

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 91

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 91 Mentally Retarded

“Well, look at you. You are so arrogant at such a young age. Unfortunately, no matter how arrogant you are, it can’t change the fact that you and your useless father are losers.” The woman sneered.

“Stop it. What’s there to argue with a kid?” The man next to the woman said.

The man then looked down at the little girl and said, “Quinn, stay away from that boy. You must remember that you are our little princess and have a noble status. Stanley Jennings is just a poor loser. He is not qualified to play with you, get it?”

“Ok, Daddy.”

The little girl nodded her head and looked at Stanley, “Did you hear that? I’m a princess, and you’re just a loser. You’re not allowed to play with me.”

Stanley was speechless. He looked at the little girl with tears in his eyes.

He felt his body shaking slightly even though he didn’t know whether he was upset or angry.

“Stanley, you’re a man. Don’t cry!”

Alex picked Stanley up and looked him in the eye. “Remember, we’re men, and we don’t easily shed tears. No matter how aggrieved or angry you’re, don’t cry!”

“Um...”

Stanley wiped his tears and nodded, “Ok, Daddy. I will not cry anymore.”

“That’s my boy!”

Alex nodded, “Trust me. You are not a loser. You are a prince. When you grow up, daddy promises to give you everything in the world.”

“Daddy, am I really a prince?” Stanley looked expectantly into his father’s eyes.

“Well, you are not only the little prince of our family but also a prince who will one day conquer the world!” Alex nodded firmly.

“Daddy, I believe you. Let’s make a pinky promise.” Stanley raised his little finger to Alex.

Alex smiled as he then locked pinkies with Stanley.

“We can’t break the promise for a hundred years now...”

Stanley said devotedly as he pressed his thumb against Alex’s thumb.

Then, both of them laughed heartily.

“Prince? I think you should be called a brat!” Upon seeing Alex and Stanley, the woman said disdainfully again.

Alex turned around with anger in his eyes.

“God sprinkles wisdom all over the world, but he gives you an umbrella instead. It’s sad.” Alex sneered even though he did not want to argue with this woman. “A woman who chooses to argue with a child mentally retarded.”

“What? How dare you call me mentally retarded? Do you know who I am?” The woman was furious as soon as she heard him. She put her hands in her waist and glared at him.

“I don’t care who the hell you are. I only know there’s a fool in front of me,” scoffed Alex again.

“Jerome, your wife has been scolded a fool. Aren’t you coming to help?” The woman shouted at the man.

The man came over and looked at Alex angrily. “Hey, watch your mouth. Believe it or not, I can make a call, and your son will not be able to attend school anymore.”

Alex looked at the man named Jerome and refuted, “Really? But I don’t believe you at all.”

“Hey, listen carefully. My husband, Jerome Laster, is the assistant manager of the human resources department of the Four Seas Corporation. You’re only a security guard there! What a loser! You’re in big trouble for scolding me today. Not only your son will be expelled from the school, but you’re also about to get fired.” The woman scorned as arrogantly as she could to Alex.

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 92

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 92 Asked For An Autograph

Assistant manager of human resources department?

Alex frowned slightly. I don't think I met him during the last management meeting. Is he new?

Upon seeing his frowning face, Jerome and his wife thought Alex was intimidated. They held haughtily aloof in front of him.

"If I were you, I'll kneel and apologize. Otherwise, prepare to lose your job, and your son will lose his chance to attend school again," mocked the woman.

Heather's face darkened. That man, Jerome must have some connections with Four Sea Corporation. Otherwise, he will not act so arrogantly. She quickly pushed Alex forward, "I think you better go and apologize to her now."

"What? You want me to apologize to a fool? She doesn't deserve it!" Alex sneered with a smirk as he carried Stanley in his arms and wanted to walk away.

Heather was about to lose her temper. Are you not afraid of losing your job? Why can't you do it for the sake of your son? Are you going to bother President Sawyer for such a small matter?

Heather looked at Alex with disappointment.

