

Chapter 21

"The new owner of the Genuine Care Medical Center?"

Lydia's words made everyone wordless.

Fernando and the Bais were practically staring at her with their eyes wide open.

William was the new owner of the Genuine Care Medical Center!

How... how could this be possible?

He was just a dog of the Bai family!

A useless dog that they had kept for the last decade!

Did Lydia say that this useless dog of theirs had become successful?

What a joke!

It was impossible!

However, what happened next sent a chill down the spines of every member of the Bai family.

Melissa, who had been the owner of the Genuine Care Medical Center, bowed to William when she saw him going up the stage.

Tears welled up in her eyes.

Finally, he decided to come on stage and shoulder the responsibility.

He had finally disclosed his identity as the owner of the Genuine Care Medical Center.

It was time to let everyone know that he was the new owner of the clinic. This hand-over ceremony was long overdue.

"Boss!" Melissa greeted respectfully while suppressing her overwhelming grievance.

She addressed him as a boss in the hope that he would act like one.

She hoped that he would avenge her for all the humiliation these people had put on her and the Genuine Care Medical Center.

He must make them pay!

An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.

Seeing Melissa bowing to William, everyone present suddenly felt a lump in their throats.

They could not breathe!

Was it true that William was the new owner of the Genuine Care Medical Center?

How could this happen when he was just a good-for-nothing?

Felicity stood up and looked at William in disbelief.

His gaze was cold. Was this man her husband? His well-built back seemed so unfamiliar.

He had been a useless and timid husband for the past ten years.

But, look! At this moment, he was so stunning.

He looked as powerful as a wide tiger.

If it weren't for the fact that she had known him for the last decade...

Felicity would definitely take him as a reborn phoenix.

This was unbelievable.

"William, how do you become the new owner of the Genuine Care Medical Center?" Felicity could not help wondering.

"Didn't you say that you're just an employee working in the Genuine Care Medical Center?"

It seemed that...

This position that William held was much greater than what she had expected.

However, when Felicity looked at him again, she couldn't help but burst into tears.

William's eyes met hers.

His cold gaze was glistering with a hint of gentleness.

It seemed that he was making a pledge.

"I, William Lu, will always love this woman! This world is nothing but garbage."

He had transformed himself into a giant dragon to protect Felicity.

He had stood up and turned into a king in order to prove himself capable.

Thinking of this, more tears rolled down Felicity's cheeks. Her heart was deeply touched by William's thoughtfulness.

The warmth of the gentle kiss he left on her forehead was going to linger there for at least a century.

William turned his head and took the microphone from Melissa. Looking at Melissa holding back her tears, he sighed and said, "Thank you for your hard work. Leave it to me from now on."

William paused for a while and added, "I will take care of you and the Genuine Care Medical Center."

The tears that Melissa had been holding back coursed down her face.

"Then I'll leave it to you!" She sobbed and retreated to the side.

William picked up the microphone and looked at the crowd, like a tiger looking for its prey, his eyes flashing with savagery and viciousness.

There was dead silence.

No one dared make a sound under William's scorching gaze.

The domineering aura that Fernando and Steven created a while ago...

It was swept away by William's single glance.

Not a single bit was left in the air.

Fernando looked at William on the stage, whose eyes were icy-cold and burst into laughter.

"William, I don't know if you're putting on a show for us! But even if you're the new owner of the clinic, so what?"

"It will only get worse!" He could not stop laughing.

"Haha, the Genuine Care Medical Center has decided to pass its ownership to a good-for-nothing. They must be so pathetic and desperate! This must be the funniest joke in Qena City!"

All the members of the Bai family were glaring at William.

The new owner of the Genuine Care Medical Center?

Did this mean that he could be on the same par with the Bai family?

He was just a dog which could be humiliated by anyone in the Bai family.

However at this moment, he had become someone with such an honorable position!

None of them would be able to belittle him again like what they had been doing before.

"William, do you think you can turn the table around?" The Bais thought.

"In your dream!"

William glanced at them. He had been waiting for this moment for so long. It felt as if he had awaited this for at least a thousand years.

What a bunch of ignorant trash!

Didn't they know the reason he'd been holding in?

He was waiting for this moment to finish them off personally.

And to tear them off, one after another.

"Now, it's time for the Genuine Care Medical Center to tell the story on our side, isn't it?" William asked coldly.

"Haha, good! I'd like to see what a good-for-nothing can do! Anyway, we already have enough solid evidence..." Fernando laughed loudly, his dark, malevolent eyes sparkled.

"Solid evidence? I'm afraid it's not necessarily true," William interjected Fernando.

There was a flicker of doubt in the eyes of all the people present.

Everyone in Qena City knew that William's words could not be trusted.

How dared he come on stage and babble such nonsense!

Or was there something that they did not know?

"Then, let's start with the part when you guys bullied my wife," William said as he looked at Felicity, whose face was covered with tear stains. The rage in his heart flowed through him like lava surging out of a volcano.

