

His Secret Lover Returning from the Dead chapter 1732

She Hugs Him And Cries

At this moment in time, Vivian's whereabouts were unknown.

After she went through the small door, she had been walking forward relying on the light of her mobile phone. She walked for half an hour without reaching the end. However, the power of her mobile phone was almost empty.

"I should stop using the torchlight, or else the power would be used up and Daddy or Kurt wouldn't be able to contact me."

She thought that her sight had already adapted to the secret passage anyway, so she turned off the flashlight, and continued to move forward.

Fortunately, this time, after about twenty minutes, she seemed to see some light in front of her, and that little light, in this closed secret passage where she could not see her own fingers stretched out in front of her, was like a life-saver. She ran forward joyfully.

Sure enough, when she reached the spot, the light became bigger and brighter.

When she finally got to it, she saw that it came through another small door at the end of the tunnel.

Am I outside yet?

When she saw where she was, she nearly stamped her foot in disappointment.

She had thought that she was already outside Exerine Palace.

It slipped her mind that she had been walking in this secret passage for an entire hour and that the time to get to the gate of the Exerine Palace was much shorter?

Vivian pushed open the door.

Hiss...

As soon as the door was opened, only a creepy hissing sound of some kind of creature was heard. Vivian stood there, stunned to see a huge pit in front of her.

The pit was packed with poisonous snakes!

Hiss...

The snakes hissed again.

Ah... ah...! Vivian paralyzed on the spot.

She had never seen so many snakes before, and she was so distraught watching this terrifying scene that her knees buckled and she slipped to the ground with her head covered in her arms.

This is horrifying. How can there be so many snakes in one place?

She sat there, went limp with fear, and was unable to get up on her feet.

Unfortunately, at this moment, the poisonous snakes in the pit discovered her presence, and soon, after another terrifying round of hissing inside, they started to climb out.

Vivian was too scared to make a sound.

She was shaking violently, desperately trying to escape, and trying to close the door again.

However, not only her feet refused to move, but her body too. Fear overwhelmed her whole body that it would not obey the signals from her brain to move at all.

Vivian was desperate.

At the critical moment, in the secret passage behind her, a “boom” was heard, and a blood arrow with its dazzling red light flew through the air.

In just a moment!

The poisonous snakes that were climbing up seemed to have seen something very frightening, and they shrunk back into the pit obediently.

Vivian was so terrified that her tears fell like rain, and she was dumbfounded by this scene. Her head buzzed.

Blood Arrow?

Boom!

After the Blood Arrow, a bullet flew through the tunnel.

It shattered a torch that was hanging on the wall in the secret room. It seemed to be made of an unknown material. After a burst of sparks, the torch was not extinguished.

Instead, it fell off, and in a blink of an eye, it was in the snake pit.

Hiss...

Immediately, these poisonous snakes started twisting crazily inside for a while. Then, a more terrifying scene happened. The snakes wrapped themselves around each other, opened their bloody mouths and hissed maniacally at each other...

Finally, Vivian could take it no more. Her head tilted and she sank limply towards the floor.

However, a vigorous figure swept into the cave and caught hold of her.

Vivian was silent.

She felt as if she was in a dream.

When Vivian was young, her friend Sunny once asked her why she always relied on that guy who was younger than her and why she liked to look for him whenever she had a need.

At that time, Vivian had no explanation.

Now, as she was held in his arms again, she finally understood. It turned out that it was a sense of security.

This young man, although he was two years younger than her, had an aura about him that made her feel at ease, even though he always appeared cold and distant.

As long as he was around, Vivian would feel safe and that everything would be all right.

She opened her frightened eyes, and on seeing him clearly, a huge burden rolled off her chest finally...

"Boohoo..."

She hugged his neck tightly and wailed aloud.

This was her usual behavior with him. Whenever she was wrongfully treated, bullied, or angry, she would cry on his shoulder.

She had never needed to put on a false front in his presence. She was totally free to be herself like with a soulmate.

However, Kurt froze!

He had wanted to continue killing the snakes but after she hugged him, something seemed to come back to his mind and he stopped moving.

Something churned in his bloodshot eyes.

It was a familiar feeling.

Even though her crying had messed up her appearance, she still looked delicate and soft, with a sweet fragrance like nectar.

However, he experienced the ecstasy that was more pleasurable than killing.

His Secret Lover Returning from the Dead chapter 1733

His Mind Goes Blank

How did things turn out this way?

He gulped and slowly put the gun down.

“Get down!”

