When His Eyes Opened (Avery and Elliott)

Chapter 2048

Chapter 2048

Emilio did not stay at Avery's house for a long time. After he drank the water, he came out not long after.

After getting in the car, Emilio called his father to report: "Dad, Avery is in good condition."

"Oh? Did she say what she will do next?" Travis asked.

"I asked, but she was wary of me, and asked me if I was assigned by you to come to talk to her." Emilio said truthfully, "Last night my elder brother assassinated her, which caused her and her bodyguards to distrust me. She returned all the gifts I brought today."

"Haha, did she say anything about Norah?" Travis's answer to this was not surprising.

"Yes." Emilio replied, "she told me that she and Elliot were almost killed in Yonroeville, which was done by Norah. She also asked me if you planned to make Norah your heir."

"Borrow Avery's words for me?" Travis heard the overtones.

"Dad, you're too worried. She really asked me this question. The reason why she cares about this question is because she thinks that you called Norah to join forces to swallow Tate Industries. Although Avery is not the boss of the Tate Industries, but she rebuilt the Tate Industries." Emilio continued, "Because I don't know your mind, I told her I don't know."

"Don't tell me you know my mind. Have you told outsiders?" Travis questioned.

"Of course I won't tell her. She now treats the entire Jones family as an enemy. If I stand by her side and help her bring down the Jones family, I will have nothing." Emilio expressed his attitude, "Dad, Avery knows about the company you invested in Aunt Gomez. She asked me what the company you invested in Aunt Gomez did, and I said I didn't know."

Travis frowned: "Why did she ask this all of a sudden?"

"I don't know. She has been investigating you. Maybe she has finished investigating you, and she thinks there is no problem, so she started investigating Aunt Gomez again!" He clearly pretending to be confused, "I heard that Aunt Gomez's company does medical research, and I don't know exactly what the research is, but if there is a problem with Aunt Gomez's company, you should notify Aunt Gomez as soon as possible, so that Aunt Gomez will not be caught by Avery. There is a flaw."

Emilio's tone was very sincere. It seems that he is really worried about Margaret Gomez and the entire Jones family. After all, Margaret is now tied to the entire Jones family.

"Got it!" Travis hung up the phone after saying this.

After talking on the phone, Emilio sent Avery a message.

Avery turned on the phone and saw word from him: [OK.]

Although Emilio didn't say anything for sure, Avery guessed what he was talking about almost immediately.

Before he left, he said that Elliot might be in Margaret's laboratory.

Now, the word 'confirmed' is sent again, indicating that his confirmation is Elliot's business!

Avery was so excited. She dreamed of finding Elliot's whereabouts, and now she finally has an eye!

She knew where Margaret's company was, but if she rushed in rashly, she would definitely not be able to break in.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Avery dialed Margaret's number.

Margaret already knew from Travis that Avery doubted her, so when Margaret saw Avery's call, she became wary. After hesitating for a while, she answered the phone.

"Ms. Gomez, your wedding date with Mr. Jones is approaching. Mr. Jones invited me to your wedding, so I have been thinking about what gift to give you these days. Today, I finally thought of a good gift for you." Avery's tone was soft, with a hint of joy.

Margaret guessed that there was a fraud, so she pretended to ask: "What gift?"

"After Professor James Hough died, his wife gave me all the books in his study." Avery replied, "I found a notepad in his bookshelf. There are diaries written by him. There are records about work and life. It is written about you. I don't know if you want this notepad."

Margaret: "..."

"I've already found this notepad. If you want this gift, let's meet! I'll give you this gift with my own hands." Avery continued, "I'm injured and can't move."

It's too convenient to meet at a coffee shop near my house, how about that?"

After a moment of silence, Margaret sneered: "Avery, Emilio has already told us. You are now suspicious of Taoism. The company that Travis invested in... You can't find anything suspicious, so you found me? Then why didn't you find out that my company has already closed due to losses?"

Avery : "..."

Loss closing?

Margaret: "Let's meet and talk! Just go to the cafe near your house. Remember to bring the gift you want to give me. I won't chat with you until I see the gift."

Margaret finished speaking and hung up the phone quickly.

Avery was stunned.

Margaret's company has closed? Where did Elliot go?

Obviously Emilio said something was confirmed, why did something go wrong?

Did Emilio lie to Avery, or is there some mystery in it?

Avery went back to the room, changed her clothes, and took the bodyguard out the door.

The ten bodyguards Mike said last night followed her out with Avery's bodyguard, Ali.

These ten people were all wearing plain clothes, with a relaxed expression on their faces, as if they were going to follow her on an outing.

