one dares to ask me to apologize."

"So, you admit that this matter has something to do with you?" Fade asked coldly.

Brother Mantis patted his chest and said, "Yes, this has something to do with me. So what then?"

"Don't even mention that someone pushed your wife. Let's say I raped her, what can you do about that?" As Brother Mantis spoke, he turned and looked at Quin Lin, with amazement on his face. "Hehe, I didn't expect your wife to be such a beautiful woman. Looks like I'll enjoy myself tonight."

The men behind him immediately burst into malicious laughter.

"Boss, she is such a beauty! You're so lucky tonight."

"Boss, don't forget us after you have enjoyed yourself!"

"This kind of beauty should be shared. Boss, after you have eaten meat, let us drink some soup and we'll be satisfied."

In the midst of this laughter, Brother Mantis reached out to push Fade away and walked toward Quin .

The tattooed man's eyes showed a glimpse of hope. He hoped that Brother Mantis would teach Fade a lesson so that he could vent his anger in regards to what had happened just now.

The situation was not clear at the moment. He did not dare to take sides in advance, so he did not speak. However, those gangsters were talking without scruples and laughing.

Just as Brother Mantis's hand was about to reach in front of Fade, Fade stretched out his right hand like a bolt of lightning. He grabbed Brother Mantis's hand and pulled it in the opposite direction.

Suddenly, with a crackling sound, Brother Mantis's right hand was turned in a bizarre angle.

Brother Mantis cried out in pain, and a layer of sweat oozed from his forehead. He shouted, "Kill him for me! Quickly, kill him!"

Suddenly, the dozens of men brought by Brother Mantis rushed out and they launched an aggressive attack on Fade.

Fade snorted and put his wife behind him. Then, he raised his arms and a strong wind emerged. Without waiting for these gangsters to get near him, they were blown directly to the ground and they couldn't come close to him at all.

After they fell down, Fade moved forward again and beat these gangsters up.

Suddenly, there was the sound of wailing outside the hotel. In less than five minutes, the dozens of men brought by Brother Mantis fell to the ground and started to groan. They joined the groaning gangsters who were brought by the tattooed boss earlier.

As for Brother Mantis, he was completely dumbfounded at this moment. The anger in his heart turned into fear and he felt a sense of overwhelming terror. His gaze flickered, and he did not dare to look into Fade's eyes.

Fade turned around, grabbed Brother Mantis's collar, and lifted him up. He said coldly, "Now, are you willing to kneel down and apologize to us?"

"Yes, yes, I will!" Brother Mantis answered. He nodded quickly like a chicken pecking on rice.

As soon as Fade let go of him, Brother Mantis was afraid and he knelt down on the ground. He moved toward Quin and started to apologize, saying, "I'm sorry, it's all our fault. I'm so sorry. Please forgive me."

Quin was not used to dealing with such things, so she looked at Fade.

Fade hugged Quin gently, and then he said to Brother Mantis in a cold voice, "From now on, dismiss all your people here and stop all your businesses here. Do you understand?"

"Ah, this..." When Brother Mantis heard that he needed to dismiss his people and close down his businesses, he suddenly felt that this was a little difficult for him.

However, when he saw Fade's cold eyes and clenched fists, he suddenly felt a chill in his heart. His body couldn't help but tremble. Then, he nodded quickly and said, "I understand, I understand. They will be dismissed!"

Fade said coldly, "During this period of time, I will be in Fuma Town. I will check out the situation here. If I find out..."

"I won't disobey you, absolutely not," Brother Mantis said and he waved his hand in a hurry.

"You had better not!" Fade said coldly. "Get out!" he ordered.

When Brother Mantis heard Fade's words, he scampered away with his men.

At this moment, the tattooed man glanced at Fade and could not help but feel afraid. He thought to himself, "Luckily, I didn't say that I wanted to get revenge. Otherwise, I would be in trouble now."

At the same time, he sighed in his heart. This time, it seemed to him that a powerful person had arrived. If the local tyrant, Brother Mantis, was suppressed, there would probably be a huge conflict in Fuma Town.

Fade gave the boss a warning look, and then went upstairs with his wife. They returned to the hotel room.

