

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 153

Mrs. Harper's attitude was rude as she spoke to Sophia harshly, "Let me tell you this. No matter how calculative you are, you won't get my son's attention. As long as I'm here, you will never enter the Harper Family!"

Sophia and the saleswoman behind her were dumbfounded.

After giving Sophia a thorough look, Mrs. Harper's words became even more harsh. "Chance encounter is such an overused move. It will have no effect on my son, so I advise you to just give up. No matter how hard you try, you don't deserve to be with my son. Why don't you take a look at the difference between yourself and the Harper Family?"

The saleswoman was someone who had seen everything, but now, she didn't know what to say.

They look like the Harper Family from Riverdale who specializes in real estates. Taylor Murray is in a totally different league than the Harper Family, so why would they assume that Taylor's woman would lower herself to join them?

Richard felt bad after seeing Sophia being rendered speechless. He knew that she came here just to meet him, and she didn't expect to encounter Mrs. Harper, so he felt sorry for her when his mother insulted her in public. He quickly spoke, "Mom, stop it."

Xyla also chipped in at the right time, "Mom, maybe she came here to deliver some takeouts!"

When Mrs. Harper saw Xyla's innocent face, she shook her head lovingly. "You are always this naive. Our Harper Family loves an innocent little girl like you. As for those manipulative peasants, we won't even bat an eye on them."

As she said her words, she glanced sideways to glare at Sophia.

However, Sophia wasn't angry with them. "Have a look around. I'll leave now."

"Eh, Sophia, don't go yet!" Xyla grabbed her. "Since you are here, let's check out some rings together. Richard and I are about to be engaged, so we came here today to pick out our engagement rings! You have good taste; why don't you tag along?"

After that, she dragged Sophia into the hall without asking if she wanted to follow her.

In her heart, Sophia had thousands of reasons why she didn't want to tag along, but she couldn't just give her a slap like what she did in the camp.

There are so many people watching. I don't want to cause a scene here.

Moreover, the people in the store know that I'm Tay Tay's new young wife. If I slap someone in public, it would severely damage his image!

Seeing how excited Xyla was, Mrs. Harper didn't stop her from dragging Sophia along.

I can use this opportunity to teach this b*tch a lesson so that she knows her place!

Richard knew that Sophia was about to be humiliated, but he was helpless about it, so he followed silently from behind.

She could only blame herself for having come here.

On the other hand, the saleswoman couldn't figure out what was happening.

I can't seem to understand what their relationship is. Mrs. Harper seems to hate Sophia, but Xyla seems to have a great relationship with her.

Since she couldn't make sense of it, she could only deal with the situation one step at a time. As a senior saleswoman, it was her job to take care of this situation herself.

"Hello, Mrs. Harper. I'm the senior saleswoman of Ido, Jasmine. What kind of ring are you looking for?"

The moment Mrs. Harper heard that she was the senior saleswoman of Ido, she felt very proud of herself. Ido was the largest jewelry industry in the world, so their salespeople were divided into several ranks according to their clients.

Big clients like us definitely deserve the most high-end salesperson in the store.

Then, Xyla grabbed Sophia's hand enthusiastically and went into the store.

Ido wasn't a store anyone could enter. The customers inside were extremely rich, and they were all well-dressed.

The wedding ring series were Ido's most successful products. The couples who came here to choose their wedding rings treated this as the most important moment in their lives, so they were all definitely well-dressed. Even though not everyone was covered in accessories, at least they wouldn't dress up casually like Sophia, who looked as if she came here to deliver takeouts. The pair of canvas shoes that she wore stood out strangely among the sea of high heels and leather shoes. She was like a little wild cat who broke into a world she didn't belong in.

Xyla purposely brought her to the more expensive section of the jewelry store while happily introducing her to everything.

She knew that a poor student like her would never get the chance to even touch these jewelries, so she used some fancy words on purpose during the introduction.

Sophia also pretended that she didn't know anything by agreeing to everything she said.

When Xyla saw a ring series, she exclaimed, "Sophia, look at that. That is Ido's X Series wedding rings. They came from the hands of the international jewelry designer, Ivy Seker. They are global limited editions. Now, most of the elites in Bayside City own this series of rings. Every ring is customly made, so no two rings are the same. Whoa. They even used the latest laser-cutting technology. Not every rich person can own this!"

Sophia was uninterested as she took a look at the X Series wedding rings that Xyla was so excited about.

Two weeks ago, Ido gave Michael their best series of wedding rings to choose from. I'm sorry, but I didn't seem to have seen this series in the list.

When Xyla saw another series of wedding rings, she exclaimed through the glass cabinet, "This is the Y Series wedding rings. It's very popular globally. These are the wedding rings that my parents have! A pair of it costs at least a few million!"

Sophia replied to her, "Yeah."

Mrs. Harper took the chance to say to Xyla proudly, "Xyla, my dear, if you like it, you can choose this one."

While speaking, she deliberately squinted her eyes at Sophia.

This peasant must have never seen such a fancy ring!

She even pointed to another ring and said, “This one looks nice. It costs a few million, but don’t worry. Our family can afford it. If you like it, you can even buy a few more of it.”

Her words were filled with the superiority of a rich person.

Xyla pretended to be an innocent little girl as she spoke adorably, “Wow. This looks so pretty. I want both this and that. Saleswoman, hurry up and take these two out for me to see.”

The saleswoman glanced at the Harper Family because she didn’t know what they were trying to do.

They seem to be quite close with Sophia, but why is their tone so weird? It sounds as though they are bragging about something!

Although she didn’t know what they were bragging about, she knew that the ring around Sophia’s neck was one of the most expensive rings they had ever sold in the store.

The saleswoman quickly took out the two rings from the glass cabinet. One of them was a white diamond ring, and the other was a pink diamond ring.

She thought that it was Sophia who wanted to try it, so she brought them to her.

Xyla then purposely grabbed Sophia’s hand and moved it closer to the rings. “Sophia, have a try. You can see how pretty these two rings are!”

On the sidelines, Mrs. Harper spoke harshly, “Let her try it. Besides, she won’t be able to afford such an expensive ring in her lifetime. Let her cherish this one time.”

It was obvious that the two of them were humiliating Sophia. They knew that she could never afford such an expensive ring, so they purposely asked her to try them out. Not only was Xyla showing off her love with Richard, she was also trying to embarrass her.

Richard knew about their motives, but he chose not to stop them.

Serves Sophia right for coming into the lion's den herself. Nobody told her to come meet me here! Even though she said that she had forgotten about me, I'm sure she still misses me. Today is the right moment to teach her a lesson so that she will know the difference between family status!