“No! I don’t want to! What took you so long? Take a look at this scary place. There are snakes everywhere. Aren’t you worried about me? What happens if they bite me, and I die? Boohoo...”

She burst into tears once again.

This time around, she got so upset that she grabbed his collar and used it to wipe her face.

Kurt was at a loss for words.

Finally, her intense emotions hit him hard, and he quivered.

The ferocious murderous intent in his eyes began to calm down a little.

Vivian said, “You didn’t use to be like this. In the past, you would get very worried even if I got a minor cut from peeling fruits. Now that I have been bitten by snakes, you still chase me away.”

“What did you say? You got bitten?”

Her cries were being abruptly interrupted.

Kurt hugged her, and he did not even realize that his expression had changed. Instead, he looked at her legs.

Vivian was dumbfounded.

This chapter is provided . Visit for daily update.

In truth, she had no idea if she was really bitten by the snakes.

However, the moment she could sense his concern for her, she raised up her legs immediately.

Anyway, there were several cuts and scrapes on her legs. Even if they were not snake bites, he would still be heartbroken if he really cared about her.

Unfortunately, she did not expect to see Kurt's expression change when he laid eyes on her right leg. In an instant, a shocked look appeared in his eyes.

Vivian was wondering what was going on.

She turned to look in the same direction.

True enough, there were two bite marks.

A few minutes later, Vivian stopped making a fuss and watched in silence as Kurt put her down to attend to her bite marks. He took out a knife and cut open the bite wounds.

Psshh!

Rightfully, it must be very painful when the knife sliced the flesh open.

However, it was only then Vivian realized that she did not feel any sensation.

Afterward, she saw Kurt extracting the thick, black blood out of her wound. Toward the end, he even bent down and sucked out the remnants.

"No!"

Finally, there were some reactions from her, and she reached out to stop him.

Kurt looked up at her.

At that moment, Vivian was behaving differently from her usual self. There was no crying or even a tiny hint of fear. Instead, she just kept her eyes on him.

“The venom will get into you too. Don’t do that. Just get me out of here.”

All of a sudden, his mind went blank.

The various emotions surfaced and hit him like a tsunami. He realized that his hands were trembling slightly.

“I won’t let you die!”

His mouth quivered.

After saying that, he continued with the extraction of the venom.

Vivian was speechless.

In the end, Vivian still failed to stop him.

However, when he carried her out of there, Vivian could feel that she was losing her consciousness.

“Vivi...”

Someone seemed to be calling her.

Therefore, she leaned on him and struggled to open her blurry eyes. “Yes...?”

“Don’t fall asleep. We will get out of here very soon. Your brothers are all waiting for you outside, and your daddy is here too. Hold on. Get it?”

The man, who was carrying her, kept talking to her so that she would not fall into unconsciousness.

In his speech, he mentioned a lot of people like her brothers and her daddy...

That was a sign of his revival.

However, before she could see her brothers and her daddy, she passed out as Kurt was carrying her out of the place.

“Vivi!”

In that instant, Kurt, who was running like a crazy man, paused as if he had been stabbed by something. Fear engulfed him.

Now, he remembered. Back then, she was stabbed in the chest by that woman right in front of his eyes.

She was smiling brightly at him.

However, the chain resembled the snake who took the life out of her. There was nothing he could do but watch as she drifted away.

“No, this is all my fault. I shouldn’t have forgotten about you. I made you wait for me, but I can’t even remember you. This is all my fault. Vivi, I’m so sorry. Please forgive me?”

Gradually, he released his grip on her.

Finally, the girl with the purplish lips was lying quietly in his arms. She was no longer clinging on to him or pestering him anymore.

She was finally the obedient girl that he wanted.

Kneeling on the ground, Kurt held her tightly in his arms. The pain in his heart had reached such a climax that it felt like it was being torn apart.

Why?

By the time Matteo and Ian got there, that was what they saw.

Their sister was no longer in pain and lying quietly in the arms of her beloved Kurt. Despair permeated the air so much that it made one feel like destroying the whole world.

His Secret Lover Returning from the Dead chapter 1734

Under The Sun

That was exactly what Matteo did.

He rushed in and blew up the entire underground space that Daphne had built back then.

After that, he followed the secret passage until he arrived at the royal residence and caught both Elizabeth and Colton by surprise.

That was the final truth. It was also the best move in Eddie’s entire plan!

Colton was the only male heir of Jared Jadesons at the Ataraxy.

He was already discovered in the same year when Isaac died. However, he was not Jared's biological son.