After the action just now, Fade had sweated a little. He rushed into the bathroom and took a quick cold shower. Instantly, the anger and the blood rushing through him cooled down.

Then, Fade noticed the tight-fitting clothes his wife had put on in the bathroom. He couldn't help but feel excited. Thinking of his fantasies in the shower just now, he became excited.

Fade didn't even wear shorts. He only surrounded his important parts with a towel. Then, he rushed out of the bathroom and walked toward the double bed.

Quin, who was sitting by the bed watching TV, blushed suddenly when she saw Fade's attire. She couldn't help but complain, "Why are you dressed like that?"

Fade chuckled and said, "I don't have to be so serious when I am with my wife."

While speaking, Fade sat down on the bed, lifted the blanket and slipped in.

When Fade was moving, Quin accidentally saw the scenery under Fade's towel. When she discovered that he was not wear anything under the blanket, she blushed and turned her head away directly. She covered her eyes with her hands and spoke shyly, "Oh, how can you do this? You didn't even put on any underwear? Hurry up and put on some clothes."

Fade smiled and said, "Dear, I'm going to sleep anyway. There's no need to wear clothes."

"It's getting late. Dear, you should come to bed early!" Fade said. He patted the area next to him.

Quin pouted and said, "Put on your clothes, or I won't sleep beside you."

Fade laughed and said, "Dear, we are a married couple. What's there to be shy about? Besides, you just went downstairs to buy that thing. There's no need to hide."

"What thing do you mean?" Quin asked in confusion.

Fade gestured with his finger, winked at Quin, and said, "Condoms!"

Quin's pretty face immediately turned red. She glared at Fade and said, "What are you thinking about? I did not buy that."

"Then what did you buy?" Fade asked.

"I, I won't tell you," Quin said with a red face.

Fade chuckled and said, "If you don't tell me, that means you really bought some condoms. Come on, honey. Don't be shy."

Fade was about to pounce on her. Quin made way for him quickly and shouted, "Don't do anything stupid. I really didn't buy that."

"Even if you didn't buy those things, I can still control myself," Fade said, and he nodded firmly. As he said that, he rushed over and hugged Quin, and his large hand became busy.

Quin's face instantly turned red and her body softened. She knew that she would definitely let down her guard if this went on. She pushed Fade away and quickly said, "No, I can't do that today. My period is here."

"It can't be such a coincidence, can it?" Fade said, and his hands stopped moving.

Quin took out a pack of sanitary napkins and said, "It's true. I went downstairs just now to buy this."

Fade saw this and immediately felt helpless. He could only sigh, "God, don't cheat me like this. Don't trick me in this manner!"

Chapter 367

Fade Chen raised his head and puffed out his chest. Then, the hot and agonizing night went by.

The next day, Fade got out of bed in a daze with dark circles around his eyes. His wife had already got up. After washing up, she put on her clothes and urged Fade, "Get up quickly. It's already the second day. There's not much time left."

Fade knew that his wife was talking about the issue regarding Jeremy Lin. He didn't answer and got up quickly from the bed.

As a result, he forgot that he wasn't wearing anything last night as he got out of bed. Suddenly, he was naked, and this caused Quin Lin's pretty face to turn red. She turned around in a hurry.

Fade chuckled, put on his clothes quickly, and washed up. Then, he went downstairs with Quin.

When the boss and waiters of the hotel saw Fade and Quin, their attitudes were even more enthusiastic than when they saw their own parents. They brought breakfast and asked what kind of service they needed. As long as Fade and Quin ordered something, they will serve it to them.

Since there was breakfast, Fade and Quin didn't bother to go out and eat. They ate breakfast in the hotel, and Fade talked to his wife about rescuing Jeremy .

They only had one picture from the message and the address of Fuma Town. The specific place where Jeremy was located was not mentioned at all. If Fade and Quin relied on themselves, it would be impossible for them to find Jeremy within the stipulated time.

Therefore, the most reliable way now was to find some local people and ask them to help them look for him. Maybe they would still have a chance to find him this way.

