

Chapter Thirty Three

Rain POV

"And Preston? Is he ok?" Avery asks.

Grant's face changes.

We all wait in anticipation.

(It can't be, can it? He is strong, I'm sure he's ok.)

I can tell that Avery is really worried.

Grant sighs looking at her. "The fucker tried to fly, literally. He flew out of a window from the second floor and not because he was thrown, but because, and I quote him, "it was faster." He's in the pack hospital with a broken leg... dumbass."

We are all relieved that he is such an idiot.

When finally, everyone is out of the room, we start to walk out but Grant stops and looks behind me.

"I know, I know. I look like a chicken with her baby chicks." I say knowing that the children are all still cuddled up to me and following me.

He smiles. "Suits you. A Luna is the mother of the pack and those little ones are the future of our pack."

I smile. (I guess I do like the pack after all, at least the little ones.)

We make it upstairs and immediately I see Kayden in a white t-shirt and basketball shorts talking to his dad.

"Kayden!" I run to him and he immediately takes me in a hug.

"Are you ok?" He asks.

"Yea."

I inspect him and he looks perfect, not a scratch on him.

"Love, I'll be out all night taking care of all this. You should go rest." He says.

I shake my head. "No, I'm taking care of the kids. They are scared right now."

He looks between me and the kids surprised but then smiles. "Ok, tell me if you need anything."

I kiss him and walk to the big living room with the kids where there are a few pack members sitting around trying to either catch their breaths or process what has happened.

I try to work this TV which is different from the one Kayden has. The kids start to laugh at me. Finally, I manage to put a movie for them and we all sit together around the couch and the floor.

I watch them. I never imagined myself being in this position. I suddenly feel very overprotective of them. Like they are mine.

I smile and feel happy that they are all ok and safe.

About three weeks pass and throughout all of it, me and Kayden dealt with the aftermath of what the attack brought. Kayden found out that it was of course Abraham behind the attack. He took rogues prisoners from the attack and they were interrogated. But they didn't know where he was hiding. Kayden fortified the pack and changed protocols since Abraham knows them all. He made a lot of changes.

We are now heading to Riverbed fort for the tournament. Most of the warriors were left-back with

"So this is where you trained for six years right?" I ask Kayden.

"Yea."

"Ha! I can't wait to see their faces when they see you back there." Preston, who is driving, says.

"You, Grant, and Avery grew up here too, right?" I ask Preston.

"Yea, my dad was offered a job as one of the trainers so we moved here. I was five and Avery was tiny, I think maybe one year. We lived in one of the houses around the territory but I and Grant spent most of our time in the fort while Avery partied away with the humans of her school." He laughs. "Don't tell her I said that."

"Is that where you all met?" I ask Kayden.

"No, we met at the packhouse when we were small before they left but we became good friends when I came to the fort." He says.

The Riverbed Fort is a place where all the packs get together to train. They have teachers and warriors from all different packs but even if you are stationed there, you still belong to the pack you came from.

"Love, you really should have worn the boots I told you to. There's a lot of mud there." Kayden says.

"Yea I know but those were ugly shoes." I say.

I have adopted Avery's love for nice clothes. I am wearing a fitted white shirt with short sleeves and a sweetheart neckline, very tight fitted jeans, and ankle boots with three-inch-high heels. My hair is in a sleek ponytail and I have very well applied makeup on which I do myself now.

Kayden smiles and shakes his head.

I thank the goddess that we finally get there because the five-hour ride was making me queasy. And of course, Kayden was right. It is muddy and it smells.

"Oh, I'm not feeling good." I say.

"Are you ok?" Kayden asks.

I sigh. "Yea, you warned me."

He chuckles. "Let's go inside."

Most of the space in the fort is outside, it has a huge courtyard in the front that is surrounded by tall walls, almost like a castle. In the courtyard, there are wooden planks built to look like a fighting arena. Then in the back, you can walk into the main living space building.

We walk inside and are greeted by an older man with silver hair.

"Dad!" Preston hugs the man.

"Son!" The man smiles looking happy to see Preston then looks at Kayden. "Alpha." He says and lowers his head.

Kayden smiles and takes him into a hug as well.

"I hear Preston had been giving you a hard time." The man says.

Kayden chuckles. "If trying to fly out of a window is a hard time, then yes he has."

The man sighs but smiles while Preston pouts.

"Lincoln, this is my mate, Rain Cade." Kayden holds a hand to me. I smile and take his hand walking over to them.

"Luna." Lincoln says lowering his head.

I smile and hold a hand to him to shake. He looks at me surprised but smiles and shakes my hand.

We turn around to see Alpha Landon and Luna Beatrice.

Kayden smirks. "Wouldn't miss it for anything." He says.

