

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 66

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 66 The Billionaire Has Arrived

Henry had knelt and begged this live-in son-in-law?

When the crowd heard what Alex had said, they all turned to look at him in shock.

Is what he said for real?

It seemed impossible. After all, the Hale family is extremely powerful, and Henry Hale is known to be arrogant and prideful. Why would he ever kneel and beg a live-in son-in-law?

He must have been drunk or drugged!

When Henry caught sight of the crowd's inquisitive gazes, he felt fury stirred within him. However, he wasn't in a position where he could rage at his guests.

"You piece of garbage! You'd better not regret what you said!" Henry huffed before hurriedly escaping Alex's table.

The way he scurried off only proved the crowd's suspicions about the integrity of that story.

They started to wonder how on earth a live-in son-in-law managed to make the son of the Hale family kneel and beg for forgiveness.

Because of that, quite a number of people started looking at Alex with approval.

However, most of them started scoffing coldly. To them, Alex was playing with fire by offending Henry.

"Did he really kneel before you yesterday?" Heather asked quietly.

"He was the one who started the bet, and he lost, so all I did was made him honored his bet," Alex said flatly.

"Are you crazy? Even if he lost, you shouldn't have made him kneel!" Heather was furious, but more than that, she was scared.

She had already suffered enough heartache after what happened today.

Added on to Alex messing with someone like Henry, their family was probably done for.

"I'm not the one who forced him to bet on it. He lost, so of course, he had to kneel."
Alex's face was still a picture of eerie calmness.

"Have you considered about who you are and who he is? Who are you to honor such a bet? Are you stupid?" Heather asked angrily. She felt the urge to slap Alex across the face.

"What's wrong with who I am?"

Alex was getting annoyed and he looked at Heather as he said frostily, "I don't care about the Hale family. The Hales are just the same as the Wallace family. If I could destroy the Wallaces with one word, I can do the same to the Hales too."

What?

Alex was the one who destroyed the Wallace family?

What a joke!

Everyone at the banquet including Henry was trying to hold their laughter back upon hearing Alex's threat.

It seemed to them that Alex was good for nothing except making up lies.

"You!" Heather felt anger blowing up in her chest when she realized that Alex had gone too far off the rails.

The only reason you were able to destroy the Wallaces was only thanks to Mr. Sawyer returning a favor.

Who do you think you are? You just saved Mr. Sawyer's life once. Does that mean he'll keep repaying you?

When she caught sight of everyone else looking at them, Heather stopped talking.

She was extremely disappointed in Alex.

"Granny, I think you should get rid of all of them. How dare he make such a claim? We're going to become the laughing stock of the town!" Jacob said.

"Mr. Sawyer has arrived!"

Demi cleared her throat and was about to chase Alex and his family out when the announcement came from outside.

Is Mr. Sawyer here to congratulate Demi?

The crowd were surprised and hurriedly stood up as they looked outside.

Demi and the other Jennings couldn't believe the richest man in Nebula City had come personally. Demi hurriedly asked the siblings to help her walk outside and greet Mr. Sawyer.

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 67

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 67 Mr Sawyer Is Walking Toward Alex

With everyone standing up, Alex became the only one in the whole room who remained seated, quietly eating his food.

"You piece of trash! Stand up and greet Mr. Sawyer! If you piss him off, you're going to get all of us in trouble!"

Demi glared at Alex worriedly.

"Why don't you ask Jack later whether he dares to ask me to greet him?" Alex replied as he lit a cigarette.

The crowd shook their heads at that. In their mind, they thought that the Jenningses live-in son-in-law was beyond hopeless.

The Jennings family were even more enraged.

Demi lifted her walking stick and about to deliver a heavy blow on Alex when Jack walked in.

Demi hurriedly walked over to welcome him.

At the same time, Heather and Carmen were both pale, but Heather wasn't too worried when she remembered that Alex had saved Jack's life.

Even if Jack had repaid him, he still wouldn't blame Alex for anything, right?

"Mr. Sawyer, I feel honored to have you attend my birthday celebration! This is truly a great day for the Jennings family."

Demi looked overjoyed and so did the other Jenningses.

As for the crowd who came to greet Mr. Sawyer together, they were extremely envious.

But at the same time, they were also very surprised.

