Chapter 303

After Lizeth finished speaking, she quickly went back to her room.

Savanna hesitated for a few seconds, looked outside, and finally walked back to the master bedroom.

That night, she had nightmares. It was not easy for her to sleep. The sky gradually lit up. Savanna could no longer sleep. She got up and washed up, then went downstairs to make breakfast.

Mandel got up and was extremely happy to see the breakfast that he liked on the dining table. When he had breakfast with Savanna, he glanced around. Not seeing Brandon, he asked, "Savanna, where is my father?"

Savanna rubbed Mandel's hair. "He went on a business trip to Washington. It will take him several days."

The phone in the living room rang. Lizeth ran out of the kitchen to answer the phone. A few seconds later, Lizeth called out, "Savanna, it's for you."

Savanna put down her fork and wiped her mouth with a tissue. Then she walked out of the dining room and took the phone from Lizeth. "Hello."

Hearing her voice, Aldo immediately said anxiously, "Mrs. Young, Mr. Young's grandmother is about to die. Can you tell Mr. Young to hurry back?"

Lorena had always opposed Savanna to being together with Brandon. Savanna had always respected her as Brandon's grandmother. Although she didn't really like Lorena, she never said anything.

P

However, after Savanna was poisoned, she started to hate Lorena. Moreover, Lorena had forced Brandon with all sorts of means.

Savanna said, "Brandon is on a business trip. Just call him."

Aldo could hear the indifference in Savanna's words. He hurriedly said, "Mrs. Young, I haven't been able to contact Mr. Young since the night before yesterday. Previously, he didn't answer the phone, but now his phone is turned off. If you know where he is, please tell him that his grandmother is in a severe coma. The surgery requires the signature of her kin. I can't sign it, Mrs. Young."

From Aldo's hurried tone, it seemed that he was not lying.

Savanna hesitated. "Okay, I'll try to contact him."

After hanging up the phone, Savanna immediately called Brandon. She dialed several times, but his phone was turned off. Savanna tried to call Jim, but Jim's phone was turned off too.

Savanna had a bad feeling. She called Seth. Seth answered the call, "Hello, Mrs. Young."

Savanna asked, "Seth, why can't I get through to Brandon? Did you really go to deal with your uncle's matter?"

On the other side, Seth was driving at a fast speed while answering Savanna's call. Due to panic, his breath was unstable, "Yes, Mrs. Young. Something happened to my uncle. I'm still on my way. I'm in contact with Mr. Young. He's fine. Don't worry."

"Seth, hurry up, Jim said Brandon can't hold on much longer."

Seth did not expect that Rex would speak at this time.

Rex did not do it on purpose. He had just ended the call with Jim. When he heard Jim say that Brandon was in danger, he urged Seth anxiously.

Seth hurriedly covered his phone, but it was too late. Savanna heard it. Savanna was already very surprised when he heard Rex's voice. After hearing what he said, she was completely dumbstruck.

Plus, Aldo couldn't contact Brandon, and neither could she.

Savanna instantly panicked.

She shouted, "Seth, what happened to Brandon?"

Seth felt very frustrated hearing Savanna's shout. He scratched his hair and replied, "Mrs. Young, don't worry. Mr. Young will be fine."

Savanna's voice became unstable due to anxiety. "Seth, don't lie to me. Tell me, what happened to Brandon?"

Seth heard that Savanna was about to cry. When Seth was at a loss, Rex said, "Seth, she will know eventually."

Rex took the phone from Seth and said to Savanna, "Savanna, no matter what, you have to remain calm. Brandon went to Spirit Mountain to look for the medicine for you. He was ambushed by someone and is seriously injured. Take care of Mandel at home. Jim, Seth, and I will bring Brandon back safely..."

Before Rex finished speaking, his phone rang again. He glanced at the screen. It was Jim calling.

"Savanna, we are very busy here. Don't contact us for the time being. Bye."

Savanna wondered, Brandon was injured? Is it serious? How is the situation?

Before Savanna asked, Rex ended the call.

Savanna's mind was buzzing and then went blank. She felt it hard to breathe. She tried her best to control her emotions. But her hands and feet were shaking.

Lizeth was playing Lego with Mandel upstairs. She felt that something was wrong. When Lizeth came downstairs, she saw Savanna standing in the living room with empty eyes.

