

Chapter 1750

Hector averted her gaze. "You... what nonsense did you hear from those people?"

"Dad!" Tessa's tears instantly streamed down. "The truth will come to light sooner or later. This is something that the entire village knew. Do you think I will never find out in this life just because you brought me with you and we have moved away?"

Hector's voice was trembling and there was a catch in his throat. He simply confessed. "I moved away taking you with me not because I wanted to hide anything from you. It was because I wanted to give you a good learning environment. You know about the quality of anything from . It was because I wanted to give you a good learning environment. You know about the quality of education offered in that village of ours. I-I'm already a useless person. I can no longer do that business with women in this life anymore. It's also impossible for me to have a second child., You are my everything. Of course, I don't wish for you to study in the village. I wish you'll be well and can have happiness for life. I know that I am a selfish person with extremely bad character, and I am a person who has no credibility as I have always been lying! However, I am just this selfish. What can you do about it? I don't have anything in this life anymore! I only have a daughter! Your mother! That b*tch! I could already tell when I me anymore! I have a daughter! Your mother! That b*tch! I could already tell when I first became a good-for-nothing person that your mother absolutely would not stay with me for life!”

Hector continued. “Since she was destined not to be my woman from a long time ago, then why should I spare her? In for a penny, in for a pound. I just wanted to drain that woman and let her serve my daughter for the rest of her life! I am selfish! I am evil! What’s wrong with that?”

“I have saved five million dollars for you in your card. It’s already five million dollars! Even if I die, you can also live well in this life. You absolutely can’t be sad for me. I have long been tired of taking medicine!”

e. I have long been tired of taking medicine!"

Tessa was speechless.

At that moment, her pitiful yet incomparably unreasonable biological father, who was in front of her eyes, truly made Tessa feel a mixture of love and hate! He was detestable and had committed unforgivable heinous acts. However, behind closed doors, when it was only them, the father and daughter, what Hector said was also a truth. Even if he did not treat Hana that way, Hana would also leave Hector sooner or later. Then, Hector might as well go all out and drain Hana. At least this way, he could be together with his biological daughter every day, and he could never run short of money to spend. That way, he could [redacted] together with his biological daughter every day, and he could never run short of money to spend. That was killing two birds with a stone. It was devious and unethical, but who in this world would not look out for their own interests? Hana also did everything for herself! The child was hers! If it were to be any other outsiders, how could she be threatened?

In Hector's eyes and heart, he did not care about what was decided by fate or what was decided by human factors. He would not think about how innocent he was. He would not think about the fact that the reason he became a good-for-nothing person was not because of Hana. He had never thought over who should Hana ask to reason he became a good-for-nothing person was not because of Hana. He had never thought over who should Hana ask to compensate for her grievances, as well as the family and the youth she had lost in this life? Hector would not think over all these!

He only thought that he and her daughter could rely on each other. In a few years, after her daughter got married and had children, Hector, as a grandfather, could then take care of his grandchildren with a peace of mind. He could then continue living such a life until old age, which was very happy.

Not only was Hector thinking this way, but even Tessa also was thinking the same thing at that moment when she saw her that moment when she saw her father being so frank. She squatted to help her dad up. “Dad! I have no affection for that woman!”

Hector was speechless.

There was a pause. “Tessa...you, are you telling the truth? You... you won't leave me?”

Chapter 1751

Tessa smiled in tears. "Dad, other children have their mothers by their side when they wake up, but I always had you by my bedside when I wake up. It was my dad who read me bedtime stories every night. My first braid was very ugly, but I loved it very much. That's because you have spent more than an hour braiding it for me. Till this day, I still remember the time when I first started menstruating. You were afraid that I would be embarrassed, so you purposely asked the lady next door to keep me accompanied for a few days. She was not very willing to do as she needed to go to work, so you gave her a month's worth of her needed to go to work, so you gave her a month's worth of her salary as repayment. You were the one who researched online on the many things to pay attention to when one first got their menstruation, and then you told them to the lady next now. After that, you asked the lady not to tell me that you did that. Although I only have a dad, my first menstruation was very smooth.

She sobbed. "All my classmates envied that I have a good dad. You never missed any parent-teacher conference I had.

Although I don't have a mother, my life was not sad at all and it was not a mess as well. Dad, I only have you in my heart. That woman has no place in my heart. I don't have any affection for only have you in my heart. That woman has no place in my heart. I don't have any affection for her!" said Tessa. Her tears kept streaming down her face.