They wondered which deity had blessed the Jenningses with such good luck to have connections with Jack Sawyer himself to the point where he had even personally come to wish Demi a happy birthday.

For them, this was definitely a headline-worthy piece of news.

From today onwards, the Jennings family was about to become the next big thing.

Heather and Carmen were feeling bitter.

With Mr. Sawyer on their side, the Jennings family was about to take off.

As for Heather and her family, they wouldn't even be able to get a taste of that because they had already been chased out.

With that in mind, the mother and daughter duo started feeling like murdering Alex once more.

"Is that so? Actually, I wasn't aware that today is your birthday, and for that, I apologize. I didn't prepare anything," Jack said apologetically, his face betraying his surprise.

What?

The smiles of the Jenningses froze and they descended into awkwardness.

When they saw the mocking smiles on their guests' faces, they felt more humiliated than ever.

"Mr. Sawyer, if I may ask, what are you doing here then?" Demi hurriedly came back to her senses and asked curiously.

"Ah, the chairman asked me to come here to do something," Jack replied with a smile.

The Jennings were terrified when they heard that.

They all knew that Heather had borrowed thirty million from the chairman of Four Seas Corporation to save the family. Is Mr. Sawyer here to collect that debt?

The Jennings family had just managed to rebuild their company. They didn't even have three million at the moment, let alone thirty million.

When Jacob noticed that Alex was still sitting down, he was enraged. "Mr. Sawyer, I can't believe how disrespectful this man is being toward you! Not only did he remain seated when you arrived, but he's also smoking in your presence! He's clearly disrespecting you!"

The moment those words left Jacob's mouth, Heather and Carmen started to panic.

Carmen, especially, was terrified that Alex would get her family into trouble again.

"Mr. Sawyer, I don't know who he is. He just some nobody who ran in to leech off some food. His ill manners have nothing to do with our family!" Carmen hurriedly denied all connections they had with Alex.

The Jenningses nodded hurriedly. Demi said, "Mr. Sawyer, he used to be the live-in son-in-law of my family, but we have since kicked him out of the family. He no longer has any connections to the rest of us."

Upon hearing that, the crowd thought to themselves, How shameless of the Jenningses.

However, when they thought about the lack of respect that Alex had for Jack, they didn't feel the least bit sorry for him.

"Mr. Sawyer, I am the son of Christian Hale. I can attest to the fact that this man has been kicked out of the Jennings family by Demi. He is no longer related to them." Henry wanted to grab the opportunity to suck up to Jack a little bit.

When Jack and the others behind him saw the performance that the Jennings were putting on, they started to smirk inwardly.

Jack especially, since he knew very well how terrifying Alex could be.

These people are incredibly ignorant for calling Alex all kinds of foul names.

"Is that so?"

Jack's mouth lifted into a mocking smile before he walked toward Alex.

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 68

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 68 I Am Close Friends With Alex

When the crowd saw Jack walking toward Alex, they started to smile at Alex's bad luck.

He is definitely done for now.

"Mr. Jefferson, I'm surprised to see you here as well," Jack said with a deep bow.

The crowd stilled as if they had been electrocuted. The whole scene was plunged into a pin drop silence.

What is going on?

Do my eyes deceive me?

Why is Jack Sawyer bowing to this piece of trash?

On the other hand, the Jenningses were feeling even more taken aback and their eyes flashed in terror.

This is impossible!

It's incomprehensible!

We must be hallucinating. There is no way that the billionaire, Jack Sawyer would actually bow to this good-for-nothing piece of garbage!

The Jenningses could not believe what was going on.

Only Heather fell into deep thought.

"Go ahead and do what you came to do. Don't bother me." Alex waved as he continued to smoke in his seat.

Throughout the whole interaction, the only movement he had made was the wave of his hand.

"Alright." Jack nodded and turned around.

As ludicrous as it seemed, the doubts that everyone had about Alex vanished without a trace.

Because of this, they became even more terrified.

Is Alex really just the live-in son-in-law of the Jenningses?

Where the hell do you find a live-in son-in-law that is this powerful?

He managed to get the number one billionaire in the entire province to bow to him so respectfully. Only a mayor would have that power!

Jack might not even have bowed so deeply to a mayor.

After all, the Four Seas Corporation had contributed greatly to their provinces' financial situation. If Jack were to move the Four Seas Corporation to another province, then this province would suffer greatly.

