

Chapter 126

The people in the conference room had been quietly waiting for William's instructions.

All of a sudden, they heard a loud, dull sound from the door.

Shocked, they turned around and saw Elizabeth whose face was painted with arrogance. A flicker of irritation filled them at once.

"Elizabeth, you're crazy! How dare you kick the door open!" someone yelled.

"Are you planning to leave Qena City? How could you do that?" another executive questioned.

"She must have gone mad after being fired. She's back for a reprisal!" another person added.

"Call the security guards and throw her out."

Elizabeth felt a burst of joy in her heart while being glared at by all the executives.

The angrier they were, the happier she was!

All of these executives were always being snobbish and haughty!

They always bossed her around!

Even if she made the slightest mistake, she'd be subjected to so much scolding!

She did not care about them at all at this very moment!

She thought, "Do what all of you do best! Scold me!"

When they saw Frank, they would definitely regret their action!

Martin stared at Elizabeth who had cheated on him, stood up, and walked up to her. "What the hell are you trying to do?"

Elizabeth raised her head.

She then stared at Martin's hideous face with a revolted look on her face.

To appease and satisfy this awful-looking man, she had endured countless humiliations.

She had it enough!

The once-mighty Martin was nothing in her eyes at this moment.

She pushed Martin aside and roared arrogantly, "Get out of my way! I'm not here for you! I'm here for that brat."

Elizabeth pointed at William with her finger.

Janet's face turned cold. "Is this what you have to offer to Lunanica Media?"

Martin was so frightened. He could feel a chill running down his spine!

If Janet were to inform Harper of his dark secret...

Without further ado, he went to Elizabeth again and whispered, "What on earth are you trying to do? Are you trying to extort money from me? I can give you as much as you want!"

Elizabeth immediately burst out laughing.

Money?

She was Frank's woman.

A man who was willing to do anything for her!

With Frank, she could have endless treasures and money!

What she wanted was to protect her dignity!

Her dignity which had been trampled on mercilessly by them!

She scowled at William. "You, follow me. Someone is waiting to teach you a lesson! His surname is Chien!"

Her words were as clear as mud.

She knew that William would understand who she was referring to.

Frank was waiting for William downstairs!

He was the most significant business partner of Lunanica Media.

He was also the man Lunanica Media had to appease!

Even if William was the director of Lunanica Media, so what?

Anyhow, William would have to be polite and cautious when he met Frank!

She bet William would definitely follow her downstairs!

"Chien?" Martin asked. "Our director doesn't meet up with every Tom, Dick, and Harry!"

But at that moment, William's mouth had already curved up into a smirk.

Director Chien... Frank Chien...

Finally, Frank was here.

Unfortunately, Elizabeth had just proven herself to be a lousy messenger.

"Hurry up and follow me! Any more delays and you'll suffer more!" Elizabeth urged William.

William slowly stood up before everyone.

"Alright. I'll go with you," William replied.

All of a sudden, everyone's heart stopped beating for a moment.

Just who was the mysterious man Elizabeth had brought?

How mighty was he that he could make William go to him?

Janet frowned but didn't say anything.

Elizabeth looked at William's compliance with satisfaction as she turned on her heel and strode out.

As William was following Elizabeth, Martin simpered, blatantly mocking William behind his back.

William was indeed a good-for-nothing.

He could not even stand up for the company when being threatened. He did not even hesitate and left with Elizabeth.

It meant that he did not have the demeanour to be a leader.

It was pathetic.

Elizabeth was in a good mood when she was leading the way.

She couldn't wait to see how she used Frank's power to destroy William.

And to reclaim my dignity.

She would make William go through the humiliation she endured.

The two of them strode in Frank's direction at the same time.

When Frank saw William, his face lit up with joy!

He was about to bow to William to express his gratitude for saving his life the previous night.

But at that moment, he saw Elizabeth pointing at William and boomed, "Kneel and kowtow in front of me and Director Chien. This is the only way to gain my forgiveness! Otherwise, Director Chien will never forgive you! Your company's collaboration with them will never happen!"

Frank was dumbfounded.

What was going on?

When Elizabeth saw that William did not respond to her instruction, the anger in her heart erupted.

She took the initiative to hold Frank's arm and hissed at William viciously, "How dare you not kneel! Don't forget that your company needs Director Chien!"

