

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 2077

Chapter 2077

Chapter 2077 Call Me Hubby

Grant glanced at Clayton and laughed.

“That’s true. Knowing her, she’ll consider stabbing someone in a non-critical position even if she’s in a critical situation with a knife in hand.”

How could Nicole possibly kill someone?

It was also impossible for Nicole to coerce someone to kill themselves.

Clayton said, “Big Brother, I suspect that someone is behind this.”

“I think so too.”

Grant took a deep breath.

He closed his eyes and groaned.

“But now, we don’t have a lead to who the other party is. That person is hiding in the dark, and we’re an easy target.”

Thus, they were in a passive position.

Clayton said a few words and returned to Nicole’s office.

Everyone in the office did not know what to believe about the rumors online. They were just interested to see the interaction between Clayton and Nicole.

They were all envious that Clayton accompanied Nicole at this time.

Grant figured that Nicole was in a bad mood, so he took away some of her work.

Nicole was sitting in front of her desk with her feet propped on the table. The stock price graph on the computer was changed into a sitcom.

This scene looked weird.

When Logan entered Nicole’s office, he almost thought he had walked through the wrong door.

Nicole always had high standards of herself. The office was her sacred place, a paradise for her to build her wealth. Thus, she would not slack in here. The moment she walked into the office, she would wear her most expensive high heels.

As a result, this was what Logan saw.

Nicole glanced at Logan.

“Come in.”

Logan walked in with a smile. He saw Clayton sitting on the sofa next to Nicole, holding a small hammer to crack some walnuts.

The walnut shell fell on the expensive carpet under his feet, but he did not even bat an eyelid and continued to deshell the walnuts, collecting them in the small dish next to him.

Logan was frightened when he saw this.

“President, the lawyer asked if you want to execute that document?”

Nicole raised her eyelids.

“Do they think that I’m not unlucky enough? I’ve become a suspect just because of that bit of shares. It’s not even enough for my allowance, so why would I want it?”

Logan heard this EjaWLzSX responded. “Okay, I’ll tell the lawyer to give it up.”

Clayton suddenly stopped what he was doing and looked up at Logan.

“Logan, since Zach Gilbert is dead, who will represent his company to continue executing the document?”

Logan paused.

“His company isn’t big, so he always had the final say. The deputy general manager and the like didn’t have much say in things. Only successors have the right to continue executing the document, but Mr. Gilbert doesn’t have surviving parents...”

Logan frowned.

Nicole laughed.

“He has an illegitimate child that’s currently in Kirsi’s womb. If nothing unexpected happens, this unborn child has the right to inheritance, and Kirsi will most likely be the child’s guardian to inherit all of Zach’s property.”

Nicole clicked her tongue and shook her head.

“I didn’t expect that after such a roundabout, Kirsi would end up benefiting the most. When Mr. Gilbert was still alive, he transferred the property to her, and now that he’s dead, she could keep the property. What kind of luck does Kirsi have?”

She said it so casually, but Clayton took it seriously.

Clayton paused, put down the small hammer immediately, picked up his phone, and went to the inner lounge to make a call.

His expression was quite serious.

Nicole also felt that something was wrong.

As soon as Clayton came out, Nicole asked,

“Do you suspect Kirsi of killing Zach?”

Clayton raised his eyebrows. “No.”

“Then why’d you mention this?”

“Isn’t Kirsi pregnant? Logically speaking, it’s uncertain that she can give birth to this child smoothly. Moreover, it’s still a complicated process to verify that the child is indeed Mr. Gilbert’s. If Mr. Gilbert dies, she would lose her financial backer and her long -term source of income. She wouldn’t be so stupid.”

After Clayton said that, the office fell into silence.

Logan stood there without saying a word as if he was thinking about something.

Nicole’s face gradually became solemn.

Right. Kirsi was not a stupid person. She could get to where she was today because she was several times more shrewd than her sister, Lumi.

Otherwise, how could she deceive Lumi for so many years?

Even if Kirsi only wanted to be with Zach because she wanted his property, was it not more beneficial to her for Zach to be alive?

Moreover, Zach had already begun to transfer his property to Kirsi’s name. She already owned and was about to own quite a sizable amount.

Therefore, the possibility of Kirsi killing Zach was very slim.

But if it was not Kirsi, who was it?

Nicole thought about it and looked at Logan.

