Chapter 21

The smile on her face was ethereal and beautiful, but with unspeakable coldness.

She leaned forward, sat on his legs, raised her arms and circled his neck.

Their lips touched before they stared at each other.

Feeling that his face was gloomy and frightening, a trace of fear rose in her heart.

“Brandon, i...”

He had always known that she was the most beautiful woman in the world.

What he didn't know was that whether Cain had been seen too and the anger that had calmed down in his chest was gathering little by little.

He would take good care of her all his life.

Brandon was frightened by his own thought. It turned out that his possessive desire for this woman was so strong

Brandon sat on the chair and smoked.

After tidying herself up, she turned around and opened the door of the study. There was no figure of Leo at the door. She looked around unconsciously, and finally saw a flicker of flame in the corner. Noticing the gaze from behind, Leo turned around and looked into her eyes. He smiled, which was indescribable strong and embarrassed.

Just now, there was a loud noise in the study, and it was impossible for Leo not to hear it.

Perhaps it was because he heard her uncontrollable voice that he hid in a corner to smoke.

When she returned to her bedroom, she opened the closet. She wanted to find an old dress that she hadn't taken away to wash her face and brush her teeth, but she didn't expect that the closet was opened. There were a variety of colors, styles, and dresses of various seasons. She took the tag and saw all her sizes.

Didn't he like Winnie?

Since they had divorced, there was no need to prepare so much.

In order to take good care of Giselle Cassel and prevent his mother from having a relapse of her old illness, he could buy so many clothes for the people he hated.

She took a pajama randomly and went to the bathroom to take a shower. When she took a shower, she touched her belly more than once. Just now, she was afraid of being hurt.

As soon as she took a shower, the guard called her and told her that she could visit her dad.

'it's so quick,' said Savanna.

She put on a high neck wool shirt, which covered the hickey on her neck. When she was about to put on her down Brandonet, the door was pushed open, and Brandon refused to come in, bringing in a cold wind.

He took a look at her and saw that she was about to go out. Without asking where he was going, he said without hesitation: "Let me drive you home."

She wanted to say no, but she swallowed her words again. Her father was still in prison, and she had no idea whether he was alive or dead. If she chose to compromise, she had to be obedient. She knew well about the man named Brandon. No matter how enthusiastic he seemed to be to her, he was cold-blooded behind it.

And she didn't want to be against him in public anymore

Brandon drove the car out of the garage and got in. The car drove fast all the way to the gate of the detention center.

Brandon was a celebrity in the city, and his face gives him all green lights. Seeing him, the jailer immediately led them inside.

Soon, with the help of two people, David came out with his trembling body

When he saw Brandon, his turbid eyes suddenly lit up, and his lips trembled with excitement: "Brandon."

"David."

Grabbing the skinny hand of Mr. Thompson tightly, she couldn't help but burst into tears.

Brandon pulled Savanna into his arms and said to Nancy

"Dad, you can go out tomorrow. There are some formalities that can't be completed tonight, so you have to stay here for one more night."

"It's okay."

He was so excited that he kept saying that he was fine.

He hoped that his daughter and son-in-law could visit him together, which meant that the media had spread the rumor about their marriage.

He knew it was gossip.

He was quite pleased with his son-in-law.

The appearance of Brandon's resignation gave the greatest comfort to the Thompsons.

Savanna turned around, she saw her father's stooping body lying on the ground.

"Dad."

Regardless of the resistance of the soldiers, she broke free from the arms of Brandon and rushed over desperately.

Brandon caught up with her quickly and glanced at the pale face of Savanna. without hesitation, he picked her up from the ground and shouted coldly: "Call 911 now."

Seeing this, several jailers rushed over and stood in front of him. They were embarrassed: "Mr. Cassel, you can't take her away."

"Go away if you don't want to die."

The air around him was as cold as a demon.

The jailers shivered and finally moved their bodies involuntarily.

Brandon picked up the dying Mrs. Thompson into the car, followed by Savanna. he sat in the passenger seat and looked back at his father who was pale in the back seat from time to time.

Her heart clenched.

When Leo came out, Brandon had already ignited the car, and the car rushed to the hospital at a fast speed.

He ran many red lights along the way.

Ten minutes later, the doctors and nurses rushed into the operating room.

Biting her lips, she sat on the bench in silence, while Brandon leaned against the white column at the door of the operating room with one hand and smoked silently.

At this moment, it was so quiet in the corridor that even the sound of dropping needles could be heard

They could even hear the rapid heartbeat of the two.

After a long time, the door of the operating room finally opened. The doctor came out, took off his mask and looked depressed: "Let's go inside and see the patient for the last time!"

Hearing this, Savanna felt like a flood of sorrow, and her whole body became soft, as if she had lost consciousness in an instant,

Brandon rushed to her and held her in his arms,

It seemed that the doctor's words finally came to her mind. She raised her head and glanced at Brandon. Then she broke away from his arms and rushed into the operating room like crazy.

"Dad."

Looking at her father's pale face on the operating table, she opened and closed her lips. Her dry throat could only make a sound.

He opened his eyes and looked behind her. When he saw the tall figure of Brandon, a relieved smile finally appeared on his snow-white and dry lips.

"B... Brandon."

He said with difficulty.

"David."

After a few hasty steps, Brandon walked to the side of Savanna. he reached out and held the hand that was slowly raised by Savanna.

With great difficulty, Mr. Thompson took one of her hands and handed her daughter's hand to Brandon.

"Brandon, don't let me..."

The words "disappointed" came out of his mouth, and the hand of his daughter and son-in-law dropped.

His closed eyes could never open again.

Tears streamed down from her face, unscrupulously and fiercely.

She opened and closed her lips, unable to say a word. Her trembling body softened.

“Savanna.”

Brandon held her in his arms and held her waist tightly. Although they were so close to each other, he felt that something was slowly disappearing with the departure of Savanna.

That was why he drove the sick patient to the hospital in a hurry.

After all, it couldn't save his life.

The news about the death of Mr. Thompson flooded the whole city.

There were a large number of people coming to Thompson group to ask for debts.

Justin, who could not bear it, called Savanna, but he could not find anyone, and the phone was answered by Leo. Leo went to Thompson group under the order of Brandon.

When he came back, he reported to him: “Mr. Cassel, the debt that the Thompson group owes is beyond our imagination, and the Thompson group has stolen a huge amount of tax...”

“How much is Thompson Group's debt: “Brandon interrupted him.

“After deducting the working capital of the project, there are about several hundred million left.”

Leo answered like a tool man.

“Hold a press conference and announce that Thompson Group has officially acquired Thompson group.”

“Yes, sir.”

Suppressing his excitement, Leo answered automatically.

