

Chapter 165

William was stunned as he looked at Felicity with burning eyes before his lips suddenly curled up into a gentle smile.

What a silly wife!

She was still convinced that he had borrowed money to buy the Emperor's Flower!

Although she had not mentioned this matter recently, she must have been very troubled by it.

Previously, she even intended to use her first hard-earned money to pay off this non-existent debt for him.

William smiled. "She's so silly that it's so adorable!"

However, William was still deeply moved by her thoughtfulness.

The Bai family instantly burst into an uproar. "Emperor's Flower? Isn't it yours to begin with? Why are you buying it? What's going on?"

Felicity said, "The money will be returned to the person who gave me the Emperor's Flower. And from now on, I will no longer have anything to do with that person."

Felicity was smart. Previously, she made up a random man to bluff the Bai family, and now she used the same tactic to draw a satisfactory end to this matter.

The Bai family snapped, "Felicity, aren't you being foolish? You are just wasting your money! Besides, what's wrong with you? Why do you want to sever such a relationship? Although we don't know who that mysterious person is, he must be a rich and powerful man. How can you break off such an important relationship so easily?"

Felicity's face turned cold. She pointed at William and said, "Listen carefully, William is my man! He's the only one I will love for the rest of my life! If you don't agree with me, I don't mind finding the Qena City Pharmaceutical Association to remove my name as the proposer."

The Bai family's face froze in an instant!

Felicity was now the proposer of the agreement that all pharmaceutical companies just signed!

Bernard had previously warned that it had nothing to do with the Bai family.

But shouldn't they share an equal amount of glory with Felicity? After all, she was one of the Bais! This logic was not something that could be refuted!

If Felicity resigned from her position as the proposer, the damage it would cause to the Bai family would be simply immeasurable!

What the f*ck!

For a moment, the Bai family was so angry but they didn't dare to say anything!

This little b*tch was getting more and more outrageous!

She even dared to threaten them!

"If none of you has no objection, William and I will go first," Felicity said as she pulled William along and left.

However, they were stopped in their tracks again.

This time, it was Steven who stopped her.

There was not even a single trace of his previous nasty attitude that could be seen on his face. Steven forced a disgusting grin and voiced, "Felicity, where is the letter of appointment? Hehe, we were just joking with you. Why don't you give it back to me?"

Felicity's mouth quirked up into a playful smile.

The appointment letter!

It was supposedly used by Steven to convict her!

Since the Bai family dared to pull such a trick, then they should be ready to take the consequences!

Then she would never let them have their way!

They were the ones who started it.

And now, they wanted to take it back from her!

Humph!

They should know their place; not everyone was going to listen to them all the time!

Felicity was not going to give them a chance to take back their words!

"You want to take it back? In your dreams! I will be officially taking it over tomorrow. Just wait and see!" Felicity strode away with William.

At the sight of this, Steven was so vexed that he started cursing!

Nothing went his way since the morning!

He had thought that this trick of his would keep him away from trouble!

And once Felicity was being convicted for whatever crimes she was accused with, the company would return to his hands once again!

But who would have expected such a plot twist!

Not only did that little b*tch manage to escape through all the accusations...

But she also gained wealth and fame! She was no longer in the same position, and so was the remaining Bais.

Steven's initial intention was to shift all the blame onto Felicity but he ended up giving his company to Felicity!

Steven was so irk that his ruse didn't work out as he planned.

D*mn it!

Not only did he lose all his money, but he even lost his company!

Steven could not help but grumble to Yasmine, "Grandma, look at her! How dare she treat me in this way! She will definitely talk down to you soon!"

Yasmine glared fiercely at Steven and hissed, "Shut your trap up! All these problems were created by you! Marketing? Advertisement? You almost ruined our family's reputation! How dare you even secretly buy the herbs using your own personal money! You should thank me for not asking you to take up the responsibility!"

