

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence

Chapter 1037

Foster family.

At 3:00a.m.

Elliot came out of the bathroom after taking a shower.

He was busy with work today, so he didn't go to Avery.

He drank some wine in the evening, and his head was a little dizzy, but he didn't feel sleepy.

He has decided to propose to Avery during the May Day holiday, but so far he has not even chosen the venue.

He doesn't know much about romance, and Avery doesn't expect too much from him, so he missed it.

He turned on his phone, clicked on the gallery, found the album 'I', clicked on it.

were some buildings he designed.

He wanted to choose the place of the proposal in the building he designed, which would be more romantic.

The next day.

A real estate sales department.

Nathan and his eldest son, Zion came to see the house.

They moved out of their previous rental last night and are currently staying in a hotel.

But staying in a hotel is not a long-term solution, and Elliot only gave 10 million, they will never be satisfied with this amount of money.

Obviously the battle with Elliot was a long one, so after the father and son discussed it, they decided to buy a house to live in first.

After looking at them, the sales lady enthusiastically recommended the apartment type to them.

"A large apartment, right? We just have a large apartment of 154 square meters here. This apartment is transparent from north to south, has excellent lighting, and the floors are neither high nor low. It is on the 12th floor."

"This is the last large apartment in our place. It's over. There were guests who came to see it yesterday. Would you like to go and have a look?" The sales lady said.

"Then go have a look!" Nathan wanted to solve the housing problem quickly.

The sales lady showed them the house and returned to the sales department. Another male salesperson strode over.

"Miss, did you take them to see the 154 set? The guest I took to see the house yesterday is going to decide."

The sales lady looked regretful: "But my guests are also very satisfied with that set!"

"I'll show it first, and I'll definitely leave it to my guests." The male salesperson said confidently.

The sales lady walked up to the father and son of the White family and said apologetically, "Mr. White, I'm sorry, that house was favored by yesterday's guests, and they plan to come over and place a deposit."

Nathan frowned coldly: " Didn't they make a deposit yet? I want that house! I'll pay now! I'll pay in full!"

Facing Nathan's arrogance, the two salesmen were very embarrassed.

Just then, the guest who came to see the room yesterday came.

"Hey! Mr. Foster, you came just in time. The house you were interested in yesterday was seen by a client today. He said he wanted to buy the full amount... Can you pay the full amount here? If you can pay in full, then the house will be sold to you." The male salesperson walked up to Cole and asked excitedly.

Cole's eyes turned to Nathan.

Nathan showed a wicked smile: "Mr. Foster? Are you Cole, the prodigal son of the Foster family?"

Cole frowned: "Who are you? Why do you dare to talk to me like this?"

Nathan looked disdainful: "Of course I dare to talk to you like this! Even if your father comes over, I dare to talk like this! Go back and tell your father that I am your Foster. I used to be a driver in the family, but now, I have more money than you! This house, I have to decide!"

Cole saw him being so arrogant, and said angrily: "You are only a driver, how dare you be so mad in front of me?"

"Because you're so arrogant!" Nathan raised his chin and looked at him with his nostrils. "When my son stomps his feet, the whole Aryadelle will tremble three times!"

Cole mocked. "Who is your son? There must be a limit to bragging! In Aryadelle, only my uncle stomps his feet, which can make Aryadelle shake three times! Your son is not worthy to lift his shoes in front of my uncle!"
