

SONY

said to Aino, "Let's go back, little princess. This show must go on. It is only if this act was real enough that your mother could return to your father and your side sooner."

Chapter 1869

When Kingston mentioned that, Aino suddenly teared up. She held back her tears and she raised her head to look at Kingston. "Uncle Kingston, I...didn't dare to cry in front of my dad this whole time because I was afraid that he would be sad. Tell me, Uncle Kingston, could my mom... and my younger sibling still be able to come back?"

When he heard Aino ask such a question,

SONY

Kingston instantly burst out in tears. He had a catch in his throat, and he could not speak for a very long time. He took a long time to calm himself down. "Yes, they can! You mother certainly can come back! Who is she? Back then, your mother's biological father had hunted her for six whole years. Her situation was far worse than now. However, your mother was still able to come back alive! Your mother is the toughest woman with the strongest ability to survive that I've ever seen in this world! She will certainly be fine!"

Aino smiled and looked at Kingston. "Really, Uncle Kingston?"

"Believe in me!" Kingston said seriously. After saying that, he added, "I have never lied to you, right?"

Finally, Aino nodded her head in relief. "Yes, you have never lied to me. My mother and also my younger sibling will definitely come back!" The little girl smiled and looked at Kingston. "Uncle Kingston, let's go back. I still have to watch my dad put on a show later."

SONY

"Alright." Kingston helped Aino put on the seat belt. When he started his car, he saw a garbage truck coming over, and there were even two workers following the truck by its side. Kingston thought to himself that the woman would be saved. Therefore, he drove off without even looking back.

At this end, as Kingston had expected, after Maysun, who was still in the sewer, struggled for a little while, a garbage truck stopped right in front of her. The garbage truck was very smelly. The workers were all wearing protective gear. When the few men saw the person who was stuck in the sewer, the driver and also the two other workers were all stunned.

They could tell the person in front of them was a woman at a glance because her clothes were completely drenched so emergency number and also the tow truck company.

SONY

At that moment, Maysun's phone also rang. The few garbage truck workers who saved her absolutely could not believe that her phone was still intact when she was really soaked in the sewer. Maysun, who smelled, looked at the few people who saved her very arrogantly as she took out her phone and waved it a little.

As expected of a rich person, the phone that she was using was waterproof. Not only was it waterproof, but it would block out pungent water. She wiped off the fecal matters on her phone, and when she saw the incoming call clearly, she was surprised. "Hello, well...Master Sebastian."
"

SONY

"I'm begging you, please. Please save me, alright? I...I have money. I will give you money," Maysun pleaded. Only then did the few men forced themselves to endure the smell and pulled her and her car out of the sewer.

Half an hour later, the car and Maysun were out. All four of them smelled, but Maysun smelled the most of them all. One of them immediately called the emergency number and also the tow truck company.

At that moment, Maysun's phone also rang. The few garbage truck workers who saved her absolutely could not believe that her phone was still intact when she was really soaked in the sewer. Maysun, who smelled, looked at the few people who saved her very arrogantly as she took out her phone and waved it a little.

As expected of a rich person, the phone that she was using was waterproof. Not her curved figure could be seen. However, this woman was covered in garbage and fecal matter from head to toe. She even had a few living creatures climbing on her neck. Gosh! Those few garbage men had never seen such a trashed person before. She was absolutely soaked in smells that were beyond pungent.

SONY

When she saw those few people who came, Maysun immediately called out weakly, "Help...save me!"

One of the men could not help but ask, "Oh, Miss, you...stink. Well... Miss Stinky, you... How did...how did you fall into the garbage dump?"

"Help me!" Maysun called out. She was pissed off. If she did not need to be saved at that moment, she truly wanted to take a knife and slash these few people to death!

Another man, who was still pinching his nose, asked, "But, you're so stinky. How do we...? How...how do we save you?"