He had always been worried about the fate of the Thompson group. He wanted to help the Thompson group, but he felt that he didn't have the strength to do it. Now that the boss finally officially helped the Thompson group, Leo was finally relieved.

He immediately went to do what his boss told him.

When she woke up, she found herself lying in the room of the The Rose Villas. Thinking of her father's death, she felt a dull pain in her heart. She immediately stood up, simply tidied up and hurried downstairs.

Hearing the footsteps, Debbie came out of the kitchen.

Seeing that her mother looked haggard, she said worriedly: “Savanna, you wake up...”

“Where are you going? Savanna.”

Seeing that she didn't turn around and rushed out, Nancy followed her out in a hurry.

When she walked to the door, she turned back. She grabbed Nancy's hand and asked anxiously: “Debbie, is my father's body still in the hospital?”

“No, he was sent back to Thompson Mansion by Mr. Cassel.”

Didn't she pledge the Thompson family out?

Maybe she had seen through what was on her mind, she explained in time: “Mr. Cassel bought Mr. Thompson's house. He said that it is Mr. Thompson's house and Mr.

Thompson's body can't be placed there."

Before she could finish her words.

She was left behind in a hurry.

When Savanna Thompson rushed into Thompson's house, Leo was commanding a group of people to mourn. When he turned around and saw her, he gently called "Mrs. Cassel", but did not dare to go forward.

Standing beside the coffin, Savanna 's hands were shaking violently.

Her face was as white as a sheet. She was extremely sad, but he was too stubborn to shed another tear.

As soon as she received the message, she lowered her eyes and opened the WeChat interface. It was a few pictures of her aunt, Claire, sent by Justin.

A cold expression flashed across her dull face.

She put on the all black suit silently and slowly knelt down to the portrait of Savanna.

Lowering her head, she began to salute the people who came to mourn in silence.

There were not many people coming to mourn, except for a few Unclothed relatives, and the employees of the Thompson group who had been well treated by Mrs.

Thompson and conscientious employees. And some of them were just for her identity as Mrs. Cassel.

Everyone knew that although Savanna had divorced with Brandon, it was highly possible that the baby in Sherry's womb was from the hospitable attitude of Brandon after the death of Savanna.

After all, a bossy man like Brandon would never raise a child for others.

"Savanna , people can't be reborn. By the way, I'm sorry."

The woman's soft voice came along with the murmur. Looking for the source of the voice, she saw the well-dressed and exquisitely made up Winnie on the wheelchair.

Pushing her was an elegant and charming woman, and her aunt, Claire.

That was exactly what Claire said.

Turning her eyes from Claire to Winnie.

Her face was extremely cold, and her voice was sonorous and powerful:

"My father doesn't want to see you. Please go out."

"Savanna, my mother came back from England just to see your father for the last time."

Looking at the silent figure in the hall, with a sneer on her red lips

"How many people can come to mnourn my uncle? In this world, no one will be as loyal as our family.

Then her body rolled down from the chair inexplicably.

Claire was shocked:"Winnie..."

After rolling down two steps, she fell into a broad embrace.

Claire staggered two steps. When she saw the man holding her daughter in his arms, she stopped and finally showed a happy expression on her face. She was relieved. As soon as she raised her head, tears welled up in her misty eyes and fell down from her cheeks. She grabbed the collar of Brandon, regardless of the pain on his face, and spoke incoherently and choked: "Brandon, I... my mother and I... just wanted to pray for uncle Simon, but she... She didn't..."

She lowered her head and burst into tears, as if she had suffered a lot. Looking at the tearful face of Winnie, Brandon didn't know what to say. He looked up and saw Savanna standing at the door of the hall, she was dressed in a white funeral dress, which made her more gentle and touching.

However, the coldness in her eyes made Brandon's heart tremble.

She looked at him as if he was an irrelevant stranger.

Thinking of the word "stranger", his heart ached even more.

After a brief eye contact, she sneered, with a mocking smile on her lips, turned around and walked in.

Noticing that Becky was looking at her with the figure of Savanna. Winnie became nervous. She grabbed his sleeve and pleaded in a low voice: "I don't want to go in, but my mother came back from a long distance and asked her to visit uncle. My mother is a kind person. If she goes in today to pray for uncle, she will never feel at ease for the rest of her life."

Afraid that Brandon might not agree, she continued: "My uncle saved my mother's life. If it weren't for him, my mother would have died."

There was a sobbing tone in her voice, and Brandon slowly looked away at her pitiful little face. Under the woman's repeated begging, the man's heart finally softened.

He pushed away Winnie's hand that was tightly holding his sleeve and said to Claire: "Come with me."

Claire was overjoyed. She quietly looked at Winnie, with joy in her eyes. And this scene happened to be seen by Leo at the door.

He disliked her.

Claire cautiously hoped that the two of them could enter the mourning hall one after another.

Claire just took the a candle from the servant and was about to place them in front of the portrait of Savanna however, the candle in her hand was taken away and smashed to the ground with a swish.

Claire's face was scalded. Claire screamed and covered her face with her hand.

Seeing the conspicuous red dot on her mother’s white cheekbones, Winnie trembled with anger.”Savanna.”

She shouted in a pitiful voice.

She lost her legs, got sympathy from Giselle Cassel, and lived in Bo mansion.

However, it was also because of this that his love for her seemed to be less than before.

If she wanted to see him, she had to pretend to be painful in her legs and act like a spoiled child every time.

It seemed that his heart was slowly drifting away from her.

As a stubborn woman, Winnie couldn’t accept such a reality, so she discussed with Claire and planned to play a sad play at the funeral of Mr. Thompson.

So that Brandon could see clearly what kind of person he was.

It was exactly what she wanted!

Although she looked delicate and lovely on the surface, she giggled in her heart, which was the joy of victory

Savanna didn’t want to say anything more to her:”Fuck off!”

“Becky, look at the fierce Savanna. My mother is kind. She actually...”

Before Winnie could finish her words, she heard the voice of Brandon. He said to Savanna wan:”Savanna , what happened between you and Winnie has nothing to do with your aunt. She just wants to pray for your father.”

With an expression on her face, she didn’t even want to take a look at Brandon. She just said:”No need. My father can’t afford it.”

“You’ve gone too far, Savanna.” Claire rubbed the scald on her face and said angrily:”What did I do to offend you? Why did you do this to me? Your mother and I are blood related. How could you poke my eyes with a candle?”

CO

Claire said in a sad voice:”What good will it do to you if you blind me?”

“I know you are mentally ill. You have been jealous that Winnie is better than you and that our family is richer than yours since childhood!”

With her lips turning pale and her fingertips covering her palms, she suppressed her impulse to tear the mother and daughter up.

