

Chapter 178

Hearing this, Darren replied excitedly, "Of course! Thank you, Mr. Zhang!"

The new director had been an enigma up till now; his visits to the company were few and far between.

Darren could not believe that Martin actually wanted to introduce him to the director! Meeting the new director in person would do more for his career than anything else!

Martin stated, "Let me do the talking when we meet with the director later. Your job is to only nod and smile."

Darren dared not to disobey Martin and immediately agreed.

As the duo arrived at the director's office, they realized the door was ajar and there was nobody inside.

Martin was confused. "Where is he? This is weird."

The two of them waited for a while, but nobody showed up. Finally, Martin said, "Forget it, I'll bring you here again at the soonest opportunity. For now, please get on with your work."

Although Darren was disappointed, he did not have other choices either.

On his way down, he saw no trace of William at the security booth. He became livid at once. "Where the hell did that brat go?! How dare he leave his position on the first day of work?! I'll make him suffer when I find him!"

Several minutes ago.

In Laura's office.

Laura was feeling absolutely delightful on this special day.

She woke up to the fact that her face, which had been swollen for the past six months, was restored to its original perfect state.

Her skin was so tender and soft; her rosy cheeks were a symbol of good health.

The beauty in the mirror left Laura breathless.

Her beauty was truly impeccable.

It was also the first time in half a year that she took off her mask and sunglasses when she walked to the door of the company.

Seeing the surprise on the employees' faces, she was even happier.

"This is who I am supposed to be!" Laura thought proudly.

Being the center of all attention and enjoying all the riches of the world!

As she continued admiring her beauty in the mirror at the office, she recalled her reason for being at the company.

To meet the new director...

In the past, she dared not to show her face to the others, but it was different now.

Her beauty was finally restored. On top of that, she looked so much better than before.

All men would be enticed by her perfect, alluring face!

She was having the best time of her year.

When meeting the director later, she would have him fall helplessly for her.

She was extremely confident in herself and flawless charm.

Immediately, she gave Janet a call.

However, Janet was still angry at the fact that Laura had stood her up the previous day, thus her tone wasn't friendly.

She refused Laura's request to meet the director without batting an eye. "The director is busy."

She cheered inwardly for herself; she had avenged herself after being stood up by Laura.

Laura, who was initially in a good mood, was irritated by Janet's refusal.

She swung the doors open to give Janet a piece of her mind. However, all of a sudden, she ended up bumping into someone. She stopped and cried out, "Ouch!"

"Are you blind? What are you doing standing in front of the door?" Laura bellowed, frowning. She was about to enter her very own office.

She looked up and in an instant, her expression took a swing towards the opposite end of the spectrum as a fresh swell of rage rose in her!

"It's you! How dare you show your face here again? Do you have a death wish?" Laura screamed as she recognized that the figure she bumped into was William.

However, although uninvited, William walked into her office and sat down on the sofa.

Laura rushed over fiercely. "What the hell is wrong with you?! Get out of here! What's wrong with the security guards?! Why did they allow you to come up so easily?!"

William replied, "Don't worry about how I came up. Take off your clothes."

His words sent a strong chill over Laura's body.

He asked her to take off her clothes...

This sentence was so familiar!

Instantly, her mind filled with his smug face as he treated her the previous day!

How humiliating it was!

She felt so embarrassed and helpless!

"This son of a b*tch is too arrogant!" Laura thought vehemently.

"It's broad daylight and we're in the office!" Laura roared.

She wanted to throw William out at once.

However, at this moment, she hesitated; she recollected how everyone looked at her in awe a while ago when she arrived at the company.

If she wanted to continue to secure her beauty, then she must accept this b*stard's treatment!

If she wanted to become the lead actress, she could not afford to have any flaw in her appearance.

Yet, wasn't this an inappropriate time and place for a treatment?

Many people would be hustling and bustling about in the office during the day.

What if someone came in by accident and saw something they weren't supposed to see?

Wouldn't that completely destroy her image as an artist?

However, William looked at his watch and said, "I don't have much time. I'd already said it yesterday and I won't say it a second time. I'll give you a minute to think about it."

