Chapter 1067 Careless

Right then, the judge from the Warriors Alliance stepped forward, about to announce the result of the match.

"I shall announce the result of this match now. Edgar has won!" the judge loudly announced.

However, the Deragons were not as happy as they thought they would be.

Even though Edgar had won, he had won without having Kai retaliate at all. For the Deragons, that was nothing to be thrilled over.

"I've yet to die, but you're already announcing the results. Is this how carelessly the Warriors Alliance handle their matters?"

Just as the people were about to leave—just as Edgar himself was about to leave—a thundering voice came from the depths of the crater.

Immediately, the place fell silent as everyone whipped their heads to look at the center of the crater. Even the ones who were on their way out of the venue halted in their tracks.

Then, they saw Kai slowly rise from the crater. His clothes were all torn, and the golden glow around him was a little dull. Nevertheless, the aura around him was still as vibrant as ever. It was as if he was completely unfazed by what had just happened.

Everyone inhaled sharply at the sight of an unscathed Kai.

"How… How can this be? Even a Top Level Martial Arts Grandmaster won't be able to be unscathed after taking Edgar's Sacred Light Fist!"

"This is horrifying! This is terrifying! Is he human?"

"He's surprisingly strong despite his young age!"

Everyone was stunned to their cores as they looked at Kai in disbelief.

"How is that possible?" Ryker furrowed his brows. He was standing a moment ago, but upon hearing Kai's speech, he slowly sat back down.

Both Warren and Zion were equally shocked. They did not even know which words could be used to describe how they felt.

"Hahaha! I knew it! I knew that Kai would be fine."

Colin began laughing boisterously the moment he saw Kai emerging from the crater.

Samuel and Theodore were equally thrilled.

"This is impossible! No way! How can you still be alive?"

Edgar was confounded as he looked at Kai.

Even if Kai did not die from the punch, he should have been grievously injured. Yet, other than his torn clothes, he seemed unscathed.

Kai curled his lips into a mocking smile and ignored Edgar. Instead, he was looking at the judge and saying, "I'm not dead yet, so whatever you declared earlier is bullsh*t. Now, scram!"

Kai's words made the judge feel awkward, but Kai was never going to be nice and polite to the people of the Warriors Alliance.

Since he had publicly announced his hostility against the Warriors Alliance, he was not going to bother himself with being courteous to them.

Zion's expression darkened, but he waved his hand as a gesture for the judge to leave.

"You have one last chance left. If that punch was your ace, then you're not worthy enough for me to return the strikes," Kai uttered conceitedly as he stared coldly at Edgar.

Edgar was on the verge of flying into a rage. He was the son of the Deragon family—the golden child. Yet, a nameless man from nowhere was humiliating him.

"Argh!" Edgar roared hysterically. "You piece of trash. How dare you insult me? Die!"

Edgar's hair stood up, and a wave of crimson aura emerged from his body. Then, he slowly lifted his hands in a gesture of prayer.

Boom!

All of a sudden, the deafening sounds of thunder came from the sky. Then, the dark clouds arrived and covered the sun up.

Boom!

Another crash of thunder sounded as more and more dark clouds gathered. In the darkened sky, vivid flashes of lightning could be seen.

"The weather changed really quickly!" said someone who was baffled as they looked up at the sky.

"I never thought that Edgar would be able to master his family's Millesimal Gravitation at such a young age…" Zion said as he knitted his brows.

Even Warren had a solemn look on his face. "No wonder Master Derrell dared to speak such confident words. He said that he'd get Edgar to fight with me and that Edgar would definitely win against me. Now, it seems like Edgar will really be surpassing me if he trains for a period of time!"

Warren was starting to feel a sense of pressure. Although he was currently the director of the Warriors Alliance, no one would be willing to work under him unless he was genuinely capable. If a junior were to surpass him, his reputation would suffer, and the people working under him would have much less respect for him.

"Mr. Deragon, Mr. Edgar used Millesimal Gravitation! He might be in danger himself if he doesn't use it well!" Godrick whispered to Ryker.

By then, Ryker's expression was grim. However, there was nothing he could do anymore. He could only pray that Edgar would succeed in using Millesimal Gravitation.

Right then, the bloody mist rose from Edgar's body and toward the dark clouds.

Kai's face was grave as he stared at the bloody mist on Edgar. Kai's muscles were tense, and he readjusted the Power of Dragons to make the golden light on him brighter.

"Kai, you've underestimated me," Edgar said as he manipulated the shroud of bloody mist.

In the next second, as if it was a magnet, the bloody mist attracted the lightning in the dark clouds.

Kai frowned. So Edgar's trying to use the electricity in the lightning to fight against my indestructible body.