At that moment, the Jenningses glanced toward Alex, their eyes full of terror.

“Ah, Mr. Sawyer, you know my son-in-law?”

Carmen was overjoyed. Alex had just improved their reputation by a milestone.

She quickly walked toward Alex and put on the air of a senior. “Alex, my son, why are you acting all high and mighty in front of Mr. Sawyer himself? You should stand up and apologize,” she scolded.

She tried to pull Alex up as she put on the act a caring parent.

Alex started to smirk in disdain. Before he could stand up, however, Jack hurriedly shook his hand. “There’s no need for that! Mr. Jefferson and I are close friends. We don’t care too much about these minor details.”

Jack would never dare to ask Alex to bow to him.

Close friends?

At that, the crowd’s impression of Alex took a complete turn.

They started thinking about how they could have a little chat to get close to Alex.

Only Jacob and the other Jennings turned pale. They were both terrified and taken aback.

If it weren’t for the sake of their reputation, they would all have crowded over and started making amends with Alex.

“Demi, remember the thirty million that our chairman lent you in your time of need?”

Jack looked at Demi with a smile on his face.

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 69

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 69 A Shameless Family

The Jenningses turned even paler. The thing they had feared most was happening.

Even though the thirty million was borrowed by Heather, they didn’t dare to delay the return of that debt.

The money belonged to the chairman of Four Seas Corporation, after all.

He was the man who had bought over fifty-one percent of the Four Seas Corporation's shares. Compared to this man, the Jenningses were but a tiny ant. So, naturally, they had to return the debt on time.

"Mr. Sawyer, didn't we agree to pay back the debt one year later?" Demi asked timidly.

"Yes. On behalf of Heather Jennings, our chairman agreed to borrow you the money without interest for a year."

At this, Jack's expression darkened. "However, you burned your bridges and heartlessly took away Ms. Jennings' shares. Our chairman was so angry that he demanded you all to return the money today."

What?

Because of Heather?

The Jenningses were seriously starting to regret everything they'd done today.

"Heather, I'm sorry for everything we did to you today. I'll give you all your shares back, so please call the chairman and beg him to give us more time!" Demi was a rather decisive person.

She hurriedly apologized to her granddaughter.

There was no other way. Apart from Heather, no one else could help the Jenningses now.

"But Granny, those are my shares!" Jacob said unhappily. fifteen percent of shares meant a whole lot of benefits for him every year.

Slap!

Demi turned and slapped Jacob across the face as she yelled, "If it weren't for you two manipulating me with your words yesterday, we wouldn't have made such a mistake in the first place! If you don't keep your mouth shut, I'll take back all of your shares!"

Jacob was feeling extremely embarrassed that he had gotten slapped in front of everybody, but more than that, he was furious.

When he saw Demi's sharp glare, however, he stayed quiet and moved aside unwillingly.

"I've never even seen the man. How do you expect me to beg him for anything?" Heather scoffed.

She was beyond disappointed in the Jenningses. She couldn't care less if Demi returned all her family's shares to them.

So what if Granny said that she'll return my family's shares? It is still up to her whether the shares will be taken back or not in the future.

After what had happened today, Heather would never fall so easily for Demi's promises again.

She resented the fact that she was foolish enough to give everything for her family, only to get looked down upon and bullied by them in return.

Since that was the case, she felt that she no longer need to help the Jennings family any further.

"Heather, I'm sorry. I'm really sorry for making such a stupid mistake. Please, forgive me this once, alright? Once you settle this, not only will I return your shares, but I'll also even add on another ten percent!" Demi suppressed the fury she felt and started begging her granddaughter.

Seeing that it was the first time Demi had begged so desperately. Heather's heart softened immediately.

Despite that, she really couldn't do anything to help.

She had always wanted to go visit the chairman, but she had never gotten the chance to. She didn't even have any way to contact him.

"Granny, I really don't have any of the chairman's contact information. I can't do anything either," Heather said helplessly.

"Hmph! You were the one who borrowed the money. It has nothing to do with the Jenningses. You should return all the money yourself!" Jacob said shamelessly.

"Yeah! We didn't get that thirty million. It has nothing to do with us! So you should bear the responsibilities and pay the chairman back!" Harper scoffed.

