

Chapter 1734

Everyone was immersed in sending the best wishes to the happy couple so nobody noticed that figure at the entrance.

Tessa stood at the entrance for a very long time. She never expected that her mother could be this beautiful. After she had grown up, every time her mother came back to look for her, Tessa would try everything to either angrily scold or curse at her mother. Therefore, her mother would have a depressive expression and have her eyebrows tightly knitted every time Tessa saw her. Over time, Tessa had gotten used to seeing her mother in tattered clothes and having an intolerably ugly appearance which looked like a beggar. She did not allow her mother to look radiant because in her heart, her mother was a sinner. Therefore, her mother did not deserve to laugh and dress decently.

Tessa had the impression that no matter how much she cursed and insulted her mother, her mother would also be pleasing her with all her might. She felt Pressing her with all her might. She felt that her mother was guilty. How old was Tessa back then? Her mother just abandoned her and left like that, and she did not return for many years. Her mother clearly had a husband, but she was still caught red-handed by Tessa's dad for fooling around with men. Such a woman did not deserve to be alive! Tessa had always wished for her mother to die! However, her mother was living a good life instead.

It was particularly so that very day. She was so beautiful, confident, elegant and calm. Tessa could not believe it at all that the woman wearing the wedding dress was her mother. Also, that man. He had a temperament that no one could surpass. He was mature and reliable, and had an elegant temperament that he was born with. Every movement of his was dignified. He was so gentle to Tessa's mother, and he actually gave her mother such a grand wedding. There were not many women in the entire South City who could have such a wedding. Also, that wedding dress that her mother wore was so beautiful. It must be worth several million dollars. He was so willing to pay for that million dollars. He was so willing to pay for that.

He was clearly Tessa's boyfriend, was it not? Tessa had a mixed feeling and felt a combination of pain and hatred in her heart. At that moment, she wanted to die. She wanted to bite that woman in the wedding dress to death! How could there be such a hateful mother in this world?

Her mother truly was ridiculous!

Ridiculous! How could there be such a selfish mother?

Step-by-step, Tessa walked towards the wedding site like a ghost. At this end of the wedding site, Zayn and Hana exchanged their rings with one another. All the guests present were cheering and wanted the couple to tell them of their love story. Many people were shouting and asking for the bride to introduce girls to them to be their girlfriends. They were saying that the bride was gorgeous beyond comparison and they wanted a girlfriend as beautiful as the bride. Some of the cleverer ones also could not help but stand up and cheered. "May I ask the bride and the groom who was your matchmaker? You can just introduce your matchmaker to me! The matchmaker matchmaker to me! The matchmaker must have been a good one to be able to match up the two of you.”

As soon as the person finished saying that, a flower-fairy-like little flower girl held up her little hand and shouted. “It’s me! It’s me! It’s me!” That child-like voice instantly shocked the entire floor. The entire wedding site instantly fell into a pin drop silence, and everyone was looking at the little flower girl.

The little flower girl then proudly tiptoed to take over the microphone from the host’s hands. She bragged very confidently to all the guests present. “I was the matchmaker for my uncle and aunt. I am a very qualified matchmaker, more qualified than my dad.”

“Haha!”

“Little princes, dare I ask if you are weaned yet?”

“I was weaned a long time ago.”

“Pfft...”

“Let me interview the little princess.” Someone held a cucumber and asked very seriously, “Little princess, how did you match up your uncle and aunt?”

●iously, "Little princess, how did you match up your uncle and your aunt?"

At that moment, everyone suddenly felt that it was more interesting to tease this flower fairy-like young heir to Ford Group compared to teasing the bride and the groom.

The little princess smiled. "Well, my uncle originally had a girlfriend, but I didn't like her!"

Chapter 1735

"I have liked my Aunt Hana since the very beginning! So, I ordered my uncle to not date that girlfriend of his, and he must marry Aunt Hana!"

"And then your uncle promised you to do so?" someone asked.

"Of course!" The little princess was incomparably proud. "My Uncle Zayn is the best uncle in the world. My Aunt Hana is also the best aunt in the world! Haha." The little princess was very satisfied with the couple that day.

