

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 281

Chapter 281

Chapter 281

“One in the morning. I came here to take a shower because I was afraid I would wake you up. There are surveillance cameras in the aisle. I can ask Seth to pull up the footage.”

Brandon thought that Savanna would immediately say there was no need.

However, Savanna did not. She stared at him as if waiting for him to ask Seth to obtain the surveillance footage.

Brandon called Seth, and Seth sent the surveillance video to him right away.

In the dimly lit corridor, Brandon walked steadily without a hint of drunkenness. He entered the guest room. About ten minutes later, he came out of the guest room wearing his pajamas. He walked to the master bedroom and pushed the door open.

Savanna didn't say anything. She lowered her head, threw the clothes in her hands into the basin, poured the laundry detergent in, rubbed the clothes, and then washed them with water..

Brandon had already handed over the hangers. Savanna took them over, hung the clothes, turned around, and bumped into Brandon's chest.

Her nose hurt.

Savanna rubbed her nose and looked up. Her eyes met Brandon's deep, meaningful eyes. She saw the unease between his eyebrows. She curled her lips, walked past him, and walked out of the guest room.

Brandon followed her out of the room nervously.

Savanna returned to the living room, and Brandon also came in.

Savanna turned around and glared at him. “Why are you following me?”

Brandon said, "Savanna, there wasn't any woman last night. Neither Bob nor Ben asked for one. We hadn't seen each other for a long time, and it was just us, a few men chatting. You have to believe me."

Clearly, Brandon did not want any barriers between Savanna and him. He kept explaining.

Savanna frowned, and her eyes flashed. "I want to believe you as well. But the perfume on your clothes is too strong."

"You claimed it was just men drinking and talking. Are Bob and Ben in the habit of wearing perfume?" Brandon was stunned by her question.

Brandon thought about it and suddenly remembered that when he arrived last night, there were two beauties beside Bob and Ben. After he sat down, Ben told the two women to leave.

Ben and the woman sat in the corner. If the woman wanted to leave, she had to walk past Brandon. Brandon got up and made way for her. Maybe he got the perfume on his clothes when the woman left, or maybe he got it from Ben. Anyway...

Brandon suddenly felt that he couldn't explain himself.

He swallowed his saliva and said, "Savanna, it doesn't matter how much I say if you don't believe me. We have been through so much. I was even willing to leave everything behind and go back to New York with you. Doesn't that tell you how much I love you?"

Brandon was speaking from the bottom of his heart. Savanna knew. But she couldn't make peace with the smell of the perfume.

She knew that she should believe in Brandon, but a voice in her mind kept reminding her, "Savanna, have you forgotten how he treated you before?

"In the past, he always left you alone. Every time he went out, he always came back with perfume on his clothes,

"Moreover, it was always Winnie's favorite perfume."

The perfume this time was different. Savanna had never smelt it before.

However, the painful past was deeply stuck in Savanna's head. She did not want to think about it, but the scenes that had broken her heart kept coming back to her, torturing her.

Savanna felt her heart beat faster. She didn't know what she was afraid of. She covered her chest and walked to the side of the bed to sit down. Seeing Brandon follow her, she ran her hand through her hair in frustration. Her voice was cold and emotionless. She said, "Can you go out?"

Brandon was stunned, and the anxiety between his brows was obvious. "Savanna..."

"I don't want to see you. Go out and let me be alone for a while."

Brandon was furious at Savanna's words. He did not expect her to be so petty. He did not do anything and was misunderstood by her like this. Brandon was full of grievances.

He slammed the door shut and left.

Savanna looked at the shaking door and slowly closed her eyes. She gradually calmed down.

Brandon went downstairs and saw Seth and Lizeth chatting. He said impatiently, "Get a room."

They were nothing but an eyesore.

vure.

Seeing how furious Brandon was, Seth did not dare to say anything. He quickly left.

Lizeth went into the kitchen to prepare breakfast for everyone.

Brandon took a walk in the garden. He took a few steps, and he was still pissed off. Everything was so revolting. He knew. He had a mood swing because of Savanna's distrust of him.

Brandon stood under a tree and lit a cigarette. When the cigarette was burnt out, he had already calmed down. He called Rex and said, "Have you returned to New York?"

On the other end of the line, it seemed that Rex was busy. He was flipping through pages. "With all of you gone, there's no point in me staying in Philadelphia. My plane took off at six in the morning. I have just landed. What's wrong?"

Rex figured that since Brandon was a busy man, Brandon must have something to talk to him about. Brandon wouldn't call him for no reason.