"Oh, really? Director Chien, am I supposed to kneel?" William asked in a sarcastic tone

Frank could not help but shudder!

Kneel?

What the f*ck!

Frank knew very well who the hell should be kneeling at this moment~

Elizabeth, who was next to him, nudged Frank gently, giving him pressure so he would use his power to make William submit.

Rage pulsed through Frank's veins instantly when Elizabeth prodded him!

He immediately raised his hand and slapped Elizabeth on the face!

"Kneel down? F*ck you! Get down on your knees! You dumb b*tch!" Frank was so furious with Elizabeth!

He had no idea what had happened between Elizabeth and William.

Regardless, he was here to convey his utmost gratitude to William, his life savior!

He was here to request William, a divine doctor, to treat him!

Elizabeth was being rude to his savior!

Besides that, she even tried to manipulate him.

She used his name and demanded his savior to kneel!

She was trying to destroy him, wasn't she?

At the thought of this, Frank's entire being was trembling with rage.

What an ungrateful b*tch!

He must have spoiled her!

How could she insult his savior?

How dared she ask William to kneel?

She must not know that she was digging her own grave!

Elizabeth thought that she could make William yield to her with Frank's name and status.

She thought she could easily make William kneel and apologize to her!

A while ago, she was imagining different ways to humiliate William in order to get her revenge.

However, all her imaginations vanished when Frank's hand connected with her face!

The searing pain on her face had completely shattered all of her wishful thinking.

She covered her face with her hands and lowered at Frank in disbelief. "Director Chien, h- ho- how could you slap me? You need to help me get even with him. You should hit him!"

"Beat him? I'll kill you!" Frank raised his hand again and slapped Elizabeth's swollen face twice.

She felt wronged.

Why did Frank slap her?

He could at least tell her his reason for doing so!

Elizabeth, at this moment, was intensely irritated and frustrated for she did not know the reason she deserved these slaps.

"Director Chien, I'm your woman! Why did you slap me?" Tears streamed down Elizabeth's face; she found herself being unfairly treated by Frank.

She got into Frank's arms.

An awful stench wafted into Frank's nostril the moment Elizabeth plunged into his arms.

William's previous reminder suddenly echoed in his mind.

"Elizabeth is emitting a foul odor. She must be suffering from a sexually transmitted disease."

Chapter 127

Frank's face darkened at once!

Being concealed by Elizabeth's pungent perfume, that foul odor seemed to be very faint.

But when he took another sniff, that scent hit his every brain cell, traumatizing him!

Frank instinctively felt that he was not hugging a woman, but a pile of sh*t!

He pushed Elizabeth aside instantly, trembling with fear!

"Oh my God, that woman really has a serious disease!" Frank thought.

If it wasn't for William's reminder and the fear he experienced the previous night...

Then, Frank might have been deceived by Elizabeth.

And he might become infected too...

F*ck!

At this thought, Frank's hair stood on end!

He was so furious that he slapped Elizabeth again!

"B*tch, I was nearly infected by your contagious disease! How many men have you slept with? How dare you try to seduce me? F*ck you!" Frank yelled at her angrily.

Elizabeth was initially still wondering why she was being slapped, but when she heard Frank's words, she was completely dumbfounded.

Contagious...

How did Frank know...

All of a sudden, her heart sank!

The only reason why she could rely on Frank was all because of her body...

To deceive Frank, she had hand-picked a perfume that could mask her odor.

How did Frank discover the truth?

It was impossible!

It was a well kept secret!

Besides, Martin never discovered this too although they had made out several times with lights turned off.

Frank couldn't possibly find out!

Audaciously, she feigned an innocent look and mumbled with tearful eyes, "Director Chien, do you know how hurtful your words were? You may dislike me, but you shouldn't question my love for you. I'm only faithful to you..."

Frank felt disgusted and goosebumps were forming on his skin. He pointed to William. "Can you come up with a better lie? If it weren't for Junior Divine Doctor Lu, I would have been tricked by you. Honestly, I don't give a d*mn about your illness but f*ck off if you're trying to get me infected! Let's meet each other again!"

Elizabeth's mind was on the edge of explosion!

Frank knew the truth...

Moreover, he knew it from William!

She temporarily kept her overwhelming emotions aside while her mind was being occupied with a more terrifying realization.