Just as Fade had secretly decided to look for Brother Mantis and the others, Brother Mantis and the hotel boss came over respectfully. They greeted him, "Hello, Mr. Chen!"

"Er, why are you here?" Fade said. He was a little surprised by their appearance.

Brother Mantis bent down and said with a smile, "Mr. Chen, Big Brother Gu, our boss, wants to meet you."

"Big Brother Gu!" Fade said coldly as he raised his eyebrows. "What's wrong, Mantis Tang? Did you go back and complain to him, asking Big Brother Gu to teach me a lesson?"

Brother Mantis quickly waved his hand and said, "No, no, I didn't. Mr. Chen, you misunderstood me."

"Is this really a misunderstanding?" Fade said. He glared at Brother Mantis.

Just as Mantis was feeling afraid and trying to explain the matter, the sound of a deep male voice could be heard. Then, Fade saw a middle-aged man in his forties or fifties walking over.

The middle-aged man was very fat, with a large pot belly. His head was bald. He was smiling, and he looked like a businessman.

The man stretched out his hand to Fade and said, "Hello, Mr. Chen. I'm Fairman Gu."

"Big Brother Gu!" Fade said. He looked at Big Brother Gu's appearance and felt a little surprised. He did not shake hands with Big Brother Gu.

Big Brother Gu seemed to have a good temper. He saw that Fade was not reaching out his hand, but he did not show any discontentment. He withdrew his right hand. Then, he smiled and said, "Mr. Chen, I came here early today to apologize to you."

Fade raised his eyebrows and looked at Big Brother Gu in surprise.

After all, according to the hotel owner, Big Brother Gu was definitely the leader of Fuma Town. No matter in the underground world or in the bureaucratic world, he was one of the top masters.

But now, the fat man in front of him was smiling. He didn't seem cruel at all. Instead, he looked quite kind.

Big Brother Gu noticed that Fade did not reply him. Then, he started to explain, "Mr. Chen, I found out what had happened with Mantis last night. I know that he offended you, Mr. Chen. It's a huge mistake. I taught him a good lesson last night."

"Considering that it was late last night, I didn't come to apologize to you yesterday. This morning, I got up early and came to apologize to you, Mr. Chen."

While speaking, Big Brother Gu bent his fat waist with great difficulty and bowed to Fade to apologize to him.

The hotel owner and Brother Mantis behind him also bent down quickly to apologize to Fade.

Big Brother Gu's good attitude of admitting his mistakes really surprised Fade. "Could it be that Big Brother Gu's temper has improved a lot after he was involved in legal transactions, and he no longer got involved in shady dealings?" he thought to himself.

"However, normal businessmen don't have such good tempers!" Fade thought. Anyway, it was a good thing that he had such a good temper.

Since the other party was polite, Fade did not make things difficult for them. He said that everything was fine, exchanged a few polite words with Big Brother Gu, and then that was it.

Big Brother Gu thanked him again, and he bowed to Fade with Brother Mantis and the hotel owner to express his gratitude.

Then, Big Brother Gu asked enthusiastically, "Mr. Chen, you and Mrs. Chen came to Fuma Town for a trip or something else? Is there anything we can help you with?"

At the thought of what had happened to Jeremy, Fade's heart skipped a beat. He glanced at Quin, and she nodded her head. Then, he turned around and looked at Big Brother Gu and said, "Speaking of that, I do need Big Brother Gu's help on a certain issue."

"Mr. Chen, you can tell me. As long as I can help you, I will not refuse," Big Brother Gu said with a smile.

Fade immediately switched on his phone and showed him Jeremy's photo. He said, "I'm looking for this person. I only have this photo. The person told us that he is at Fuma Town. I want to know his specific location."

Big Brother Gu looked at the photo for a while and said, "Looking at this picture, the scenery outside the window should be from our Fuma Town. But there are many backgrounds that looks similar to this one here and I am not sure where this photo was taken. I need to find someone I know to identify the location. It may take some time."

"Big Brother Gu, please do that as soon as possible. The time limit has been set by the other party for us to locate him," Fade said. Then, he sent the photo from his phone to Big Brother Gu.

"Sure, sure!" Big Brother Gu nodded and said. "I'll send the photos out right away and ask people to look for the locals to see if they can locate this place," he added.