Seeing the stoic look on William's face, Laura felt the urge to drive her stilettos in his face!

No man had ever dared to do this to her!

And besides, a man as lowly as William!

On top of that, he wanted to do this in her office? He was crossing the line!

William was staring at his watch, as if performing a countdown. He didn't even give Laura so much as a glance.

It was the longest minute of Laura's life.

In the end, she compromised.

After all, he had already seen everything the previous day, there was nothing new for him to see.

She took off her clothes in shame and anger as William casually threw her a blindfold. "Put it on."

Now, they were in the office alone, and Laura—the beauty—was going to be blindfolded. To make it more exhilarating, it was still daytime!

It was as thrilling as it got!

Laura was about to go bonkers.

"When I'm fully recovered, I swear I'll kill you!"

Laura thought indignantly.

After putting on the blindfold, she felt a dull and numbing sting on her back.

It must have been the silver needles.

She wanted to cry out loud, but given the circumstances, she forced herself to endure it. The shame was making her dizzy.

She didn't feel much the previous day because she was knocked out by William.

Conscious now, she felt as though she was being gnawed on by ants. It was a mysterious feeling indeed.

Sighing internally, she couldn't help but marvel at this brat's talent.

"Turn around and face me," William suddenly instructed.

Laura, who was numb from head to toe, suddenly came to her senses!

Face him?!

Wouldn't that mean that he would be able to see her nude from the front?

"There are ten needles left. I'd advise you to hurry up. I'll say it again, a doctor would always want the best out of his patients. Should you have any salacious thoughts, I would not mind stopping treatment," William said indifferently. Laura wanted to punch him even more!

Salacious thoughts? What an a*shole!

"You son of a b*tch! Where's your dignity!"

"Where's your integrity?" She fumed inside.

He'd better not cross the line!

Although her heart was in turmoil, Laura had no choice but to turn around as per William's instructions.

Her body trembled slightly.

Just then, the clicky- clackety sound of high heels could be heard approaching from the outside.

It was getting louder by the minute.

Laura's body trembled as goosebumps crawled all over her skin!

She was praying hard for whoever those footsteps belonged to would not be heading for her room!

However, her fear invited the biggest demons!

The footsteps stopped outside Laura's office as someone turned the doorknob.

Chapter 179

"Ah!" Laura cried out, alarmed. She was distressed to the point of anguish.

She was done for!

Her life would be ruined if anyone saw what they were doing.

Her reputation would be completely destroyed!

"This son of a b*tch!" Laura cursed in her heart.

As soon as she exclaimed, the person outside the door turned the doorknob a few more times but failed to open it.

Apparently, Laura had instinctively locked the door when she followed William enter the room a while ago.

Laura's body quivered with fear; a sigh of relief escaped her lips.

"That was so close!" she thought to herself.

She felt that her life was hung by a thread at this moment; she was only inches away before her life was being ruined!

A voice was suddenly heard from the other side of the door, "Sister Koo, are you in there? I thought I heard your voice just now."

Laura's heart leaped.

The voice belonged to her assistant, Linda.
Laura couldn't wait to slap herself in the face.

If only she remained silent, she could've pretended that she wasn't inside and Linda would've quietly left.

How could she explain herself now that Linda knew she was in there?

William whispered, "There are only six more needles left. Don't let anyone in at such a crucial moment."

Laura was immediately gobsmacked!

She understood how crucial it was not to let anyone in!

"Does he really think that I want others to see me in such a humiliating state?" she thought.

She calmed herself and steeled herself as she shouted, "I'm changing clothes. Just give me a minute."

"Oh, okay. I'll wait here," Linda replied as she stood outside the door.

Laura's face fell once more.

Why was Linda waiting outside the door? No, she couldn't let Linda catch them in the act!

However, there was nothing she could do now. She was the one who made up such a lame excuse.

She hoped that time would tick at a faster rate. She wanted to hide as soon as William finished the acupuncture.

William carried out the treatment at his own pace despite being left with only a few more needles.

