

Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx Chapter 4

Chapter 4 None of Your Business

Krista fainted for another hour. She kept forcing herself to calm down after she came to herself.

She stroked her belly with mixed feelings.

She was pregnant with Kingston's child.

But she just got divorced two hours ago!

She was at a loss.

Should she tell Kingston that she was pregnant? After all, he was the baby's father.

Even if she didn't want the baby, she had to tell him.

She was still a student, so she couldn't give birth to this baby.

She hesitated for a long time before deciding to leave hospital and talk to Kingston.

As soon as she left, someone entered her ward and grabbed the nurse who was tidying up the bed.

"What happened to that woman who rested on this bed just now?"

"You are..."

"I'm her sister."

The nurse saw that the woman looked like Krista, so she told her the truth.

"She suffered from heatstroke, but she is fine now. As her family, you should take care of her as she is pregnant. Although the first three months have passed, you still need to be careful."

"She is pregnant?" Siobhan Compton frowned. "I see. Thank you."

Not long ago, the Comptons received news that Krista had divorced Kingston and received a large amount of money

They wanted to take away her money. Unexpectedly, Krista was pregnant.

Krista didn't see Kingston for a whole year. How did she get pregnant?

The baby was the other man's?

If Kingston found out about this, he would take the money back and might vent his anger on the Comptons.

'I have to find Krista and take her home,

Siobhan thought to herself. She made up her mind and left the ward.

Krista went back to the villa, but she didn't know if she should go in. She stayed at the door for a long time.

Just then, Kingston's car came back from outside and stopped at the entrance of the villa,

He was obviously surprised to see Krista.

The car door opened. He wasn't the only one in the back seat. There was also a petite girl. She was about the same size as Krista and looked obedient and lovely.

She saw Krista and tugged at Kingston's clothes.

"Who is she?"

"My ex-wife,"

Kingston said bluntly. "You go in first. I'll handle it."

"Alright. I'll wait for you."

The girl smiled and followed the secretary in.

Krista looked at the girl blankly. She had never seen the girl before. Was she the girl Kingston loved dearly abroad?

"Who is she?" Krista asked subconsciously.

"Krista, it's none of your business."

"It's none of your business."

These words made Krista heartbroken.

She felt that she was very far away from Kingston.

He was only a step away, but it was as if they were separated by numerous rivers and mountains.

Krista suddenly felt that it was ridiculous for her to come looking for him and ask him whether she should keep the child.

Would he care?

They had divorced each other.

She could decide by herself.

She clenched her fists and raised her head to smile at Kingston.

"I left something here, but it's not important. If you find it, you can just throw it away."

After saying that, Krista turned around and left without turning back, keeping her back straight.

Kingston looked at her receding figure, his heart trembling for no reason.

Krista was so skinny that he wanted to sweep her up into his arms and take good care of her.

Kingston clenched his fists, wondering why he had such thoughts.

Perhaps it was because Krista looked like the girl who slept with him that night.