After Janice passed away, the truth of Isaac's identity came to light. He turned out to be the son of Alfred and Felicity. Eddie pulled a switcheroo, and that was how Isaac ended up in the Sheerwood family.

When Isaac was born, Alfred was thrilled to have a son, but he was also afraid that the Heard family might find out. Therefore, during Felicity's confinement period, he took the child away and gave his son to Jared's wife who had also just given birth.

Unfortunately, shortly after he sent his son there, Eddie switched the boy and took to the Sheerwood family.

Thereafter, Eddie sent his own son to the Jadesons. Sadly, Jared's real son had been killed by Eddie a long time ago.

So, he turned out to be the heir of that b*stard!

Seeing the true color of that person, Matteo started trembling in anger. If his daddy did not need him for questioning, Matteo would have beaten him to a pulp right there and then.

"You are the son of that old b*stard, Eddie? The Jadesons have taken care of you for so many years, and you turned out to be such a vicious person!" Matteo yelled.

Colton stood up and smiled softly at him as usual. "Matteo, there are many things in life that are out of our control."

This chapter is provided . Visit for daily update.

"What are you talking about?"

"Nothing. I just want to let you know that I have been very happy during the past few decades that I have spent with the Jadesons. Back then, I wasn't interested in fighting for anything. I would rather lead a normal and honest life with my wife and children. I wanted to live like a normal person."

Matteo was speechless.

He was filled with so much anger.

At the same time, he recalled the scene at Oceanic Estate. Every time when Colton saw them, he would give them sweets.

Back then, Colton was the youngest in the second generation of the Jadesons, and he was not much older than Sebastian.

As for his two children, their ages were close to that of Matteo and his siblings.

That was why he liked them very much.

At the thought of that, Matteo was not as enraged as before.

When Colton saw that, he took out a bottle.

“Take this and save your sister. It’s the antidote for the snake venom. Don’t worry. I will be here.”

Matteo clenched his fists so hard that they made a cracking sound.

In the end, he still took the antidote over and rushed back to Vivian.

Half an hour later after taking the antidote, Vivian did not look as pale as before. When Kurt saw that, he perked up too.

“Vivi?” he called out softly.

There was no movement from her, but her breathing had stabilized.

When everyone saw that, they heaved sighs of relief. Just as Matteo and Ian were about to go to the basement of the king, one of the SteelFort’s members wriggled his way out of the secret passageway.

“Bad news! Mr. Matteo, Colton has been killed by Elizabeth!”

“What did you say?”

Matteo’s expression changed drastically.

“I thought all of you were guarding him? How did he get killed by that woman?”

“Mr. Matteo, there’s a trap in the secret room. Elizabeth activated it when she wanted to take him and escape. But, Colton refused. By the time we dodged the trap, she has already killed him.”

There was blood on the face of that member and also a wound that was at least ten centimeters long on his shoulder.

What an evil b*tch!

Both Ian and Matteo finally understood and rushed into the secret passageway immediately.

After they left, they did not realize that Kurt, who had calmed down considerably, opened his eyes in shock when he heard the news.

His murderous intent appeared once again!

Ten minutes later when Matteo and his brother arrived at the secret room, they saw Colton lying on the ground with a very sharp needle right in his heart.

“I’ll go after her!”

Matteo was so mad that his eyes had turned bloodshot. He was about to take his men and rushed into the secret passageway.

Just then, Colton, who had yet to die, called out to him weakly.

“Matteo, you go... to the Cinnabar Harbor. She... she will escape from there...”

“Ian, give this to your daddy. These are what’s left of the Limmer family including those students at the training base. Ian, I know Duncan’s death has upset you very much. But, please don’t blame yourself. I’m the one who did it. It has nothing to do with you. Understand?”

Before he passed on, he did not forget to resolve the enormous load of guilt in Ian.

Ian stood there rooted for a long time. He loomed over Colton for ages and said nothing.

Suddenly, Colton took out a family photo with trembling hands. As his eyes fell on the two children who were standing at the entrance of a famous institute, a smile finally appeared on his face.

Moments later, his hands gradually lowered to the ground.

Nobody liked the darkness, especially those who had always been living under the bright sunshine.

His Secret Lover Returning from the Dead chapter 1735

You Are Really Kinky

When Matteo finally arrived at Cinnabar Harbor with his men, he realized that someone was already there ahead of him.

At that moment, that person held a thin yet sharp weapon of blood-red color in his hand, slaying everyone ruthlessly.

Spurt!

A jet of crimson blood spurted out.

