

Chapter 3

"But why sir,I don't get it?"Esther asked politely.

"It's specifically meant for the nuns." He answered confidently after confirming that the customers were looking nothing similar to what a nun would.

"With all your due respect, I would like to inform you that I am a nun,the clothes are meant for me!"

"But you don't like one,how can we know that that's true? Some of our clients take them for filming pornography and name it as ' Hot Nun seduces the Father' which my boss doesn't like in as much as we all respect everyone's profession.We just have to make sure that you are indeed a Nun before giving you one."

"Okay,is that what you want?" Esther said as she removed out her phone then searched through as she finally showed him.

"Now you tell me,who am I?"

"It's indeed true ma'am,I now believe that you are a Nun, please forgive me for judging you from your cover."

"It's all okay, you were just doing your job,I totally understand what it means to do so."

The attendant had just started parking up the cloth for them but there is this one thing that he could not come over it, "if she is a Nun as she claims, then why is she dressed this way!!" Even though he totally kept quite about it as he did not want to bring more issues, all he wanted was for them to take whatever their order was and go away.

"Don't pack it yet, I think that I am going to put it on, where is the changing room? Esther asked.

"Just over there ma'am!" The attendant said as he pointed out where the place was .

Esther then went to the room so that he would put on the clothes on top of the ones she had just like before, funnily, she had just realized that she has been walking without the clothes and she was totally comfortable with them. She was not sure what had come over her, perhaps this was the chance to shine for at least this once.

Doing the Nun's outfit is never an easy thing as Brian would imagine. Esther was spending more time than ever making him so impatient, this was beginning to annoy him, adding to the fact that he was not going to see her beautiful body again right from the primary vision.

Esther was finally done and he could now not wait to see her, she was soon matching out.

The time was now, Esther came out of the room looking very changed and even though the long Nun's clothes, her perfect shape would still be visible. She had a well curved behind and the breasts were all pointed and looked very ripe but never tasted before. She even appeared more beautiful in this and Brian was really enjoying whatever that he was seeing now forgetting that she was a Nun, what mattered was that she was edible.

"Wow ma'am, you look amazing, you really are a Nun!"

The attendant said.

Brian who was more surprised had still maintained his eye contact.

"Thank you Brian, for doing all this to me, you are a true brother."

The word brother was the only thing that could manage to awaken him from the continuous eye contact. He had not seen that coming, of all the least things that she had expected from a woman, being friend-zoned was the worst, he never knew that much more than that had been awaiting for him.

"You are so much welcomed Esther." Brian still had to play as if everything was okay especially with him being called a brother.

"So where were you going sister?" he continued with the family thing, he had known that this was only going to be the easiest way he could win her.

"Ooh! How could I forget to tell you that, I have just been allocated to be in charge of a children's home around this place. I am not familiar with the whole place neither the orphanage, but I believe that I will eventually find it and God is going to find me through. If he has made me find new cloth from you then I have no reason now to doubt him." Esther then stopped for a while and smiled, "I think that all this symbolises a new beginning, I have very much faith that things are going to be marvelous around here throughout my stay." She concluded.

"Let us believe so, he never dissapoints." Brian added as they left out of the building.

They enjoyed some good friendly talk and Esther had felt just glorious of how things had turned to, she had no idea that life was going to this direction which was full of happiness and joy. Had she resisted to come all the way and remain at the parish, it would be all her loss!

She had just noticed a public van going to the place and thought that the time to bid her new friends good bye had reached.

"Okay Brian, I think that the time for me to leave has finally reached. I need to start going before it's too late since there are many too waiting for me. You have been so good to me, but it's time to say goodbye, I hope nature will find a way in which we will meet again and even share more moments, thank you Brian." She said.

This was the most amazing thing that he had ever heard from someone and not only a lady. Even if he didn't get to smash her, she has changed a lot in him. Esther to him was a woman of progress and full of positivity and empowerment.

He had never known that in all his life he was going to meet such an angel again, he feared a lot but it is always usual since we are all human beings with different obstacles.

Out of a Nun friend, Brian for the first time was in love and never wanted to tell her. Besides, it would just be awkward, leaving alone the fear that he had become.

Sometimes in life you just have to sacrifice your own happiness for the people you love own's.

He never imagined that this was their last moments and for them to ever meet could just be a coincidence.

In their bitter goodbye moments, Brian had to remind her one thing just before she could board the vehicle.

"Your beautiful Esther, hope we will meet again!"