The more furious he was, the colder his words were.

"I gave this bottle of ointment to my wife," William said.

"Haha, you idiot! You finally admit it! I really admire you. I thought you were going to argue with me on that." Fernando burst out laughing.

Everyone present exchanged glances.

Was William trying to clear the names for the clinic or was he trying to make things worse and more embarrassing?

Why did he admit something that was not going to do him any good?

What did he have up his sleeve?

However, William's next sentence made everyone speechless.

"Have you guys thought about this possibility? That this bottle of ointment is not the new product that we are going to launch today?"

His words made Steven and Fernando freeze at once.

This was not the new product they were going to launch?

They had never thought about this!

After all, William was the one who gave this ointment to Felicity.

If it was something harmful, why would William give it to Felicity?

"You are lying! You are just saying things! Do you think we will believe it? This ointment is the new product of your clinic! I clearly reminded Felicity to get it!" Steven bellowed.

Following his roar, everyone became quiet right away.

They were looking at Steven in surprise.

Steven knew that he had said something he shouldn't, hence he immediately added, "How can you prove that this ointment is not your company's new product? Where do you get this ointment?"

"Where did it come from? Hmph, what a coincidence! The person who formulated this ointment is also present today." William's lips curved into a smile.

Let's start the show by presenting the true owner of this ointment!

Everyone was thunderstruck.

The person who formulated this ointment was here?

Who on earth was he?

Who on earth had developed such harmful ointment? How dared he come and join this press conference!

Or could it be that William was actually trying to lead them astray?

William glanced at the crowd and uttered, "Should I invite you on stage?"

Everyone present looked at each other.

However, at this time, a man slowly rose to his feet and sighed.

It was the voice of an old man.

"I am the one who formulated this ointment."

He was a professor of Qena City!

Michael Wang!

Chapter 22

The crowd burst into an uproar.

It was Mr. Wang!

Wasn't he the most famous doctor in Qena City?

The crowd could not believe what they had just seen!

They would not be as surprised even if a random stranger came from the crowd and admitted the mistake.

However, it was Mr. Wang...

His reputation in the pharmaceutical industry was unparalleled in Qena City.

Every new product developed by the Rx Pharma previously was the result of his research.

How could Mr. Wang, a much-respected expert develop such lethal ointment?

Even Fernando was taken aback at that moment.

"This is impossible! Tell me, you must have plotted this with Mr. Wang, right?"

Fernando's words made Mr. Wang who had been in low spirits straightened his back right away.

His lips were curled into an unforgiving smirk.

Mr. Wang had already known that this bottle of ointment was the product of his own invention since the beginning.

Therefore, that was the reason he wanted to help the Genuine Care Medical Center a while ago. He could not stand watching them being framed.

However, Fernando did not show any signs to stop besmirching the Genuine Care Medical Center. He even raised his voice at Mr. Wang.

He did not even mind his own image in front of everyone.

Great!

Mr. Wang was going to bet on the reputation which he used fifty years to build to compete with him.

"Fernando, watch your tongue. You're the one who invited Mr. Wang," William reminded him with a grin on his face.

In that instant, Fernando was at a loss of word. It was as if he had just eaten someone's feces.

He was indeed the one who invited Mr. Wang.

Fernando had been happy that Mr. Wang had helped him to clear his family's name by proving all the herbs they used were of good quality. He had been complacent thinking he had invited the right person.

But, why did it turn out this way?

"This bottle of ointment is indeed formulated by me. However, my friends, listen up to my explanation." Mr. Wang said while giving William a glance.

"This ointment is yet to be complete. It is but a test product. I know that this ointment is harmful, thus I canceled the contract I signed with the Bai family despite knowing the risk of terminating our collaboration. I did this because I can't go against my conscience as a medical practitioner."

Mr. Wang looked down and continued, "I had communicated with the Genuine Care Medical Center. Their knowledge and expertise in medicine amaze me. They are the one who tells me that the ointment I produced is a failed product. Therefore, I'm not surprised to know that they have one of my ointment samples."

Mr. Wang then glared at Fernando and Steven. "The Bai and Lin families, on the contrary, took my failed products and framed the Genuine Care Medical Center. What wicked schemes are you guys plotting?"

Mr. Wang's explanation and the question he asked left Fernando and Steven at a loss for words.

He had made it clear that the Bai and the Lin families were the culprit and directors behind all these.

Fernando and the Bai family were dumbfounded when they heard this.

They could not believe Mr. Wang formulated this ointment.

This ointment didn't come from the Genuine Care Medical Center!

Now that Mr. Wang had admitted to it, it meant that they were the ones who sullied the reputation of the Genuine Care Medical Center!

No!

The worst was yet to come.

At the thought of this, Fernando looked at Mr. Wang in horror.