"I'm sorry to trouble Big Brother Gu!" Fade said, and he thanked him.

Big Brother Gu laughed and said, "It's nothing. Mr. Chen is being too polite. Mr. Chen didn't remember our conflict this time. We should thank you."

Fade waved his hand and said with a smile, "Let bygones be bygones!"

Big Brother Gu nodded and said with a smile, "Mr. Chen is generous and kind. We admire you very much. So, Mr. Chen, enjoy your time here with your wife. I'll go back and look for someone first. I will send a message to contact the two of you once I have any news."

Fade nodded and said, "Well, thank you very much."

With a smile on Big Brother Gu's face, he waved goodbye and left with Brother Mantis and the hotel owner.

The search for Jeremy had some progress and both of their moods suddenly became a little more relaxed.

Quin took a sip of soy milk and said, "I didn't expect the boss of this place to be so kind."

Fade smiled and said, "Maybe it's because he's a businessman now!"

"Yes," Quin said and nodded. "Now, let's hope that we can find the clues to his location as soon as possible. I hope that Jeremy is alright," she added.

Fade held Quin's hand and pinched it gently, saying, "Don't worry, I'm here. Everything will be okay."

Quin felt a wave of warmth washing over her. She smiled and nodded her head.

Chapter 368

After breakfast, the two of them went out.

Even though Big Brother Gu had sent people to search for Jeremy Lin, they did not want to rely on others. Fade Chen and Quin Lin also wandered around the town, searching for Jeremy.

However, they didn't find any trace of Jeremy in their journey. Instead, they saw a lot of businessmen from the investment team . Among them, there were also some businessmen they had met yesterday in the car.

However, Fade and Quin had disguised themselves on purpose today, and their movements were very swift. They left without waiting for anyone to notice them. As a result, they did not attract any attention from the crowd.

They searched for the whole morning. Then, they had a casual lunch at a small restaurant outside at noon. They still couldn't find any clues.

In the afternoon, the two of them went to the other side of town, but there were still no clues. The locals who saw the picture said that the clues in the picture were really limited. In addition to that, there were a lot of scenery that looked similar in Fuma Town, so it was almost impossible for them to determine the exact location of the photo.

Time passed and it was evening. Quin couldn't help but feel a little depressed. After all, there was only one day left. If she couldn't find Jeremy, she was afraid that her brother would be killed.

Just as Quin was feeling disappointed, Fade's cell phone rang. When he saw the caller ID, he realized that it was a call from Big Brother Gu. He was suddenly in high spirits as he picked up the phone and said, "Big Brother Gu!"

Big Brother Gu's excited voice was heard on the other end of the phone. "Mr. Chen, we found the location. We found the clues to the location."

"Really? Where is the location?" Fade asked excitedly.

Big Brother Gu said, "The location is at the foot of Fuma Mountain, at the western part of our town. It is a small village at the foot of the mountain. The specific location should be one of the houses of that village."

"Mr. Chen, are you free? Let's meet up. I will bring someone to inform you on this matter personally," Big Brother Gu said.

"I'm free," Fade said. "Big Brother Gu, where are you? Let's meet up," he added.

Big Brother Gu said, "We're at a hotel anyway. Why don't we look for a hotel to meet up and talk while we have a meal?"

"Well, okay!" Fade said. "I'm not familiar with the town. Big Brother Gu, where is the hotel? Let us go there now," he added.

Big Brother Gu said, "The Sky Hotel isn't bad at all. We'll just meet there."

"Okay. See you later!" Fade said.

"Okay, see you later," Big Brother Gu said and then hung up the phone.

Quin looked at Fade with excitement and asked nervously, "Did Big Brother Gu find any clues?"

Fade nodded and said with a smile, "We have some clues. Let's go to the Sky Hotel to meet him. We'll chat with him while eating."

While speaking, Fade displayed the map on his phone and found the location of the hotel. It was not far away, just two streets away. Fade and Quin walked over quickly.

They arrived at the entrance of the hotel. It was a five-story building with a combination of restaurants and accommodations. The decorations were magnificent, and this hotel could be regarded as the highest-ranking hotel in town.