They both hug. Beatrice runs to me and also gives me a hug.

"Heard about the attack. Have you found him yet?" Landon asks.

"No, the rat knows how to evade us." Kayden says.

More people start to arrive. "Well come on, let me show you to your rooms." Lincoln says.

We all follow him, he shows us to our rooms and tells us of the schedule for the tournament and the times for breakfast and dinner. We are going to be here for about five days, that's how long this tournament lasts.

I walk through the big room and look at Kayden. "The room is nice but the smell from outside comes in." I say scrunching my face.

He chuckles and comes closer hugging me. "That's the smell of sweaty men and testosterone although there are a few women that train here."

I squint my eyes at him. "Women?"

He smiles. "Don't worry, I've never been attracted to any of them. Too muscular for my taste."

I smile. "Good."

We head to dinner, the room is huge with three long tables and each can sit up to fifty people. There are a lot of people here.

"How many packs are competing here?" I lowly ask Kayden.

"This year there are about nine to ten packs." He says.

Most of the people here are the Alphas with some of the competitors and warriors but some of them do have their Lunas with them.

The food arrives and we start eating, Kayden talks with the other Alphas as I focus more on my food.

(The smell is killing me. I didn't think it was going to be this strong.) My appetite completely goes away.

"Hey, how do these games work?" I ask Kayden.

"So, there will be three games, the fight, the race, and the hunt. First will be the fights which will be tomorrow. The ones that win will go on to do the race the next day. The ten that get to the finish line first will get to compete in the hunt and whoever gets the boar first wins." Kayden says.

I nod.

"That reminds me, I want to introduce you to the competitors from our pack, they'll be here in a few hours and you already know one of them." He says.

I scrunch my face. "Who?"

"Violet, Grants mate. She's one of the best warriors." He says.

"Oh, that's cool. How many competitors can there be?" I ask.

"Each pack gets to enter three competitors." He looks at my food. "You're not hungry?"

I shake my head. "No. The smell is killing me."

He chuckles. "Yea, it's because you're not used to it."

"Who could ever get used to this musty, muddy, sweaty butt smell." I say pouting.

He starts laughing along with everyone who heard me.

"YES! Someone said it! One of the other Luna shouts holding her nose and they all laugh again.

Chapter Thirty Three

“Want to go rest?” He asks softly and I nod.

He smiles. “Ok.”

We get up and head to our room.

I don't know how, but I fell asleep immediately after lying on the bed. I wake up the next morning because Kayden woke me up.

“The first game will start in an hour love. You can stay and rest if you want?” He says.

“No, I want to watch it.”

“Ok but know that the butt smell will be worst out there.” He says smirking.

I groan but get ready. I'm not feeling so good, so at this point, I don't even care what I wear. I put on jeans with a black shirt, black sneakers and I leave my hair down.

We head outside where we meet with Violet and Maxwell, one of the other contestants from our pack.

(I'm rooting for her just because she is the only girl in the contest.)

Kayden and I start to head to the viewing stands but I don't feel right. I start to sway and feel lightheaded.

(Oh no.)

Chapter Thirty Four

-Rain POV-

(Oh no)

I manage to make it to the viewing stand and immediately sit and take deep breaths but that was the worst that I could do. The smell makes it worst, I feel like throwing up and I am starting to get a headache from the smell.

I hide it as much as I can because I don't want Kayden to worry. He's been looking forward to these games and I don't want to ruin it for him.

The game starts, competitors are paired against each other randomly. When it's Violet's turn, she is paired with a huge guy but she easily takes him down. She's amazing. The other packs look surprised but everyone cheers for her. After a few other competitors, Kayden comes to me and kisses my cheek.

"Watch me." He says. He starts to take his shirt off and walks to the middle of the ring.

"What the...-" I look at him confused.

I look at Preston. "Is he competing?"

Preston smiles. "Yea."

I gasp.

"Oh, st! Kayden is fighting!?" I hear Landon shout.

"Dam!" Someone else shouts.

"fk no, why am I going against him?" The rival says to the announcer.

"It's a random man." The announcer says.

"Are Alphas allowed to compete?" I ask Preston.

"Yea, haven't you seen the other Alphas that already competed?"

I smile awkwardly and nod. (I wasn't paying much attention to be honest.)

The fight starts but it's horrible... for the other guy. Kayden's opponent doesn't get close to Kayden at all. He keeps backing up as Kayden tries to grab him. People are laughing and booing at the other guy.

Then finally, the guy gets in and starts to fight. Within less than a minute, I don't know how it happens but the guy goes flying in the air in a swirl and falls hard on the ground with all his air knocked out of him. The guy raises an arm in defeat.

"I am done." The guy groans out.