Steven was dumbstruck. "Grandma, I'm your dearest grandson. I did this for the sake of the Bai family. My money belongs to our family. Think about it. If I did not frame her, would she be able to fight back? If she hadn't fought back, how could our family clear our name? Therefore, you should recognize my contribution to this"

Yasmine wanted to reproach Steven but all that escaped from her lips was an exasperated sigh.

After all, Steven was the only grandson in the third generation of the Bai Family.

Felicity, that little b*tch, was obviously not on the same boat with them.

As for Xena, she seemed to start showing signs of rebellion recently as well.

In the future, the Bai family's reputation would have to rely on Steven.

"Let's leave it this way. That little b*tch is going to be arrogant for quite some time now. We can't have a bad relationship with her for the time being. Don't worry. I will deal with it well," Yasmine responded.

Steven was delighted and said respectfully, "Then I'll count on you to uphold justice for us, Grandma."

Felicity, who was on her way out, looked at William, her eyes gleaming with tenderness. "William, we are finally debt-free. Will our future be better?"

William was shocked as he looked at Felicity. At that moment, Felicity was but a fairy in his eyes. It was as if everything surrounding her had dimmed out.

There was only love and adoration in her eyes.

The reason this silly woman acted arrogantly with the Bai family a while ago was not related to her victory. All she cared about was their future.

William sighed.

He didn't like the idea that Felicity was staying with the Bai family.

However, he understood Felicity's concerns.

Felicity's father ran away from home when they were both still young. Before he left, he had secretly told Felicity, "Stay at home and wait for me to come back."

And she had waited for more than ten years...

She was a very stubborn woman; William knew that she was willing to wait for his father's return for her whole life.

Therefore, it was difficult for William to make a request for her to leave the Bai family.

But it didn't matter. As long as he stayed by her side, everything would be fine.

William was lost in his thoughts when he heard Felicity exclaim shockingly all of a sudden, "Oh, they are spamming the group again!"

William was dumbfounded as he asked, "A group?"

Felicity appeared to be slightly annoyed, her eyes fixed on her phone.

William stretched his neck and took a peek. He was speechless at what he saw.

"Revenagers..."

His wife was such an innocent person. He had clearly told her to not join the group, but she ended up joining it without his knowledge.

It took William just a look to know that the members of the group were not decent peoples.

Even their names were weird: Shovel Holder, Hoe Holder and Axe Holder.

And there was another one with the weirdest name: the Cheerleader.

Just when William was about to comment on how cliché the name of the Cheerleader was, he saw that Felicity was sending a series of applause emojis inside the chatroom.

So it was his wife that was called the Cheerleader...

William was speechless.

If that went on, his wife would be led astray by these wicked women sooner or later.

William was about to persuade Felicity to leave this group chat before he heard Felicity excitedly exclaim, "Oh, let's go home faster. I'm in such a good mood today. I'm going to be the most active member of the group. I will spam the group until I sleep tonight!"

Chapter 166

A chill ran down William's spine when he heard this.

"My dear wife, do you really know whom they are talking about in the group?" William thought silently.

"It's us!"

He frowned. Felicity had no idea that she was playing with fire!

However, William did not say his thoughts out in the end when he saw Felicity's face blushing red. Obviously, the group chats made her cheerful, and she was enjoying herself.

Like an adorable little girl who was addicted to chatting, Felicity did not let go of her phone throughout the evening. William could not help but watch her indulging in it from the side.

The night went by, and he woke up the next day.

William nudged Felicity who was sleeping and asked, "Shouldn't you be up now? Aren't you going to take over the company from Steven today?"

Felicity immediately shrank into her covers and wiggled, her soft voice tinged with a hint of sleepiness. "Hmm, I want to sleep in! We chatted until midnight. I'm so tired and sleepy now."

William was speechless. These three women alone were able to make a noisy crowd. Now that they had Felicity in, their energy could probably allow them to run a party.

"What's there to talk about among you all?" William couldn't help but ask.

Felicity's eyes immediately lit up as she sprung up. Her hair looked disheveled, as did the pajamas she was wearing. From William's position, he could see her alluring cleavages.