Usually, the business of this hotel was not good. However, during this period of time, it was much more crowded due to the investment team of businessmen. The hotel was full with people and there were not many empty seats.

Fade and Quin went in quickly and chose seats by the window. They ordered some tea and waited for Big Brother Gu's arrival.

Just as the two of them were taking a sip of tea, a group of people walked in.

Fade glanced at them and discovered that most of them were wearing suits and leather shoes. They were also carrying briefcases. It seemed to him that they were members of the investment team.

When they came in and sat down, the sound of a clear voice was heard. "Brother and sister, hello! I didn't expect to meet you here again."

Hearing the voice, Fade and Quin turned their heads and saw a young short-haired girl walking out of the group. It was Eileen Yao, whom they had met in the car previously.

"Eileen, nice to see you," Fade and Quin greeted her.

Eileen smiled and came over. She lowered her voice and said, "Brother, sister. Both of you got off the car and left at that time. Later, the police arrived. The people in the car told them about you, and the police are still looking for you everywhere."

Hearing her words, Fade knew that Eileen was trying to remind him to be alert, so he smiled and said, "We had something to do at that time, so we left in advance. When everything is done, we will talk to the police. It will not be a problem."

Eileen heard Fade's words, and she smiled brightly as she said, "That's good! Brother and sister, I thought that you were members of another investigation team, but now it seems to me that that is not the case."

Quin was also very fond of Eileen. She smiled and said, "My name is Quin. This is my husband, Fade. We are here to look for our relatives."

"Oh!" Eileen pouted and smiled sweetly. "Sister Lin and Brother Chen are a perfect match indeed! A Hero and a beauty," she said.

Hearing this, Fade couldn't help but give Eileen an encouraging look. "Young girl, you are good with your words," he said.

Then, he asked casually, "That Marco guy didn't harass you, did he?"

As he mentioned Marco Ji, Eileen pouted. Her small nose became wrinkled and she said, "Hmph, I have cut off all contact with him already. He still wanted to pester me, but I am now with my father's team, and he has no chance to communicate with me."

"Well, it's good that he didn't harass you," Fade said and nodded.

At this time, another pair of businessmen in suits and ties came in. Apparently, they were also members of another investigation team.

Among members of this investigation team, Fade and the others spotted Marco . At this time, this guy was wearing a formal suit, a shirt, and a tie. He was dressed quite properly, and he looked like a an elite businessman.

Of course, if everyone knew how ugly and weak he looked in the car at that time,they would not like him. The more one looked at him, the more disgusting and hypocritical he would seem to others.

Eileen couldn't help but snort coldly when she saw Marco. She turned her head away and didn't want to look at that guy anymore.

At this time, Marco, who was sitting with his companions, also spotted Eileen, Fade, and Quin. Suddenly, his face turned cold and he clenched his fists.

When Marco's partners around his age saw this, they could not help but ask, "What's wrong, Marco?"

Marco tilted his head and shook his head, saying, "Nothing."

However, when his companions noticed Eileen, they said, "Marco, isn't that your fiancée Eileen? Call her to come here and let's have a meal together!"

These people were also very close to Eileen, and Marco had the intention of pursuing her. Therefore, his companions directly termed Eileen as Marco's fiancee.

As soon as they finished speaking, his companions immediately turned their heads to look at him. They started to disturb and mock him.

"Yeah, Marco, ask Eileen to have a meal with us!"

"We brothers also want to meet our future sister-in-law. Let's get to know each other."

"Marco, what's wrong? Are you shy? You don't usually behave like this."

His surrounding companions were lively, but Marco's face became gloomier.

Finally, some of his companions felt that Marco was behaving in an unusual way and asked, "Marco, you look so pale. What's wrong? Did you two have a conflict?"

Chapter 369

Marco Ji's expression became darker, and he looked at Fade Chen with resentment and anger.

His companions beside him were still wondering what had happened. Someone who knew a little about the inside story winked at the others. He pointed at Fade and at Eileen Yao, then he waved his hand to stop everyone from speaking.