Everyone laughs at him and cheers at Kayden.

He runs back to me and hugs me.

"You didn't tell me." I say.

"It was a surprise." He says smiling.

"So this means that you race tomorrow?" I ask.

"Yea but I don't have hope for that. Being bigger, makes me a bit slower, hence why Violet is sure to win that one." He says. "I just competed for the fun of it. Although that fight was anything but fun."

I giggle. "I had fun watching it. It was funny."

He sighs. "It wasn't supposed to be funny. It was supposed to impress you."

I smile. "You always impress me."

Kayden. He quickly notices me.

“Rain what’s wrong?” He asks panicking.

I quickly regain strength again and sit up with his help.

“I’m not feeling well, I think I need to rest.” I say while he inspects me from head to toe.

“You look a little pale. I’m taking you to the room.” He says picking me up.

I don’t fight it and let him carry me.

Once in the room, he lies me down and checks my forehead for a fever.

“Hm, you’re a little warm. They have a doctor here. I’ll give them a call.”

“Is that necessary? It’s probably just a cold. I’ve had these before.” I say.

“Yea, but that’s when you weren’t taken care of properly. I’m not risking it.” He says taking his phone out. He makes a call and then sits with me again.

“You can go watch the game. I’ll be fine.” I say.

He shakes his head. “Nope, I’m staying right here.”

He caresses my hair and I almost fall asleep. When the doctor arrives, he does a routine checkup and can’t find anything wrong with me but I already knew that. This has happened before but like Kayden said, I wasn’t in the best health back then.

“Does your family have a history of underlining diseases?” The doctor asks.

“I think my grandfather did but I’m not sure.” I say.

The doctor does some more thorough examinations like taking my blood and checking my sugar levels. He tells me to rest and to make sure I eat properly. I spend the day resting and I manage to convince Kayden to go have dinner downstairs with the rest of the Alphas. When Kayden comes back, he brings me dinner. After I eat, I take a shower and then go to sleep.

The next day I feel much better. We head outside to the edge of the woods where the race is about to start.

“Why aren’t you running?” I ask Kayden.

“Because I forfeited, I’m not winning it and I rather spend my time with you.” He says.

I smile and cuddle into him.

“Alpha, Luna, I am ready.” Violet says walking over towards us looking determined to win with Maxwell behind her.

(I feel like she is very competitive.)

“Do your best.” Kayden says.

“Oh, I’m winning this.” She says all pumped up.

Me and Kayden laugh.

“You know that as long as you are one of the first ten, then you’ll be fine, right?” Maxwell says but she ignores him still looking pumped.

The contestants get in position and then the race starts. They all run into the woods and we watch until we can’t see them anymore. Now we just have to wait.

“How long will they take?” I ask.

“About fifteen to twenty minutes.” Kayden says.

“Hm... can Luna’s compete?” I ask.

Kayden looks at me surprised. “I guess so... why?”

“I’m a very fast runner but... never mind. To get to the race you have to fight in the first one and I don’t

"I can teach you?" He says.

I smile and shake my head. "I don't like fighting, but a little self-defense I wouldn't mind." I say.

Kayden nods. "Alright, I'll teach you a few moves when we get back home."

"Ok."

"How are you feeling?" Kayden asks.

"Much better than yesterday and since we are further from the fort, my nose is grateful."

He smiles.

Finally, after fifteen minutes, a competitor arrives. We wait and finally see Violet, she's the second one to make it and Maxwell comes in eighth place, making it into the finalists.

We cheer and head to the dining hall to celebrate.

It turns into a party where everyone drinks and talks enjoying themselves. It's a little overwhelming for me so I walk up to Kayden and whisper in his ear.

"I know of another way we could celebrate... just the two of us." I say giving him an innocent smile.

He doesn't look at me, he just turns to the men he was talking to. "Sorry gentlemen but my lady is not feeling well." Kayden says quickly grabbing my hand and pulling me out of the dining room.

I giggle all the way up to our room. Once in the room he locks the door, then he lets me go and starts to take his clothes off and I do the same. When we are completely naked, he lifts me up. I'm thinking that he's going to put me on the bed but he leans me against a wall instead with my legs wrapped around him and his member in full attention already.

He kisses me passionately with one hand in my hair and pulling gently and the other on my thigh holding my weight.

He eases himself into me and we both start to move. We both give whispery moans at the sensual way we move against each other. I slither my hand's through his back and grope his butt cheeks, I pull him harder towards me. He starts to thrust harder knowing that that's what I want.

"Mh, yes." I moan in pleasure as I feel myself reaching my peak.

"You like that baby?" He asks breathlessly.

"Yes, yes!" I say feeling my inside muscles contract on him reaching an orgasm.

