

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 608

Michael rested an arm on Sophia's shoulder before he glanced downward to stare at the phone that she was holding in her hand. A look of satisfaction crept across his face when he saw himself appearing in the video and holding hands with Natasha as they walked into the hotel.

He even ran his fingers across his own face as he watched the video. Stanley first looked at Michael, who stood right before his eyes, then at the video of Michael; this shift in his gaze went on multiple times as he felt cold sweat forming on his skin.

Michael threw the phone over to Stanley once he finished watching the video. "I'll go get changed, and we can go catch that indecent couple together. We should practice some of our fighting skills, Stan," he said while throwing him a cold glare. Stanley was so shocked that he fell onto his knees immediately.

...

The next morning, Bayside Grand Hotel was swarming with a mixture of news reporters and passionate netizens. The large crowds blocked all the entrances to the hotel; even the pet door that led into the hotel was occupied by a number of phones with the cameras pointed toward the building. Natasha and Taylor shared a room in this hotel yesterday!

There's video evidence, and even the receptionist confirmed our suspicions! Now, this unfaithful couple is stuck in this hotel, and they have yet to step out of the building! Rumors have it that Eddie and Taylor have already called it off, and that they have already got their divorce certificate! Taylor has also been rumored to have gotten a flash marriage with Natasha just so that their child would be legitimate! It was also rumored that Taylor gave Eddie a hefty alimony of 100 million! Rumors have it...

It only took a single night for the whole of Bayside City to hear about the fact that Natasha had booked a hotel room with Taylor. The traffic around the hotel was really bad; Sophia, who had left at 4.00AM to catch the adulterer, only arrived at the location 3 hours later. She was caught in a terrible jam! As her car was still stuck in a standstill on the road, she walked over to the hotel. A 3-mile radius surrounding the Bayside Grand Hotel was filled with passionate netizens from the Maple District who came forward to catch a glimpse of the adulterers.

It was indeed a rare occasion to be able to witness the live situation of a famous actor going into a hotel with his mistress, so there were many individuals who stayed around all night, their eyes red from the sleep that they had sacrificed.

It was a never-before-seen sight—the crowd was larger than the huge mobs seen around malls on Black Friday! People began to get impatient as they saw that it was 7.30AM. The sun was out, yet the adulterers hadn't walked out of the building. Why aren't they out yet? It's nearly time for us to head to work; we're all waiting to catch them cheating before we go to our offices!

The Bayside Grand Hotel was surrounded by huge clumps of people—some of them netizens who were excited to catch the adulterers, and others fans of Taylor. Some fans had been supporting him for ten years, and they hadn't expected to stop supporting him because he cheated on his wife, so they had to see it for themselves in order to get proper closure.

The group, made up of news reporters, passersby, and fans prepared to catch the adulterers, was waiting around; countless phones were prepared to start their livestreams the minute the cheating couple appeared. Apart from those who were at the location itself, there were hundreds of millions of fans who were waiting for something to happen on the livestreams! They were all ready to witness a historical moment that day—they wanted to catch the adulterers red-handed!

As they continued waiting for the couple, they then noticed that the legal wife had arrived. "Eddie's here; please give her some space!" The crowd went wild once they heard that Taylor's legal wife had arrived, and they quickly shifted around to form a narrow, empty pathway so that Sophia and the rest could easily enter the hotel. With Sophia leading the way, there were more than ten individuals who followed behind her, including Stanley, Sean, Hale, Gary, and a bunch of other men.

They gave off a strong aura as they strode toward the building—the legal wife had clearly brought her own men over to catch her cheating husband! Sophia stood beneath the flagpole outside the hotel as she glanced up to see the glamorous, exclusive Bayside Grand Hotel. She then rested her hands on her hips, making it seem as if she was a wife prepared to catch the indecent couple once they came down.

Michael, on the other hand... decided to wait in the car as he was too ashamed to go out. It wasn't exactly convenient for him to show his face during such a situation, after all.