As soon as they saw the person's gesture, they thought of the incident in the car involving Marco and the robbers. They recalled some rumors about the incident, and their expressions changed.

Rumors had it that during the incident in the car, Marco was very timid. As a result, he was taught a lesson by some kid. Even his girlfriend Eileen was snatched by that kid. Marco had lost his dignity in the car.

When the rumors were spreading, they had thought that these were false. But now, after seeing Marco's expression, they suddenly felt that the rumors might be true.

They looked at each other for a while and then began to talk about it.

"Marco, did that guy framed you?"

"Was Eileen snatched by that guy?"

"Marco, now that we've met him, we're all here. Come on, let's teach that guy a lesson."

They all whispered into Marco's ears. Their words caused Marco's eyes to turn red. He clenched his fists and almost wanted to get up and rush toward the table.

However, when Marco recalled the scene where Fade had quickly killed the four robbers in the car, he suddenly felt a chill in his heart and a hint of fear appeared in his eyes. He stood up and sat down again.

Looking at Marco's posture, some of his companions started to make fun of him. Some were also angry, and some had malicious intentions.

"Marco, why are you sitting down again? Do you want to fight him?"

"Are you really scared of that young kid?"

"Oh, I know. You are afraid of losing your dignity in front of Eileen."

"Don't be afraid. We are all here. Does that guy dare to make a move?"

Hearing everyone's discussion, Marco was offended, and his eyes turned dark and red. He gnashed his teeth and said, "Hmph, even if you are good in the martial-arts, do you dare to make a move in such a public place?"

"What's more, you killed four people at once. Aren't the police still looking for you? Do you still dare to be arrogant?"

Thinking of this, Marco's heart was filled with pride. He suddenly stood up and walked toward Fade's table.

Fade and Quin Lin were chatting with Eileen. Marco came over with a cold expression. When Eileen saw Marco approaching them, her face suddenly fell. She said coldly, "Marco, what are you doing here?"

Marco said with a cold expression, "Eileen, I came to look for him. This has nothing to do with you."

"Looking for me? What do you want to do?" Fade said. He raised his eyebrows and looked at Marco coldly.

Marco said in a deep voice, "I don't want to do anything. I just want you to get out of here!"

"What did you say?" Fade's voice was icy.

Marco said confidently, "We've ordered five tables in the restaurant. Now, we want this table. Get up right now, and get out of my way!"

Eileen heard his words, and she got up and said, "Marco, what are you doing!"

As soon as Eileen opened her mouth, Marco's expression suddenly became darker. He hit the table directly and said, "This is the table that we have booked. Get out now!"

When Fade heard this, he looked coldly at Marco and said in an icy voice, "You'd better get out of here. Don't make me take action."

At the mention of him taking action, Marco couldn't help but feel a chill in his heart. His body shuddered and his face showed an expression of fear.

Seeing this, the companions behind Marco suddenly came over and stood behind him to support him.

"Boy, do you want to fight? Ask us if we agree to that first."

"What kind of place is this? You'd better look around clearly before you decide whether to make a move or not."

"Marco, don't be afraid. Your brothers are all here. We must get him out of here today."

While they were talking, someone called the waiter. He pointed to Fade and said arrogantly, "We've booked a table here, and we're interested in this table. Tell them to get out of here quickly."

The waiter was suddenly in a dilemma and wanted to explain to them about the matter, but Marco and the others looked arrogant and said, "Do you still want to run your business? If the customers' requirements can't be fulfilled, your hotel will shut down."

Thinking that this group of people were rare and important customers of the hotel, the waiter could only nod and agree with them. Then, he squeezed out a smile and said to Fade , "Sir, please give up your seats to these people."

"Why do you want us to make way for them?" Fade asked coldly.

The waiter said, "Sir, we can change seats for you."

Without waiting for Fade to open his mouth, Marco immediately said, "Whichever table he changes to, we'll take that table. We'll see how he can remain here."

They were deliberately making things difficult for other people. The waiter immediately had a bitter expression and could only awkwardly call the lobby manager.

The lobby manager was a middle-aged man in his forties. He asked questions from both sides and looked at the appearances of both sides. He immediately made a decision and said, "Sir, I'm sorry, our hotel can't serve you."