'I'm sorry, Hana,' she thought. 'Just let my father and I owe you for life! I can't abandon my dad to be with you because I don't have any affection for you. I only have my dad in my heart and my world. My dad and I have been relying on each other for more than twenty years. I can't sever this relationship. Everyone is selfish! My dad is a selfish j*rk! I am my dad's daughter, so I am also a selfish j*rk! I'm sorry, Hana! You have snatched away my boyfriend, so just consider that as your compensation!' The guilt she had towards Hana slowly vanished.

Tessa helped her dad up. "Dad, don't hide your condition from me in the future. I already know it, so I will face it together with you. This condition is no longer fatal now. As long as you take your medicine on time, your life expectancy will be no different from the average person. You will only be a carrier for the disease. If you eat those expensive medicines, you won't even have any side effects. Dad, I know the biggest side effect of this medicine is making you agitated and irritated, and it's most common for you to have nightmares at night. I finally understood why you would often wake up from your dreams in fear at night. It turned out it was because you have been taking

"No, that won't do, Tessa. You can't!" Hector immediately stopped Tessa. "Those five million dollars are what I've saved for you after suffering for a whole lifetime. That money is for your wedding and for you to buy a house! You can't use that to buy medicine! I have been taking my medicine for more than twenty years, and it has been fine!" Hector did his best to stop his daughter.

However, Tessa shook her head.

Hearing his daughter say so,
Hector got even more anxious. “

Tessa immediately cried. "Dad, you have exhausted all your ways to protect me my whole life. You paid for my college education to let me have a bright future. How can I possibly work a s a bargirl? How can I give up on myself?"

"Then, you..." Hector could not understand it.

Tessa immediately sneered aggressively. "There's still Hana Sharpe. She is now married to a rich man!"

“Tessa, what do you mean?”

Hector asked.

“She snatched my boyfriend away from me! Of course, she has to compensate me! Besides, she also has to pay me back for everything she owed me for so many years in the past! She is living a good life now, anyway! She is married to a rich man now! She would have an endless amount of money to spend! Both of you and I are living in the abyss of suffering. Why does she get to marry a rich man?” said Tessa.

Both Tessa and her father are the same. She would not consider how many injustices had Hana once suffered because Tessa how many injustices had Hana once suffered because Tessa could not feel it. However, Tessa indeed felt her father's pain and all that he had done for her.

Tessa was set on wanting Hana to pay for it. Even if Hana died, what has that got to do with Tessa and her father?

Just like her father, Tessa would not consider how many injustices had Hana once suffered because Tessa could not feel it. However, Tessa indeed felt her father's pain and all that he had done for her. Tessa had her mind set on wanting Hana to pay for what she should be paying. Even if Hana died, what has that got to do with Tessa and her father? Tessa did not care about that! It would be best for her if Hana had died and left about that! It would be best for her if Hana had died and left Tessa a sum of money before that! This way, she and her father would no longer have to worry about living expenses! ②

Seeing his daughter with such a firm attitude, Hector immediately stopped crying. Both of his eyes lit up. “Are you saying that you can ask your mom...ask that woman for a sum of money?”

Tessa smiled. “Not a sum of money. I want her to keep paying for your medical expenses for the rest of your life! She has to keep giving me living expenses and compensations! In the past, it was five thousand dollars a month! Later on, it was ten thousand dollars a month! In the future, it would be fifty the past, it was five thousand dollars a month! Later on, it was ten thousand dollars a month! In the future, it would be fifty thousand dollars a month!”

“Good! Good! Excellent! My daughter is simply outstanding! Both of you and I are living in the abyss of suffering. Why does she alone get to marry a rich man? We have to ask her for the money! You are her biological daughter and also the only daughter. It’s impossible for her and that man named Zayn to have another child again. All of her properties should be yours!” Hector became increasingly more enthusiastic.

Tessa nodded. “That’s right, Dad!”

Both the father and daughter

Tessa nodded. At 3:11 p.m.,
Dad!”

Both the father and daughter seemed to have found a way to make a fortune. They spent the whole night planning to buy an oceanfront mansion in the future. After that, they would get Tessa a man better than Zayn. The man did not have to be rich. Even if the man was poor, as long as he had a handsome appearance, was honest, capable, and loved Tessa, then the father and daughter duo would go get him to marry Tessa.

Three days later, Tessa dressed up exquisitely and went to the Smith Group. Although she had been dumped by Zayn, she still had to dress up glamorously when meeting Zayn. The reason was very simple. Tessa wanted to had to dress up elaborately when meeting Zayn. The reason was very simple. Tessa wanted to let Zayn know what kind of woman he had married to, which was an old woman! Simply an old woman! The daughter of the woman he had married was already such a grown woman! Tessa wanted to remind Zayn about this! Not only that but was Zayn not rich and kind? He would even show warmth and kindness to homeless people, so should Tessa, the legitimate stepdaughter, not also get a hefty sum of living expenses from her stepfather?