“How’s the progress of the police investigation?”

Logan stood up. “I didn’t inquire about it. I heard that the police made these two cases a priority and planned to merge the trial.”

Clayton paused and looked out the window coldly.

“We have to meet this woman before going to the police.”

Nicole nodded.

She thought the same as well.

After all, besides Nicole, the other person who had contact with Zach before his death was Kirsi.

At that moment, Nicole was energized and glanced at Logan.

Logan immediately understood what Nicole wanted.

“I’ll tell the driver to get ready.”

He left the office.

Nicole stood up and took her bag.

Clayton was looking at something on his phone.

Nicole walked over, glanced from behind, and frowned slightly.

“When are you so interested in gossip? Wait, is this Kirsi’s gossip?”

She paused and snorted.

The internet was in a frenzy.

However, even after such an incident, Kirsi still did not respond.

Even if Kirsi did not have any resources at the moment, her millions of fans would probably have confidence in her, right?

It was very strange.

Clayton glanced at it, turned off his screen, and stood up.

“Let’s go.”

Nicole nodded. Clayton took the bag from her hand and held her hand to leave.

On the road, Clayton seemed more serious and upset than Nicole.

Nicole did not want Clayton to worry so much because of this matter.

If it was just a false alarm, it would have drained their happiness.

Nicole clearly did not do anything, but she still had to face all this trouble.

She was such a miserable high-society lady.

Nicole pulled Clayton’s hand and said, “Mr. Sloan, what do you want to do most after all this is over?”

Her address dragged Clayton out from his thoughts. 2

He frowned and looked at her sideways.

“What did you call me?”

“Mr. Sloan... Some couples address each other as Mr. and Mrs.”

Nicole said righteously and added, “This is what Medianians do! ”

Clayton looked at her strangely, pursed his lips, and could not help but correct her.

“Medianians like to call their husbands ‘hubby’. Also, Sloan isn’t a common last name. Don’t think that I’m unaware of Medianian culture!”

Nicole pouted. “I like it!”

Clayton refused to give in.

“It makes us feel like strangers! We’re still in love with each other, so you have to call me hubby! ”

Luca and Shane, who were sitting in front, were speechless. 1

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 2078

Chapter 2078

Chapter 2078 Deliberately Hiding

Nicole clicked her tongue and finally gave up on calling Clayton “ Mr. Sloan”.

However, Nicole noticed that every time she called him that, Clayton would frown and start to lecture her seriously.

It was as if he could write a book on his view of marriage. 1

Nicole found it kind of funny.

Fortunately, Nicole’s mood during the next half of the car journey improved a lot.

Nicole glanced at the public opinion online. Those topics about her were suppressed.

At the same time, the public relations department of Stanton Corporation also issued a statement.

They expressed regret for the death of Tina and Zach Gilbert but stated that Nicole had nothing to do with this matter and would fully cooperate with the police investigation. They also reserved the right to pursue this legally until the investigation was over.

As soon as this statement was released, the rumors online gradually died down.

The platform had also deliberately suppressed the topic, so those malicious speculations about Nicole did not continue.

However, the virality of this topic came out of nowhere.

According to Logan’s investigation, the most popular searches on the platform were generally bought by fake accounts.

However, this time, the accounts and IP addresses that exposed Nicole and made the situation worse were from abroad.

This was a little confusing.

The other party deliberately blocked their IP address and used virtual IP addresses.

The account would be deactivated after one use.

Thus, they could not pinpoint the other party’s exact location or find any traces.

Fortunately, the other party did not continue to create trouble after the Stanton family retaliated.

Finally, they arrived at Kirsi's apartment lobby.

Nicole had been there with Tina before by following Zach.

She did not expect to come again so soon.

The only difference this time was that there were many plainclothes police officers coming and going at the ground floor of the building.

There were also people who were looking around the location in which Zach had jumped off the building.

There were significantly fewer people walking around nearby.

Shane took out two hats and five masks from the storage compartment in front. They were brand new and had never been worn before.

He handed them to the back.

Clayton took them over and gave one hat and mask to Nicole.

Nicole took it over, looking dumbfounded. "What's the use of this? We have nothing to hide!"

Clayton glanced at her and smiled.