"What do you mean? Are you chasing us away?" Fade said coldly. "Is this how you do business in your hotel, by chasing the guests away?"he asked.

The lobby manager simply found an excuse and said, "Sir, your clothes don't meet the dress code requirements of our hotel. Therefore, we can't serve you."

Without waiting for Fade to open his mouth, Eileen could not resist shouting, "Dress code requirements? Why didn't I see any such notice in your hotel? You are treating people unfairly."

Fade looked at the lobby manager coldly and said in a cold voice, "We need an explanation."

The lobby manager saw that the excuse he used was not valid and he simply did not look for another one. He directly said with a cold expression, "I'll tell you the truth. You and Marco are not friends. Our hotel won't serve you then. Get out of here right away!"

Fade and Quin's faces were gloomy. Eileen was furious and shouted, "How can you do this? This is against the rules. I will report this and let your hotel shut down."

The lobby manager curled his lip and said, "Miss Yao, since we can open a hotel here, our background is not what you imagined. Just go and report and see if it is useful."

Marco and the others were also holding their arms at the moment, as if they were watching a good show. They seemed to be proud of themselves.

"Young man, did you hear what he said? Get the hell out of here!"

"Haha, this is not a big city. Don't scare people with those so-called reports."

"Do you see that? This is the difference in status. As long as we are here today, you can forget about eating here."

"Waiter, what are you waiting for? Hurry up and chase them away! This kind of guy, staying in the hotel, will affect our appetites."

Chapter 370

When the lobby manager saw that Fade Chen and Quin Lin had no reactions, he frowned discontentedly and waved his hand to call for someone to sort out this matter.

Fade said in a deep voice, "I am waiting for an honored guest here. Are you sure you want to drive us away?"

"An honored guest!" The lobby manager said, and he was stunned.

Marco Ji laughed coldly and said, "As an outsider, what kind of honored guest can you meet here? You can continue making up stories here!"

After hearing Marco's words, the lobby manager immediately came to his senses. These two people were obviously foreign tourists. What kind of honored guests could they know? Obviously, Fade was trying to scare him on purpose.

Thinking of this, the manager snorted coldly and said disdainfully, "Even if your so-called honored guest is coming here, we will still drive him away. This is not the place for you guys."

Right then, a plump figure walked in. He looked around and spotted Fade. He waved his hand and greeted, "Mr. Chen, I'm here."

Seeing the arrival of Big Brother Gu, Fade also waved his hand. Then, he looked at the lobby manager, Marco and the other people He announced, "My honored guest is here."

The lobby manager snorted coldly and waved his hand, saying, "I don't care who your guest is. Just get them out of here..."

As the manager spoke, he turned around and saw the fat man approaching. He was stunned, and he became so scared that his words were trapped in his throat. He looked at the person in front of him with a startled expression and said in amazement, "This, this is your honored guest?"

Without waiting for Fade's response, Big Brother Gu walked over enthusiastically. He grabbed Fade's hand and said with a smile, "Mr. Chen, sorry to keep you waiting."

"What are you doing standing there? Come on, take a seat. Let's get down to business," Big Brother Gu said.

However, Fade glanced at the manager, Marco, and the others and declared, "Somebody doesn't want us to sit here. They even said that we are not qualified to be here for dinner. They want to kick us out."

"Who dares to kick my guests out?" Big Brother Gu shouted angrily.

The lobby manager on the side suddenly trembled with fear and apologized in a hurry. He said, "Big Brother Gu, I, I didn't know that they were your guests, I..."

"You don't know!" Big Brother Gu said. He glared at the manager and said in a deep voice, "You don't have to find any excuses. Inform Chief Huang to come and apologize to me, and then submit your resignation letter!"

Hearing Big Brother Gu's words, the lobby manager didn't dare to respond. He could only nod and leave quietly.

Marco and the others were completely speechless. Some people who were still shocked said with puzzled looks, "This, this Big Brother Gu, is he powerful?"

Someone who had insider knowledge responded quickly, "Big Brother Gu is the real boss of Fuma Town, and he has connections with both the government and the underworld. Even when our investment team came here to investigate and do research, Big Brother Gu was the person in charge."