Unfortunately, the strength of the rotation of the silver needle was unusually weird this time. It caused Laura to lose control and moaned.

Linda looked blank as she stood outside the door. She curiously asked, "Sister Koo, are you okay? Your voice doesn't sound right."

"It's alright. Just give me another minute..." Laura sighed as she replied in a soft voice.

Linda became even more suspicious as she stood outside the door.

What was going on with Laura? Why was she acting so weird?

At that moment, Linda cast her doubts aside as she screamed across the closed door, "Sister Koo, I've brought the gift that you told me to buy for the highly-skilled doctor yesterday."

Laura's heart was burning with anxiety at this moment. Why would she even bother about the gifts?

She replied, "Alright."

"Sister Koo, did you meet the divine doctor yesterday? Is he very brilliant in medicine? Is your condition better?" Linda talked non-stop while standing outside the door.

Laura didn't know how to respond to Linda's questions.

It was true that William's medical skills were good, but also immoral!

"You bought a gift for me?" William snickered as he continued his treatment. "That's not necessary."

Laura was overwhelmed with a strong sense of shame.

If she knew that the divine doctor was the b*stard in front of her, the gift she got him would've been a butcher's knife!

"Oh, by the way, Sister Koo, I suddenly remembered something hilarious. Do you still remember the stalker we met a few times yesterday? I've just met him again. You'll never expect this but he's working as a security guard in our company. Don't you think this is hilarious?" Linda giggled outside.

Laura was even more embarrassed as she laid inside the room.

It turned out that this b*stard could come to the top floor so easily because he was the security guard of the company!

What the f*ck!

As the top star of the company, she was actually humiliated by a mere security guard...

Laura's heart was filled with even more shame and anger.

"I-I know," In order not to arouse Linda's suspicion, Laura bit her tongue and reluctantly answered.

At that moment, William had finished his treatment. He packed all his Needles of Ruby Flower and took off her blindfold.

Their eyes instantly clicked as soon as he removed her blindfold.

Laura felt so embarrassed that she wanted to bury herself in a hole.

She tightly hugged herself with both her hands.

William picked up two napkins on the table and threw them onto her body. "Wipe your sweat and kindly put on your clothes," he said in a monotonous voice.

These nonchalant words caused Laura's face to turn red with embarrassment!

She felt as if she had been taken advantage of but could do nothing to defend herself. She cleaned herself up as soon as she heard those words.

He had gone too far!

Laura quickly turned around and put on her clothes.

dripped with sweat. It was as if she had just gone through an indescribable battle and was in the process of hiding all the evidence.

Linda's head exploded in shock as she indignantly pointed towards William and shouted loudly, "Both of you!"

Laura's head buzzed with anger!

This son of a b*tch!

He had previously asked her not to open the door because she thought he was just like her, afraid of being seen.

Who knew that he would've immediately opened the door as soon as the treatment was over. He did not even give time for her to be fully dressed!

He wasn't afraid of being seen at all!

He was obviously being unscrupulous!

He had completely ignored her need to protect her reputation!

"You son of a b*tch!" Laura cursed inwardly.

"I hope you go to hell!"

Linda began to step into the office.

She grabbed William and dragged him into the office. She asked Laura bitterly, "Sister Koo, what the hell is going on?!"

At this moment, Laura already had all her clothes on.

She tidied her sweat-drenched hair and forced herself to calm down.

After all, she had to protect her dignity in front of her subordinate.

She said to Linda aloofly, "I have nothing to say. Both of us did not do anything inappropriate and that's the end of the story."

Linda was even more stupefied as she saw the blindfold on the floor. She could smell Laura's fragrance permeating the entire room.

"The both of you can continue talking. I'll leave first," William said before he exited the office.

"Stand right there!" Laura demanded.

She had made up her mind and said to Linda, "Give him the gift."

Linda was confused. "Why? Isn't this the gift for the divine doctor?" Linda asked in sheer curiosity.

Laura remained silent. As soon as Linda saw this, she unwillingly handed the gift to William.

William frowned as he put his hand onto the gift box.

He could sense an unusual energy within the gift box.

It was something insidious!