Brandon briefed Rex on what happened last night and told him about Savanna's suspicion. On the other end of the line, Rex paused for a few seconds before answering, "I think it was the drug. It will slowly seep into one's body and control one's nerve center. To put it bluntly, it can control one's emotions. Its effects on unhappily married women are particularly obvious,"

Brandon was not convinced. "Is Savanna one of those unhappily married women?"

Rex said, "Why would she be happy with the way you treated her? I mean in the past, not now."

Rex pressed his forehead, feeling annoyed.

Brandon did not say a word when the past was mentioned.

He had to admit that he was kind of an asshole in the past, trash, but at that time, he hadn't identified the voice in his heart. He didn't know that he had feelings for Savanna.

"The drug will remind Savanna of those unhappy things. The miseries she has suffered will linger in her mind over and over again. That is why she does not trust you."

Brandon suddenly realized that he was going to suffer from now on.

He pondered for a moment and asked, "Is there any medicine for that?"

Rex thought about it and replied, "I can prescribe you something. Ask Seth to come to the hospital to get it."

"Alright."

Brandon hung up the phone and immediately asked Seth to go to the hospital to get the medicine from Rex.

Soon, Seth brought the medicine back. Brandon ground the medicine into powder, poured it into a glass, and walked upstairs with the glass.

"Savanna, have some water."

Savanna looked at the glass that Brandon handed over. "I'm not thirsty."

Why did he suddenly give her water out of the blue?

Seeing that Savanna was confused, Brandon told her what Rex had said to him. Savanna lowered her eyes and pondered. Rex was indeed a great doctor. She did suffer from the symptoms of recalling the past for no reason, and her emotions were becoming so intense that she could not control herself.

She was trying her best to restrain herself. However, the thing between Brandon and Winnie kept tormenting and pestering her, making her so painful.

Savanna knew that Brandon would not harm her, so she took the glass and drank the water.

Savanna lay on the bed and closed her eyes to rest. Brandon knew that she was ill, so he did not disturb her. He tucked her in.

He sat on the edge of the bed, staring at Savanna's sleeping face. Under the light, her face took on an unhealthy whitish hue.

He felt heartbroken. Brandon put her fair hand exposed in the air under the quilt and tucked her in again. Then he got up and looked at her, his eyes full of love.

Brandon turned off the lights and walked out of the room. When he went downstairs, Lizeth asked him to eat. He did not respond and walked out of the Rose Villas directly.

Brandon drove to the hospital. When he entered Rex's office, Rex was having a patient. Rex motioned for him to wait. After a while, Rex was done with the patient. He turned his chair and faced Brandon. "What now?"

Brandon said, "I want to know why Savanna is like this."

Rex said, "Didn't tell you already?"

Seeing Brandon raise an eyebrow, Rex patiently explained, "Your grandmother had someone develop the medicine to deal with Linda, She hated Linda and your grandfather. For her, alienating them was the best revenge. What would happen to Linda if she took the medicine?"

Brandon lowered his eyes and suddenly spat out, "Linda would be suspicious of my grandfather, and with things going on like this, he would be tired after a long time. The gap between the two of them would get deeper and deeper to the point that it couldn't be fixed. Only separation awaited them

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 282

Chapter 282

Chapter 282

Rex smiled, and his eyes lit up. He gave Brandon a thumbs-up. "You are a business genius indeed. You're smart. No wonder so many women fall for you and are even willing to give up their lives for you."

Brandon didn't think of Rex's words as a compliment.

Brandon was very anxious after confirming the effect of the medicine that Savanna took "Will the medicine you prescribed work?"

Brandon started to worry about the future of him and Savanna.

Rex saw through it. He moved his lips and said, "Don't worry, I won't let the same thing happen to you and Savanna. You won't fall apart. But I have to warn you. You need to endure no matter what. Every time Savanna picks on you, let her have her way. Just say to yourself that she is a patient, and her illness is caused by your grandmother. You are atoning for your grandmother. You are atoning for the Young family."

Hearing Rex's half-joking voice, Brandon kicked him and scolded, "Get out of here."

Rex touched the place where Brandon had kicked him. "Brandon, remember what I said."

Brandon drove back. His mind was a mess, and he did not know how to describe his feelings. He felt at a loss and frustrated. He wanted to have a drink with Ben. He wanted to drink his sorrow away. But he didn't want Savanna to think too much.

He had no choice but to drive to the Rose Villas directly.

After taking the medicine that Rex prescribed, Savanna gradually became clear-headed. She thought of how she picked on Brandon this morning, and she was a little at a loss. She did not know if Brandon would be angry with her.