"Die!"

Edgar swung his hands, and the red mist instantly shrouded Kai. Then, the lightning from the dark clouds shot toward Kai.

The bolt of lightning that Edgar directed toward Kai was a move as mighty as if Edgar had thrown a mountain at him. After all, the bolt of lightning was a powerful force originating from the energy of heaven and earth, and it was not easy to defend against it.

Boom!

Finally, the bolt of lightning came crashing down on Kai.

Kai roared as the golden light around him became brighter. Then, a golden dragon appeared.

It, too, roared before colliding against the bolt of lightning.

The resulting explosion shook the earth and made the winds blow past everything. The people around them quickly used their auras to keep themselves rooted to their spots.

Boom!

Again, another bolt of lightning struck down from the dark clouds.

"Ah!"

The golden glow on Kai was becoming more and more radiant. Again, Kai condensed the Power of Dragons into a golden dragon before using it to strike that bolt of lightning.

"What technique is Kai using?"

As Zion studied the golden dragon that Kai manifested, he frowned.

"I'm not sure. However, I've heard that Kai had encountered a miraculous event in his life too. I wonder if it's related to this golden dragon."

Warren shook his head.

Meanwhile, the dark clouds in the sky were still gathering, and lightning was still flashing in them.

"You've used your last chance," Kai announced.

Then, as he let out a roar, a terrifying amount of power surged out from him.

The golden light surrounding Kai skyrocketed toward the sky.

It cleared up the dark clouds in seconds, and the sun reappeared again.

At that, Edgar hastily converted the red mist into a sword and aimed it at Kai.

What Edgar was trying to do was to take the opportunity and kill Kai now that Kai no longer had the golden glow protecting him.

Yet, to everyone's surprise, Kai shot out a punch when he saw Edgar aiming the sword at him.

A wave of mighty energy burst out from Kai's punch and dissipated Edgar's sword made of red mist.

Bang!

The next thing Edgar could feel was his chest tightening as his body flew backward.

A second later, he crashed onto the ground, and a crater formed from the impact.

"How can this be?"

Ryker paled, and he shot to his feet as he was filled with concern for his son.

Zion was scowling, but when he turned to look at Warren, he realized the latter had a dumbfounded look on his face.

Kai was performing far better than they ever thought he could.

"Regardless of everything, we can't let him live until the next morning," Zion said.

Warren nodded in agreement. He, too, knew that they would be digging their own graves if they let Kai continue improving his strength.

"I know you're not dead yet. Why don't you use all the tricks you have up your sleeve?"

The way Kai was gazing at his opponent was as if he was a king looking down on his people. The crowd could not help but feel a chill running down their spines.

Edgar then clambered out of the crater with great difficulty. His chest was dented from the attack, and evidently, he had a couple of broken ribs.

Just as Edgar's head appeared out of the crater, Kai took a step forward. In the next second, he dashed toward Edgar.

The overwhelming intense aura rushed toward Edgar as well.

Boom!

Edgar, who had just risen to his feet, was smashed onto the ground once again.

Dust rose up in the air. For a moment, no one beyond the dusty shroud could see what was happening.

"Edgar!"

At that, Ryker's face turned ashen, and he jumped to his feet.

Edgar was his only son, and he could not bear to see anything happen to Edgar; he could see that Kai was determined to end Edgar's life.

"Mr. Deragon…"

Right then, Godrick grabbed Ryker. "Clam down, Mr. Deragon. If you help him up right now, the Deragon family would lose every bit of their reputation. We'll become the laughingstock of the martial arts world. Moreover, Mr. Edgar hasn't taken out the sacred item yet. That means he's still fine; he's not at his wits' end yet!"

Godrick's words managed to calm Ryker down.

Indeed, Edgar had not shown his trump card yet, so that meant that he was not hopeless.

If Ryker had impulsively intervened earlier, he would have broken the rules of the Warriors Alliance. If that were to happen, it would be a difficult mess to clean up.

Beads of cold sweat dotted Ryker's forehead when he thought of that.

"Argh!"

All of a sudden, Edgar let out an angry bellow. A beat later, blue light encased him as the aura around him thickened.

"Kai, I'm going to end you! Even if I die in the process, I'm going to drag you to hell with me!"

Edgar had turned into an enraged beast as he swung his fist toward Kai.

Kai was not going to stand there and let Edgar attack him. He countered Edgar's punch with a punch of his own. In the next instance, a booming explosion sounded out.

Then, the immense energy rippled through the air like sea waves.

Edgar was becoming quicker and quicker as his aura turned more and more intense. He was raining his fists down on Kai.

