

Chapter 1827

“How do those twenty-year-old young girls now describe your kind of behavior? Love-struck. That’s right! Being love-struck! You fool! You’re ruined by your one love-stricken mind! You can’t blame it on me!”

Malvolio laughed hysterically. In Malvolio’s eyes, this man named Holden Payne in front of him was truly a hundred times more difficult to deal with compared to Sebastian Ford. Up to that point, Malvolio would still feel a chill down his spine whenever he thought of how vicious and efficient Holden had dealt with him Malvolio was not afraid of Alex, but he was afraid of Sebastian. Therefore, he hated Sebastian even more. The greatest wish in Malvolio's life was to finish Sebastian off. Therefore, conquering that island was Malvolio's plan in the recent five years. However, he never expected that Holden would beat him to the punch. What made him even more unexpected was that Holden would take the initiative to collaborate with him. Also, the terms for collaboration almost made Malvolio so ecstatic that he would even smile in his sleep.

A month ago, Holden had told

A month ago, Holden had told Malvolio. "As long as you can help me return to South City and lay low there, the entire island is yours. I just want to be a normal civilian on your island and live a good life with my wife and children. Do you agree to such a deal?"

Malvolio was instantly dumbfounded when he heard that. He agreed on the spot. "Agree! I agree! Of course, I agree!"

However, after Malvolio really helped Holden to stealthily return to South City, only then did he know that Holden and Sebastian were actually twins. Twins! How could Malvolio spare Holden then? Therefore, Twins! How could Malvolio spare Holden then? Therefore, at that moment, Malvolio wanted to finish Holden at sea and let Holden never be able to return to that island again.

That way, he also could challenge Sebastian.

“First, lock Holden up!”

Malvolio told those big and tall subordinates of his.

“Get lost!” Without waiting for those few strong to approach him, Holden swung into action and knocked out about five strong men in a row. Holden was very skilled in combat so nobody could just take him away as they wished. He truly did not want the island. The reason was that he did not did not want the island. The reason was that he did not want to be a puppet to Sean and Rose. If Holden truly wanted to guard that island, then how could Malvolio even enter? The only thing to blame was that d*mned fugitive, Malvolio! He unexpectedly went back on his word. He actually could not even wait for Holden to safely return to the island, and he wanted to finish Holden at sea. Malvolio was truly insidious.

However, at that very moment, Holden also could not care so much anymore. The only thing he could do at that moment was to protect Sabrina. If Holden was captured, then Sabrina would suffer a miserable end. Holden then miserable end. Holden then gritted his teeth and violently attacked those strong men near him. Almost every kick of his could kick a person half to death. After a few minutes, all those men actually did not dare to get close to Holden anymore as they were afraid.

At that moment, Holden shielded Sabrina behind him with all his might and main. He said to Sabrina with a miserable tone, "I'm sorry, Sabrina. I have harmed you. However, the fact that I love you will not change. You will never understand my love and never understand why I love you, Aino, and the child in your belly so much."

"Because you're not me."

belly so much.”

“Because you’re not me,”
Holden said miserably.

Sabrina was speechless. At that moment, she suddenly felt like crying. She wanted to cry for Holden.

Malvolio came to the front of Sabrina and surveyed her from top to bottom. “You’re Sebastian Ford’s wife?”