I can only say that he is lucky to save the billionaire Jack Sawyer's life, who happens to be the richest man in Nebula City. But too bad, he doesn't know how to make good use of these relationships.

She shook her head silently and turned around to look at the woman. "I'm really sorry. My husband is not sensible. I hope you don't take any of it to heart."

For the sake of her son, Heather was always modest and kept a low profile.

I don't care if Jerome is going to fire Alex. I can't control what had happened.

"Don't try to get away with that. I'm not going to let you off yet," scowled the woman.

"Humph, even a little security guard dares to be so arrogant. Wait and see. Tomorrow I will make him disappear from the Four Seas Corporation. As for your son, don't ever wish he can attend any school in Nebula City again," said Jerome in a sneer.

"Do you think my husband is trying to scare you?"

The woman looked at Heather. "My husband's uncle is one of the shareholders of Four Seas Corporation, and his daughter's father-in-law is the director of Education Bureau. Do you think we are a joke to you?"

Heather's face darkened again. Now she was really flustered.

If they have connections in the education bureau, it is quite easy for them to stop Stanley from going to school.

When she was about to force Alex to apologize, a couple walked up to them with another little girl.

"Lori, what are you doing here? Madison Zucker is having a fan meeting in front. If you want to get her autograph, this is the chance." The young lady said to Jerome's wife.

"Oh, really? Let's go together." Lori was a big fan of Madison Zucker, and she liked all of her drama. She suddenly became excited and had forgotten about her argument with Alex just now.

Jerome cast a scornful glance at Alex before he left. Then he followed his wife and daughter to the esplanade in front of them.

However, Heather was still worried.

"Let's go and have a look too," said Heather as she pulled Alex's hand.

"I didn't know you're her fan?" Alex looked at Heather curiously.

Fan? I'm not her fan! I'm asking you to apologize to her and resolve this. Don't let this disagreement affect Stanley's normal school life!

She wanted to beat up Alex so much, but still, she tried to suppress her emotions and did not lash out.

"Well, let's go and see if I can get her autograph." Heather nodded.

I'm really not her fan.

"Ok, then let's go," said Alex with a smile.

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 93

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 93 At The Fan Signing Event

The adapted novel Flair of the City was about to be broadcast. As the film investor, Four Seas Corporation had to organize campaigns to publicize it.

Jack was the person in charge of this event, and he was diligent in the task.

In order to attract more people, the promotion activity was held in an amusement park. Large quantities of door gifts were prepared and distributed to the crowd.

When Jerome and Lori arrived, the esplanade was already surrounded by thousands of fans.

All these fans did not have a seat, and they had to stand outside the barricade.

Four Seas Corporation only prepared seats for major media correspondents in the city.

A high platform was set in the center with a large screen behind, and it displayed the movie trailer.

There were some staffs on the stage who were busy with their work.

There was also a temporary dressing room behind the high platform, and the artists were busy doing their make-up inside.

"I've been looking forward to this movie for a long time. I'm so excited that it's finally going to be released!" Upon looking at the poster on the big screen, Lori said excitedly.

"Me too. As long as it's Madison's movie, I will definitely watch it." Florence, who was Lori's friend, nodded.

Both of them were fans of Madison Zucker, and they were very excited when they talked about their idol.

Just then, Alex and Heather came over together with their son.

As soon as Lori saw them, she snorted coldly with a scornful look in her eyes.

"Lori, what happened? Do you guys have a grudge against each other?" Florence looked at Alex curiously and asked.

"Humph! How dare a useless toy boy call me a fool? I'm really pissed off. But by tomorrow, he will kneel and beg me to forgive him." Lori said confidently.

"Toy boy?"

"Don't tell me he's the live-in son-in-law of the Jenningses in Nebula City?" Florence exclaimed.

Even her husband looked at Alex disdainfully upon hearing what his wife had said.

Almost everyone in the city knew about the live-in son-in-law of the Jenningses.

It was rare to see a live-in son-in-law in Nebula City, and the news was a hot gossip that time.

Of course, everyone looked down upon a live-in son-in-law.

“Who else could it be?” Sneered Lori.