She stood straight with her beautiful eyes turning two circles on her face. Then she smiled and said: “I’m jealous of her?”

“Does she deserve it?”

Did she deserve it? Claire and Winnie couldn’t get off the stage.

Claire’s voice became shrill:”Winnie has always been better than you. You can’t get Brandon’s love. It’s your own fault. He had no choice to marry you. Now that you have divorced, you have a grudge against Winnie. You are pregnant, and Winnie went to the hospital to see you out of kindness. But you instigated her to fall down the stairs on purpose. You are so cruel. She is your cousin!"

"Aunt Claire, please don't say anything else."

Claire's words irritated him.

On the other hand, hearing the word "Aunt Claire" from Brandon, a sense of sadness spread in Savanna's heart. What kind of person was Brandon? If he didn't care about Winnie, how could he respect Claire so much.

The fingertips of her hands were so cold that they were snow-white. She was trying her best to hold back her trembling body.

She smiled silently: "I asked her to do that?"

She asked Brandon: "Do you think so?"

Brandon pursed his lips. He really wanted to tell her that he had never thought so. However, she was too stubborn.

The pressure from the mother and daughter might make her tell him the truth that he wanted to hear.

Therefore, he didn't move, but when he saw this scene, it was a man standing on the side of Winnie. His silence was like a dagger stirring in his heart.

The pain in her heart was beyond words.

She heard her own hoarse and weak voice: "Who does she get along with? Who will she listen to? Do you think she is a fool?"

"Yes, I have a good relationship with her, but that's only on the surface. In Savanna, my legs are broken and I can't walk anymore. My dream of dancing in the famous international group has been ruined. It's all your fault!"

The roar and accusation of Winnie made everyone silent.

She couldn't help but look at Brandon. The man's complicated eyes and guilty look couldn't escape from her eyes.

And his silent emotion was like salt to the bloody wound of sherry.

With a pale face, she took a step back and muttered: "Yes, I did everything, but so what?"

He didn't expect that the woman would admit it openly in public

"Savanna..."

However, Savanna didn't want to give him another look.

She turned around and said to Leo: "Leo, ask them to get out of here."

Leo looked at Brandon nervously. He didn't dare to make the decision without the order of his boss.

Once again, she smiled silently. She picked up her phone and dialed 120 without hesitation, saying: "Someone is stirring up trouble here. The address is..."

After calling the police, she walked two steps forward to Claire and said: "Auntie, you are a grateful person, an ungrateful person. Look at this!"

As she spoke, Savanna took out her phone and took out a few photos from it. The background of the photos was a dark bar. Claire whispered to a coquettish girl, and in the other one, Claire handed a thick stack of money to the girl in the entertainment club, and the third one was the money with her beautiful fingers inlaid with diamonds. Claire glanced at them and said calmly, although she was flustered: "The photo was photoshoped. It's not me at all!"

"Okay."

With the tip of her tongue against the back of her teeth, Savanna looked at Brandon coldly: "Mr. Cassel, please send someone to check it!"

Looking at the awe inspiring look of Savanna, Brandon frowned slightly. He ordered Leo: "Call Mike."

"Okay."

Leo had already found the number of the technical assistant from the contact list, but he dialed it in a second: "Mike, come here Thompson's villa."

Mike, a high-end technology talent of Thompson Group, rushed over in a hurry.

After checking the photos with the mobile phone of Savanna, she came to a conclusion: "There is no connection. It's not a fusion."

Claire wanted to argue again: "But I really don't know this girl. Handsome, do you want to have a look again?"

Before Mike could refute, Leo's voice sounded slowly: "Mrs. LAN, you are doubting the technical talents of our Thompson Group."

It was not a question, but a statement.

Facing the angry look on Mike's face, Claire didn't dare to say anything more. She shifted the topic to another topic: "Even if they are not photoshoped, these photos don't mean anything."

Savanna said word by word coldly: "First, if you give her money, it means that there is a deal between you two. Second, this girl is the target of the rapist who was absent from my father's court trial."

The question hit the nail on the head. It was pointed out that Claire bribed a prostitute to seduce Mr. Thompson, who was a lawyer in court, so that Mr. Thompson couldn't be sent out for medical treatment in time and died in prison.

In other words, Claire was the one who had committed the crime of murder.

A woman who wanted to kill Mr. Thompson was now shouting in public to mourn for him.

This was a harsh slap in his face.

Ordinary people would feel ashamed, but Claire was not an ordinary person. She was even more shameless than the city wall: "Even if I know this woman, even if she seduces your father's lawyer, it can't prove that I asked her to do it. I'm her friend. If my friend is in trouble, I can't refuse!"

"Yes, that girl's name is Nina. She just borrowed money from my mother."

Noticing that the situation was not good, she tried to help her mother.

All the people looked at him. After thinking for two seconds, he lifted his thin lips and said to Leo :”Call the police.”

Before Leo could make a phone call, two policemen had come in from the outside:”Who is causing trouble?”

Then she walked up to the policeman and told him everything. When Claire’s wrists were handcuffed, she shouted at Winnie with a hoarse voice and messy hair:”My dear daughter, help me. I’m innocent. Help ine!”

”How heartless you are!”

Winnie scolded.

She didn’t expect that her mother would be sent to prison after asking her to act with her.

Winnie was so angry that her eyes turned red and she trembled all over.

Said Savanna , gritting her teeth.

However, instead of leaving, Winnie became more arrogant. She begged in a low voice:

She really didn’t want to see her daughter suffer in front of her. Her fingertips scratched her palm, and the blood slipped quietly from it. Smelling the blood, she closed her eyes and said in a cold

No one dared to say such words to him, especially in public. They thought he would be angry, but unexpectedly, he looked down and ordered the bodyguards in a cold voice:

”Take her away.”

He raised his hand to push away the hand that was tightly holding his arm.

She was forced to leave the mourning hall.

She cried sadly and pathetically:”Brandon, you are so cruel to me...”

The hall with sad music finally quieted down after the two of them left.

Giselle Cassel came with aunt Bai. She heard that Claire bribed a woman in a entertainment club to murder Savanna. she scolded Winnie and her daughter severely.

Then, Giselle Cassel held Savanna ‘s hand and kept blaming herself:

”Savanna , it’s all my fault. If only I had known about the Thompson group earlier.”

Soon after the funeral, Malcolm was buried and always lay in a cemetery in the deep city. The cemetery was chosen by Savanna, next to her mother.

It had been two days and two nights since she closed her eyes. Every time she closed her eyes, her old face would appear in her mind. With tears in her eyes, she said to her, "Thompson group doesn't need to worry about it. Savanna, live a good life with Brandon."