Without surprise, Mr. Wang snorted and added, "The Bai and the Lin families used my failure and slandered the Genuine Care Medical Center. They have humiliated me too! Why should I let them use me as a tool? I hereby announce that the Bais and Lins would never be able to set foot into the Rx Pharma till my final breath!"

Mr. Wang's words made the Bai family and Fernando feel as if they had fallen into a bottomless abyss.

They were trying to use this bottle of ointment to take down the Genuine Care Medical Center. However, it had become a grenade that destroyed themselves.

They had offended the Rx Pharma.

It was going to put them into a very difficult situation for both of them since they were involved in the pharmaceutical industry in Qena City.

They thought that they had won the victory since they had that bottle of ointment. However, unexpectedly, it had brought them a fatal injury.

D*rn it!

What went wrong?

Infuriated, Fernando tried to figure out the reason of his failure before he met William's cold gaze.

It was him!

He was the one who planned all these!

He must have already known their next move since the moment Felicity asked for the ointment.

He substituted it with a bottle of fake ointment and made both families fall into his trap. It was him who caused them to be on bad terms with the Rx Pharma.

This little b*stard had played a trick on them and those who were present!

Melissa had also thought about this. She immediately darted a different glance at William.

William had been luring them to enter the net he had set.

He even manipulated the available information without distorting the facts.

He had successfully turned the tables around. He made the trump card that the Lins and Bais used to harm the Genuine Care Medical Center a while ago to be directed towards Mr. Wang.

The Lins and Bais were practically lifting a rock to smash it on their own feet!

This plot twist was unexpected.

Only someone with a god's wisdom would be able to plan all of these.

"William, I have underestimated you!" Melissa thought.

"I don't even know how much you're hiding from us. No, you must have a lot more to reveal to us!"

Felicity's tears began coursing down her cheeks again. She had been watching William down the stage.

He had single-handedly defeated the Bais and Lins.

Her husband was no ordinary man. His potential was beyond one's wildest dream.

He had already known that she was being used by Steven, hence he went along with Steven's show. Otherwise, this plot twist would never have happened.

"William, that is totally unexpected from you!"

How could he make her feel so wronged...

Felicity burst into tears. "Waa..."

Devastated, Steven slumped onto the chair, his heart shattered into pieces.

He didn't expect that all his schemes were under William's control.

William had defeated the Bai family and worse still, nailed them in an irredeemable position.

Fernando slammed on the table, his eyes sparkling with a winked twinkle of malice.

"Good! Even if this bottle of ointment doesn't belong to the Genuine Care Medical Center, so what? It does not change the fact that you've fooled all of us! Are you making a fool out of us?"

Fernando managed to divert everyone's attention. The crowd was shocked again.

"I'd like to ask you if you are not guilty, why don't you show us your new product today? Why do you even lie to us saying that you do not have any of them?"

Fernando gnashed his teeth and continued, "Besides, who cares if your ointment is harmless and your medical skills are much better than others?"

He paused for a while, glaring at William. "You have colluded with the reporters and tried to sway the public opinion. This proves how scheming you are!"

"Everyone has seen through your evil intentions and the dishonest ways you take! Do you admit it?"

"Where's your virtue? Despite having exceptional medical skills, you harbor an evil intention. You do not deserve to be a doctor! Don't you agree with what I just said?"

Fernando bombarded William with a series of questions.

His questions made everyone present dumbstruck.

"That's right! If he is a cunning person with exceptional medical skills, it will do more harm than good. He may end up hurting people."

"I think Fernando is right. What a terrible thing they've done! The Genuine Care Medical Center bribed the reporters to mislead ordinary people like us. We have the right to know the truth."

"Could we still trust the reporters? And this dishonest and unethical clinic?"

Fernando finally breathed a sigh of relief when he noticed the crowd start to side with him again.

D*mn it, he almost lost this battle because of William!

If it weren't for the fact that he had countless of their secrets up his sleeve, he would have already fallen into their trap.

Melissa's face froze when she heard the crowd criticizing them.

She began to smolder with resentment against William again.

What the f*ck!

She thought they had already won the game.

"You little b*stard, look at what you've done! You should've stopped babbling when we are having the upper hand!"

Bribing the reporters to cover up the truth was indeed the most despicable thing one could do in this industry.

But at this time, Melissa heard someone laughing.

A hint of coldness and arrogance could be discerned in his laughter.

It was as if he was laughing at the ignorance of this very world and the naiveness of his opponent.

William looked at the reporters present. His upper lips curled into a maleficent smirk.

"Don't you guys want to know the reason we said that we do not have any new product?" William glanced at the crowd.

"Don't you guys want to know how I bribed these reporters?"

William paused for a moment and continued, "Dear reporters who are present today, please come on stage!"

12:27

"And tell us the true story without leaving out any details!"

"Please make sure you do that!"

He stared at Fernando and added, "For the sake of your conscience as a reporter!"