"Of course, we have a clear conscience. But it's better to avoid unnecessary trouble. If a troublesome reporter follows us, it'll inevitably cause another stir up. What's more, there are police officers on guard. If we show up rashly, we might get into trouble. So, it's better not to let people know that we're here."

Nicole heard this and nodded. It made sense.

The few of them put on their disguises before getting out of the car.

When Nicole got out of the car, she froze for a while.

She leaned in closer to Clayton. "Wait. Isn't it easier for people to notice us when we look like this?"

After she said this, she saw a few people walking out of the apartment lobby in a hurry. Those people were dressed exactly like the four of them.

Nicole was speechless.

Clayton glanced at her.

“Many of the residents here are actors, so it’s not at all weird to dress like this.”

Nicole smiled sheepishly because she was so ignorant.

However, Clayton could not see her expression through the mask.

Shane walked in front, and Luca walked closely behind Nicole.

Nicole did not know how Clayton could get into this relatively private apartment so smoothly, but she was not surprised.

They went upstairs with the elevator.

Kirsi took a while to open the door after they knocked.

She held her bulging belly that looked about five or six months pregnant.

Kirsi looked puffy and uneasy.

When she saw Nicole, her expression instantly changed into fear.

Kirsi wanted to close the door immediately, but Clayton did not give her a chance to do so.

The doorway was blocked.

Seeing Kirsi like this, Nicole had more doubts in her heart.

“Kirsi, I just want to ask you a few questions.”

Kirsi’s expression changed several times, but her red eyes were calm.

Kirsi bit her lower lip, looked at Clayton, and opened the door.

Nicole looked at the people behind her.

“Don’t follow us inside. Otherwise, people will think we’re here to bully her.”

Shane nodded behind Nicole.

Luca hesitated for a while but did not follow them inside.

Nicole went in and saw the messiness inside. Clothes and opened boxes of various sizes were strewn everywhere.

She squinted. "Are you moving out?"

Kirsi glanced at Nicole with a complicated and vigilant gaze.

"Since Zach is dead and I'm pregnant, it's inconvenient to continue staying here."

Clayton walked in and looked around. His face was stern, and his cold vibe was hard to ignore.

Kirsi seemed hostile toward Nicole but fearful of Clayton.

She paused and immediately looked away.

"You guys can sit and say what you came here to say."

Her face was pale, and she looked rather weak.

Nicole glanced around. No one was there to take care of Kirsi.

However, Nicole thought that it made sense since Kirsi was moving out soon, so Kirsi would not hire new staff.

Nicole looked at Kirsi. Just as she was about to speak, Clayton asked in a cold voice from behind, "Have the police talked to you after Zach's incident?"

Kirsi nodded.

"What did they ask you, and how did you answer them?"

Nicole was stunned for a moment.

She wanted to ask about Zach's situation before his death.

However, Clayton asked about what happened after Zach's death. Although Nicole was puzzled for a moment, she suddenly realized through Clayton's question that he seemed to have a grasp on the overall situation.

Clayton was truly something!

Nicole thought to herself and saw Kirsi's hesitance. After a while, Kirsi replied, "They asked me if there was anything strange about Zach before his death, and if he had any last words and letters."

They also asked me who he met. ” 1

Clayton nodded and looked at Kirsi with an intense gaze.

“Then how did you answer?”

Kirsi took a deep breath. Her eyes held complicated emotions as she said, “At that time, I was upset about the rumors online, so I went to my former agency and asked if they could help me deal with it. But they refused to help and didn’t want to waste their resources on me, so I came back in a fit of anger. When I came back here, I saw Zach standing on the balcony, ready to jump off. It was just for a few seconds, and he just jumped without looking back at me...”

Kirsi’s voice was low when she spoke.

Tears streamed down her face uncontrollably.

Kirsi bowed her head and sobbed with a pained expression.

Nicole pursed her lips and looked at Kirsi with a complicated expression.

“Kirsi, did Zach kill Tina?”

In an instant, Kirsi stopped crying.

She looked up at Nicole with a weird expression.”

“Why are you asking this? I don’t know... I don’t know anything! ”

Clayton narrowed his eyes. His face darkened.

They could all see that Kirsi was deliberately hiding something.

Nicole said, “With your relationship with Zach, you’re the biggest beneficiary if Tina is dead. Now that Zach is also dead, all of his assets, including the contract with me that was not executed yet, belongs to you. So how could you not know anything?” 1