"Little princess, your uncle and aunt are a match made in heaven. You truly have great credit for that!"

"The little princess deserves all the credit!"

"All hail the little princess!"

"You're forever our goddess, little princess!"

At that moment, both her uncle and aunt also happily carried the little princess in her arms and lifted her together.

her arms and lifted her together.

Somewhere far away from the wedding site, someone was watching everything at the site with a pair of high-powered binoculars. When that pair of eyes saw Aino through the binoculars, they teared up. On the other hand, somewhere close by, Tessa was walking step by step towards her mother's wedding site. Her tears had streamed all the way down to her neck.

This little princess, the young heir of the Ford Group, the precious daughter of Sebastian and Sabrina, who was being lifted in the arms of Hana and Zayn, actually publicly said that she was the one who let Zayn dump Tessa? Ha! Haha! Tessa sneered. Zayn belonged to her, Tessa! He was hers even if no woman wanted this man! She gritted her teeth and walked forward.

Suddenly, a person at the side called out to Tessa. "Tessa, is that you?"

Tessa turned around and saw that the old man in his fifties, who had called her. He looked familiar to her, but she did not know where they met before.

know where they met before.

"Tessa! Stop right there!" the old man shouted angrily.

Tessa looked at the old man. "Who are you?"

"When you were almost an eight-year-old child, I used to give you candy quite often! My house was just one kilometer away from yours. At that time, your mother worked as a waitress in our family restaurant!" said the old man seriously.

Tessa was covered in tears. "What do you mean?"

"Are you trying to ruin your mother's wedding?"

Tessa sneered. "Could it be that you were also involved with that woman?"

"How dare you!" The old man abruptly stood up. "Tessa, at the very least, you've already grown up to be an adult now! You could tell the right from wrong for many things now. Why didn't you ask your dad why you haven't been back to your old house once you've moved out? Also, why wouldn't you go to your birthplace to “Couldn't you go to your birthplace to inquire about the matter yourself?”

Tessa was speechless.

“If you dare to ruin your mother's wedding today. All of us, who had been your neighbors in the past and have been friends with your family for a long time, would gather up and throw you out of here!” the old man shouted angrily with a deep voice again. Then, almost thirty people who were sitting at the last few tables at the end suddenly stood up. Some of them were in their seventies, some in their fifties, and there were even some who were younger and in their forties. All those people looked at Tessa with incomparable disgust. A person among them even shouted, “Get lost! Hurry up!”

Tessa was driven out of there in an incomparably wretched manner. Since she could not ruin her mother's wedding and since so many former neighbors told her so, and since that old man had also once told her the same thing in front of her doorstep last time, Tessa directly took a cab back to her old house while crying. She had not been back for more than ten years. She no longer knew

● In ten years. She no longer knew anybody here.

When Tessa arrived somewhere near her old house, she happened to see an old woman in her eighties. Tessa went up to her and asked, "May I know if you know a woman named Hana Sharpe?"

The old woman sighed. "Hana? That is a pitiful woman..."

Chapter 1736

Tessa asked in return, "What did you say? Who is...pitiful?" She had wanted to ask, "You're talking about my dad for being the pitiful one, right? My dad is a man and he had to play both the father and the mother. How difficult must it have been for him?" However, before Tessa could ask that, that old woman said slowly, "I am talking about your mother! Your mother is a pitiful child! Being together with your dad was the worst doom in your mother's life! Also, you! I have never seen such a child like you in this world! You even dared to curse at your own mother! Young lady! I truly wanted to see if you're getting married in this life and if you're going to have children."

Tessa was speechless. The awkwardness she felt at that moment was more intolerable than what she felt at her mother's wedding. She was scolded so badly by the old woman that it was not right for her to leave or stay. After all, she was just twenty-two years old. She was young and was full of vigor. She felt so aggrieved that she burst out in tears. She grieved that she burst out in tears. She was not willing to accept defeat. "Tell me! Tell me what's wrong with my dad? My dad had raised me since before I was potty trained! He had to play the role of both a father and a mother! What had my dad done wrong? It was the woman who went out to fool with men! Bullsh*t! Tell me! Tell me what has my dad done wrong?"

