

Chapter 148

"As all of you can see, I have relinquished my position as the general manager of the Baileaf Pharma for some time. In fact, it is Felicity who was behind everything so far. It has nothing to do with the Bai family at all."

Steven looked around at the crowd as he continued, "Also, we made a public statement denouncing all of Felicity's actions made in the name of the Bai family. This is why we are exposing her now. Although this is a family affair, we still want to call her out as we are very displeased with her."

As if he was giving a speech, Steven presented all the excuses that he had prepared a long time ago.

Everyone on the scene was dumbfounded.

They did not anticipate such a turn of events!

Indeed, the Bai family had made that statement before.

Therefore, was this really the work of Felicity alone?

False information, victimizing others for profit, and deceiving people... It was all by the hands of this vicious woman, Felicity!

The crowd shivered as they looked at Felicity.

A woman was the most wicked after all!

Felicity's eyes reddened.

However, she did not cry.

She had long been disappointed at the Bai family; she had no tears left for the Bai family anymore.

A curious thought entered her mind.

"Oh my family, I'd like to see how impudent you can be!"

As Steven finished, he felt elated.

He took pride in his cunning escape. It was probably the best plan he had ever come up with.

No one would have expected that he would give his company to Felicity!

Then, he would let her shoulder all the blame alone and to bear all the sins.

With this, the Bai family could leave clean and unscathed.

He had no doubt that Yasmine would agree.

He understood her character. She would place the glory of the family far above anything else.

Now, in a single decisive strike, he made a homerun!

Of course, Steven did not do it solely for the sake of the Bai family's reputation.

It was for his own sake.

It was a crime of spreading false information since they had led to dozens of victims near death. He would never have been able to escape the sanction.

Now, however, everything had been pushed onto Felicity.

As for the company that he handed over to Felicity, it would fall back into his hands after Felicity being thrown behind the bars.

To execute such a flawless escape in such a desperate situation, he must be a genius indeed!

Steven was proud of his own flair and wisdom.

Yasmine waited; she expected for Felicity to turn hostile right then and there.

However, when she saw how calm and collected Felicity looked, she felt a little uneasy.

This didn't seem like Felicity at all.

"Don't tell me she has some other tricks up her sleeve?" she wondered.

Fearing the worst, Yasmine comforted Felicity in a soft voice, "Felicity, we have carefully considered this matter. After all, you did deceive the people and there was no escape for you. Since you are going to be charged, what difference does a couple more crimes make? There's no need to let the Bai family suffer together with you, right?"

Yasmine then patted Felicity's back. "Don't worry,

I'll try my best to keep you safe. But this time, you have to take the blame, and I'll never forget what you've done for our family."

Rebecca felt uneasy as she watched Felicity remain as stoic as stone, thus she also comforted her, "Felicity, it's going to be okay. Don't you have a knack for turning misfortune into a blessing? You can do it this time too. No offense, but if you wouldn't have known how powerful you are. What doesn't kill you makes you stronger."

When Felicity heard these words, she wanted to laugh.

How could they mask such malice in this way? Their insincere concern made her nauseous!

How typical of the Bai family!

Fine!

Come on then!

"Today, I will observe and listen as you creatures tell tall tales about me," she thought.

Steven stood on the stage for a while. Seeing Felicity remained composed, he dared not pass the letter of appointment to Felicity.

He was afraid that Felicity would rip up the letter and back out.

As he weighed his options, his gaze drifted to someone else!

William!

William was a good-for-nothing who would never dare turn against him!

Hence, he threw the letter straight to William. "Here, take it. It's your wife's. In fact, I wanted to give it to her a long time ago, but I never had the chance."

William accepted the letter and the corners of his lips curled up. "Are you sure you want to give it to me?"

Steven was flabbergasted as William's smile turned icy.

He did not dare to meet William's gaze.

"Psycho!" he cursed in a soft voice and returned to his seat.

William looked at the letter of appointment and sneered internally.

Was Steven trying to frame Felicity to escape his crimes? Interesting.

Steven was indeed talented.

Unfortunately...

"Now that he had given me the letter, it wouldn't be easy for him to take back," William thought.

Nathan glanced at Felicity whose demeanor was frigid and icy, his heart soared with delight.

He had given her the chance to beg him the previous day, yet she gave him the cold shoulder instead.

Now, it was too late for her to beg for mercy!

Charged with three crimes, Felicity could only wait to be spurned by the whole city!

"The Bai family's explanation was indeed reasonable and convincing. However, the final verdict would be carried out by the Pharmaceutical Association. Now, let's talk about the Genuine Care Medical Center." Nathan took control of the floor again and looked at the side where the people from the Genuine Care Medical Center seated.