But she knew that it was not from her father's heart.

Her father had always regarded the Thompson group as his lifeblood. If it weren't for the Thompson group, he wouldn't have fallen ill or lost his life.

She told herself that she must separate the Thompson group from the Thompson Group.

She put on a delicate makeup and applied a few layers of powder to the corners of her eyes, but the

After saying that, she went out without looking back.

Looking at her receding figure, Nancy immediately took out her phone and called Brandon: "Mr. Cassel, I haven't had breakfast in Savanna. She said she had to go to work."

Nancy was always on the side of Savanna.

However, after the death of Mr. Thompson, the situation in Savanna was very bad. She always looked at the ceiling in silence. She tried to talk to her for several times, but she was always silent. She was a little anxious. Before leaving home this morning, Brandon specially told her to report to him if there was anything unusual in her.

Nancy didn't tell Brandon about it. She was really worried that something bad would happen to sherry.

Stepping into Thompson group's building, taking the elevator all the way into the technology department, and then into the president's office area, she was greeted by the employees all the way, feeling that the working atmosphere of the employees was much more serious than usual.

Justin had been longing for this high-end product for a long time, but he couldn't get the patent production right. When the Thompson Group purchased the Thompson group, the Thompson group was the child of the Thompson Group. With the support of the Thompson Group, the Thompson group could be rampant in the industry in the future. Taking up the machine and glancing at it for a while, she was not very happy. She said to Justin indifferently: "They are just making money for the Thompson Group." All the employees of the Thompson group, including sherry, had resigned for Brandon since then.

Justin knew that it was not easy for the Thompson Group to purchase the Thompson group by force, but money was the most important thing. If it weren't for the Thompson Group, nearly a thousand employees of the Thompson group would have starved to death.

"Ms. Thompson, Mr. Cassel just called and said that he had just received a big order. The signed contract will finish the production of this batch of robots in a week."

"Okay."

Said Savanna.

Seeing that she was not in a good mood, Justin hurriedly said to her: "I'm going to supervise the factory."

Knowing that the customer's requirements were very high, Justin was worried about the people on the production line and wanted to supervise the work in person. She stopped Justin and said:

"I'll go. I'll leave it to you in advance."

As soon as she finished her words, she left the Thompson group building quickly, regardless of Justin's permission.

In order to complete the task assigned by Thompson Group within a week, Savanna was asked the factory to work day and night.

The The Rose Villas was ablaze with fire even at night.

The food in the restaurant had been heated several times. Sitting at the table, Brandon looked down at his watch from time to time. The French clock on the wall pointed to twelve. The calm expression on his face gradually cracked. He called Leo and asked: "Check what she is doing."

Leo checked the surveillance video of Thompson group with his mobile phone and finally saw the figure of Savanna

"Mrs. Cassel, it's so late. You should come back..."

Before he could finish his words, the phone was snatched away by Brandon. The man's voice was cold and angry: "You have twenty minutes. If you don't come back, never come back."

Then he hung up the phone.

He was pissed off by his wife. Was he a decoration as her husband? There were so many people in the Thompson group. Why did she have to supervise them in person? Brandon sat quietly at the table and waited.

However, twenty minutes later, she still didn't show up. The French clock on the wall rang twelve. At this time, Debbie came out of the kitchen and glanced at the cold dishes on the table: "Mr. Cassel, are you going to heat up the dishes?"

"No need, dump it."

Said Brandon coldly. He put on his coat and drove away without looking back.

When she came back, it was already the second morning. Nancy caught up with her, looked at her belly and said anxiously: "Savanna, the baby is only three months old. You can't bear it!"

Seeing that Savanna didn't say anything, Nancy said: "Mr. Cassel was angry last night. It's the first time I've seen him so angry..."

Aunt Debby wanted to say something more, but was interrupted by Savanna: "It's not his child. Why are you angry?"

But Nancy didn't take her words seriously. She knew that Mr. Cassel had hurt her deeply and she was just angry

Justin burst into tears and said intermittently: "Mr. Cassel is going to fire me. He said that I am too

Finally, she raised her head and looked at Justin with deep and cold eyes. After observing him for a long time, she said slowly: "Does Brandon care about me?"

Justin wiped the tears from the corner of his eyes and nodded fiercely.

In the eyes of Savanna son, even if she was dead, he would not take a look at her. Justin was scared out of his wits when he saw that Savanna turned around and was about to go back to the car room again. He chased after her and entered the workshop one after another. The workshop director immediately greeted them from the production line when he saw them. The workshop director smiled brightly and said flatteringly: “Mr. Thompson, Ms. Bai, there are a few more boxes of finished goods. They will be delivered on time tomorrow.”

Joyce nodded and said “thank you” to the director of the workshop. Then she went back to her temporary office next to the workshop.

Justin couldn’t persuade her to leave, so he had to stay in the workshop with her. It was not until the second night that Justin heaved a sigh of relief.

Justin was about to send her back to the The Rose Villas, but he didn’t expect that she would ask

Justin to contact all the managers of the production line to celebrate in the bar, which frightened

Justin. Justin sent her back to the bar while sending a message to Leo.

“Leo, Ms. Thompson is going to the bar to celebrate. I have no choice. Come here quickly!”

In the bar, in the dim light, her face looked much paler than usual, but her eyes were full of genuine smile. This was the first time that she had succeeded in covering her. Without her father’s halo, she had to rely on herself from now on.

The colorful cocktail shone brightly in the light. When she was about to take the glass to her lips,

Of course, Justin knew exactly who she was in the words of Brandon. It was just the depressed Savanna beside him!

Justin made a phone call, but then hung up. The busy signal knocked on his eardrum.

Justin wiped the cold sweat on his forehead, changed a glass of fruit wine with a cocktail and handed it to Savanna: “My lady, there’s no alcohol. Drink this.”

Taking the fruit wine, she raised her neck and drank it up.

The employees of Thompson’s factory were trembling with fear when they saw the interaction between Justin and Savanna. They didn’t dare to say anything until she raised the glass in her hand,

After drinking another glass of fruit wine, her little face immediately turned red. She took out her phone, took a photo of her red face, puffed up her cheeks, and then edited a few words.

Finally, the goods were delivered. She was so happy. For the rest of her life, she had to rely on herself and cheer up.

The text was quickly posted on Facebook.

In less than two minutes, she received several likes of her post. One of them was her classmate in high school, and the comment seemed to be "Cain Wilson".

Then he asked, "What makes you so happy? Where are you?"

Almost in a second, she replied, "The bar."

In less than a second, the phone rang again. It was Cain. He asked about the detailed address.

After hanging up the phone, Savanna found the message box on Facebook and quickly share the address with him.