When Tessa got to the reception of the company, she deliberately said, "Hello, Miss. I am looking for Uncle Zayn."

"Who?" The receptionist did not for Uncle Zayn."

"Who?" The receptionist did not understand it at first.

"Zayn Smith. Director Zayn. He is my Uncle Zayn," Tessa explained in detail.

The receptionist surveyed Tessa from head to toe for a moment. "Our director only has one niece, but she is only seven this year. You..."

"I am his wife's daughter!" Tessa said in a very cold and stern tone.

The receptionist looked surprised. "Oh. Oh, I see. Please... hold on for a moment."

The entire Smith Group knew that the director had a wedding five days ago. The Smith Group

The entire Smith Group knew that the director had a wedding five days ago. The Smith Group had even celebratory gifts to their internal staff, and Director Zayn had hosted a special banquet. The entire company knew that Director Zayn's wife was eight years older than him and she had a child before that. He did not hide that from them. Therefore, when the receptionist heard say that, she immediately became respectful and picked up the landline to call Director Zayn's assistant.

“Hello, is this Verlyn Welch? I... seem to have seen Director Zayn leave the company about half an hour ago. May I ask where he went to and when he will be back?”

Chapter 1753

“Oh, I see. Missus Smith’s daughter came to look for Director Zayn. She...she addressed him as Uncle Zayn. Okay. Okay.”

After the receptionist hung up the call, she looked at Tessa respectfully., “M-Miss, please wait here for a moment.

Director Zayn’s assistant, Gary, will be right out.”

“Alright!” Tessa did not even look at the receptionist. She sneered. It seemed that she was treated as a very important person here for being the stepdaughter.

Within a few minutes, a beauty greeted her with a smile. “

You’re the lady, right?”

Tessa immediately said.

“Miss, Director Zayn is not in morning today. Director Zayn

Tessa was speechless. ‘Sick?

Serves her right.

“Miss, if you’re looking for Director Zayn and his wife for something urgent, the company can arrange for a driver to send you there now. Do you think that will do?” The way Verlyn treated Tessa was the same as the way she treated Aino. She truly treated Tessa like a princess. This was because the people from the company could tell that although the director’s wife is eight years older than the director and was a woman who had a child, the director truly loved his wife. Since he loved his wife, then he certainly would also love his wife’s daughter. That was just common sense.

would also love his wife's daughter. That was just common sense.

Tessa had the air of a noble young lady. "Sure! Please arrange a driver for me immediately!"

She did not want to see Hana, because if Hana knew that she was going to negotiate with Zayn, Hana certainly would not agree. Tessa's original plan was to first negotiate with Zayn, then only inform Hana after it was all done. This way, she would be able to piss Hana off. However, at that moment, she could only go look for Zayn at the hospital. Tessa also wanted to see what condition Hana had. It would be best if it was an incurable condition!

wanted to see what condition Hana had. It would be best if it was an incurable condition!

The car sped all the way to the hospital. After she got off the car, the driver even led her to find Zayn and Hana. Tessa had Hana's contact number, but seeing that the driver was so willing to serve her, why not let him do it?

After being led by the driver for ten minutes, she found Zayn and Hana at a resting area. Hana was drinking water, while Zayn had an arm wrapped around her with care. Both of them were very affectionate. Tessa felt a kind of indescribable bitterness in her heart when she saw them! She felt disgusted! However, she heart when she saw them! She felt disgusted! However, she remained calm and composed.

After Hana took a sip of water, she lifted her head and saw Tessa. "Tessa, why...why are you here?"

"What condition did you have? Are you dying soon?" Tessa asked.

Hana was speechless.

Zayn immediately stood up. "How can you talk to your mother like that?"

"I am just asking her in a matter-of-fact manner! Are you dying soon? I have to remind you, Hana Sharpe! If you have an incurable condition, I am the first in line t you have an incurable condition, I am the first in line to inherit your properties!”

Hana was extremely pissed off. She raised her hand and pointed at Tessa. “You...”

“Also, I initially wanted to first communicate with Uncle Zayn, but since both of you are present, then I’ll just say it directly! Since you have already married a rich man, then let’s change the compensation you have been paying me for my living expenses to fifty thousand dollars a month. I think fifty thousand dollars should be nothing to you, right?”

Zayn was speechless. He was about to fly into a rage and should be nothing to you, right?”

Zayn was speechless. He was about to fly into a rage and reprimand Tessa, but Hana grabbed him by the hand instead.

Hana looked at Tessa calmly. “Tessa, I...am pregnant.”
