

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 538

All of a sudden, a thick and solid hand fell on Richard's shoulder whilst he was still frozen in shock. That palm landed on his shoulder heavily, shocking him out of his daze. Then, Taylor's icy voice sounded by his ear. "Mr. Harper, I hope you keep what you saw today to yourself. After all, the fact that your ex-girlfriend got herself a husband leagues better than you is an extremely embarrassing thing for you as a man..."

Taylor made a living based on his looks. He was an artist on the level of a national treasure. Just going by appearances, Richard was no match for him. Moreover, he was the largest shareholder of Asco International. Therefore, the only aspect Richard could confidently win against him was his age.

For a while, Richard's mind went blank again. He didn't even know how he left the Harpers' mansion. By the time he came back to his senses again, he had been unceremoniously thrown out of the house. Sitting in the snow outside the door, he looked back and saw a small robot wearing a tiger hat closing the door. The robot even fiercely said to him, "Don't come back again! If you return, I'll set the dog on you!" The Samoyed barked in agreement.

After the door closed, all sounds from the inside were cut off. Getting up from the ground, he walked away alone. Suddenly, he received a call from Mrs. Harper. "Hurry up and come back! Huffs Technology is going under! Moreover, Xyla's parents tried to commit suicide by jumping off a building and are hospitalized right now. If Huffs Technology collapses, their debt will amount to several billion! This debt will fall on your shoulders if Xyla's parents pass away because you are husband and wife!"

Upon receiving this news, he felt his mind going blank. He knew Huffs Technology was about to go under. He also knew he should have washed his hands of it earlier. However, his greed had made him hesitate. He wanted to siphon off as much as he could before the company went under. Unfortunately, the speed of the company's collapse came much earlier than he had anticipated...

Inside the Edwards Residence, Michael was watching the news. The news of Huffs Technology's chairman and his wife committing suicide by jumping off a building had already spread throughout the entire Bayside City. Furthermore, the daughter of the Huffs Family and popular debut actress, Xyla Huff, was inundated with a debt of several billion in an instant. As thousands of shareholders lost their money, they blocked the gates of Huffs Technology, demanding to be reimbursed. Regrettably, the place was completely deserted. Knowing that the Harper Group had a long-standing cooperative relationship with Huffs Technology, they then rallied at the gates of the Harper Group to collect their dues.

Asco International had been suppressing Huffs Technology recently. However, the former was not very involved in electronics, so it did not have enough strength to pressure the latter. Coincidentally, the Michel Group, which was just the right counterpart against Huffs Technology, entered the market aggressively and cornered Huffs Technology so badly that it couldn't withstand the pressure. Therefore, the speed of Huffs Technology's collapse was staggering. With the fall of the Huff Family, the entire Bayside City fell with it. Even the giant Mitchell Family was steadily being pushed back. The Michel Group is way too powerful!

Michael had been suppressing the Mitchell Family too. With both Asco International and the Michel Group looming down from two sides, the Mitchell Family was struggling. However, Michael was beginning to worry that the Michel Group might monopolize the electronics industry in Bayside City of Cethos... After all, it was a foreign investor! Besides, he also suspected that Linus was taking advantage of his anger and making use of him to jointly take down the Mitchell Family. Once the Mitchell Family collapsed, the entire electronics industry within Bayside City would be dominated by the Michel Group, an outsider. Even so, I won't be able to contain my anger if I don't bring down the Mitchell Family...

On the other hand, Sophia didn't have as many worries as Michael did. She was preparing the clothes she would be wearing to the premiere. As a crazy fan, going to watch the premiere of her idol's new movie was a huge affair. Therefore, she needed to have a sense of ritual and a set of cute clothes to wear there. After getting dressed, she came out and stood in front of Michael, proudly saying, "Look, dear!"

Looking up from his phone, he glanced over, and his mouth twitched...

The premiere was held at 8 that night. Hence, Sophia and Michael headed to the nearest cinema. Sophia had reserved the entire cinema in the name of Taylor Murray's Top Fan, Sirius, and invited the nearby fans to watch the premiere for free. By 7:40 PM, the cinema was filled with Taylor's fans—she had reserved several cinema halls, including Riverdale's one and only giant screen.

She appeared very quickly, wearing a hooded sweater. The front was printed with Taylor's cartoon image while the back was printed with his name. Everybody was dressed in the same outfits, feeling extremely jubilant. When they saw Sophia, they came over and greeted her, "Sirius, you're here!"

"Sirius, who is this? Is this your sister?" Beside Sirius stood a tall lady with blonde hair and a touch of light makeup. She looked very glamorous wearing a down jacket, a thick scarf, and a face mask. Also, she remained silent without saying anything.

Instead, Sophia answered, "Yeah, this is my sister! She's a model! She came here tonight to watch the movie with me!"

Upon hearing those words, everybody was amazed. As expected, she's a model! With her height, she's at least 1.85 meters without high heels!

Seeing that the movie was about to start, everybody hurried into the cinema hall to wait for the movie to start. Thus, the large hall was filled with hundreds of people. Meanwhile, Sophia and her 'sister' chose the best seats in the hall and sat down. Soon, the movie started.

The movie was very exciting from the beginning. When the climax came, every scene was dramatic. It was so engrossing that Sophia didn't even have time to eat her popcorn. Throughout the entire movie, she looked amazed and nervous; it was as if she were part of the movie. In particular, when the male lead appeared on the screen, he was so handsome that it was beyond description. Thus, the entire cinema was filled with shrieks and screams whenever the male lead appeared on the screen. From the high-spirited beginning, to the middle where the male lead was captured and forced to become a drag queen, to the end where he became a superhero—Taylor Murray captured every scene perfectly and flawlessly portrayed the ill-fated male lead. His acting was realistic and contagious. The movie lasted for two hours, and the fiery atmosphere in the cinema lasted for two hours. When the screening was over, the cinema was filled with thunderous applause.

The fans were stoked from the beginning to the end. The atmosphere was very intense—it was as lively as a concert. Meanwhile, only one person remained calm, and that was the 1.85-meter tall 'sister' sitting next to Sophia. 'She' was so calm that it was almost as if she had starred in the movie.

After the movie, Sophia came out of the movie hall still wanting more. Getting into the car, she sat in the passenger seat and carefully took a picture of the movie stub. Then, she wrote a review intently before posting it on Twitter. Recently, she had created a new account on Twitter under the name 'Eddie Fletcher'. She intended to make her debut as the official wife of Taylor Murray on Twitter. Therefore, Michael had given her a real-name verification 'V' and confirmed that she was 'Taylor Murray's wife, Eddie Fletcher'. Besides, her Twitter was used for her fangirling activities. If it wasn't about Taylor Murray, then it was about his movies.

On the other hand, in the driver's seat sat her 'sister'. The lady took off her wig and removed the makeup on her face with some makeup remover. After that,

Michael's face was revealed under the makeup. Starting up the engine, he drove them home. None of the fans could have imagined that their idol had cross-dressed and watched a two-hour movie with them. Unfortunately, he had been forced into it. How great would it have been to watch the movie from our home theater?! Why did we have to watch it at the cinema?!

When they got home, Sophia seemed to be very occupied. She faced the computer and was busy doing something. The next day, he woke up to see that she had used her Twitter account to create a lucky-draw contest through retweeting.

'Retweet this post and include a picture of your movie stub as well as the hashtags #Doctor Invincible and #movie. Once the movie stops showing in cinemas, 10 people will be chosen! The 10 winners will receive a gift package of cured meat personally autographed by our idol!'

Michael was rendered speechless. Did you even ask for my opinion before putting my cured meat up as the prize?