

Chapter 54

Because of fear and anger, Vanessa's eyes were filled with terror.

However, the disaster was far from over.

Soon, a group of people rushed into her house aggressively.

Vanessa's fingers were trembling out of anger. The voice coming out of her throat was no longer as dignified as it used to be, but like a shrew. "Who are you? You can't break into my private property! Where are the security guards? And you... Call the police! Get out of here now..."

However, despite the fact that the group of people were smiling, there was only coldness in their eyes. "We broke into your private property? We came in legitimately! From now on, this property and all the houses under your husband's name belong to our boss. So, this house doesn't belong to you and your husband anymore. In fact, the people who should leave now... are you and your family."

What?

Vanessa widened her eyes and looked at these people in disbelief. What nonsense were they talking about!

This was clearly her house, but these people were kicking her out.

Oh my god!

Was there any justice left in this world?

"You... you are talking nonsense!" Vanessa was so angry that she couldn't breathe, and her face turned red.

However, they were not moved at all. They looked at Blake who was obviously guilty with a terrible expression written on his face. "I think... If you need any proof, you can ask your husband who is right beside you... He knows it best. After all... he was the one who signed the contract. As a mortgage... all the properties under his name have been taken as a guarantee. Now since you haven't deposited the money, according to the agreement, from today onward... these properties belong to our boss."

Vanessa looked anxiously at Blake, "Honey... tell me... it's not true! Honey, honey... talk to me!"

Blake felt dizzy as if his head was about to explode. "It... It was me who borrowed the money and put our real estate as collateral. If I didn't, we couldn't solve the company's financial problems... I thought as long as we had enough funds, as long as it could circulate, our family would be able to go through these difficulties. But... I didn't expect that the money invested would go in vain... It couldn't be retrieved at all..."

Because of the sudden blow, he collapsed on the couch completely and could no longer move.

How could his decades of hard work be gone overnight?

Hearing Blake's explanation, Vanessa completely lost her last hope!

Nothing... They had nothing left, not even a house!

And they owed a lot of debts!

How could this be?

"I'll give you only one hour to pack up your things and get out of here as fast as you can. If there's any valuable things left in the house when your time is up, we won't show you any mercy and throw away all of them. They're all rubbish!"

Vanessa was so angry that she wanted to shout, but who exactly were these people standing in front of her...?

They had seen all sorts of strange people.

However, the collective means of dealing with these people was...

"If you say one more word, we will carry you and throw you out as fast as we can..." Ralph said with a smile.

Vanessa always bullied the weak and feared the tough. When she saw that the group of people outnumbered her, she knew that they were not easy to deal with. Thus, she remained silent even though she was so angry that her face turned purple!

.....

Vanessa couldn't stop crying. Looking at the things packed beside her, she then looked angrily at the big iron gate that had been shut.

This was her home!

But now she was kicked out!

Enraged, Vanessa sat on the ground and cried loudly.

"Why am I so unfortunate? These b*stards... They scammed me! I curse you... You'll die horribly! You'll be punished!" Vanessa was already in a trance, sitting on the dirty ground and constantly murmuring.

Blake, meanwhile, flopped his head like a defeated rooster. His face was pale, and sweat kept dripping down his forehead.

All this while, Rosie had been standing on the side, trembling with fear. Watching the miserable situation, she was calculating in her heart.

Now, the Wilkinson family was doomed...

She had never thought that the Wilkinson family, who had always been decent and wealthy, would be in dire straits, especially the dignified and elegant lady who was now sitting on the ground like a shrew with no trace of nobility. Now, she looked nothing more than just an ignorant lady.

Rosie could not help but gloat in her heart. Although she had been buttering Vanessa up all the time to get more money, she knew clearly that Vanessa did not see her as a human being but a dog!

Usually, if Vanessa was angry, she would be her punching bag.

Now that the superior lady reached rock bottom and was no longer superior than her, deep down Rosie was pleased.

At this moment, a shout cried out behind them, "Mom, dad, what's going on? How could you..."

Rosie turned her head and saw that Miss Scarlett was back!

When Vanessa saw Scarlett, she threw herself into Scarlett's arms as if she had found her backbone. She wailed, "Scarlett... you are finally back! If you hadn't come back, your father and I would be bullied to death! What should we do? The house is gone! Everything is gone... What's going on?"

Scarlett was very agitated, yet Vanessa was still crying and wailing, getting her tears and snot on Scarlett's expensive clothes. However, she had to suppress her anger and comforted Vanessa.

Finally, when Vanessa calmed down a little, Scarlett began to get straight to the point. "Mom, our family, and the Collins family... became like this overnight. We must have been framed! We must have offended some people... It was them who wanted to mess with us... It started from the day of the wedding... So, Mom... Could it be..."

Vanessa said fiercely, "Who is it? Scarlett, tell me..."

"Mom, I think... it's Hazel and the people who took her away that day! They are the ones who mess with us!"

Vanessa screamed immediately and shouted, "Yes! It's her! That jinx... I'm going to strangle that b*tch..."

"Mom, calm down. The most urgent thing now is to find Hazel. In my opinion, only Hazel can save the Wilkinson and Collins families."