She pulled the strap that had slipped down her shoulders up and mumbled with a smile, "You wouldn't expect it. The three ladies in the group were so interesting. They were scolding a jerk called the little b*stard the whole night. They didn't even use the same phrases! They were so good at it. My hands were feeling sore since I was cheering for them the whole night."

William was confused for a moment. If Felicity knew that the little b*stard was actually him, he wondered how her expression would be...

Would she be as happy as she was now?

Felicity's phone vibrated at that moment.

She picked it up and looked at it. Suddenly, she was in high spirits again. "Oh, they are starting to swear again! Hahaha! I'm going to cheer for them. It looks like there is still a long way to go before I can take a rest. Hmm, what is Mom doing recently? She is so secretive and she leaves early and comes home late every day. If you have time, do help me buy some breakfast back, okay?"

William sighed. His wife had been completely led astray by these three women.

However, William did not mock Felicity for her childishness.

The pressure she had been bearing recently was too heavy. Perhaps, she was using this childish-looking group chat to destress.

William went to the Genuine Care Medical Center first.

As soon as he arrived at the office, he saw two women sitting on the sofa, cross-legged. Both of them had mobile phones in their hands. Their fingers were swiping across the screen swiftly. They would giggle occasionally while looking at the screen.

When William walked over, both Melissa and Lydia looked up before they fixed their eyes back onto the screen. They were even happier!

They were practically looking at William as they complained about him in the group chat. It was such a refreshing experience for them.

William remained quiet for a while before he hissed, "Miss Shovel Holder and Miss Hoe Holder, can you please watch out your language? Please don't lead my wife astray!"

Melissa had been cursing William for a long time since the previous day.

The Genuine Care Medical Center was supposed to be the proposer but because of William's selflessness, Felicity took the position instead.

Now that she got the chance to roast William along with Felicity while looking at his dejected face, she was in a much better mood.

The worth of this group was not something that could be measured by money.

Felicity was the key person in this very group!

After having another whale of a time, Melissa finally put down her phone and asked him seriously, "What are you doing here today?"

William's initial intention of coming here was to comfort their broken hearts.

But judging by the situation now, it seemed that their injured souls had been consoled by his very own wife.

Melissa's spirit lit up at once seeing William's defeated expression.

Finally, she found a way to win this little b*stard!

"By the way, what are we going to do next?"
Melissa decided to let William go for the time being.

William picked up an orange on the table and peeled it. "What do you say?"

"He's testing me again!" Melissa frowned. She pondered for a moment and answered, "We were everyone's focus yesterday. I'm afraid we'll have to keep a low profile for these few days."

After all, the fact that Genuine Care Medical Center monopolized the Heption Herb had brought some negative impressions on the clinic.

On top of that, they had offended Bernard who was from the Pharmaceutical Association. The association would definitely keep an eye on them in the near future.

William nodded. "Yes, for the next few days, we will shift our focus onto some other things. I'll leave both of you to look after the Genuine Care Medical Center for the next few days."

Melissa was dumbstruck.

Some other things?

What else did he have to do?

A thought flashed across her mind and her pupils shrank instantly!

Lunanica Media!

Sigh, no wonder this little b*stard wanted to venture into this business previously. How naive of her that she thought he would not be able to take care of both sides!

Unexpectedly, his real intention was to create a diversion to distract them. All of these were part of his plans!

Geez, a person would not be able to survive with this little b*stard if they weren't smart enough!

William brought out a few other reminders and went out of the room.

Before leaving, he was reminded of something and told Melissa, "By the way, please let Henry take all the credits, for whatever happened yesterday."

William only wanted to make a profit peacefully. He did not want to be in the spotlight.

After leaving the Genuine Care Medical Center, he went to Lunanica Media.

He stepped into the elevator to go to the top floor.

When the elevator door was about to close, suddenly, a hand grabbed the elevator's door. Following a ringing sound, the elevator opened again.

Two women came into the elevator.

One of them was dressed in a black dress. Her long hair tumbled over her shoulders. She was wearing a pair of sunglasses and a face mask.