"That's right, Heather. Without any evidence, we're not going to bear the debt," Demi said with narrowed eyes.

Heather instantly frowned in disbelief when she saw that the Jenningses could actually be so shameless.

She was so angry she started shaking. I can't believe I softened just now only to get stabbed in the back once again!

However, the betrayal she had endured was nothing compared to the terror she was feeling.

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 70

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 60 Buying The Jenningses

Even though the chairman didn't write an IOU, that didn't mean that she could delay her debts.

The man was an even more intimidating presence than Jack himself.

"So it looks like the Jenningses really isn't returning the money, huh?" Jack couldn't stay quiet any longer. He had never seen such a shameless family.

"Our chairman mentioned that it was okay if you don't return the money, but in exchange, he'll buy over sixty-one percent of the Jenningses shares. Based on our calculations, the Jennings family is now worth about one hundred and fifty million at most. If we follow that, then sixty-one percent of your shares will be about ninety-one million five hundred thousand. If we take away the thirty million that you owe us, then we'll be paying you sixty-one million five hundred thousand," Jack said with a cold smile.

The Jenningses' expressions changed immediately. The Four Seas Corporation was clearly trying to scam them.

The Jennings Corporation had a market value of above three hundred million at its peak. Even now, there was no way the corporation was worth any less than two hundred million.

Added on to the fact that all the Jennings Corporation's competition had fallen, they would have even more space to improve and expand in the future. They would definitely end up being worth way more than three hundred million.

How could the Four Seas Corporation only calculate one hundred and fifty million as their net value? The amount was outright bullying.

"Mr. Sawyer, we don't sell our company's shares to outsiders. We'll return the thirty million to the chairman," Demi declined immediately.

"Okay. I'll give you five minutes to gather all the money. If you still aren't able to pay the money back in five minutes, then you'll either sell us your shares or announce bankruptcy." Jack smiled mildly.

Five minutes?

The Jenningses paled. What Jack said was basically forcing them to sell their shares.

Where and how are we going to get thirty million in five minutes?

“By the way, you’re all still unaware of how the Wallace family got destroyed, right?”

Jack looked at the crowd before chuckling lightly. “It was because Mr. Wallace offended Ms. Jennings. Our chairman was so furious that he demanded them to be destroyed. Now, the head of the Wallaces has died in jail and Walt Wallace probably won’t last for much longer.”

The crowd’s minds started buzzing. They knew that the Four Seas Corporation had been the one to destroy the Wallace family, but they didn’t know exactly why.

They hadn’t imagined for Heather to be so powerful, to the point that the chairman of Four Seas Corporation would stand up for her.

Demi and the other Jenningses were really starting to regret everything they did.

They should have known how close Heather and the chairman’s relationship was from the moment she had managed to borrow thirty million from him.

They really were in trouble now that the chairman himself was standing up for Heather.

“Henry, can’t you ask your father to lend us thirty million for now?” Demi looked at Henry.

Henry was the Jenningses only hope now.

Henry’s expression changed as he quickly shook his head. “That’s impossible right now. The bank still hasn’t approved all of our financings. We definitely don’t have the money to lend you right now.”

Henry wasn’t dumb. He knew that if the Hale family intercepted the Four Seas Corporation buying the Jennings Corporation, the Hales would end up like the Wallaces.

Demi was extremely disappointed upon Henry’s answer, and so were the others, especially Harper.

But none of them dared to call him out.

“Three more minutes,” Jack reminded after checking his watch.

Demi’s expression soured and she started to look desperate.

“Heather, are you going to just watch your family crash and burn?” Demi asked Heather with her eyes full of desperation.

Heather was feeling more conflicted than ever. On one side, she had the chairman supporting her, but she also had her family to think about.

When she saw the desperation in her granny’s eyes, her heart softened once more and she was just about to speak when Jack waved a hand. “Our chairman said to ignore everybody else today.”

With that, Heather swallowed the words she was about to say.

Demi’s face was filled with despair and she sighed before saying helplessly, “Fine, I agree to let Four Seas Corporation buy the Jennings Corporation’s shares.”

She wasn’t satisfied with the price that the Four Seas Corporation had offered, but she knew that if the Jennings family dared to rebuke, they’d have the same fate as the Wallace family.

Right then, Demi felt as though she had aged ten years.