At once, another person fell prey to the man's sharp weapon and collapsed to the ground.

That scene was exactly the same as when he charged toward everyone at Elysium's altar back then.

Upon seeing that, Elizabeth, who was retreating toward the port under the protection of her other men, immediately pointed at Kurt and shrieked, "Kill him! Finish him off!"

In other words, she ordered the men around her to lift their guns and kill Kurt right away.

Consequently, Matteo saw a man beside her whipping out a submachine gun he had never seen before.

Oh yes, wasn't that old coot, Eddie, fond of doing research on such things before he died?

His eyes promptly went cold. Raising the sniper rifle in his hand, he likewise pulled the trigger.

Bang!

With a single shot, that man instantly dropped dead.

At that, Elizabeth's face abruptly drained of all color.

This chapter is provided . Visit for daily update.

She immediately swung her gaze in the direction of the gunshot. Unfortunately, all that entered her line of vision was the sight of another bullet whizzing toward her.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

Gunshots rang out successively, making it unquestionable that the shooter must be mowing everyone down like a gust of wind blowing fallen leaves away.

In no time, everyone at the harbor met their end at Matteo's rifle, leaving the old lady the sole survivor.

That included the situation on Kurt's side. After he had also eliminated the last person, he put away the Blood Arrow in his hand gracefully. Following that, the battle drew to an end for real. That old hag was the only person who remained.

When Sebastian arrived, the three teenagers had already crippled Elizabeth's hands and had her kneel there while waiting for their father.

"It's turned out that you were the culprit, Elizabeth Heard!"

"Yup, it was me indeed! Did you not miscalculate as well, Yariel? It never crossed your mind that I was the person behind everything, huh?"

Surprisingly, Elizabeth felt superior when she saw the man who ruined the White family back then and destroyed her lover, Eddie, in a single fell swoop.

She thought that she was the last person standing, far better than Alfred and Eddie.

But no sooner had her words fallen than the man standing before her drawled with his eyes pinned on her, "Indeed, it never crossed my mind. However, it wasn't for any other reason than the fact that I never expected the Heard family to be so kinky."

"What did you just say? Who's kinky?"

The instant Elizabeth heard that, she instantly flew into a rage as though she had been stung.

"Is that not the truth? Eddie suffered from dwarfism. Although he later had prosthetics legs, it was still relatively difficult if a woman wanted to have children with him."

"How dare you?"

It was as though Elizabeth had been smacked hard across the face out of the blue, for her entire face turned bright red.

Meanwhile, the three teenagers across from them were at a loss upon hearing that. What's Daddy talking about here? Why don't we understand a single word?

Clearly, they were all good and innocent children.

Needless to say, Sebastian wouldn't put things so bluntly either.

According to the diary Eddie left, he was an exceedingly depraved man. He had a physical defect, yet he craved women. Therefore, one could only imagine how wretched he was.

However, the Heard family arranged for their daughter to serve him at that time.

No one knew what happened then, but judging from the current situation, Elizabeth even wanted to make a comeback for him.

Hence, her experience then must have been pretty great, more so than that with her legal husband, Alfred.

All that was sufficient to prove his point.

“Fine. Since you want to put it in such a manner, I admit that I indeed made a mistake this time. But it never occurred to you either that you’d die at the hands of your own son in the end, no?” said Sebastian.

“He was nothing more than a piece of trash!”

Elizabeth was so resentful that her expression contorted in fury, and she gritted her teeth hard. She was Colton’s mother, but at the mention of the man right then, she seemingly detested him so much that she wished he would never be reincarnated even after his death.

When Ian heard that, he grew so livid that he stepped forward and slapped her.

“You’re the piece of trash! Can you compare with him? Do you think you can still make something of yourself after Eddie’s death by leading those small fries? Let me tell you that anyone with half a brain should do as he did. Surviving takes precedence over everything else!”

He enunciated every single word as he tore into her. He had always been indifferent, but for the first time ever, he blew up in front of that despicable woman.

He was incandescent for no other reason than the final remark Colton said to him.

The man asserted that Duncan’s death had nothing to do with Ian. Instead, it was all his doing.

One might wonder whether Colton was dumb to the core, but that wasn’t true.

He was actually incredibly smart.

No one knew when he became aware of his background, but whether he knew or otherwise, he had always lived in obscurity at The Ataraxy.

Even someone as shrewd as Sebastian didn't notice anything amiss with him.

It was because he knew that when one wanted to continue living despite the lethal dangers around oneself, the only thing one could do was to play safe and protect himself.