He gives a few more thrusts with loud grunts and then I feel his member pulsing inside me.

We both take deep breaths and try to calm down. And of course, that's not enough. We have s*x two more times. One on the dresser where we knocked everything over and the second on the bare floor, that one hurt my back a bit but it was completely worth it.

When we manage to catch our breaths again, we both lie on the bed and fall asleep content even though it's still early afternoon.

We wake up to a knock on the door. I look out the window and looks like the sun is setting already.

"Baby we slept all day." I say.

"Yeah well, you get more tired when you have good sex." He says and I giggle.

He gets up and puts clothes on and I do the same. Once we are both fully clothed, he opens the door.

"Good evening Alpha. Just wanted to check on the Luna." The doctor says as Kayden lets him in.

"How are you feeling today?" He asks.

Chapter Thirty Four

He checks my vitals and then steps back and sighs.

“I have news.” He says but I don’t like one bit the way he says that.

Chapter Thirty Five

-Kayden POV-

I let the doctor in and he checks Rain.

"How are you feeling today?" He asks her.

"Much better." She says.

I smirk. (After all that great s*x we had, I'm sure she does.)

He checks her vitals and then steps back and sighs.

"I have news." He says with a concerned expression. "But first, did you drink at the celebration downstairs?"

"No, I didn't." She says looking worried.

He sighs but this time in relief. "Well good because you are pregnant"

"Wh... What?!" Rain says shocked.

(I knew it.)

"You are with child." The doctor says again.

She looks at me still shocked and I smile, well, more like a smirk.

"Why aren't you freaking out?" She asks a little panicky.

"Because I already suspected it." I say.

"What?! How?" She asks wide-eyed.

"We've been having s*x nonstop without any protection. So yea, I was pretty sure it was bound to happen." I say.

(I've been thinking about it for a while now.)

She goes red. "Oh... yea."

I chuckle.

The doctor clears his throat. "Well, that's why you haven't been feeling well. The first few months you might feel sick, have morning sickness, mood swings, smell sensitivity, and obviously, weight gain will start. When you feel sick just rest, don't push yourself."

"Oh, I'll make sure of that." I say.

Rain looks dazed, I don't think she is listening to the doctor at all.

"I will be on call if you need me." The doctor says and leaves.

I close the door behind him and walk over to Rain who is still spacing out.

"Are you ok?" I ask her as I sit next to her.

She looks at me and nods. "Yea, I just... can't believe it."

I smile and hug her. "You are going to be a great mom."

She smiles. "I... hope so. I'm scared Kayden."

I hug her tighter. "Love, I'll be with you every step of the way. I promise you."

She holds on to me and takes in my scent.

"I love you." She whispers.

"And I love you." I say kissing her head. "Now rest. I'm making sure you are healthy."

She smiles. "Fine, but I'm hungry."

We eat and after a while, we go to sleep. We both wake up early morning because we slept so much yesterday but Rain is not feeling good today.

“What are you feeling?” I ask her.

“My stomach feels queasy and that smell is killing me again.” She says.

“Ok, I’ll bring you breakfast and see if eating helps.” I say and she nods.

I go down to the kitchen and grab her some breakfast.

“Why are you so happy?” I hear Preston ask.

I didn’t notice that I was smiling like an idiot.

I sigh. “Nothing. Don’t worry about it.”

“Ok, ok... Alpha.” He says mockingly.

“Shut up.” I say as I head out.

I get to Rain and hand her the food. She eats a bit and manages to keep it in, which is good. She hasn’t thrown up at all yet which is also good.

“Love, I think we should go back home. I don’t think two more days here are going to be good for you and you’ll be more comfortable at home.” I say.

She thinks about it for a bit and then nods. “Yea, if that’s ok.”

I smile. “Of course. I’ll leave Preston to support Violet and Maxwell.”

She smiles. “Ok, let me pack.”

“No, rest and eat. I’ll do it.” I say starting to pick stuff up.

Once I have everything ready and she is finished eating, we head back to the packhouse. Throughout the drive, we have to stop the car many times because she doesn’t feel well. We get there in the afternoon and the moment the door opens she runs out of the car and throws up on the ground.

I walk over to her and caress her back holding her hair back.

“Kayden, I’m not even a month pregnant, is this how it’s going to be?”

I really don’t know what to say. “I’m so sorry love.”

“Mmmhh.” She moans.

I help her to the stairs where Avery walks down from. “What are you guys doing back?”

“Ah... Rain wasn’t feeling well.” I say.

“Oh, do you want me to call the pack doctor?” She asks.

“No, it’s fine. A doctor already saw her.”

We make it to the room and I help her lie on the bed.