The large crowd who came to catch the adulterers had been waiting for hours, yet signs of them surfaced in the hotel only ten minutes after Sophia arrived. Soon enough, the Mitchell Family's car stopped at the entrance of the hotel, their arrival grand and loud. More than 10 bodyguards dressed in black marched out of the hotel and stood by the two sides of the road to separate the happening crowd. The indecent couple is about to come down!

Media and entertainment sites had all deemed this a huge, problematic scandal; there was no chance of it being salvaged at this point. Everyone was prepared to watch how the fight would go down. Taylor, the Oscar winning actor and the nation's greatest treasure in the entertainment field, being caught cheating while his wife and his mistress went against one another... The mere thought of it was exciting. Everyone rubbed their palms together eagerly as they fished their phones out and prepared their cameras.

Sophia's every act was caught on camera, and the crowd even took videos of what she wore that day. Sophia was clearly there just to catch the adulterers, as she was dressed in flats and a t-shirt while her hair was all combed into a bun. That way, the other woman wouldn't be able to tug on Sophia's hair if they got into a fight. Her group of men were all dressed in identical clothes, which made their aura stronger than ever.

Sophia stood by the entrance of the hotel, her hands still rested on her hips as she watched the indecent couple walking out of the hotel. The woman was—as expected—Natasha, dressed in an expensive-looking outfit that made her look like a rich lady.

With her huge belly and her curvy figure, she didn't look anything like a 19-year-old at all. She wore heavy makeup and a proud expression on her face; her chin was lifted high as she walked out hand-in-hand with Taylor, her other hand placed on her own belly, as if what she was touching wasn't a ball of meat but a rare piece of treasure.

In comparison to her, Sophia was dressed in a much simpler manner—a t-shirt, some concealer, and flats, without any other accessories. When the two of them were put together, they were a typical combination of an unkempt wife and a flirty mistress. The whole situation was really embarrassing for Sophia, who really didn't want to be there but knew she had no choice.

After all, who would wish for such nasty, personal incidents to be revealed to the whole nation? She had done a great job of being a dutiful and loving wife, yet someone had the audacity to step forward and ruin her life. Since Natasha wants to play this game with me, I'll make sure to fulfil all her desires!

'Taylor', whose hands were intertwined with Natasha's, had remained silent the whole way through. He had a neat crew cut and an ice-cold demeanor. Although he didn't speak, his lips curved into what looked like a sneer, and there seemed to be some sort of hidden meaning behind the look in his gaze. He appeared hand-in-hand with Natasha.

It's really Taylor! It's solid proof of him cheating! He's caught red-handed! Everyone began to snap images of the scene excitedly. Countless pairs of eyes glared right at them for fear that they might miss out on something if they looked away. Under the scrutiny of all the camera lenses, Natasha intentionally led 'Taylor' over to Sophia; she walked right up to Sophia and tightened her grip around the man's arm as she flashed Sophia a malicious grin. Natasha's bodyguards and Sophia's own men stood facing one another, their stares burning into each other's skulls as both groups looked prepared to start a fight! The crowd fell silent as everyone widened their eyes to witness the show that was about to happen. They're about to get into a fight! The wife is going to beat the mistress up!

Natasha herself was waiting for Sophia to hit her as well. Once Sophia started a fight, it'd give her the chance to get rid of the b*stard in her own tummy! Then, there'd no longer be any proof of who the child belonged to, and Michael wouldn't be able to escape this any longer. Sophia would also be convicted for causing intentional harm; Natasha could pull a few strings in prison to make sure that she would stay in there forever. Two birds with one stone!

The two of them continued to stand facing each other silently. With a gap of 80 inches between them, one woman was gloating with pride as she lifted her chin high, while the other was calm and collected with her gaze cold.

The fight seemed like it was on the verge of occurring, and the thousands of people who stood around quietly thought to themselves, Start the fight! Hurry and start the fight! I want to see action; I want them tugging on each other's clothes; I want them stripping each other naked! Everyone was waiting for Sophia to give her orders so that someone would charge forward to tear Natasha's clothes off her. It'd be even better if they beat that jerk, Taylor, up as well!