

Chapter 35

I lift up my head when I heard Asher's parents nearing us. His mom stopped a few steps before Asher and slapped him across his face. Asher's head snapped to the side before he turned it back to face her, face full of astonishment. Heart beating fast I backed away slowly frightened at the look of rage on her face. Before Asher could get a word in she began to rant.

"Why is that tramp in your room, better yet what was she doing on top of you" Asher's mom spat pointing at me in disgust. I gulped when their attention was on me and shifted uncomfortably

"Asher we expected better from you, why are you downgrading us this way? His father finally spoke, taking the attention from me. Asher was about to speak but got cut off by his mom

"I never knew you had such bad taste in woman, what did she do to you, did she sink her dirty claws into you I am not surprised like mother like daughter, opening their legs for anyone " She spat looking at me like I was the dirtiest thing she have seen. I could let her say those things about me even though it hurt to hear that's what she thought of me but I couldn't stay quiet when she is dissing my mom.

"Excuse me ma'am you can say anything you want about me but please leave my mom out of it, she hasn't done anything to you!" I said my voice strong, I was surprised it didn't quiver for the tears I was holding in. She walked towards me, her fancy heels clacking on the wooden floor. She stopped a few inches before me her face seething with rage.

"Who told you, you can speak to me dirty girl? " she spat

She turned back to look at her husband and asked "Honey why is this dirty rat speaking to me?" Asher's dad shrugged. My heart clenched when Asher wasn't defending me and let his parents verbally abuse me in the most downgrading way.

"Prostitutes don't know when to shut up, it's not her fault, her mom taught her well!" She said looking back at me with a satisfied smirk, and that was the last straw I couldn't shut up when she was saying all those mean stuff about mom when she has never done anything to her.

" I won't stay quiet while you say those words about my mom when you're no better" I spat back not caring that I disrespected her. My sudden joy about seeing her shocked face was cut off quickly when I heard a loud slap then felt the sting of it, I didn't even realize my head went to aside until I snapped it back to her. Not only was I embarrassed and mad but I felt heart broken when Asher didn't stop her.

"How dare you!" She seethed.

"Mom!" Asher yelled and rushed to my side and pulled her away from me. His body was tense and I could see the rage in his eyes when he looked at my already swollen cheek. Tears prickled my eyes and I finally let it fall not caring that I would look a mess. I took in a deep breath before finding the courage to walk to the door. I'm getting the hell out of here, I won't let them mistreat me this way.

"You're lucky I don't even charge you for even looking at my son, now leave and don't ever come back, what you and my son had is over and it will never happen again!" Asher's dad said stopping me in the doorway. I turn around slowly and felt that my knees would give way when I saw the pain look on Asher's face when he heard his father's words. I nodded to his parents silently agreeing that I would stay away from their son.

"Mom, dad please" Asher croaked out, his teary eyes begging his parents to stop.

"If you leave with her, I will disown you and the company will not be yours!" His dad spat at him and I watched as Asher's shoulders slumped when he knew there was nothing he could do to change their minds.

"it's okay Asher I know who you already chose, please just stay and leave me alone " I sadly told him and walked away from them not turning back

"Baby...." I heard he brokenly whisper as I reached the front door and opened it

"Stop calling that wh0re baby!" His mother screeched

"She is not a wh0re!" I heard Asher yell before I closed the door and walked away from him, I didn't turn back once when I reached my dorm room. I would of went by Noel and Rose but didn't want to trouble them with my problems. I knew what I was getting into and I stupidly thought I would be with Asher for the rest of my life. But that was only a dream and this is reality the evidence on my cheek.

I walked to a mirror and looked at my tear streak face. The ugly red mark she imprinted on my cheek stood proud as it mocked me. I was embarrassed to even think about what happened yet alone to face them ever again. All I want to do right now is sleep and pretend nothing happened.

With that in mind I walked towards my bed and was about to fall asleep when my phone started ringing. I looked at the caller and wasn't surprised to see that it was Asher. I put off my phone completely because I don't want to face him and make a bigger fool out of my self. If he really loved me then he would fight for me, I can't do all the fighting. With that thought in mind I finally dozed off.

I woke up when Sonia banged the door and smirked at me. I rolled my eyes at her childishness and turned my back to face her. I didn't have the energy or the time to argue with her. My belly grumbled and I realized that I haven't eaten for today. With all the events that happened food was the last thing on my mind.

I know I should go look for something to eat but I didn't have the appetite to eat anything. I took my phone and put it back on to see that Asher gave me about a hundred missed calls and fifty messages. I didn't care to watch them or to call him back. My heart hurt to even think about him.

Chapter 36

I woke up with a slight headache and was contemplating to skip class today. I just wanted to stay in and mourn in sorrow like I just lost the most precious thing, which I did, Asher meant so much to me.