“Babe, I know that you don’t feel good but, when do you want to announce it to the pack?” I ask.

She opens her eyes wide. “I... I don’t know. When would be a good time?”

“Well, tomorrow is the full moon. I can call a meeting before going for a run and we can announce it.” I say.

She nods. “Ok, I think that’s fine.”

Throughout the day, I fuss over her to the point where she starts to get annoyed. We receive news from Grant that Violet won the hunt. So we decide that we will celebrate tomorrow too.

The next day Rain feels a bit better.

“I have to go to the office to do some things today. What are you going to do?” I ask her.

I lift an eyebrow up. "Winchesters?"

She smiles again. "Supernatural. It's a show."

"Oh, alright." I kiss her and head to the office.

I get to the office and see Grant.

"So what is this big announcement you're going to make tonight?" Grant asks.

I think about it for a moment as I sit on my desk chair and decide to tell him.

I smile. "Rain's pregnant."

"What! Congratulations man!" He walks over to me and gives me a hug.

"Thanks. That's why we left early yesterday. She wasn't feeling well." I say.

He nods and smiles. "You're going to be a dad."

I chuckle. "I know. I'm sure it will hit me eventually. But honestly, I am over the moon right now."

"I'm happy for you man." He says patting my shoulder.

"Thanks."

Grant and I work on pack business but every hour I go check on Rain. Eventually, she bans me from the room and tells me to text her instead.

I sit in the office thinking of things. I am frustrated that we haven't found Abraham yet.

(Fucker knows how to cover his tracks. How can it be that they just left Heidi here like that?

Something doesn't add up.)

Then I start thinking about Rain.

(A dad. I'm going to be a dad.) I smile as I space out in my chair.

"Is it hitting you now?" Grant says.

I laugh. "Sort of."

"I know you'll do good." He says.

Night finally comes and we all start to gather outside. There's food and drinks, people enjoy it and congratulate Violet on her win.

I walk over to Rain who is talking with Avery and Levi. "It's time love."

She takes a deep breath. "Alright."

"Time for what?" Avery asks.

"You'll see." I say taking Rain with me.

I look at Grant and nod at him. "The Alpha has an announcement!" Grant shouts.

Everyone quiets down and stares at me.

I take a step forward. "We would like to announce tonight that your Luna is with Child."

Everyone claps and cheers.

Avery runs and hugs Rain and then Levi does the same.

"And you didn't tell me?" Preston says to me looking offended but then he smiles. "Smart, cause the whole pack would have known by midday."

I shake my head because I know it's true.

Then my father and mother walk over to me. "Son, congratulations. I am happy for you." My father says. They are allowed to come to these festivities because it's for the whole pack.

Throughout these weeks after the attack, he has been more supportive. He was very angry when he learned that it was Abraham that set up the attack on the pack. He didn't think that Abraham was capable

Chapter Thirty Five

“Oh! I can’t wait to have a little one running around here.” My mother says excitedly.

She’s also been trying to make amends with Rain but Rain hasn’t accepted her yet and I don’t blame her at all.

“I’m so happy for you both.” She says and hugs me.

My father pulls me to the side.

“Son, about Abraham. Make sure you watch his daughter. It’s too convenient that he’s avoided our hunters for this long.” He says in a hushed tone.

“Yea, I was thinking the same thing.” I say.

Rain comes up to us. “Hey, I’m a little tired. I’m gonna go rest.” She says and then looks at my father with a serious expression. “Felix.” She says in a harsh tone and then turns away walking into the house.

“I know she’ll never forgive me. But I am ashamed of what I did.” My father says.

I don’t say anything because he should feel ashamed.

He sighs. “Well, enjoy your peace now because when the little one is here, you won’t even sleep.”

I smile completely welcoming it.

Chapter Thirty Six

-Rain POV-

I lie in bed trying to rest but I can't without Kayden. He's still at the celebration downstairs. I am still in a bit of shock.

(I can't believe that I am pregnant... I mean yea we never used protection but I wasn't even thinking about it. I was just enjoying my time with Kayden. I completely forgot about it.)

I sigh. "It's strange. I already feel so overprotective of this child. And I don't even have a baby bump yet."

The door opens and Kayden walks in.

"Is the celebration done?" I ask.

"Yea, most of them when for a run." He says taking his shirt off.

He walks over to me and lies hugging me around the waist with his head on my stomach.

I giggle. "What are you doing?"

"Nothing, just hugging you both."

I smile. "What do you want? A he or a she?" I ask him.

He looks up at me and smiles. "I'll be happy with either... but, I would love a daughter to spoil."

I giggle. "Goddess! You already spoil me, I can't imagine the little monster you'd create if we have a daughter."

He laughs. "And you?"