She was about to call Brandon when he came back He took off his tie, trying to get some air.

"You ... are back," Savanna said.

Brandon took off his coat and threw it on the sofa. He explained softly, "I went to Rex to find out more about your condition. Don't think too much."

Savanna walked over to him and looked up at him. "I wasn't thinking too much. This morning... I'm sorry. I shouldn't have doubted you, but I couldn't help it. Brandon, I believe in you. I don't know if you can understand my words..."

Savanna was upset.

Her tone was calm, and she was like an entirely different person from the unstable her. Seeing that, Brandon knew Rex's medicine kicked in. Rex was indeed an excellent doctor.

Seeing that Savanna's face was a bit red, Brandon suddenly wanted to tease her.

He lowered his head, his warm breath reached her ear. "Rex told me everything."

Since the two of them were so close, their breathing was almost intertwined. Savanna was stunned. She held her breath, asking, "What did he say?"

Brandon said, "He said that the medicine is an aphrodisiac. We can bring more brothers and sisters for Mandel."

As he spoke, Brandon sucked her ear. All of a sudden, Savanna's ears were reddish, and her neck was burning hot. Her face was also burning. She knew that she must be blushing.

"Brandon, I'm serious."

"I am, too. If you think you were being unreasonable, comfort me. I'm so pissed off. My heart still hurts. If you don't believe me, you can touch me," Brandon said as he held Savanna's hand and placed it on his chest.

Savanna's fingertips touched his chest, and the tips of her ears became even redder as if they were about to bleed.

She lowered her head shyly, her eyes flashing with clear and bright light.

Brandon reached out and hooked her chin, raising her face and forcing her to kiss him. She punched his shoulder with her fists.

She moaned.

Savanna wasn't able to say another word.

With deep affection, everything could be put aside.

During the sex, Brandon felt that he would be willing to sacrifice everything for her, including giving his life away.

Let alone endure his emotions.

Yet Brandon was wrong.

With Rex's medicine, Savanna would behave normally at first. When she was stable, she would be considerate and look out for him. She would even go to work with him in Thompson Group, working together for the future. However, Brandon's unintentional actions would always set her off.

For example, when Brandon was a little closer to his secretary because of work, Savanna would mock the secretary, and she would also scold Brandon for being shameless.

Brandon knew that it was because of her mood swings. He became the bigger man and hired a male secretary.

There were a few female managers among the higher-ups of the Thompson Group. They were very capable of their work and were very swift in their actions. They were the elites among the higher-ups of the Thompson Group.

Whenever Brandon wanted to meet with them, he had to keep the door of his office open. Otherwise, Savanna would rush over to pick on them.

Brandon could endure at first. However, the female managers handed over their resignations one by one after some time. He finally couldn't take it anymore. "Savanna, what the hell do you want? I know you love me, and I love you too. But you can't stop me from talking to other women simply because we love each other. They are the pillars of the Thompson Group."

Savanna built the Thompson Group, and she promoted those female managers.

Brandon thought that Savanna should know that his relationship with those women was strictly professional.

However, Savanna said, "I have been away from the Thompson Group for so long. Who knows what they have become? People change. Besides, you are so handsome. If I don't watch out, maybe one day you will leave me to be together with them. Mandel will lose his daddy."

Savanna said pitifully.

However, it was the first time that Brandon didn't feel any compassion or sympathy when looking at her pitiful face. Brandon knew. His patience was slowly being worn out by her.

He finally understood why Rex had repeatedly told him to be patient and restrain his emotions.

Savanna was a patient. He shouldn't treat her as a normal woman.

Brandon took his coat and strode out the door. Seeing that, Savanna immediately chased after him. "Where are you going?"

Brandon paused, closed his eyes in pain, and left.

Savanna chased after him and shouted, "Brandon, you can't leave. You still have a load of work. Brandon ..

The elevator doors had closed and blocked her.

She stood in front of the elevator and looked at her sorry figure in the metal doors. She sighed in frustration. "Brandon, I'm behaving like this, because I love you so much. Why can't you understand?"

Her love suffocated Brandon.

Her love was sick.

Savanna also knew that it was the medicine that controlled her emotions. After she returned to the office, she took out the pills Rex had given her from her bag and swallowed several of them in a row.

Brandon walked out of the Thompson Group and wandered for a while. Finally, he went to the hospital.

The first thing he said to Rex was, "Rex, I can't take it anymore. I have to find the antidote."

He wanted to get the poison out of Savanna's body badly.