“Hey, buddy. How do you feel about being a live-in son-in-law?” Teased Jerry, who was Florence’s husband.

“Of course, it feels good for him. He can get whatever he wants without doing anything.” Jerome sniggered.

Upon hearing this, all the people around them laughed.

“Oh, he’s the live-in son-in-law who made headlines in Nebula City before?”

“I can’t believe that. He looks quite decent. I didn’t expect that he is the live-in son-in-law. Doesn’t he care about his dignity as a man? I always thought he is a handicapped man.”

“Yeah, you’re right. Why is he doing that? He must have disgraced his family.”

Everyone pointed at Alex and gossiped behind his back.

Heather was extremely embarrassed. If I knew that this will happen, I would not have accompanied them here today.

Alex glanced at the crowd with an indifferent expression on his face. He had been accustomed to hearing such statements and thought nothing of it. He didn’t want to waste his time arguing with them.

When he was about to pass through the crowd to the VIP area to ask for Madison’s autograph, a sudden commotion happened in front of him.

“She’s here! She’s here!”

“Madison, I’m your fan. Can you please give me your autograph?”

“Madison, we love you!”

Many young people cheered. A lot of people were using their cell phones and cameras to take pictures.

Lori and Florence were also excited. They also took out their mobile phones to take photos while waiting in line to get Madison's signature.

Alex turned around and saw Madison walked to the crowd under the protection of the staff.

She was wearing a pure white dress and a blue crystal necklace. The pendant fell on her cleavage, and she looked extremely stunning.

With exquisite makeup and an elegant hairdo, she looked gorgeous and seductive.

Many male fans couldn't help but lick their lips.

At that moment, Madison, who was signing autographs for her fans, suddenly noticed Alex. His presence caused her to pause her actions..

She threw the pen to the staff and walked towards in the direction of Alex.

Everyone was stunned and didn't know what had happened.

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 94

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 94 Mr Jefferson

They quickly shifted to another lane as they stared at Madison Zucker.

"Oh my God, don't tell me that the star Madison Zucker is coming for me!" Florence covered her mouth in disbelief and shock.

"She really is headed towards us! Oh my God! I'm older than her, but I can still feel my heart racing!" Lori was ecstatic as well.

Jerome and Jerry exchanged glances, and they could both see the disbelief in each other's eyes.

"Jerome, aren't you a member of the management team in the Four Seas Corporation? Is Madison Zucker coming to say hi to you?" Jerry stared at Jerome with both admiration and shock.

Jerry wasn't much of a fan of celebrities, but he still wanted to meet Madison in person because she was a huge star.

He suddenly felt envious of Jerome's job. Damn it. The Four Seas Corporation really is something. Even an executive like him can get to know someone like Madison Zucker!

"Of course! Jerome is really badass. Celebrities are here looking for him when all the other people are still praying to get a chance to meet their idols," Lori said proudly.

At that thought, her mindset suddenly changed.

My husband is amazing, so am I fangirling over some other celebrities?

She excitedly brushed her hair and held onto Jerome's arms. She then tried to conceal the excitement she felt as she presented herself as a gracious plus one who was about to accept Madison's flattery.

"Wow! Lori, you need to get some autographs for me!" Florence said out of envy.

"Don't worry. Madison will sign everything you want if I ask her to. I can even get her to take a picture with you," Lori waved her hands and boasted.

Everyone present was envious of Lori and her husband, so they wanted to flatter them in hopes of obtaining their favor in getting the celebrity's autographs.

Upon facing the crowd's gazes of admiration, Jerome started to believe that what Lori said was true as well.

Regardless of how famous Madison is, the Four Seas Corporation was the one who helped her achieve success.

Therefore, as a member of the management team in the Four Seas Corporation, she will definitely come and butter me up.

At that thought, Jerome smoothed out his collar, cleared his throat, and announced solemnly, "Please quieten down for now. I am the assistant manager of the Human Resource Department in the Four Seas Corporation, Jerome Laster, and I will talk to Madison later and try to fulfill all of your requests."