He was a little shocked by what he saw.

He thought that the people from the Genuine Care Medical Center would be in distress when he said that.

However, none of them were losing it!

The faces of Melissa, Lydia, Henry, and William, who represented the Genuine Care Medical Center, were as calm as usual.

On their faces, there was the slightest hint of mockery in their smiles.

What the f*ck!

Were they feigning indifference now that they were on the verge of their death?!

"The Genuine Care Medical Center is also guilty of three crimes too!" Nathan said loudly as he speeded up his pace.

"Firstly, knowing that the Heption Herb is poisonous, they still decide to purchase it. This is in violation of the industry's rules and is a serious breach of professionalism!"

"Secondly, it's their inhumane act of adding insult to injury towards the poor and suffering farmers of Heption Village!"

He pursed his lips just slightly as he added, "The third crime! For fawning over the wealthy and ignoring the poor. By providing free treatment to only the rich, you have broken the medical code of ethics!"

"The Genuine Care Medical Center, do you plead guilty?"

At the end of Nathan's words, he hit the table hard, in an attempt to unsettle the tall wall of indifference displayed by the Genuine Care Medical Center!

BANG!

Everyone jolted in their seats at Nathan's sudden action.

Nathan seemed satisfied at the response.

"Now, it's time for you to reveal your tricks!" he thought.

"Try and fight against me!"

He continued in his thoughts. "The harder you fight, the more I have to crush you with!"

Melissa stood up and looked around. Then, she parted her red lips slightly.

Only one word came out from her lips.

"Yes."

Did she just say 'yes'?

All the people in the room went silent!

Was the Genuine Care Medical Center not attempting to explain themselves? Why did they plead guilty immediately?

Earlier, the Bai family had just ditched their own family member; now, was the Genuine Care Medical Center going to give in just like that?

Even Nathan felt disoriented by them.

"Don't you have anything else to say or explain?"

Nathan was unwilling to give up.

He was not pleased with what was going on!

He cannot let the Genuine Care Medical Center get away so easily!

They were hoping for a quick death, weren't they?

He won't let them have it their way so easily!

Melissa looked at Nathan, smirking. "Are you sure you want us to explain ourselves?"

Nathan sneered and immediately nodded. "Of course. I won't incriminate a good man or let a bad one go."

Melissa clapped at Nathan's words and said, "What you said is great! Fine, then I shall represent the Genuine Care Medical Center and say a few words. However, my throat is sore today, so I'm giving full authority to my staff member to represent our clinic.

She then turned to William and continued, "William, please go up the stage."

Chapter 149

William slowly stood up and marched toward the podium.

The crowd was stunned when they saw William going up the platform.

William?

Wasn't he that good-for-nothing son-in-law of the Bai family?

Why was he on stage?

When Nathan saw that it was William, a thought flashed across his mind.

Huh, that was how it was after all!

Didn't the Genuine Care Medical Center have nothing to fear a while ago?

It turned out that their tactic was exactly the same as the Bai family's!

Felicity was betrayed by the Bai family and forced to bear their crimes.

And now the Genuine Care Medical Center was making William their scapegoat!

Haha!

Interesting!

Nathan hated that couple the most. Seeing them take the blame together, he felt more elated than ever before!

It would serve them right since they committed all those evil deeds!

Their reputation would forever be ruined!

"What do you have to say?" Nathan asked William.

William simply shook his head.

The people present were all confused at the sight.

Did William have nothing to say?

Was he really going to confess?

This good-for-nothing was indeed pitiful. He was like a stray puppy, abandoned by his master, the Genuine Care Medical Center.

William and Felicity were like a pair of miserable lovers, trapped within the same fate.

However, much to the surprise of the people, William slowly walked toward the patients.

Everyone was puzzled.

What did this good-for-nothing want now?

Soon, William stood before a patient.

He looked around and said indifferently, "Although I do not have anything to say, I'll let all of you have a look."

As he finished saying this, William tapped gently on the throat of one of the patients.

The force he exerted was miniscule, like a fallen petal landing on the surface of water.

However, the impact was extremely frightening!

The patient's face, pale as a ghost, changed dramatically as his eyes shot wide open!

An itch formed at the back of his throat, and he spat something out in front of everyone!

This caused an uproar among the audience!

It was blood that came out of the patient's mouth!

The blood was a mixture of red and black! It was also laced with brown and yellow pus!

After throwing up, the patient lurched and fainted on the stretcher.

The crowd sprang up in panic and confusion!

Nathan's face turned ashen. He had never expected William would murder a person in broad daylight!

"William, how dare you! Do you have a death wish?!" Nathan rushed over and roared at William.