The old woman rolled her eyes and looked at Tessa contemptuously. "Are you a woman?"

"Of course!" Tessa was furious. "You clearly knew that I am a girl, but you still asked me like this! What is your intention? I think the entire village had been bribed by Hana Sharpe!"

The old woman instantly became furious when she heard that! She immediately stood up. "You truly are going to receive severe punishment from the Heavens! Who taught you those words? Was it that d*mned dad of yours? Why hasn't he gone to hell yet?"

Tessa was speechless. Her father had always been a good father to her. She only had one father in his life, but she ●ly had one father in his life, but she had never expected that the old woman actually cursed her father like that. Tessa truly wanted to turn around and leave. However, she had already been surrounded by the people in the village. Many of them were commenting and criticizing her. She could not get out of the place at all!

The old woman calmed herself down. "No one is willing to care about the private matter in your family. It had already been so many years. None of you came to ask and we were also too lazy to care, even if we knew that your mother had been wronged. That is still your business, and it's none of our business as outsiders! However, you're the one who personally came to ask me today! So, I'll tell you about it!" 1

"Great! Go ahead!" Tessa replied.

The old woman lit a cigarette and recalled the past events in pain. The matter happened twenty years ago. At that time, Hector loved to gamble and had owed a buttload of debts. He had been chased after everywhere. Someone even wanted to chop his hand off. He had been so after everywhere. Someone even wanted to hop his hand off. He had been so addicted to gambling that although he was already a man in his thirties, he had not even found himself a wife yet. However, being a man in his thirties, he was unsettled for not having a woman by his side, so he had been looking for women on and off everywhere.

Coincidentally, there was a widow in the village who was a few years older than him. Hector and that widow maintained a close relationship for a few years. It was unclear if he just had luck in love during that period or what, but the second year after Hector and that widow had a close relationship, Hector brought a young girl from the streets home. That girl was said to have been eighteen years old already, but her tender eyes looked so young as if she was a fifteen-year-old little girl. Her face was so small that it was only the size of a human palm, and she was so thin that she could be blown away by the wind. No one knew where that young girl had been picked up from.

Everyone in the village knew that that young girl was sensible and hard working. After Hector brought her home, she had been doing the laundry, cooking, and all the other chores for Hector. The people in the village urged Hector, "The young girl is too young. Send her back to her parents. You already have the widow, so don't ruin the young girl."

Who knew that Hector would say such a thing? Hector grinned. "I have already ruined her! She is not willing to go back. She has a stepmother back at home who has been beating her up badly every day. She was forced to come out and be a bargirl at the nightclub. Because she is young, she did not know who to fawn over others, so she had offended someone and was beaten up. If I did not save her, she might have been beaten to death by that person. Hana is very grateful to me, so she said she wants to be with me for the rest of her life."

"How old is she?" asked someone with concern.

“Almost seventeen,” Hector blurted out.

Everyone was speechless.

“Hahaha. Perhaps I have luck in finding myself a wife. All of you have said that I will never be able to get a wife in this life. Look at me now. I have got a sweet young wife, who is as pretty as a flower, without even spending a penny!”

Seeing Hector so smug, an elder in the village then kicked Hector’s leg. “Be nicer to her! Live your life properly! Don’t gamble anymore! And, don’t go harming that widow anymore!”

“I got it, Mister Tripp.”

Ever since then, Hector truly became honest for a while. Hana got pregnant after half a year since she was brought home by Hector. When she had given birth to Tessa, she was three months shy of turning eighteen. The eighteen-year-old young mother’s body still has not fully developed, but she already had to endure the pain of giving birth. What made Hana even more miserable was that when she was delivering her baby, Hector was not with her.

was not with her.

● Ever since Hana got pregnant and Hector could not do that with her, he went to look for that widow again. Not only that, but both he and the widow gambled. Both of them joined forces to cheat, and they were found out in the end.

