The More the Merrier Chapter 223

 "I'm fine with either choice. How about you?" Gavin looked at his younger siblings.

In fact, he liked being with them very much, but he would not mind if they wanted to have their own room.

 "We've always slept together," answered Zachary.

In an instant, Oliver and Jasper nodded in agreement.

"We've never been separated."

"I like to sleep with Gavin!" Jesse hugged Gavin's arm and looked at him with a smile.

Gavin blushed and grinned affectionately. "I like to be with Jesse too!"

Looking at the five children, Benjamin decided, "Okay, then the four of you will stay with Gavin for now."

The room for the four younger children was still under renovation, so it would be more convenient if they stayed with Gavin.

"Okay." Zachary nodded, and the other three kids also agreed.

"Let me show you around," suggested Benjamin.

Unfortunately, the children rejected his offer.

"We want to wait for Mommy!" they answered in unison.

Benjamin hummed in acknowledgment and entered the room.

The moment Arissa came out of the bathroom, she met the man's eyes.

She immediately avoided eye contact with him. At that instant, the scene in her dream flashed across her mind, causing her cheek to flush.

Seeing that, Benjamin raised his eyebrows, and his gaze darkened.

She's so attractive when she's shy. Even without makeup, her face is as pink as a peach blossom.

"Why are you blushing?"

He stared at her with searing eyes.

Her heart skipped a beat, and she smiled awkwardly.

"Am I? Maybe the water I used to wash my face was too hot."

After that, she walked away guiltily to get her clothes and got dressed in the bathroom.

When she came out after a while, Benjamin was no longer in her room.

"Sweethearts, I'm done. Let's go down for breakfast."

Immediately, five little kids ran over to her from the balcony.

"Mommy!"

Arissa gave them a hug and kissed each of their faces before bringing them downstairs.

All six of them were in a good mood.

"Mommy, did you sleep well last night?" Gavin raised his head and asked.

Pinching his nose dotingly, Arissa replied, "Yes."

"Mommy, you didn't wake us up last night. All of us didn't take a shower before sleeping!"

Zachary snorted. Luckily, he was a sound sleeper. Otherwise, he would not have been able to fall asleep.

"I did, but all of you were soundly asleep like piglets," she teased them.

"Mommy definitely didn't try to wake us up," Oliver exposed her.

"Mommy likes to fool us!" Jasper beamed.

"Little brat, you kicked your daddy last night when he tried to take off your pants."

Did he? Jasper mused.

"Mommy, what about me? Did Daddy take off my pants too?" Jesse was surprised, and her little face turned red.

"Yours was taken off by me." Arissa pinched her daughter's face.

In response, Jesse grinned happily. Fortunately. Otherwise, I would be shy.

"Mommy, did Benjamin square things up with you last night?" Zachary was worried about that.

Arissa rubbed her nose and answered, "Yes. I've already talked it out with him. All is well now."

"Mommy, what did you talk about?" Gavin frowned.

Seeing that Gavin still had a prejudice against Benjamin, she squatted down and held his shoulders.

"I told him that if he puts Danna in jail, we'll live here, and he agreed."

Gavin fixed his eyes on her. "Did he really agree with it? Without any conditions?"

As expected of her son who had grown up by Benjamin's side, he knew the latter quite well.

Flashing him a smile, she responded, "No."

How could I tell the kids Benjamin's condition? It's too embarrassing!

"Sweetheart, since he promised me, it means that he doesn't care much about Danna. He still loves you a lot."

Nevertheless, Gavin only snorted and pouted.

Arissa caressed his head.