The people present were also outraged.

"You maniac! Punish him! He's a murderer!" a member of the audience rallied.

"Arrest him now!" another demanded.

"Doctor! Doctor!" a panicked person cried out helplessly.

The crowd was already in a state of chaos.

Felicity looked at William as he was ravaged by the storm, her heart skipped a beat.

She never believed that William would kill someone.

"William, what are you doing?" she asked silently.

But just when everyone wanted to arrest William, something strange happened again!

It was like a chain reaction from the first patient.

All William did was merely a gentle tap on the first patient who fainted after spitting out blood.

However, as if on cue, the other patients also spat out blood one after another after looking at the first patient.

In less than five minutes, all the patients vomited blood and fainted!

The scene became even more chaotic than before!

A doctor in a white coat bellowed, "Strange. Their pulses are erratic and weak. Also, their discharge has a foul odor. I suspect they may have been poisoned."

At his words, the audience burst into a cacophony.

The people rushing towards William stopped in their tracks.

What? What the hell had happened?

If this diagnosis was restricted to only the first patient, then things would make perfect sense since it was possible that he was drugged.

After all, everyone saw with their own eyes as William tapped the man's throat.

However, how would one explain the chain reaction from the rest of the patients?

William never touched them.

However, they vomited the same concoction out at the same time!

In other words, William did not do anything to the first person!

The man was supposed to vomit blood anyway!

Everyone present shouted anxiously, "Hurry up and save them! Hurry up!"

"This is weird. Didn't Lincon save these patients before? I saw his interview on TV and he swore nothing would happen again! In that case, how do we explain what's happening right now?" asked a man who rose from his seat.

A reporter pressured Nathan for answers, "Nathan, explain it to us! What's going on here?"

The patient's family members quickly surrounded Nathan.

Nathan's face turned pallid at once.

How would he know what was going on?

If he knew that something as such would happen to these patients, he wouldn't have been bold enough to bring them over! They were supposed to be here to make him look great and not to cause all these troubles!

"Nathan, explain to us clearly! What's happening to my lover? Didn't Lincon swear that they're alright? Is he lying to us?" a woman in tears cried out.

"Where's he? Bring him out now! Did he already know that there was no saving our family from the beginning? Is this why he is avoiding us today?" a man in his thirties shouted.

"If that is what happened, I will fight with all my might against the Zhao family! Not only did you not save our family, but you also used our tragedy to promote yourself! They should be in the hospital getting treated but you brought them here! I will personally send the entire Zhao family to hell with me if anything goes wrong with my mother!" A patient's family member hissed furiously, his eyes laced with tears.

Nathan was flurried by the bombardment of questions and curses.

His mind went blank.

If the patients were truly in danger, the good name the Zhao family made for themselves would be for naught.

As Nathan panicked, he saw William standing placidly outside the crowd.

He pointed resolutely at William. "He must have done it! I don't know what voodoo he used to poison your family members again! Think about it, wasn't your relative all well in the past few days?"

"However," he added, "Just as we were about to sanction the Genuine Care Medical Center, he touched a patient before they all spat blood together. Do you really think this is a coincidence? It's obvious that this good-for-nothing is pulling tricks on us! He wants to frame the Zhao family so he could be spared from today's punishment!"

Nathan's accusations turned the focus of the audience towards William.

"He is using more than a dozen lives as his shield! Where is your conscience, William? How could you be so wicked, Genuine Care Medical Center?"

Could it be that this was really a trick by the Genuine Care Medical Center?

At this moment, William pushed the crowd aside and strode toward Nathan.

A wave of guilt washed over Nathan for no reason.

"W- wh- what do you want now?" Nathan questioned, conflicted.

"Nothing in particular. Aren't you suspecting me for drugging these poor patients? Well, I happen to suspect you as well. So, here I am, to confront you," William replied indifferently.

Confront?

Nathan froze.

Subsequently, he heard William ask, "Tell me what method you used previously to treat these comatose patients!"

His words hit Nathan right in his Achilles heel.

The crowd's curiosity was growing by the minute.

After saving these comatose patients, Lincon had been keeping his lips tightly sealed on the type of treatment he used, as if it were a revelation that could shake the heavens.

Now that William brought the question into focus again, how could they not be curious?

Nathan couldn't help but take a step back. He was stammering, unable to say a word.

It was not that he did not know!

He could not say it! He dared not to say it!

"It is a secret exclusive to the Zhao family! How can we reveal our secrets so easily!" Nathan finally managed to spout the words out.

William burst into laughter right away.

"A secret? Fine, why don't you let me take a guess?"

Perhaps, I know the answer."
