The Protector Chapter 650

Half an hour later, the large convoy arrived outside of Guardian Mansion.

Thud!

Thud!

One by one, the men got out of the cars.

In a blink of an eye, the five hundred Dragon Guards and one hundred warriors assembled.

"Surround the place and don't let anyone escape!" Landyn barked.

Thud! Thud! Thud!

The six hundred men spread out and sealed off all escape routes from the mansion.

The encirclement was six man thick. Even a bird couldn't escape, let alone a man.

The Dragon Guards alone were stronger than the force of five thousand men combined.

After that, Fred and Kurt got out of the car.

"Let's enter from the front," Fred ordered.

A group of men arrived at the front door.

Bark! Bark! Bark!

A group of military dogs barked ferociously at them.

Crack!

Landyn pushed the metal gate forcefully and bellowed, "Levi, come out this instant!"

After waiting for half a day, the captains of the reconnaissance troops finally got their wish.

They were all filled with excitement.

However, they didn't go out until after Landyn shook the gate for a few minutes.

Finally, Macfay, Macdonald, and Mackenzie emerged.

The three of them were wearing green tank tops, showcasing their rippling muscles.

"Why are you causing a ruckus? Who are you looking for?" Macfay questioned as the three of them walked towards the gate.

When Landyn saw how intimidating the three men were, he couldn't help but feel a shiver of fear run down his spine.

Realization dawned on him that these were not ordinary men.

Nevertheless, with five hundred Dragon Guards behind him, he was afraid of no one.

"Is Levi Garrison inside?" Landyn demanded arrogantly.

"So what if he is? Who are you people?" Macfay inquired.

"Listen well, we are the Gates family of South Hampton and are here to seek revenge on Levi. He must die today!"

"Behind me are five hundred Dragon Guards. I'm warning you, even if you have three thousand men, you won't be able to protect Levi," Landyn sneered.

Everyone on the Gates family's side assumed that Macfay and his men were in the same group of underworld members that escorted Levi away in South City.

They had no idea that these were military veterans.

Hearing Landyn's answer, Macfay and the others furrowed their eyebrows.

Did our ears deceive us?

These men want to kill the Chief?

How dare they!

"Insolence! What gave you the gall to do such a thing? Do the nation's laws mean nothing to you?" Macfay barked.

"Haha, I have always said that the Gates family is the law! Wherever we go, our word is final!" Fred declared arrogantly.

His words gave Macfay and his companions a shock as it was rare to encounter anyone who acted with such impunity nowadays.

Setting aside their blatant disregard for the nation's laws, they even wanted to kill the God of War!

What sort of madness is this?

"Get Levi out now to kneel and accept his execution. Don't force us to drag him out ourselves," Fred threatened.

"You are asking for the impossible as it is our duty to protect him."

Macfay and the other two captains were resolute in their stand.

"Hahaha, with just the three of you? Don't you think you're overestimating yourselves?"

In the eyes of the Gates family, the trio were already dead men.

"What if you include us?"

The moment the voice was heard, a group of men in army green tank tops emerged.

There were sixty of them in total who assembled in a neat formation, giving off a strong and magnificent vibe.

"This…"

Fred and his men were perplexed when they noticed the group in front of them came off differently from what they expected.

They didn't look like men of the underworld, but Fred couldn't put his finger on who they were yet.

Macfay scanned his gaze around and sneered, "You are forbidden to enter. Whoever tries to trespass will only meet with death!"