Seeing that situation, Justin quickly sent the address to Leo.

When Leo and Brandon arrived at the bar, Savanna had been picked up by Cain. Justin didn't dare to look up at Brandon's cold face. He said in a trembling voice, "I went to the washroom. Young lady disappeared after I came out."

"Submit your resignation tomorrow."

After finishing his words, Brandon pushed Leo out of the car and drove away from the bar as fast as he could

After getting in the car, Savanna was in a bad mood. She didn't know where Cain was to take her. While driving, he turned around and asked, "Savanna, where do you live now? Let me drive you home."

After getting in the car, Savanna was in a bad mood. She didn't know where Cain was to take her. While driving, he turned around and asked, "Savanna, where do you live now? Let me drive you home."

Not knowing whether she was really drunk or not, a faint smile appeared at the corners of her mouth. Her black eyelashes covered the hazy water in her eyes. She muttered, "I don't want to go back. Let's go for a ride."

The street lamp shone on her ruddy cheeks from the windshield, making her look like a holy flower that no one dared to desecrate. She was extremely beautiful and eye-catching.

"Okay."

A normal man would never be able to refuse a beautiful woman's invitation.

Besides, she was the woman he had loved for a long time.

The blood in Cain's body was running fast.

Just as he stepped on the gas and the car sped forward, a black Cayenne car passed him in a flash. With a screech of the wheel rubbing the ground in the sky, the black Cayenne car adjusted the front of him in an extremely arrogant manner and stopped in front of him.

With a cold sweat all over his body, he quickly turned the steering wheel. The moment the front of the car quickly tilted, he stepped on the brake.

Before he could react, the door of the Cayenne car in front of him had opened. The tall and straight man had quickly walked over, and then the sound of glass knocking was heard.

As the car window was rolled down, he saw the angry face of Brandon.

Before Savanna figured out what was going on, she thought there was a car accident.

The moment Cain stepped on the brake, her hands tightly grasped the seat belt around her waist. Her snow-white lips gradually returned to warm when she turned around and saw the angry face of

Brandon

“Cain, dr...”

Before she could say the word ‘drive’, her arm was grabbed by a strong force which pulled her out of the car,

“Let me go... Let me go...”

While she was shouting, she had been pulled out of the car by Brandon. When she was thrown into the Cayenne by him, she turned around and shouted at Cain, who had opened the door and rushed to them, “Cain, I don’t want to go back. Cain, help me.”

While she was shouting, she had been pulled out of the car by Brandon. When she was thrown into the Cayenne by him, she turned around and shouted at Cain, who had opened the door and rushed to them, “Cain, I don’t want to go back. Cain, help me.”

Hearing her soft voice for help, Cain felt heartbroken. He reached out to stop in front of the Cayenne and roared angrily, “Brandon, did you hear that? She doesn’t want to go back with you. Put her down.”

Brandon pursed his lips into a straight line, and the veins on his forehead tightened. His cold fingernails tightly turned the steering wheel, and the car rushed forward regardless of anything.

Cain took two steps back, but still did not want to get out of the way. He did not want to let Brandon take Savanna away.

Seeing that Savanna suffered a lot, Cain felt that it was a hundred times more painful than her.

The front part of the car hit Cain’s body, which scared Savanna out of her wits. She opened her mouth and widened her eyes. When she saw that Cain’s body was hit to the ground by the car with a fierce force, she couldn’t make any sound in her throat. She grabbed the arm of Brandon who was driving, and finally managed to squeeze out a word, “Stop!”

However, Brandon would not listen to her.

No matter how she beat him, screamed and roared, the black Cayenne was still like an agile tiger and a leopard, speeding away.

Turning around, she saw that Cain struggled to get up from the ground, and the corner of his mouth seemed to be bleeding, but he rushed up regardless of anything.

Tears blurred her vision.

However, the car drove faster and faster, and the tall figure quickly turned into a small black dot and disappeared on her retina.

The black Cayenne sped back to The Rose Villas.

With a crack, the wheels stopped rolling.

Hugging the seat tightly, Savanna didn’t want to get in the car. After unfastening the seat belt, Brandon got out of the car and walked around the front of the car. He opened the door and suppressed his anger, "Get off the car."

Seeing that the woman in the passenger seat didn't seem to hear what he said. The anger that had been extinguished burst out from his chest again. He clasped her slender arm with one hand, and peeled off her fingers which tightly grasped the car cushion with the other hand.

Chapter 27

Savanna stopped crying and let Brandon take off her clothes with his rough hands. Then she stood still like a doll.

Brandon started to help her take a bath. After half of the bath, maybe thinking of something annoying, he threw the towel into the bathtub, which splashed a lot of waves. After Brandon left, she finally calmed down. She was afraid that she would catch a cold after staying in the bathtub for a long time, so she took out a wet towel from the water and began to wash herself.

When she came out of the bathroom, she saw that Brandon was leaning against the blinds and smoking. Seeing her coming out, he immediately put out the cigarette butt, took the hair dryer and wanted to dry her hair.

Lowering her eyes, she said in a low voice, "I can do it myself."

She took the hair dryer from Brandon's hand and inserted it into the power supply. The hair dryer began to spin, and a loud voice came from the room all of a sudden.

After she dried her hair, Brandon still had no intention of leaving.

And they stood in the same position for a long time.

Turning off the hair dryer, the sound of the hair dryer stopped, and the man's voice also sounded at this moment, "Savanna, what do you want me to do? Tell me."

She really wanted to say, "I want to leave you. I want to leave here." But she didn't dare to speak out.

Finally, she said, "Nothing."

No matter how much she had done, her father would never come back.

No matter how much he did, it was unnecessary.

"Savanna." Brandon walked towards her and fixed his eyes on her crystal red face.

"About the Thompson Group..."

"When the Cassel group purchased the Thompson group, you gave all our employees a chance to work. Thank you."

Hearing what she said and seeing her expression of alienation.

It seemed that there was no outlet for the anger burning in Brandon's heart. He tried hard to suppress his anger, "I know you hate me and blame me, but it's not my fault. Please be fair to me."

Looking at the scratches on his face under the light, she said word by word: "I don't hate you, and I don't blame you. I just want to live a peaceful life. That's all."

There was no greater grief than death.

A marriage, ten years of unrequited love, in exchange for family destruction.

She had no strength to hate or complain.

Brandon's pride and self-esteem did not allow him to say too much. Today, he was already humble enough. The tip of his tongue pressed against the back of his teeth, which was the place where she had scratched him before, without any mercy. She just wanted to hook up with that man Cain.

"Okay."

Brandon agreed.