"Anything would be great but, I hear boys love their moms more." I say smirking.

He chuckles. "Let's see who wins."

"Ok. We'll see"

In the weeks and months that follow, Kayden is the sweetest. He always makes sure that I have everything I need, that I am comfortable, and mostly, that I am happy. I love him.

Kayden comes out of the bathroom looking fresh from his shower. We just came back from the pack doctor.

"So now that we know that you won, what do you want as a reward." Kayden asks me.

"I want to buy baby stuff, now that we know that it's a boy." I say.

He smiles. "Ok, I'll take you tomorrow."

I smile happily.

"So, have you thought of the name that you want for our little man?" Kayden says rubbing my little belly. I am now around five months pregnant.

"I want Dean, from the supernatural show." I say starting to rub my belly too.

"Uh! Why Dean?" He asks.

"Dean is hot!" I say a little too enthusiastically.

"What?" He looks offended.

"Well, not as hot as you... but still hot." I mumble the last part and he gives a small annoyed growl that makes me laugh.

"Who is this Dean, I got to see this." He says turning the TV on.

in the middle of the ninth season, so he's a little lost but every time an episode ends, he starts the next one.

"What!? Who is this Crowley?" He asks.

"The demon, you haven't been paying attention. That's why you have to start at the very first episode!" I say annoyed.

"Say no more woman. Put it." He says handing me the control.

I giggle at his antics. He lies comfortably on the bed and I cuddle to him. We spend the rest of the day binge-watching the show.

Around seven in the afternoon Avery, Preston, and Grant knock on our door.

When Kayden opens the door, they rush in excited. "Boy or Girl?!" Avery asks.

Kayden laughs. "Boy."

"Ha! Told ya." Preston says to both Grant and Avery. "Pay up."

I laugh. (They are ridiculous.)

"Oh shut up." She says to Preston, she then turns around. "Ok bye, I have something to do." She says rushing out of the room.

"Hey!! Cheater!!" Preston shouts running after her.

Grant sighs. "Congrats you guys. A little Kayden running around the house, oh goddess."

We both laugh as he walks out.

"They are so ridiculous sometimes." Kayden says and I smile.

"Alright, where were we." He says pushing play on the TV control

I giggle. (I got him addicted to the show.)

We watch a few more episodes and then go to sleep. We wake up in the morning with someone knocking on our door.

Kayden gets up grumbling feeling annoyed. When he opens it, Avery stands there with a big smile.

I see Kayden squinting his eyes at her annoyed.

"What do you want?" Kayden asks.

"Can I borrow you two? I want to show you something." She says.

"Now?" He asks.

"Yea, right now. It's important." She says.

He sighs. "Fine, give us a few minutes."

I groan still feeling tired but we get ready and follow her.

"I know it's a little soon but I couldn't help it." She says walking down the stairs.

When we get downstairs, we see half of the pack there and then they yell.

"Surprise!!"

I hold Kayden feeling startled.

"As I said, I know it's early, but this is your baby shower." Avery says.

I smile. "Thanks."

(This is sweet of her.)

And it was great. We played games, ate cake and opened presents. We got a lot of diapers. Since it took most of the day, we decided to go shopping the next day. Preston, Avery, and Levi went with us.

"I'm kind of liking light green maybe." I say.

"What about that crib?" Avery asks running around the store.

I see Levi running after her and the poor guy has a bunch of stuff that Avery picked as 'auntie presents' but he doesn't look bothered by it at all.

(They've spent a lot of time together since... Layla. I miss her so much. She should be here right now. She would be so happy.)

"Are you ok love?" Kayden whispers in my ear sensing my sadness.

I smile. "Yea, just thinking of Layla."

He nods. "She would have been a great big sister to our little one."

I nod. "Yea." I hug him.

After shopping for a while, I start to get hungry. The guys take the stuff to the car and we go eat at the food court since I have a craving for fast food.

"Alright girls, we'll go get the food." The guys leave me and Avery.

"Ok good, listen. I have a predicament." Avery says.

"What?" I ask her feeling curious.

She sighs. "I think... I have feelings for Levi."

I gasp even though I shouldn't be that surprised.

"I don't know what to do. I want to tell him but I'm scared. What if he just sees me as a friend? I know how hard it is like losing a mate and I know it takes time to be able to cope with it."

I really don't know what to tell her. She's a beautiful girl but Levi is a guy that sees beyond that.

I look at her with concern and she sighs.

"It's too soon isn't it?" She asks.

"I really don't know Avery." I say and she nods understanding.

The guys come back to the table so we stop talking about it. I pay close attention to Levi and while we eat, Levi sneaks glances at Avery.

(I think he likes her too but I don't know how strong his feelings are yet.)