She had a voluptuous body, making her as dazzling as an elegant black swan. Even with a mask on her face, it could not hide the fact that she was a beauty. William, at that moment, had yet to know that she was Laura.

As for the other woman, it was clear that she was much less stunning. She had a pointed mouth and monkey-like cheeks with short hair. Her name was Linda.

When Linda saw William who was scanning her boss, she immediately roared with displeasure, "Get the hell out of here!"

William was dumbstruck as he thought, "Is she talking to me?"

Linda looked at William in disgust. "I'm talking about you. Where did you come from? Don't you know that Sister Koo is here?"

Sister Koo?

William looked at the gorgeous woman again.

She must be Laura, the top star of Lunanica Media.

He didn't expect her to be so arrogant.

Seeing that William did not reply to her, the woman reached out and grabbed William's clothes. "Get out of here! Sister Koo does not wish to share the elevator with an outsider."

Aside from adjusting her sunglasses occasionally, Laura didn't say a single word from the beginning to the end.

She was disdainful to even talk to William.

She was the top star of Lunanica Company, hence she had high standards when it came to people she was going to interact with.

Harper was the only person in the company who could make her obey.

As for the others, they were nothing.

No to mention a lowly nonentity like William.

William took a look at Laura. Since he didn't want to cause a scene here, he went out of the elevator.

As soon as he got out, the elevator beside it opened its door. He calmly walked in and pressed the button to the highest floor.

When Laura's assistant saw William left the elevator gloomily, she couldn't help but chuckle. "Who is that person? He must be a new employee here who's not sensible enough. He doesn't even know how to greet you, Sister Koo. I'll educate him well in the future and let him know who he should bow to in Lunanica Media."

Laura said indifferently, "Linda, there's no need to care about this kind of person."

The two of them didn't say another word again.

The elevator reached the highest floor in the blink of an eye.

The moment Laura stepped out of the elevator, a ringing sound was heard from the elevator beside them.

At that moment, William was seen walking out from it.

13:37

"It's you again!" Linda frowned and strode towards William!

VAMP20 WORKS

Chapter 167

Linda sneered at William. "Why are you following us?! Do you know which floor this is? Do you know whose office this is? Is this a place where a piece of trash like you can access? Where's the security? Get him out of here!"

As she shouted, the security guard who was on duty on the top floor immediately ran over.

When he saw Laura, the young security guard's eyes lit up. He fawned all over her and bowed, saying, "Nice meeting you, Sister Goo."

Linda pointed at William and said sternly to the security guard, "Who the hell is this? How can he enter the top floor as per his wish?"

The security guard did not know William at all. He was stunned for a moment and said, "I don't know him either."

Linda's face immediately turned sour. "So, he is not an employee of the company? Then he must be a crazy fan of Sister Koo. Why aren't you doing your job? How can you let some fanatic enter the company so easily? How can he have the access to the top floor? Do you want to be fired?!"

Linda continued angrily, "If Sister Koo is hurt by someone, do you think you are able to bear the responsibility?"

The security guard's face froze and he immediately apologized, "Linda, I'm really sorry. I was negligent of me to allow him in. I'll bring him away now."

Laura didn't even look at William as she walked straight towards her office.

After they left, the security guard glared at William. "You f*cking idiot! You want to get me in trouble, don't you?"

William looked at the security guard with indifference. "Are you done? If you are, then I'll go first."

William turned and walked towards his office.

When the security guard saw William's reaction, he realized that William must be determined to intrude the top floor.

He immediately took out his baton and shouted behind William, "Stop! It seems that if I don't teach you a lesson today, you won't know that I am being serious!" His eyes were sparkling with a hint of viciousness.

After that, he struck William's back with his electric baton.

But at this time, a hasty, piercing voice rang out from somewhere close, "Stop!"

The security guard's hand froze abruptly.

He looked at the person who spoke.

At this moment, he felt goosebumps all over his body.

What an unlucky day!

Not only was Sister Koo angry at him, but he had also provoked another equally evil lady.

The person who came was Janet. She was wearing a tight-fitting uniform.