The group of people wanted to chop off both Hector and that widow's hands. The widow then got on her knees and begged for mercy. In the end, the terms for her to be defiled by six men in front of Hector. It was said that she was defiled, but in fact, the widow did not mind at all. She had been with many men. Since it could offset her debt, there was no need to chop her hands off, and the few men were all healthy and strong, so why would she not do it? Hector, on the other hand, was infuriated while watching at the side, but what other choice did he have?

After the group of people had their fun and went far away, Hector beat up the widow violently. After the beating, he was so furious that he had the audacity to do anything. He saw that the widow was not properly dressed yet, so he took advantage and attacked the widow. He had tortured the widow very hard that ●d brought home, was giving birth to his child. That miserably sharp scream still had a slight tinge of childishness.

Hana spent a whole day and night giving birth. Just when she ran out of strength, the little Tessa came out of her belly.

Hana was so lacking in strength that she could not even open her eyes. She turned her head and wanted to see whether the baby's father came. However, she did not see anybody.

Chapter 1738

The young mother sat alone on that cold delivery bed while hugging her newborn baby. At that time, Hana wanted to cry but she had no tears to shed. At that time, she still had no idea that an even more miserable fate was lying in wait for her. As she was young and malnourished, she had no breastmilk to feed her child. However, Hector, who was completely broke and had just been severely injured after being bitten, simply had no money to buy formula powder for Tessa. The newborn baby, Tessa, was so hungry that she kept crying all day long. Tessa wanted to feed, so she latched and sucked on Hana so hard that Hana was all bruised and bleeding. It was so painful that the young Hana immediately broke out in tears. However, even so, the baby still could not get any milk out of her.

In order to raise her baby, Hana, who did not even rest for a month, helplessly dragged her frail body out of the house to do odd jobs for others. All that was to earn some money to buy formula powder for the baby. Just like that, Hana managed to raise her baby. However,

Hector would often hug his daughter. "My precious. My precious. You are my only family in this life. I only have you as my only child."

Initially, Hana also did not know why Hector would say that. She only found out several months after she had given birth to Tessa. That was because with Hector's urges, except when she was pregnant, it would be hard for Hector to go three days without touching her. However, after she had given birth, Hector had not touched her for four months.

Hana was a poor woman. She was doing very well in school when she was a teenager, but her stepmother did not allow her to study and made her go to work. No matter how much she earned every month, all of her salaries would be taken away by her biological father and stepmother. She would be beaten if she refused to give them.

Hana did not receive any warmth since she was just a child, so being able to meet Hector, who took her in and fed her, Hana felt that she would be in a world filled with warmth for being together with Hector. Therefore, even if Hector did not go out to work and earn money, even i go out to work and earn money, even if she had not rested properly since giving birth, and even if Hector was more than a decade older than her, Hana was still dead set on being with Hector to live a hard life, so much so that Hana immediately noticed something was wrong when Hector had not touched for a few months.

“What’s the matter with you? You don’t like me anymore? You don’t want to be with me anymore?” she asked.

Hector hugged his daughter and murmured, “No...”

“Then, why?” asked Hana.

Hector did not say anything. He had no way to tell her that his thing had been bitten off by another woman. Everyone in the village knew about this, and that widow had already been imprisoned.

Hana was the only one who did not know. Hana had repeatedly pushed for answers again and then undone his pants by force, then only was Hana greatly shocked. Immediately after that, she felt extremely disappointed and sad.

That was nothing. Hector, who flew into

That was nothing. Hector, who flew into a rage out of humiliation, violently beat up Hana. "You're a f*cking homeless woman! You dare to control me? I gave you food to eat and water to drink, and saved you from dying of stink and rotting to hell in that sort of place! How dare you control me?"

Hana, who had only given birth to her baby a few months earlier, was beaten up by Hector so badly that she could not go to work for a few days. Just when Hana was recovering from her injuries at home, she heard even worse and an even more shocking news. That widow, who had been imprisoned, had been diagnosed with a kind of dirty disease. The disease could not be detected by blood test at the very beginning. It can only be detected after a month and a half.