Feeling weak, for which I was to blame for, since I haven't eaten anything, I got up to head to the bathroom to try and get ready. I was in the process of removing my clothes when a sudden feeling of nausea overwhelmed me and I threw up in the toilet.

I puked for what felt like an hour but I was pretty sure it was just five minutes. My already weak body struggled to stand up as I swayed to the shower. I opened the faucet and got under the pouring water.

I showered for awhile, making sure I clean up myself since some vomit got on my skin. Five minutes later I got out finally feeling refreshed and more awake than I was a few minutes ago. Sighing I got ready by choosing a long dress and decided to wear flats. I wasn't in the mood to go anywhere.

I looked at my self for the last time in the mirror, cringing at the dark circles under my eyes and my ashen face. I should really eat something. With that thought in mind I headed out closing the door with a bang making sure to wake up Sonia.

I walked quickly feeling hungrier every step I took. I thanked god when the coffee shop came into view, and entered. I was grateful to see it wasn't packed and only had about two customers.

I placed my order and waited for my coffee and donuts when I saw a figure come into view. I was surprised to see Shelly walking in, her hair flipping while she talked to someone on her phone. I let out a silent groan when she spotted me and made her way towards me with a cocky smirk plastered on her face.

The lady behind the counter called me and gave me my donuts with a sweet smile on her face. Giving her a forced smile back I turned around with my coffee and donuts in hand and walked smack into Shelly.

"Sorry" I muttered and I side stepped her

"oh it's alright, I mean you have been through so much already, it's explainable that you're acting like a sad b!tch" her nasally voice taunted making me turn back to face her

"What are you talking about?" I asked confused

"Oh I heard that you and Asher broke up , I'm so sorry to hear that really." She smirked and giggled letting out a snort.

"You were the one who told his parents" I accused. Finally understanding why his parents came to his pent house yesterday. The thought sickened me as I didn't know Shelly could sink this low just to get Asher back

"Well duh b!tch, I don't like when an ugly as hoe try to steal my man!" She taunted and flipped her extensions. I know Asher and I aren't exactly together right now but just her claiming him got me angry and defensive and I found myself spitting angry words at her.

"I didn't steal anyone's man he came to me willingly, I am so sorry that you couldn't keep him, that he had to resort to get someone who can give him better pleasure."

With that last retort I walked away from her, leaving her gaping. I don't give a f*ck right now I just wanted to get this day over with.

There weren't many students in the hallway when I reached on campus. I was heading to my class when I was called by a teacher who was talking to a buff male student I have never seen before. His back was towards me and as I neared them he turned around startling me with his looks. He was really handsome with that boy next door look. While Asher had that bad boy persona he was the opposite.

I stopped in front of them making their attention shift to me. His muddy brown eyes settled on me and widened in surprise. Jeez I know I look like shit but couldn't he save his surprise for when I leave!

He finally gave me a friendly smile and I got taken aback by his perfect white straight teeth. This guy is like Ken, I wonder who would be his Barbie. I couldn't help but give him a smile of my own. One that was real and not forced.

Mr Ferdinand finally got my attention from the stranger by clearing his throat. Averting my attention to him I lifted my eyebrow in question, waiting for him to tell me why he called me.

"Lily this is Niall, he just transferred here from NYU" Mr Ferdinand said as he introduced us

I looked up at the stranger who I now know as Niall, his name suited him well "Oh okay, nice to meet you " I said and put my hand forward for a handshake

He gave me a firm handshake and gave me a smirk "The pleasure is all mine"

" Lily I would like for you to show him around campus, if you have the chance of-course" Mr Ferdinand continued

"Yeah sure!" I agreed happily, Niall didn't look so bad maybe I would enjoy showing him around. It would distract me from Asher anyway

"Okay well you guys go to class now, chop chop" Mr Ferdinand said clapping his hands in mirth before skipping down the hall.

"Well that was something!" Niall announced when he shifted his attention towards me

"Yeah he's kinda a weirdo haha" I said referring to Mr Ferdinand who was still skipping down the hall and stopped to pull a guys ears who was k!ssing one of the cheerleaders.

"I can see that" Niall chuckled

"Okay so what class do you have now?" I asked

"Business" he replied

"Oh well I'm having this class too, so just follow me" I told him

"Ladies first" Niall joked as he bowed

Laughing at him I walked forward as he followed me to class. We sat at the front of the class and got our stuff out as we waited for the rest of the students. When the teacher was about to start the lecture Shelly decided to grace us with her unwanted presence.

She swayed her hips as she walked to the back of the class catching every guys attention.

"What the f*ck is wrong with her legs? It looked like she was trying to dislocate her hips!" Niall suddenly announced making me laugh. I was about to answer when Asher entered searching around the room.