Her suit was white in color. Her black silky stockings made her look slender and elegant. She was rushing over in her high heels.

The security guard quickly explained, "Miss Ching, I'm really sorry to have disturbed you."

"What do you think you're doing?" Janet glimpsed at the security guard coldly.

The security guard immediately answered, "This b*stard came out of nowhere. How dare he intrude here! He insisted on going to the president's office. I must teach him a lesson today!"

William glanced at Janet nonchalantly, then he turned around and continued to march towards the office.

The security guard's anger erupted in an instant. He strode along to catch William as he bellowed, "Stop right there! I am so going to beat you to death today!"

However, Janet immediately stood in his way expressionlessly.

Her eyes were extremely cold.

"Miss Ching, how can you let him go? If he offends the superiors, I would not be able to bear the blame," the security guard said anxiously.

Janet looked at the security guard and replied, "Go to the Finance Department and receive your salary."

The security guard's mind went blank. "Salary... what salary?"

Janet turned around and strode towards the office as she said, "You are fired."

The security guard's mind was blown off as he thought, "Fired?"

He looked at Janet's back in disbelief. Suddenly, he rushed over with tears welling up in his eyes.

"Miss Ching, I have been working hard for the past two years. The only mistake I made was to let a fool in by accident. Besides, it's him who came all the way here. I have nothing to do with it. It was the fault of the guards downstairs who failed to stop this man. If you want to fire me, you should give me a good reason!"

Janet looked at the security guard coldly. "A reason? The fool you're talking about is our company's new director. Is this reason good enough?"

After that, she swaggered away.

As the security guard recalled Janet's last sentence, his legs suddenly went jelly!

The cold and unkempt young man earlier was the new director of the company!

Yet, he almost hit William earlier with his baton!

Worse still, he had been calling him as a fool so many times...

He plopped down on the ground and gave himself a tight slap. He truly regretted it!

As Janet walked into William's office, she saw William looking at his phone.

This scene filled Janet with indignation.

She had no idea what was so good about William.

He had no proper manners nor charm. He looked exactly like an unemployed vagrant one could find on the streets.

What did Harper see in him?

Why did Harper make her stop all her work this year and focus on assisting him?!

"Does this brat even deserve it?"

Janet felt reluctant to obey Harper's instruction, but her past experiences had taught her how to hide her real emotions well.

She advanced towards William and asked in a neither humble nor arrogant tone, "Director Lu, what are you here for today?"

William replied casually, "Nothing. I just want to know the company's recent situation."

Janet nodded and said professionally, "There are two most important things happening in the company now. The first one is to negotiate with Frank about the new movie we are working with Henderson Media."

William frowned, "We have been talking about this since last time. Why hasn't it made any progress yet?"

William's dissatisfaction aroused Janet's annoyance.

"You aren't in charge of it, of course you won't know how challenging it can be," Janet thought.

The negotiation was just to drag the matter and buy time. What would William know about it?

"Where is it stuck?" William asked again.

Janet answered, "It is mainly because of the leading actors and sponsors. Our company wants to choose one lead actor and to have the decision to choose one third of the sponsors. But Henderson Media doesn't agree with it."

William nodded and asked, "Is there anything else?"

Janet shook her head.

This brat didn't know a thing.

All he did was ask a question and let it pass. From the looks of it, he was just here to show others that he was a director.

An incompetent, good-for-nothing director.

"Besides, we have started the selection of the heroine of the movie in advance. If there is no issue, we are expecting someone from our company. After all, we shouldn't allow outsiders to profit from it," Janet continued.

"Oh, I saw Laura outside just now. I'm sure she's the best candidate for the female lead, right?" William asked.

Janet frowned because she actually didn't like Laura too.

Laura was domineering and all she had was a good background. She never cared about the people around her.

However, there was a 90% chance that the leading actress this time would be Laura.

"Since she is in the office, I'll ask her to come and meet you. She wasn't here last time, so both of you have yet to formally meet each other," Janet said.

William nodded.

She made a phone call immediately. After hanging up the phone, Janet said, "She said she would be here soon."