After we eat, we head home and put all the baby stuff in the room in front of ours where our baby's room will be at.

"Uh! My back hurts." I whine.

"Let me give you a massage." Kayden says walking into our room.

I narrow my eyes at him. "We both know what that will be leading to."

He smiles and wiggles his eyebrows.

I sit on the bed and he starts to massage my shoulders and then goes to my back. I then feel his breath on my neck and I know I was right.

He kisses my neck and starts to pull my shirt up caressing my waist.

"Mh baby." He whispers in my ear. "I want you."

I can't ever resist him, especially when he talks to me in my ear like that and he knows it. I turn around to him and kiss him. I feel him smiling.

We get up and take each other's clothes off, then he gently turns me around.

"Bend over for me baby." He says softly.

I do what he tells me and put my hands on the bed to help balance and support myself.

Chapter Thirty Six

He kisses my back and caresses my thighs. His hands travel to my entrance and he starts massaging until I am wet and wanting him badly.

He puts his member on my slit and eases himself in.

“Mh.” He moans.

He starts thrusting gently. I start moving my hips towards him and we both moan moving in unison. He starts to go faster and I know that I am already about to c*m. I have been very sensitive lately.

“Oh... Kayden!” I moan. He gives a few more deep thrusts and I c*m holding the sheets in a tight fist.

He chuckles. “That was fast.”

He keeps thrusting because he hasn't finished yet. A few more minutes in, he starts to moan and breath harder, and then I feel him cum in inside.

He lumps over me but doesn't put his weight on me.

“I love you, baby.” He says.

“And I love you.”

Chapter Thirty Seven

-Rain POV-

We left early morning to goddess knows where. Kayden says he wants to take me somewhere. It's a surprise but I am not feeling up to it. I only have now one more week to be full-term and most of the time I am in a bad mood, tired, hungry, or all of the above. I have to constantly pee and my feet get swollen easily. I feel like a cow and wobble like a penguin when I walk. I want this kid out already. I even got my hair cut to my shoulders, like a long wavy bob, just because I got angry at it for getting in the way. And we both finally agreed on the name Holden for the baby. It took us eight months to agree on it. I think we both just got tired of trying to choose something that would fit.

Right now, I am trying to sleep in the car but having a hard time because the seat belt bothers me, it digs into my stomach.

"How much longer Kayden?" I ask.

"Just one more hour." He says.

(That is a horror to my ears.)

"Will there be food?" I ask.

He chuckles. "Yes, plenty of it."

"Oh, carp! Stop the car." I say feeling a sharp pain in my bladder. "I have to pee!"

"Little Holden kicked your bladder again?" Kayden asks as he stops the car.

The good thing is that the road we are taking is in a wooden area.

"Yea." I say opening the door and running into the woods. I hear him laughing the whole time.

(I should have worn a grownup diaper.)

The urge to pee is great but all that comes out are a few drops. I sigh.

I head back and we continue on our way.

"I am so tired of being pregnant Kayden." I say feeling exhausted.

"I know baby, just a week or two. Hang in there." He says holding my hand.

(He's been so good and supportive. Even when I act out or am mean to him, which by the way only started because of the pregnancy, even then he is still a sweetheart.)

After almost an hour, we make it to what looks like a resort near a beach.

"Where are we?" I ask him.

He smiles. "You needed a pampering vacation and that's what we are here for."

I look at him surprised and smile. "Thank you." I hug him and kiss him. "You are too good to me."

"No, you are getting everything that you deserve love." He gets out and opens the door for me helping me out.

We go to the reception desk to check-in. I look around and it looks like people come here for vacation. Unlike the hotel we own where people look like they are there more for business.

"Mr. and Mrs. Byron, your suite is ready. We'll take your bags for you." The receptionist says.

We start to walk to our room and like always, I see women giving flirty eyes to Kayden but now I am even angrier because I don't feel attractive at all.

(Lately, stupid thoughts have popped into my head. Like does he still find me attractive? I've even asked myself "does he still love me?" But I know I'm an it because I know he does.)

We make it to our suite and like always, it's impressive.

"I asked for the best view they had." Kayden says and he's not joking. We have a perfect view to the ocean.

I go to the balcony taking in how beautiful everything is. I close my eyes and feel the sun and breeze on my skin.

"This is perfect Kayden." I say softly.

"I'm glad you like it. We'll be here for two days."

I feel happy.

"Now, get ready for dinner. Dress comfortably, it's in the ocean." He says.

I look at him confused but he just smiles. (Probably a restaurant near the beach.)

I put on a long white maxi dress that is flowy and comfortable with criss-cross sandals and my hair down.

We leave the hotel and Kayden holds my hand as he leads me to what looks like a dock.

