

Chapter 2

Esther pretend not to hear and was even much worried, "miss,am asking for the second time,is everything okay?are you looking for someone?"

"Hey young man! Just leave me alone,if you are thinking of taking this moment just to seduce me, please just stop!"

"Who has even mentioned about me seducing you,I have a wife whom I love very much. I just realized that you are stranded and being a Christian,it would be honorable of me to just help you and walk out.I don't expect anything in return."

Esther had just heard this and was so amazed that there are still very good men alive. She had taken her for more of a fuckboy if not a play one.It never had crossed her mind that he was a Christian,and her judging him was the graviest mistakes she could make especially that she was no ordinary one but a nun.

She opted to do this one thing, apologize. Not knowing that this was just the foundation of their story,her next move was greatly going to impact a lot in her life that was going to bring a lot of changes.

"I am sorry for being rude! It just came out of nowhere, Esther is my name."

"Well Esther, we are all humans with so many mistakes where we all learn from, I Brian is not an exemption." And just by that, Brian just introduced himself.

Something about Brian that she had not known about, was almost everything that she had known about him were all build up. Brian was a chronic womanizer in all his life and he would use any pick up line or acting if he could just to make a woman fall for him.

Interestingly, most of the women around had known him with this but would still fall for him and all the sweet talk. He was more of blessed verbally than pocket wise but would still manage to find any girl of his dream including the feminists one, the man was leaving some marks in representing his gender!!

This time round, his mission was Esther. He had just spotted her even though he had not known much about the lady, this was never going to be easy as usual for Esther was a no ordinary girl. She had dedicated her self to Christ only and was never in for relationships, even from this good man that she had just met.

"I just realized that you were stressed up Esther, what has been the problem?"

Brian asked.

"Okay Brian, before coming out from the bus, I had earlier helped a woman with my nun robes now don't know where to start since I had left others back at the parish. Do you know of a place where I can find some nun clothes?"

"You mean sister's clothes, right?" Brian was just surprised at why in the hell a sexy woman like her would be looking for nun's clothes.

"Yah, I need some as soon as possible, know of a place where I can purchase one?"

"What do you even have to do with the clothes? what is your issue with them? I believe that they are meant for nuns?"

Brian asked unbelievably as he hoped not to get a surprising answer. Then boom! the answer had just arrived full of necessary information.

"Yes, I am one of them, I am a nun!" Esther said leaving him a lot confused. He had just spotted a lady dressed in no attire to show that she was one. She had never expected this as he thought that Esther was going to be like any other random girls he had met, this was his most shocking moment in his life of being a Playboy.

Even after realizing that she was a Nun, something that he did not love. Brian had still decided to help the stranded Esther, he had quickly thought of something in ensuring that her problem was fixed.

"I think that I know of a place just a few walk from here where we can find one." He said.

Esther appeared to be relieved as she she accompanied Brian to the place, as they were walking, she had just realized that he was not new to most of the people who passed them especially the opposite gender who looked at them as if they had just realized something with their boy.

"We have just lost one of our ladies."

Esther overheard one girl saying as they passed them, though this never bothered her for she never understood it and also thought that it had nothing to do with her. They had thought that Brian had found a new catch who was going to suffer a heart break like the way he played the game so perfectly.

After some twenty minutes walk, Brian had just realized this building where they sold all types of clothes more so for the working ones since they had seen this as a business gap.

They matched in gracefully as Esther seemed to enjoy the place and how amazing it looked with all kinds of designer clothes too. She had spent almost her whole life at the parish and this change of environment made her feel the worldly pleasures bit. Even though she always maintained her character, she was never going to be deceived by the same earthly pleasures, she was just appeasing her eyes. A random worker had just realized them and came to their service.

"Hello customers, welcome to our shop! how can we help you?"

"Actually, we are in need of a nun's clothes." Brian said. "just one sir!" he continued just to make his demand in specific since most of the ladies he had been taking out had this habit of 'one is never enough' and so would even take the whole shop and the owner in addition thinking that they would also be responsible for the pay.

"Am very sorry, that is a very confidential order and according to our rules and regulations, it is never sold out that easily!" The attendant said.