He knew that she didn't want to see him, so he promised, "As long as you don't meet Cain Wilson anymore, I won't care about whatever you do. I can even not go back to The Rose Villas until..."

Brandon glanced at her flat belly.

"Until you give birth to the baby."

It was also the first time Brandon knew that. He regretted that he didn't kill Cain when he saw him sitting in the car.

As soon as the Thompson Group got better, that Cain Wilson came out to oppose him again.

He was playing with fire with the idea to get his woman.

At the thought of that Brandon had acquiesced in the father's funeral hall to let Winnie hurt her. Without his connivance, she wouldn't have provoked Savanna over three or five times. With the excuse that she didn't want to see him, she wouldn't go back to The Rose Villas. Then she would be able to stay with him every day in the Cassel family's old house.

What a good plan!

But why did she obey him?

Due to her deep resentment towards Brandon, a rebellious feeling rose from the bottom of her heart, "There's nothing going on between us. Why can't I meet him? Not like you and Winnie."

She had nothing to do with Cain. Was he ever having sex with Winnie?

The anger in the bottom of Brandon's heart rushed to his chest. He gritted his teeth,

"Savanna, do you have to piss me off?"

"NO, I don't dare."

The smile on her face was unreal,

"I really don't know what you are thinking about. In fact, we have divorced. You don't have to let me

“You really don’t know?”

With the tip of his tongue against the back of his bad tooth, Brandon clenched his fists.

“Yes, I don’t know.”

Looking at her stubborn face and angry expression, his heart inexplicably hurt.

He tried to explain, “I’m sorry for what happened to your father. I didn’t expect that things would turn out like this. I didn’t expect that Claire would go in, and Winnie lost her legs...”

With a sneer, she interrupted him without hesitation, “Ah, Claire went in. It was her own fault. Do you think that everything can be erased after Winnie lost one of her legs?”

Seeing that he was silent, she laughed even louder. A moment later, she stopped laughing and looked very sad, “Is it my fault that she lost her legs and dancing dream?”

She had never hated the man in front of her so much.

“Savanna.” Brandon wanted to hold her shoulder, but she stepped back to avoid him.

“Go for your Winnie. I don’t care.” With a loud bang, the door was slammed shut before entering the guest room.

Looking at the closed door, his lips turned pale and his fists clenched.

He turned around to get the key. Before he was about to open the door with the key, he hesitated.

Perhaps, it was the best way to calm each other down. At this time, even if he went in, Savanna would not be nice to him.

In the room, Savanna was sitting on the bed. Outside the window, a car light shone on her misty eyes, and then she heard the sound of car whistle driving away.

On the second day, Justin came to the office with a crying face to complain to Savanna. Justin said that Leo was ordered by Brandon to get out of here.

Justin had been working for David Thompson for several years. He was an old stuff of the Thompson Group.

It was impossible for her to let Justin go.

So she said to Justin, "Don't worry about him. From now on, you will follow me."

Chapter 28

Before Mr. Thompson's death, Winnie and her mother went to the funeral hall to provoke Savanna, where they found themselves embarrassed in public. As soon as the news spread out, it spread all over the city.

In the past, Justin could vaguely feel that Brandon liked Savanna. panna.

But after what had happened, Justin was sure that Brandon loved Savanna. Maybe he didn't even know it himself.

It was because of this that Justin dared to come to plead with her.

With the protection of Savanna, Justin didn't scare Leo anymore. Instead, he even sent a message to show off to Leo: "My lady asked me to follow her in the future. I won't hand in my resignation."

Leo didn't know whether he had read the message or not, and he didn't reply to it.

In this way, Justin stayed in the Thompson Group again. Strangely, the Cassel Group didn't assign any tasks to the Thompson Group anymore. All the business of the Thompson Group was taken over by Leo. In this way, the CEO of the Thompson Group was deprived of power of the Thompson Group.

When Savanna ran to Leo, he smiled helplessly and said, "Mrs. Cassel, Mr. Cassel is afraid that you will be tired!"

"Bullshit!"

How could she believe it!

It would be better if she died. If she died, there would be nobody stopping him from marrying his beloved woman.

Sitting in the office, Savanna bit the pen in her mouth and thought for a while. Then she called Justin in through the internal line and gave Justin a task, "I'll contact several investment banks. Please help make some exquisite business cases."

Although Justin didn't agree with what Savanna was going to do, he didn't say it. He was almost driven out of the Thompson Group by Brandon. Perhaps, he also realized that the Thompson Group couldn't survive depending on the breath of the Cassel Group. And he also knew that Savanna blamed her father's death on Brandon.

She made up her mind that she would separate the Thompson Group from the Cassel Group one day. He couldn't stop Savanna.

Justin went out to make an investment plan.

She had contacted several investment banks, but they all refused her. When she was at a loss, Cain abroad, and his friend was investigating the market recently. Cain asked her to meet this big BOSS of the investment bank.

The big BOSS had a high nose, blue eyes and deep facial features. He was a standard mixed-race handsome man.

More importantly, his investment bank was even larger than the Dawson investment bank.

After talking with him for a while, Savanna was overjoyed.

Justin casually took a photo and posted it on his Facebook, with the words, "Finally, I took the first step, with fear and trepidation."

As high school classmates, Tracy and Justin had already added each other as contacts on Facebook. Soon, she saw Justin's picture. She immediately forwarded it, but changed the text of the distribution, "My sister-in-law is so capable that she knows such a big boss like MTD. My brother meets the right person."

People all could see the sadness in her words.

And Winnie had also been a contact of her. As soon as Tracy posted it, she saw it.

She quickly forwarded the pictures of Tracy, and the text became, "Dear sister was so beautiful and capable."

At last, the two women's posts with ulterior motives were successfully seen by Brandon. Sitting in his office, he looked at the mobile phone, in which Savanna was dressed in a white business suit, beautiful and capable. Her water-black eyes were more like pearls on a jade plate, shining with bright light. The two men beside her. Although only saw their backs, he knew that one of them was Cain, and the other was MTD, the big boss of investment bank he knew.

His fingers holding the phone turned white, and his dark eyes were as cold as ice.

He didn't allow her to meet with Cain. But only one day, she not only met that man, but also went to meet MTD behind his back. Of course, Brandon knew why she went to see MTD.

If she didn't listen to him, he wouldn't let her succeed too.

After talking with MTD, she was in a good mood. When she returned to The Rose Villas, she didn't feel tired at all. MTD was willing to acquire the Thompson Group. The next step, as long as she could get the consent of Brandon, the Thompson Group could get separate successfully. However, she knew that Brandon won't agree with that.

After saying goodbye to Debbie, she went back to her bedroom and took a shower.