"What!" They didn't expect Big Brother Gu to be so powerful. Also, they didn't expect Fade, who was a complete outsider, to actually be friends with the local big shot. It seemed to them that their relationship was pretty close.

Marco's expression darkened and he looked unpleasant.

Big Brother Gu gave them a cold stare and said in a cold voice, "You were disrespectful toward my friends. Therefore, we won't need to discuss the investment project anymore. Your investigation team can go home now!"

Marco didn't expect that such a trivial matter would affect the whole investigation team. He panicked instantly. After all, at least seven to eight investigation teams had come over this time, and they were supposed to have an agreement in the end.

Now, with Big Brother Gu's words, the whole project was likely to be off the table and there wouldn't be any such opportunities in the future.

When Marco realized how he had messed up the agreement, his father would for sure beat him to death upon his return. Marco's whole body went limp, and he almost collapsed to the ground. He was ready to beg Big Brother Gu for mercy.

Without waiting for him to speak, Big Brother Gu waved his hand and said with a straight face, "Get out of here. I don't want to hear your nonsense."

Hearing this, Marco's vision went black, and he fainted to the ground. His companions beside him quickly carried him away.

Since everything was resolved, and it seemed that Fade still had some matters to discuss, Eileen Yao bade them farewell.

Then, Big Brother Gu ordered a full table of dishes and began to discuss Jeremy Lin's matter with Fade and Quin.

Big Brother Gu waved his hand. An old and tanned farmer in his fifties came over and looked at Big Brother Gu in fear.

Big Brother Gu allowed the farmer to sit down, then he took out a photo and said to Fade and Quin, "This is Old Ma, an old citizen of our town. He recognized the location in the photo."

"The location is on the western side of the town, right at the foot of Fuma Mountain. There used to be a neighborhood there, but due to the development of Fuma Mountain, all of the people there have moved out in the last few years. Now, the village is almost empty. Occasionally, some villagers will still sneak back to look for some things."

As he spoke, Big Brother Gu looked at Old Ma. Old Ma then explained, "I was from that village. I recognized it from the scenery through the window. This house should belong to Denzel Ma who lives at the edge of the village."

"Denzel is a reclusive man. His house was not in the village, and it was relatively close to the mountain. He doesn't interact much with people. Since everyone has moved out, he left the town for good as well. The house has remained empty, and it should look pretty old now."

Upon hearing this, Quin said with wide eyes, "Since we're able to determine the location, let's go there quickly!"

Big Brother Gu said, "Miss Lin, it's getting late now, and the roads in the mountain are difficult to navigate. If we hike up the mountain now, I'm afraid that it will not be safe. Also, it's really dark outside. If we encounter any criminals, it will not be easy to capture them either."

Fade held Quin's hand, nodded, and said, "Don't worry, tomorrow is the deadline, and there is still time."

Big Brother Gu nodded and said, "Mr. Chen, Miss Lin, what about this? I'll get Old Ma to go with you, and I'll send a few more people to go together."

"I'm going to have a meeting with the investigation teams, so I can't travel with Mr. Chen," Big Brother Gu explained.

Fade said, "Big Brother Gu has helped us a lot. Sorry for causing so much trouble. Alright then, let's go tomorrow!"

Quin said anxiously, "I want to go with you as well."

Big Brother Gu immediately advised her, "Miss Lin, the roads are not easy to navigate. I'm afraid that it will not be convenient for you to go with them. Moreover, there is a high possibility that there are gangsters in the area. If there is any danger, it will be very troublesome."

Fade agreed with his words. After all, if it was a dangerous task, he didn't want his wife to be involved. Therefore, he pinched her hand and said, "Honey, don't worry. If I'm involved, there won't be any problems. Just wait for the good news from me."

Quin knew very well that she wasn't of much help in the past, so she nodded and agreed.

Big Brother Gu also immediately said, "Mr. Chen, Miss Lin, don't worry. I will get someone to protect Miss Lin. There won't be any problems."

"Yes, I appreciate that, thank you very much!" Fade and Quin said, and they nodded.