Avery and Ali were in a car and the ten bodyguards in the back were in a van.

Avery couldn't help sighing.

"Boss, what are you sighing for? With them protecting you, you are safer." Ali said, "Travis also brought a group of people out last night."

"I'm not sighing for this." Avery looked out the window, feeling uneasy rather.

As long as Elliot is not found for a day, Elliot will be in more danger.

Avery clearly felt that she was very close to Elliot, but he was in a place that she couldn't touch.

The car quickly stopped at the coffee shop.

Avery and Ali sat down at one table, and the rest of the bodyguards sat down at the other two tables.

About twenty minutes later, Margaret came to the coffee shop. She only brought one bodyguard.

After she came in, Ali and other bodyguards sat down at another table with interest.

"What about the notepad you're talking about?" Margaret questioned Avery before she could sit down.

Avery reached into her bag, took out a silver pistol, and aimed it at Margaret's body!

"Take me to your company now, right now!" Avery's eyes became fierce and indifferent.

Margaret stared at the gun in her hand, and sneered sarcastically: "I made it very clear on the phone that my company has closed..."

"Since it's closed, why are you here? Scared?!" Avery stood up.

The bodyguard brought by Margaret immediately stood up from the chair after finding out that the situation was not right.

Soon, Avery's eleven bodyguards also stood up and looked at him with a 'you want to die' expression.

When Margaret's bodyguard saw this battle, he immediately froze.

"Avery, you brought so many people here!" Margaret gritted her teeth, then picked up her handbag and gritted her teeth, "Put your gun away! I'll take you there!"

Avery glanced at her bodyguards, and she really felt very secure. She put the gun back in her bag and left the cafe behind Margaret.

“Avery, you said that you have Professor Hough’s notepad, is it fake?! How could you lie to me like that?” Margaret felt that her feelings had been deceived and was very angry.

The two sat down in the back seat and Ali drove the car.

“Professor Hough does have the habit of writing diaries. There are dozens of his diaries, but they are all with his wife.” Avery glanced at Margaret, “I only have some of his courseware notes here.”

“Avery, you are really hateful. I knew that he would never mention me. Even if it was just written on paper, it would never be possible.” Margaret gave up completely.

“Margaret, Professor Hough did mention you to us.” Avery took out a yellowed piece of paper from her bag, “Look for yourself, I wonder if you can recognize Professor Hough’s handwriting.”

Margaret took the paper and saw the word ‘Margaret’ written on it.

This word is definitely Professor Hough’s handwriting.

“He... how could he write my name?” Margaret looked at this word, and her eyes suddenly turned red.

“He wrote your name to ask me to look at your paper. I told you before that he praised you in front of us. He said you were a very gifted medical genius.” Avery saw Margaret’s emotions Excited, she said, “It’s useless for me to keep this piece of paper, I’ll give it to you.”

Margaret carefully folded the paper and put it in her handbag.

“Margaret, don’t you feel guilty?” Avery looked at her face and said sarcastically, “What exactly is the company you asked Travis to invest in, do you really think others can’t guess?”

“Why should I lose my heart?” Margaret said confidently without blushing or panting, “Any medical research, as long as it is beneficial to the sustainable development of mankind, that is a good thing. Did your teacher not tell you about this?”

“I don’t care what research you do, if you don’t affect my life, I can’t control you. But if your research affects me... Margaret, I don’t care what you are doing behind your back, I will turn your world down!”

“Why are you so excited? I told you that my company has long since closed. If you don’t believe it, I can’t do anything about it.” Margaret said, looking at the road ahead, “Turn left in front of you, then keep going, then turn right, and you’re there.”

Ali glanced at Margaret in the rearview mirror: “Professor Hough is dead, you still can’t let him go?”

“What nonsense are you talking about?!” Margaret Pearl was furious.

“Didn’t you see how you carefully folded the piece of paper and put it in your bag just now. If you didn’t know, you thought that piece of paper was worth a lot! Isn’t that what Professor Hough wrote?” Ali sneered...

“Ali, you don’t need to mock her like that. There are many people who admire Professor Hough. Because Professor Hough is very charming.” Avery said.

Ali: “Oh, okay!”

“Avery, listen to me, do you admire Professor Hough too?” Margaret teased.

“Professor Hough was my mentor, and I only had respect for him. Margaret, if I have dirty thoughts towards Professor Hough, do you think I will give you the piece of paper just now? Don’t say his handwriting, just I won’t even tell you what he said about you.”

Margaret was speechless.

Not long after, the car stopped at the entrance of Margaret’s company.
