

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 2033

“Travis, don’t be angry about such a trivial matter.” Margaret brought him a glass of water and handed it to him, “For who are you going to kill Avery this time? I didn’t say you were going to kill her. ”

Travis: “I have a daughter named Norah. She did what happened in Yonroeville. I want to kill Avery because I was afraid she would find out about my daughter.”

Margaret chuckled and said, “Don’t you like to pay attention to your daughters?”

“Norah is different. She is now the head of the Tate Industries.” When Travis said this, a proud look flashed on his face, “She is even more capable than my two sons. I want to help her get rid of Avery. In this way, she can successfully take down the Tate Industries. ”

“That’s it. But if you help her get rid of Avery, what benefit can she give you? You haven’t recognized this daughter, have you? If you helped her and she didn’t recognize you in the end, wouldn’t you be doing your job in vain? Margaret reminded, “Killing Avery, you have to bear a lot of pressure!”

Travis: “Isn’t this unsuccessful?”

“Are you still planning to continue?” Margaret looked at his profile, “Don’t affect my plan for your daughter. I don’t allow anyone to destroy my good deeds.”

Travis: “Margaret, don’t worry. Even if I want to kill Avery, I won’t let anyone else catch anything.”

.....

When Avery came home, it was already 7:00 p.m. This time was neither too early nor too late.

In the yard, Mike’s car was parked, as well as a car specially designed to pick up Hayden. Avery glanced at the bodyguard.

The bodyguard pretended not to see her sight and turned his head to the other side.

Avery immediately understood that the bodyguard had told Mike and Hayden about the matter.

Mike and Hayden immediately walked out of the living room after hearing the sound of parking in the yard.

“Mom!” Hayden quickly ran to Avery and took a look at Avery’s stomach.

“Small injury.” Avery pulled out a smile, “It will be fine in a few days.”

Bodyguard: “As long as you’re not dead, you’re talking about minor injuries. With so much blood, you’ll have to rest at home for the next few days, the doctor said.”

“What’s the matter with you?” Mike asked the bodyguard, “I asked you to protect Avery, but you hurt her again!”

“I...” The bodyguard was speechless.

“It has nothing to do with Aqi. I asked Aqi to wait outside the ward. Caleb didn’t want to take my life, it wasn’t the point of injury.” Avery said, walking towards the living room, “If I am seriously ill, The doctor will put me in the hospital directly. Don’t worry.”

“How can I not be worried? Caleb didn’t take your life, but Travis will definitely not give up.” Mike followed behind Avery and entered her room, “I’ve found ten other bodyguards, and starting tomorrow, they will take an inch Follow you incessantly.”

Avery: “...”

Mike: “This is the decision I made after discussing with Hayden. Your resistance is invalid. Travis wants to kill you, and you must continue to investigate the Jones family. It is inevitable that you will continue to contact the Jones family... .One bodyguard is not enough to keep you safe.”

Avery walked to the closet and took out a set of pajamas from it.

“Understood, you go out! I want to rest.” Avery was very tired, probably due to blood loss.

“Avery, why don’t you eat dinner? The nanny cooked porridge for you. You finish the porridge anyway.” Mike was afraid she would starve.

Avery: “I’ll take a shower and then eat.”

“Oh...then pay attention when you take a bath, don’t touch the wound. Or I’ll ask the nanny to wash it for you.” Mike worried.

Avery sighed silently: “I really just have a small injury. If the injury is serious, I can’t walk at all.”

“Okay! Then go and wash! I’ll bring the porridge out for you to cool down.” Mike came out of her room after explaining.
