

Medical Genius's Unspeakable Marriage

Chapter 630

Helen was at a loss for words so she could only mutter in a low voice, "But she is your sister. Do you really have the heart to... watch her suffer? If this matter is not resolved and she gets a permanent criminal record... her entire life will be ruined... Sasha, she is your sister..."

Sasha gritted her teeth and said. "Mom, stop it! I know she is my sister, but so what? Can she slap others at will just because she's my sister? I can't save her now. If you want to save her, go do it yourself! You can save her as long as you can persuade the Harrison Family to not pursue this matter!"

Helen remained slumped on the ground as she knew it was impossible.

Now, the only person who was to blame was Demi herself for not being able to control her temper.

It was fine if she slapped a nobody. However, she slapped Crystal Harrison. She must have had a death wish!

James sighed. "Sasha, now is not the time to talk about accountability. At this point, we should first think about how to solve this matter! What's the use of being furious? Don't we still need to solve this matter in the end?"

"I can't solve this matter." Sasha shrugged. "You guys were the ones who caused this, so you guys should be the ones solving this!"

Upon hearing that, James shouted furiously, "Sasha... What kind of attitude is this? This matter concerns our family and everyone in our family has a responsibility to deal with it. You are now the chairman of the company. If you don't solve it, who will?"

Sasha commented coldly, "Aren't you the head of the family? Since you are so capable and have such a high status, you can handle it yourself!"

James stuttered, "Y-You..."

He was dumbfounded and was so furious that he was at a loss for words, not knowing how to refute her.

In desperation, Helen looked at Matthew. "Please, Matthew. We will return the company's shares, this I guarantee with my life. In the future, we will never try to snatch away the construction company again. This construction company will belong to you completely in the future. Please help us; go to them and tell them not to divest. How about it?"

Matthew glanced at Sasha and nodded slowly. "I'll give it a try, Mom."

Liam hurriedly chimed in, "Matthew, don't forget about Demi... Please help her too."

Upon hearing that, Sasha immediately refuted, "She's your wife! Since you're so capable, you can solve the matter yourself!"

Liam looked embarrassed but James asked furiously, "Sasha, what's the meaning of this? She's your sister. Do you want her to be behind bars? If Matthew can solve this matter, let him handle it. It's not a big deal. H-How can you take pleasure in Demi's misfortune?"

Meanwhile, Sasha was furious. "Dad, I'm not taking pleasure in her misfortune. I just want to tell you guys that the troublemakers themselves should be the ones solving it. Also, don't think I don't know what you were planning to do when you went to the hospital today! Miss Harrison told me that you guys wanted to make trouble for Matthew. Hmph, if Matthew was in the hospital, would you guys have beaten him up? Oh—you guys are asking Matthew for help now that you guys are in trouble. How can you guys so shamelessly ask him for help? Do you really have no shame at all?"

Sasha's words were very harsh, but the three couldn't refute her at all.

They indeed wanted to cause trouble with Matthew today. However, Matthew was not there at the time, which was why Demi slapped Crystal.

If Matthew was there, they would have definitely beat Matthew up instead.

Therefore, it was indeed very embarrassing for them to ask Matthew for help now.