"Thank you, Mr. Laster!"

"You really are amazing!"

"I love you, Ms. Laster!"

The crowd burst into an uproar as they started to cheer.

With a pleased expression, Jerome and his wife walked towards Madison.

“Madison, you’re here for me, right?” Jerome stared at Madison solemnly while Lori had a smug expression on as well.

However, Madison flinched slightly and frowned. “Who are you? Please excuse me.”

Huh?

Jerome was stunned in his place, and the crowd gaped in shock as well.

This isn’t how things are supposed to go.

“My husband is the assistant manager of the Human Resource Department in Four Seas Corporation...” Lori introduced Jerome to Madison proudly.

However, she replied, “I’m sorry, but I don’t know you.”

Madison took one final look at the couple, before walking past them towards Alex.

She then bowed courteously and greeted, “M-Mr. Jefferson!”

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 95

Finding out the Billionaire Chapter 95 The Respect From Madison Zucker

At that moment, everyone was stunned.

Am I seeing this correctly? The huge star Madison Zucker is greeting a live-in son-in-law so politely?

“What did Madison refer to him as? Mr. Jefferson?”

Heather, who was in a bad mood, was stunned as well. She stared at Madison and Alex in disbelief and wondered, “What’s happening here?”

“Madison, are you mistaken somehow? Not only is he a security guard, but he’s also a live-in son-in-law who lives off on his wife. He’s not the Mr. Jefferson you’re talking about,” Lori reminded.

Alex is a piece of garbage, so why is Madison trying to flatter him without even sparing a glance at Jerome?

I’m so pissed at this!

On the other hand, Jerome was embarrassed beyond belief because his bragging just now turned out to be a farce.

Besides that, the crowd's mocking glances made him want to bury his head in the sand out of embarrassment.

"Security guard?" Madison didn't turn around, but it was evident that a sardonic glint flashed in her eyes.

She had originally thought that Alex was a mere security guard as well, but she was stopped by his secretary every time she wanted to meet him.

It was hard for her to meet him in person, so she couldn't miss this rare and valuable opportunity.

Recently, the Four Seas Corporation invested tens of billions to compete with the three major companies for avenues to increase artists' popularity. Therefore, everyone in their right mind would want to meet Alex to secure the support from the Four Seas Corporation. If they managed to do so, their popularity would skyrocket.

Besides Madison, a few other actresses wanted to curry favor with Alex too.

"Just mind your own business and leave me alone." Alex waved his hands to dismiss Madison.

However, Madison tried to invite Alex again, "Mr. Jefferson, I would like to invite you to..."

"Mmm?" Alex's expression darkened before she could finish.

Madison's heart skipped a beat as she urgently changed the subject, "Mr. Jefferson, I'll get going then..."

She was afraid and disappointed because Alex's behavior made her feel very insecure.

Among the few most popular female artists in the Four Seas Corporation, Madison was the richest and most popular one.

Even so, she knew that her career would be ruined if she ever crossed Alex.

"Wait a minute," Alex suddenly stopped Madison.

She was overjoyed as she thought that Alex had changed his mind, so she turned around and stared at him excitedly.

However, Alex was smiling at Heather. "Didn't you want an autograph from Madison? She can sign for you right now."

"Huh?"

Heather still hadn't recovered from her surprise, so she was dumbfounded.

"Do you want an autograph?" Alex asked, and she unwittingly shook her head.

Alex then shrugged and said to Madison, "Alright. Please get going now."

"Alright, Mr. Jefferson." Madison nodded and went back to churning out autographs for the crowd.

Nonetheless, the crowd's attention was not on her anymore.

Instead, their gazes were fixated on Alex because they all wondered who he really was.

Madison didn't even show Jerome any respect, so why is she trying to flatter a live-in son-in-law like Alex?

Does Alex Jefferson have a secret identity of some sort?

Jerome and the rest were especially confused by that.

"Let's go since you don't want an autograph."

Alex didn't want to stay here any longer because everyone was staring at him.

Heather caught up to Alex and blurted out, "Why does Madison respect you so much?"