

Winner Takes All

Chapter 7

Chapter 7

“What are you laughing at?”

Old Li’s brow furrowed as he arrogantly said, “You were supposed to follow up on this matter, I did you a favour, and when something goes wrong, do you still want me to help you fight the pot?”

In his words, it was clear that he had turned black and white upside down.

Chen Dong shrugged his shoulders, his anger raging, and sneered, “Sorry, I won’t take the pot this time.”

What?!

Old Li was instantly shocked, this guy was crazy?

In the past, when this kind of operation was going on, he had always balked at it!

Seeing Chen Dong’s resolute attitude, Old Li was a bit panicked, the project contract this time was 30 million dollars higher than expected, such a sky-high price, to complete the shantytown renovation, not to mention making money, blood loss until the company went bankrupt was the nail in the coffin.

His brother-in-law was coming to inspect the company this afternoon, and if he was found out, it would be enough to kick him out of the company in a thunderous rage.

All these years he had long been used to staying in the general manager’s position to muddle through. If he didn’t find a scapegoat to take the blame in advance, where was he going to find a general manager’s job in the future that did nothing and could still submarine?

Obviously, Chen Dong, who is the vice president, is the best candidate to take the blame.

Over the past few years, the fact that Chen Dong had to take the blame and claim the credit himself had also made Old Li form an inertial mindset.

And now, Chen Dong’s reaction had caught him off guard.

“Chen Dong, what’s your attitude? Do you still want to fucking do your job?”

Old Li was furious and stood up with a start, pointing at Chen Dong's nose and scolding him, "I have taken good care of you over the years, and you can only sit in your current position because I spoke well for you in front of my brother-in-law, otherwise your ability would only be that of a small project manager now!"

"You have to be conscientious and know how to repay your kindness, but you are now a wolf in my eyes?"

Chen Dong said coldly, "Are you speaking for yourself? All these years, you only cared about sucking up to your brother-in-law and claiming credit and reward, but whenever something went wrong, wasn't it me who helped you clean up afterwards? If you want to repay me for my kindness, then you should repay me for my kindness!"

Bang!

Old Li slapped his palm on the table and said in a stern voice, "You have to take the blame for this today, or not! If you lose your job as deputy manager, will you be able to hang on to her life?"

Chen Dong's brow was furrowed and his anger was raging.

If it were in the past, Old Li's words could indeed be like a sharp knife, poking him in the heart.

He would indeed hold his tongue and take the blame for his mother's treatment.

But, this was a time and a place.

Seeing Chen Dong's silence, Old Li thought that Chen Dong was weak-minded and was instantly pleased.

He changed his face, as if he was a big brother, and said in a serious manner: "Chen Dong, I know you have filial piety, I won't let you take this pot for nothing. If you want, I will give you 100,000, this money is enough to hang your mother in the hospital for a while."

Grace and power go hand in hand, Old Li knew how to do this.

As long as Chen Dong wanted to save his mother, he would eat Chen Dong up.

He had already secretly investigated Chen Dong's situation, otherwise he would not have eaten Chen Dong again and again in the past two years.

"You come over here."

Chen Dong narrowed his eyes and smiled, "I should thank you for helping me so much."

Old Li's heart settled and he smiled contentedly.

One hundred thousand yuan, I still don't believe you won't give in?

He didn't think too much about it, and walked up to Chen Dong in peace, raising his hand and patting Chen Dong's shoulder, "We're all brothers, and I'm a brother, so what's to thank you for, as long as you ....."

Bang!

Before he could finish, Chen Dong directly smashed his fist on Old Li's face plate.

He staggered backwards, covering his face, and blood seeped from his nose through his fingers.

He hissed in panic, "Chen Dong, are you fucking crazy?"

"I'm fucking crazy! You can play with me, but if you curse my mother to death, then don't blame me for playing with you!"

Chen Dong's face was full of hostility as he rushed up and kicked Old Li over again, saying angrily, "I thank your whole family!"

"Paralyzed, you crazy dog, you don't want to work anymore, get lost!"

Old Li shouted loudly, but he had long been immersed in alcohol and sex, and had long been emptied of his body, so he didn't dare to fight Chen Dong: "You're fired! Get the hell out of here right now! I'll curse your mother to death, you crazy dog, without this job, go to the hospital and wait for death with your mother!"

Bang Bang Bang .....

Chen Dong stepped forward and raised his foot and kicked Old Li's body hard.

For three years after graduation, he had worked his ass off, even going so far as to take the blame for Old Li time and time again, just to earn money to treat his mother and let her enjoy her blessings.

He could be insulted, but not his mother!

In the office, Old Li's pig-killing screams echoed.

The commotion soon drew the employees of the company over.

A group of employees stood outside the office, looking through the window at what was going on in the office, all of them were stunned and confused.

My God!

Was Backstabber on dynamite today?

However, no one came into the office to stop him, as Old Li had a deep grudge against the staff of the company, and as they watched Chen Dong beat up Old Li, they all felt a sense of pleasure in taking their anger out.

Chen Dong kept beating him until he was tired, and then he stopped.

The old man on the ground was already covered in blood and swollen, but he still stared at Chen Dong viciously: "You're finished! Even if the King of Heaven came here today, he wouldn't be able to save your job!"

Chen Dong smiled coldly, and a cold light flashed in his eyes, "Originally, I came here today to resign, but now, I've changed my mind."

Old Li was startled.

Immediately afterwards, he saw Chen Dong take out his mobile phone, and dialed out the number to a slip of paper.

A few seconds later, the call was answered.

"Elder Long, I want to buy Dingtai Real Estate Company!" Chen Dong's voice was incomparably crisp.

Old Li, who was still surprised, burst into laughter at once.

"Hahahaha ..... scared me to death, scared me to death, I damn well thought you had changed your mind about something, buying the company? You're such a poor bastard, your money has all gone to the hospital, you buy a bullshit company!"

Outside the office, everyone was struck by lightning, their faces shocked.

The crowd, which had been dead quiet, instantly exploded.

"I, did I hear it right? Vice President Chen wants to buy our Dingtai Real Estate Company?"

"What a joke! The backstabber must have been pushed into a corner and was deliberately angry with Old Li, how could he possibly have the money to buy our Dingtai? Although our Dingtai is not big, if we really buy it, it will cost 100 million!"

“It’s true that Dong has earned a lot of money as a vice president, but I heard that the money he earned in the past three years was either taken to the hospital for his mother’s treatment or abducted by his wife to her mother’s house.

.....

Listening to the employees’ chatter, Chen Dong looked as normal and indifferently sat back in his chair, waiting quietly.

It was Old Li who got up trembling, as if he had forgotten about the violent beating he had just received from Chen Dong, spat a mouthful of blood onto the ground and said with a disdainful smile on his face, “Look, even the employees know about this, why are you pretending to be a big tail with me? How can you buy a company? Take that little money of yours and buy an urn for your mother!”

Chen Dong glared at Old Li with an icy gaze, scaring him into taking a step back and shutting his mouth.

Following this, Old Li trembled and walked back to the boss’s chair, just as he was about to sit down.

His mobile phone suddenly rang.

Old Li picked up the phone and saw that it was his brother-in-law calling.

His brother-in-law was coming to visit the company in the afternoon, so it was normal to call in advance.

Spitting blood again, Old Li viciously shook the phone at Chen Dong: “My brother-in-law is calling, don’t you fucking want to buy the company? Should I give you the phone, you and my brother-in-law discuss it?”

After saying that, he picked up the phone.