"Wait... where are we going?" I ask him as I look at all the luxurious boats.

"In one of those." He says pointing to the boats.

I narrow my eyes at him. "And what if I get nauseous?" I ask pointing at my belly to a very rebel baby.

He looks like a deer caught in the headlights. "Oops, I forgot."

I start laughing. "Let's try it. Maybe he'll give me a break."

"You sure?" He asks.

"Yea."

We get on a beautiful fancy boat and the captain starts to drive it all the way to where we can only see the hotel almost like a spec and then he stops.

"How are you feeling?" Kayden asks.

I smile. "I feel good."

"Good."

I look around. "So... what exactly are we eating?"

"Food." The smart ass says as a man comes from under the boat.

Kayden laughs looking at my face that says I want to punch you.

"This is Emilio Romano, he'll be our chef tonight." He says. The man greets us and pours non-alcoholic drinks for us.

I look at Kayden. (He spoils me too much.)

When it starts to get dark, they turn on the lights on the boat and it looks so romantic. The chef brings the food out and we start to eat.

"So what do you want to do tomorrow?" He asks. "They have a spa, there's the beach, there's the pool area, they have a casino on the other side of the resort, we can also spend it on a yacht if that's what you want."

I smile. "Anywhere that I'm with you will be perfect. How about you surprise me."

"Ok." He says smiling.

(He looks so handsome with those tight white button-up shirts he always wears.) Unfortunately, now I get so fatigued, that s*x is out of the question right now. So I put those thoughts out of my head.

The next day I am not feeling well again.

“Uh, I just want to stay here.” I say putting the pillow over my head.

“Ok, let's go to the spa, that will make you feel better.” Kayden says.

We get ready and head over to the spa area.

“No messages from strangers, right?” I ask.

“Of course not, I know you don't want anyone else touching you. They have hot tubs.” He says.

“Yes! That's what I need.” I say enthusiastically.

Unlike a pregnant human woman, I can get in a hot tub since I am not human. And I am so grateful that I am not human right now because I really need this.

He laughs.

When we get there, I melt right in the water.

“This is perfect.” I lean myself back on Kayden's chest. He holds me with his hands around my waist touching my belly and nuzzling to my neck. The water is perfect, not too hot and not too cold, just perfect.

“Holden has a good punch already.” He says feeling the baby kick.

“Yea, I don't find it that amusing.” I say and he laughs.

“So, has Avery said anything to Levi yet?”

He asks. I told him about Avery having feelings for Levi but I really didn't have to because he had noticed already.

“No, but I feel like Levi likes her too. They spend so much time together, I really hope it works out. I want them to be happy.”

“Yea, I think they would be great together.” Kayden says and I nod agreeing.

I end up falling asleep in his arms. Feels like heaven.

After that, we go to the beach for a walk just the two of us. Being with him is perfect. We complete each other. I have never been happier in my entire life.

I look up at him. “Kayden?”

“Let me guess, you're hungry.” He says.

I smile. “Yea. But also, I love you.”

He smiles and kisses me.

“Kayden?”

“I know, I know. Food is everything.” He says rolling his eyes.

“Stop, listen.” I say annoyed.

He laughs. “Ok.”

“After we have the baby... I am going on birth control.” I say with a warning finger.

He laughs. “Ok.”

“I'm serious. You're not getting any until I'm sperm-proof.” I say and he doubles over laughing uncontrollably.

When he finishes laughing, he wipes tears from his eyes.

“Sperm-proof. That's new.” He says.

“You know what I mean.” I say pouting.

After the beach, Kayden takes me to a very lively restaurant. There is music and people are

Chapter Thirty Seven

I don't dance because I can barely stand up straight as it is. But Kayden still tried to pull me to the dancefloor.

"Can you really dance?" I ask him.

"Yep." He says smiling.

"I have to see this. When I'm not pregnant, we have to go somewhere." I say.

"Deal." He says.

(I am still learning new things about him.)

We eat and then head back to the room. We fall asleep and the next day before we leave, we go shopping for a bit. Like always, he gets me everything I like. Last month, he even almost bought me a house because when we passed by it, I said I loved it. He tends to be a little bit too much at times but he's wonderful.

Throughout the ride back home, I feel a little out of breath and I don't know why.

"What's wrong?" Kayden asks.

"Nothing, tired I guess." I say.

"We're almost home." He says.

When finally, we make it home, Kayden helps me into the house. I feel too tired so Kayden picks me up. But then I tell him to put me down feeling panicked.

"What is it?" He says looking panicked as well.

"I think my water just broke." I say holding my crotch and then feel the wetness come through my pants.

Kayden's face goes pale for the first time ever. And if it weren't for the fact that I was panicking too, I would laugh at him.