The people around them could only see two vague figures shifting in the air. The only way they could keep track of the battle was by hearing the deafening sound reverberating in the space.

"Has Edgar gone mad? Is he actually burning away his blood essence? Does he want to die?"

The colors drained from Ryker's face as he watched Edgar battle against Kai frenziedly.

"Does Edgar not know the dire consequences of doing that? He's burning his blood essence at such a young age! If this goes on, even if he wins this fight, I'm afraid he'll end up a cripple!" Zion remarked wistfully when he saw Edgar increasing his combat prowess by burning his blood essence.

Meanwhile, Kai was counterattacking Edgar's rapid punches, his face expressionless. He was neither frustrated nor anxious.

"Let's see how much blood essence you have left to burn. The moment it runs out, it's time for you to die."

As Kai said that, he threw a punch at Edgar.

Edgar lifted his arms to defend against it, but the overpowering force still made Edgar plummet from the sky.

At that, Kai hurried after him.

"Time to say your goodbyes!"

A vicious glint flashed past Kai's eyes. He then began punching Edgar continuously.

Blood spurted out from Edgar's mouth as the sounds of bone cracking came from all over his body.

Boom!

Once again, Edgar slammed into the ground.

Kai then lifted Edgar, who was motionless, up into the air. At that moment, Edgar was like a weak, defenseless rat in the hands of the exterminator.

Ryker was filled with anger and shame.

His son was the golden child of the Deragon family.

Yet, at the moment, he was as limp as a rag doll in Kai's hand.

Edgar glared at Kai with furious eyes. "Kai Chance, do you actually dare to kill me? Not only will the Deragons not let you off the hook, but even the Warriors Alliance will be after you if you kill me."

"I'm not scared of anyone."

Kai tightened his fists. When he thought about how his biological mother was still suffering in the Deragon residence, hatred surged through him, and in the next second, he smashed a fist onto Edgar.

Edgar was already severely injured. The punch from Kai instantly took away his ability to even stand.

Then, Kai flung Edgar to the ground before stepping on Edgar's head. Kai then looked up at Ryker.

A taunting look was apparent in Kai's eyes, and only Ryker understood why Kai was staring at him that way.

In response, Ryker clenched his fists and gritted his teeth.

The Deragon family had been greatly humiliated by the battle of that day.

While Kai was fixing his gaze on Ryker, Edgar took out a small glass bottle.

When he opened it, a pungent scent of blood wafted in the air.

Without hesitation, Edgar drank the bottle of blood.

Edgar's aura rapidly recovered right after he drank the blood. Even his weak body was starting to regain its strength as a layer of red flame began burning on his skin. As a matter of fact, even Edgar's eyes turned crimson.

Kai drew his brows together and swiftly retreated. After he studied the changes on Edgar's body and smelled the metallic scent in the air, Kai turned even more livid.

"Josephine! This is Josephine's blood!" Kai glared at Edgar. "D*mn you! I'm going to skin you alive!"

Kai was already feeling extremely guilty for not being able to rescue Josephine.

Yet, Edgar was drinking Josephine's blood in front of Kai. That only infuriated Kai even more.

"The one who should die is you!"

Edgar's body was alight, burning like a ball of fire, as he dashed toward Kai.

Kai extended his hand and summoned the Dragonslayer Sword. Like Edgar, the Dragonslayer Sword was on fire as well.

"What did Edgar drink? How did he recover his aura so quickly?"

"It looked like blood. I wonder what kind of blood it was to make him recover so rapidly in such a short period of time."

"The Deragons have many treasures, and only now is Edgar using one of them. It seems like he can't defend himself against Kai anymore."

"I'm shocked that Kai still has an ace up his sleeve. That sword in his hand doesn't look like any ordinary sword…"

The crowd chattered among themselves.

In the meantime, Edgar and Kai began to exchange blows again. They were like two sparks of flames clashing against each other when they fought.

Kai swung his Dragonslayer Sword across Edgar's chest, and blood gushed out as the flames on Edgar began dying down.

"I'm going to use your lives to compensate Josephine for the pain she has suffered!"

Blinding rays of light flashed out from the Dragonslayer Sword, and Kai stabbed it at Edgar again.

At that very moment, a bronze handbell manifested in Edgar's hand.

Ring! Ring!

Edgar gently shook the bronze handbell, and a pleasant sound came from it.

Then, a wave of energy washed over everyone present.

Time seemed to have stopped, and the sword Kai stabbed toward Edgar froze a hair's breadth away from Edgar.

The second Kai halted, Edgar threw out a punch. The force of that punch pierced through Kai!

Like a kite with its string cut, Kai flew backward before crashing onto the ground.