After sitting on the floating window and thinking for a while, she called Justin and asked Justin if he had fulfilled the relevant procedures when the Cassel Group purchased the Thompson Group.

Justin told her that as far as he knew, there was no such thing.

However, it was hard to tell whether those cunning people like Brandon had done anything behind their backs.

At least there was no procedure on the table. Therefore, she pretended that she didn't know that. She was just worried that she couldn't temporarily pay off the debts that the Cassel Group had paid for the Thompson Group, as well as 180 million dollars taxes. Perhaps it was because she was too excited that she couldn't fall asleep.

She went to the balcony to clear her mind, but accidentally kicked a door. Strangely, the normally closed door was unlocked today. As soon as she touched it, the door immediately opened to her.

Feeling something was wrong, she went downstairs and asked Debbie, "Debbie, did anyone come here today?"

Debbie was afraid that she would be unhappy, so she said in a low voice, "Winnie came to look for Mr. Cassel, but didn't find him. She left after sitting for a while."

"Who came with her?", Asked Savanna.

"The lady pushed her here.", the lady that Aunt Debby referred to was, of course, Tracy DUNG

She guessed that Tracy must have some ulterior motives for coming here with Winnie, Thinking of what happened in the hospital last time, she turned around and went upstairs. She walked straight to the balcony.

The pavilion was very small and only occupied 1/5 of the area of the rose sun restaurant. Debbie once said that there were important things of Mr. Cassel in it. In a word, Brandon was not allowed to enter it all the time.

He locked the door himself.

Secret? A word flashed through her mind.

She pushed the door open and walked in. She saw a small box in the corner of the room at a glance.

The lock of the small box fell to the ground. It was obvious that someone had turned it over.

She bent down and opened the box door. A thick stack of photos and a notebook with a yellow cover came into her sight.

All of a sudden, he felt something bad.

Regardless of the panic in her heart, Savanna couldn't help reaching out to pick up the photos. In the photos, they were all taken by the two during their dating. Some of them were taken at the performing site of the dance performance, where there were people coming and going, some were red roses presented by the vigorous Brandon, and some were taken when he sent her to perform abroad. They were taken at the airport when they said goodbye to each other. It could tell that they Winnie, if it weren't for my fear of my mother's brain tumor, I wouldn't have married her. Winnie, I'm married today. I'm so sad that you aren't the bride. Don't worry. I'll divorce her two years later. Wait for me. I'll give you a unique wedding one day.

Winnie, I'm drunk. I miss you so much. Are you okay?

Her eyes fell on the date below the diary.

May 20th, was the Valentine's day, a month after her wedding with Brandon.

During that time, he ignored her and always went out early and came back late for work. Every time he had sex with her, he would hurry up. There was someone else in his heart, and how could he see her kindness.

Perhaps every time he slept with her, he just thought she was the substitute for Winnie.

Because, he would turn off the light every time. Thinking of this, Savanna felt as if a knife were piercing her heart.

She had underestimated the affection of Brandon for Winnie.

It turned out that Brandon really loved Winnie. He was nice to her just to repay her kindness.

It turned out that she was a mistress.

At the thought of this, her hand trembled more violently.

Her fingertips scratched the palm of her hand, and her eyes were quickly filled with tears. She sniffed. Before the tears burst out, she gently put down the notebook and let it return to its original position, and also let her wrong feelings return to their original position.

After walking out of the attic, she stood on the balcony. The night wind blew her messy hair. She bit her lips hard to prevent herself from crying.

Goodbye, Brandon

Regardless of Debbie's yell, Savanna drove out of the villa.

As soon as Savanna left, Tracy came here. She went upstairs to borrow some gaming software for her brother and entered the room of Brandon. Debbie didn't know what was on her mind and thought that she was the daughter of the Cassel family, so she didn't ask her much.

After entering the room, she grabbed a game software and walked out of the room.

At first, Brandon wanted to work the whole night, but since he saw the Facebook message of Winnie, he was a little restless and couldn't read even a word of the development program in his hand. He lit a cigarette to relieve his depression.

Unexpectedly, when the cigarette on his finger was burnt out, the depression in his heart did not relieve, but his chest was even more uncomfortable.

The images of Savanna and the man kept flashing through his mind.

The man who was pressing Savanna on the bed was sometimes Cain, and sometimes the man's face turned into MTD.

Everyone knew that MTD was a playboy in the industry.

He was annoyed by both of them.

He let out the last puff of smoke and cursed, "Damn it!", He put out the cigarette and stood up from the chair,

He stubbed out the cigarette and put on his suit. While buttoning up his suit, he walked out of the Cassel Group building with his long legs.

Brandon drove back to The Rose Villas and walked into the bedroom. Seeing that the quilt on the bed was neatly folded, he felt a sense of loss. He looked around upstairs and downstairs, but still didn't see Savanna. He went downstairs and asked Debbie, "Where is Savanna? Hasn't she come back yet?"

Seeing that Brandon didn't look well, Debbie quickly told him the truth, "The lady went out in half an hour ago."

Without any hesitation, Brandon walked to the door and stopped. Then he turned around and asked Debbie, "Did she say where she was going?"

"No, Mr. Cassel.", She didn't dare to lie.

She muttered to herself, What happened again?

It was not easy for Savanna to move back to The Rose Villas. She prayed that everything would be fine

Debbie looked up and saw that Brandon's car had rushed out of the villa like a rocket.

That night, Brandon spent the whole night looking for Savanna in the city. He didn't drive back until the dawn.

Hearing the car whistle, Debbie, who had been sleeping all night, got up from the bed and looked out of the window. She just saw that Brandon got off the car. She wanted to go out and ask him if he had found Savanna. but she stopped when she saw the cold face of Brandon. Obviously, he didn't find her.

Even until early in the morning, Sherry still didn't come back, while Brandon just sat in the room for the whole night. At noon, Justin came. When Brandon went downstairs, he happened to hear him talking to Debbie.

Justin said, "Debbie, I'm coming to take Miss's luggage."

Debbie was confused and ask for the reason.

Justin replied that there were a lot of work to deal with in the company recently, so Savanna had no time to come back. She temporarily lived in the company and asked Debbie to help simply pack up some clothes.

Debbie didn't know what had happened. When she had no idea about it, she turned around and saw Brandon standing at the stairs.

Aunt Debby said, "Mr. Cassel."

Justin turned back in a hurry and saw at a glance the tall and straight man, who looked tired but cold.

For a moment, the atmosphere in the room was tense.

Justin was shivering with cold.

He summoned up his courage and shouted."Mr. Cassel."

As soon as he finished his words, cold sweat broke out on the tip of Justin's nose. He had been praying all the way, hoping that he would not see Brandon. Obviously, he had been so unlucky recently

"Let her get it herself." The voice of Brandon could freeze the water.