"If that was her last moment with Frank, will he still..."

She uttered, "Director Chien, you promised me a bright and promising future..."

"In your dreams! Take a look in the mirror! You b*tch!" Frank had completely lost his cool. "Do you think I don't know what you are thinking? Don't you think I know what kind of woman you are? You're just a hypocritical sl*t that counts on the rich! Get out of my sight, and never let me see you again!"

Elizabeth's legs became weak as she flung down on the ground.

Her mind went blank!

She had slept with countless men.

Yet, she ended up gaining nothing!

She had thought that as long as Frank had her back, it would be fine for her to end all ties with Lunanica Media!

But at this moment, Frank had dumped her, ruthlessly!

She had been driven into a corner...

Thinking of this, she couldn't help but stare at William with resentment!

William Lu!

That son of a b*tch!"

That motherf*cker ruined her life!

He was the one that booted her out of this place!

He told Frank about her illness!

William was the root cause of her misery!

"Is she going to seek revenge?"

William could see through people's minds at a glance.

Elizabeth stared at him for three seconds before she suddenly lowered her head in silence.

When she lifted her head again, her eyes were sparkling with tears as if she was pleading with him.

She grabbed William's leg and cried bitterly, "Director Lu, I'm sorry! It was my fault! Please let me stay! I will repay your kindness! It will be your wisest decision."

Elizabeth was putting on an act.

Of course, William knew that.

Elizabeth thought that her chance was slim; her acting and pleading would be futile.

But to her surprise, William said, " You want to stay, don't you? Sure. If you dare to, I don't mind."

William actually allowed her to stay?

Was he that forgiving?

Elizabeth had humiliated him in the past. How could he...

No!

It wasn't that simple!

But, she must stay here. She must!

If she dared to...

Elizabeth looked at William whose face was written with disdain.

Elizabeth pondered thoughtfully.

It was like she was facing a devil!

"You want to stay, don't you?" William's word echoed in her mind.

She had just turned her back on Lunanica Media and Martin...

To make matters worse, she even offended all the executives by kicking the door.

Everyone around her despised her.

There was only one fate awaiting her if she chose to stay in this company.

She would be shunned from the industry...

However, if she didn't stay in this company, then she would fade out from her stardom dream permanently.

It would last a lifetime!

Qena City was her only option and destination!

At the thought of this, Elizabeth finally understood how cold-blooded William's seemingly benevolent words were!

Whether she chose to stay or leave here, it would be a detriment for her!

But!

If she left, there might be greener pastures in the future!

Otherwise, it was truly the end to her career!

Elizabeth put on her thinking cap, and the way she looked at William had changed drastically.

She got up from the ground and spat, "I'll remember what you did today."

Then, she staggered towards the road.

After she left, Frank took out the Needles of Ruby Flower and handed it to William politely.

And then he bowed to William at ninety degrees to show his sincerity!

"Divine Doctor Lu, if it weren't for your silver needle and advice, I would have been dead! I was blind for I spoke down on you. Please forgive me. You have my utmost respect."

William replied casually, "No need for the flattery. Didn't I say that my needle is worth a thousand yuan?"

Frank immediately nodded and answered, "Yes, yes! Please give me your bank number. I'll debit 10 million yuan in no time!

Yes, ten million, not a thousand.

When Frank was throwing contemptuous glances at William back then, all he was willing to offer was 1000 yuans to chase him away.

Now that William had saved him with the silver needle, Frank was willing to pay 10 million yuan.

Frank added respectfully, "Divine Doctor Lu, I'm here today to express my utmost gratitude. Secondly, I'm hoping that you're willing to treat me. Please save me! I don't want to pass away so young."

William nodded. "I can cure your illness. But you have to pay me with a price that can convince me.

Frank said firmly, "Of course, anything you say. Be it millions or even a billion, it will be worthwhile. After all, my life is entirely in your hands."

William chortled.

Millions, or a billion?

Did that even matter?

Seeing William's titter, Frank felt a chill at his back.

"Could it be that Divine Doctor Lu isn't interested in money?"

Then what did he want?

Frank pondered for a while and suddenly remembered his first encounter with William.

Frank's head was in a buzz, and his eyes were red.

"Divine Doctor Lu, did you want..."

What William wanted was not his money, but his cash cow!

Flavia Li!
