

Chapter 4

Sarah was dizzy for a while, and Stephen caught her.

Stephen wanted her to see a doctor, but Sarah refused.

After the divorce, she went out of the house. Although Brian gave her a lot of money over the years, it was spent on her younger sister. She has not much money left in her account now. Lara is sick again and she must save every penny, in case...

She was dizzy for a while, but it was because she was too tired.

Seeing her insistence, Stephen had to say: "Then I will drive you home?"

"No, Lara is still waiting for you..."

"Lara will understand that you are her only sister, and she will not allow me just sit back and watch you like this."

Sarah went silent, her body was really weak, she almost leaned on Stephen's body and was hugged out of the hospital.

Stephen's family background is average, and his job is just an ordinary air-conditioning repairman. The salary is medium, so he drives a bad car, a dilapidated second-hand car.

He pulled the car door and helped Sarah to sit in. Seeing that Sarah's face was pale, he touched her forehead and said anxiously: "Isn't it fever?"

"I'm really fine..." Sarah laughed. You don't need to be so nervous."

Stephen also got in the car. Before driving, he had a lollipop in his hand. He insisted Sarah eat it, saying that it could add sugar to fight weakness.

Sarah couldn't help but took the candy.

"Lara loves this kind of candy," Stephen remembered the funny story between himself and his little girlfriend and shared it with Sarah.

Listening to her sister's embarrassment, Sarah couldn't help laughing, probably in a happy mood, and her face became a little ruddy.

Stephen glanced at the face that had gradually recovered, and finally heaved a sigh of relief, started the car, and left the hospital.

And just across from the hospital, in a black luxury car, unexpectedly sat Brian.

Lidya was injured in the filming and was dealt with here. He came to visit and unexpectedly ran into Sarah and another man hugging her at the hospital door.

Seeing how cordially they are speaking, it seemed they have obviously known each other for a long time.

The man also gave Sarah a cheap lollipop, and Sarah took it with a smile. Then the two of them, he, didn't know what they were talking about, and Sarah smiled brighter and brighter.

This scene was very clear in Brian's eyes.

He squeezed his fingers in silence, and his uncontrollable anger kept rolling in his chest.

Brian closed his eyes deeply and forced himself to dispel the strange anger in his heart. Sarah is nothing but a cheap woman.

After a while, he regained his composure and indifference, opened the door, and got out of the car.

Lidya scratched her leg on a branch while hanging on Wia, and was sent to the hospital for stitches. Thanks to this accident, she was given three days of vacation.

As soon as Brian arrived in the ward, Lidya pulled him and talked about the wedding preparations, wedding dress, wedding ring... She was excited and enthusiastic, but Brian just dropped his eyelids absent-mindedly.

"What's wrong?" Lidya said softly, "Brian, are you busy lately? I think you seem to be... very tired."

Brian recalled the scene in the hospital just now. The anger that was raging, he had finally suppressed, suddenly became even more out of control and he rose up.

He squeezed his fingers and said in a low voice, "Yes, I am very busy these days."

He stood up, his tone of voice cold.

"I have something to do in the company, I will deal with it first, and will see you another day." After speaking, she strode out of the ward without waiting for Lidya's response.

He still wants to find that woman.

At least ask clearly, when did she hook up with that wild man.

Was it, during their marriage...

In the ward, Lidya quietly watched Brian's back, her face gradually getting gloomy.