Then Brandon turned around and went upstairs.

Justin wiped the sweat on his nose with his sleeve. He didn't dare to stay any longer and quickly left The Rose Villas Justin went back to Thompson Group and told what Brandon had said to Savanna. Hearing that, there was no expression on her face. Then Savanna turned her attention to the investment plan.

She wanted to draw a clear line with Mr. Cassel.

Since he couldn't persuade Savanna, he had to go out and call Brandon. After a while, he came back to convey the meaning of Brandon, "Mrs. Cassel, Mr. Cassel said that you can take the Thompson Group and he will give you whatever you want, but you must go back to The Rose Villas."

The smile on her face was sarcastic, "Mr. Cassel, you are so infatuated with me. Can you give me anything I want?"

Seeing that Leo couldn't answer her question, she said in a sharp voice, "Tell him that I want the whole city, I want the stars in the sky. Can he afford it?"

"Well...", Leo was speechless.

The reason why Brandon asked Leo to pick her up to The Rose Villas was that he was afraid that the baby in her belly was his. And how could a rich family like the Cassel family allow his baby to be out there?

Everything was for the child.

She wanted to laugh, but she also wanted to cry. How ironic it was for her love for him.

“I won’t go back anymore. Please tell him that... we’re done”, she struggled to squeeze out two words as if her voice had been destroyed.

Then she turned around, ignored Leo and began to work hard.

When Leo went back to report this with an empty car, Brandon asked him irritably,

“Where is the person I asked you to pick up?”

“Mr. Cassel...”, Leo didn’t dare to forward the last sentence of Savanna to Brandon. He just said, “Just let Mrs. Cassel stay in Thompson Group for a few days!”

His handsome face was suddenly covered with ice, and his narrow and long eyes were filled with cruelty. When his nose trembled, he said, “Call the jerk MTD and tell him that if he dares to touch Brandon asked Leo to call MTD to warn him. Then he cooperated with Bob to attack the investment bank under the name of MTD.

The next day

After sending the investment plan to MTD for a while, Savanna didn’t expect that MTD hadn’t replied for a long time, so she had to give him a phone call.

MTD blocked her and transferred the call.

Savanna was quite confused. She immediately called Cain and told him that she couldn’t contact

MTD.

Then Cain contacted MTD immediately. He was treated the same way as Savanna.

Then Cain called her back and comforted her in a soft voice “Savanna, don’t worry about that. I know MTD very well. He is the person who keeps his promise.”, After hanging up the phone, Cain immediately went to the hotel to look for MTD. The hotel management told him that Mr. MTD had checked out in the morning.

When Cain was very anxious, his phone rang

Emin -emm-emm.

He lowered his eyes and was overjoyed to see that “MTD” was jumping on the screen.

When he answered the phone, he said anxiously, “MTD, where are you? Why don’t you answer the phone?”

After thinking for a second, Cain put his hand on his forehead and said, “MTD, listen to me. Although Savanna is the ex-wife of Brandon, they have nothing to do with each other now...”

The voice of MTD was still full of anger, “It doesn’t matter? Then why did my investment bank suffer such a big failure just after discussing the cooperation with you? My best partner told me that it was Brandon who caused it. I’m really unlucky to have such a bad friend like you. We end up cooperating, that’s it.”

He wanted to explain more, but MTD didn’t give him the chance. The phone was hung up with a bang.

Listening to the busy signal of du-du on the phone, the sweat on his forehead kept dripping. Cain took a deep breath, and found two mutual friends to ask about the situation. Finally, he knew the truth of the MTD investment bank. He rushed to the Thompson Group to see Savanna.

an

He said to her, “Savanna, I’ve made it clear to you. It’s all Brandon’s fault. That man is so despicable. Not long ago, he made me suffer a lot. It was not easy for MTD to come to New York for investment. Unexpectedly, Brandon cooperated with Dawson Investment Bank to rob all the investment banks under the name of MTD and withdraw all the companies that cooperated with MTD overnight.”

Cain couldn’t blame MTD, because he brought a hard time for MTD.

If MTD was not careful enough, he might go bankrupt.

Savanna bit her lower lip and lowered her eyelids.

She looked calm on the surface, but in fact, her heart had already been stirred up by what she had heard.

After a moment of silence, she said

“Cain, if you are afraid of being revenged by Brandon, you can be not in touch with me in the future.”

As far as she knew, Cain’s company was just founded. Although he was capable, he couldn’t win the battle against Brandon, such an experienced savvy man. The shrewd and powerful Brandon, who wanted to trample Cain’s company to death, was as easy as crushing an ant.

When she knew that it was Brandon who fight against Cain’s company before, she felt very guilty.

Savanna didn’t want to compromise Cain, so she wanted to draw a clear line with him now.

Then Cain looked at her with deep eyes. A moment later, his lips moved, “Savanna, I’m not scared. I’m just angry. He had already divorced you. Why did he do this to you... to us?”

No matter how much he had suffered for her, he was willing to do it.

However, Cain was not willing to be at a disadvantage in the competition with Brandon, which made him deeply frustrated.

Cain assistant called him again, saying that a customer was looking for him to raise the price of the goods. He cursed in a low voice and said to Savanna. "I have something to deal with in my company. I have to leave now."

Then he left in a hurry.

Savanna's fingers were white and her lips were trembling. She was so angry.

In the afternoon, Leo came to pick her up again. This time, Savanna did not refuse, but followed him silently out of the Thompson Group building. She sat in the black Cayenne that Leo drove to pick her up. It was Brandon's car.

When Debbie saw that Savanna was back, she was so happy that she wanted to cook, but she was stopped by Savanna, who was going to cook dinner in person. Seeing that Savanna didn't look bad, Debbie didn't insist. She handed the apron to Savanna and walked out of the kitchen.

Savanna had cooked a table of delicacies and two steaks. The beef was medium, which was Brandon's favorite.

She asked Debbie to bring the dishes to the small dining room next to the master bedroom. After turning off the light, Savanna reached out and lit the candles.

After that, she took out her phone and called Brandon.

The phone was answered in two seconds.

Her bright lips opened and closed, "Brandon, I'm back. I have fried steak, medium.

When will you come back?

On the other side, Brandon was working overtime in the Cassel Group's office. When he saw the word "Wife" on the screen of his mobile phone, he was already in a state of shock. When he heard her soft and inconceivable voice, his throat was dry and smoking.

He pulled his tie and suppressed his excitement. He blurted out the words "I'll be back soon" without thinking

After the photie was hung up, Brandon held the phone tightly with his fingertips, as if he was thinking about something that he was reluctant to put down.