"Savanna," Lizeth called her.

After Lizeth called her several times, Savanna finally heard her.

Savanna hugged herself with both hands, looking depressed. "Lizeth, what do you think we should do? Something happened to Brandon. He was ambushed by the enemy."

Lizeth was not surprised by this news. She was just extremely regretful. She blamed herself. "Savanna, it's all my fault. It's all my fault. If I hadn't told Seth, Seth would not have proposed to Mr. Young, and Mr. Young would not have traveled thousands of miles for puritan Andrew."

From Lizeth's self-blame, Savanna understood everything. But who could she blame, Lizeth, Seth, or Brandon?

Lizeth and Seth just wanted her to recover.

Brandon would risk his life for her.

Savanna took a deep breath and straightened her back, looking determined, and strong.

Seeing that Savanna was about to walk out, Lizeth quickly pulled her. "Savanna, what are you going to do?"

Savanna's voice trembled slightly as she said, "Lizeth, I can't watch him die for me. I need to go stay with him."

Hearing this, Lizeth became even more anxious. "Savanna, it's a long way. Besides, Mr. Young spent a lot of money on pharmaceutical research and development. We don't have a private jet. How can you get there? What if something happens on the way?"

Thinking of this, Lizeth refused to let Savanna out no matter what.

Lizeth said, "When Mr. Young left, he repeatedly reminded me and Seth not to tell you about where he went."

After listening to Lizeth's words, Savanna lost control of her tears.

Savanna's eyes were as red as blood. She was so anxious that she couldn't even speak properly. "Lizeth, we don't have time... If that was the case, then I must go. Please, take care of Mandel for me."

Seeing that Savanna had made up her mind, Lizeth knew she couldn't stop her. So, she could only watch Savanna leave without looking back.

When Savanna's car left the Rose Villas, Lizeth immediately called Leo. "Mr. Baker, Savanna went to the Spiritual Mountain in the northwest. The journey is dangerous. I can't find anyone else who can help her."

Hearing Lizeth's words, Leo was immediately flustered. After hanging up the phone, Leo called Savanna at once.

After calling Leo, Lizeth still felt uneasy. So, she called Cain, Neil, and Justin. In short, she called everyone that had a good relationship with Savanna she could think of.

Soon Cain contacted Neil and Justin. The three of them set off for the Spiritual Mountain in the northwest.

Chapter 304

When Savanna received a call from Leo, she was in great anxiety. Leo said that he would accompany her to the northwest to find Brandon, and Savanna sent her location to Leo without saying anything.

Rex and Seth finally arrived at the place where Brandon and the others had an accident. There were several broken by the gurgling stream, and traces of fighting could be seen.

Clearly, Brandon and the others had been attacked there.

Seth and Rex led a group of people to search the surroundings for several hours, but they still could not find Brandon and Jim.

As time passed, Seth became more anxious. "Dr. Barton, do you think who wants to kill Mr. Young?"

Rex replied, "Many people want to take his life. When he first took over the Cassel Group, he had many enemies because of his tough methods. Besides, they might also be Mrs. Young's rivals. Brandon and Mrs. Young have similar temperaments. To expand the Cassel Group, they can't avoid offending other people. This is a rare opportunity, and how can their enemies miss it?"

Seth thought it was true. In the past few years, he had seen many people who wanted to kill Lorena. Moreover, the arson case of the Young family still remained unsolved.

Rex patted Seth on the shoulder and urged, "Let's stop guessing. Now, we have to find Brandon first. I'm worried..."

Rex was afraid of missing something.

Seth nodded.

"Blood."

Seth saw blood stains on the leaves of a bush and hurried over.

Following the blood–stained leaves, Seth led the way, and Rex and the others followed behind.

On the mountainside, a broken church was right in front of them.

And their arrival disturbed the crow on a big tree in front of the church.

The crow fled away in panic.

Hearing the sound of footsteps. Jim, who was out to fetch water, quickly hid behind a tree.

He looked out and reached for the gun in his arms. Then he suddenly paused.

Jim exclaimed, “Seth, Dr. Barton.”

Seth and Rex saw Jim and immediately relaxed. When Rex saw that Jim was limping, he hurriedly asked, “Where is Brandon?”

“He’s inside.” Jim pointed at the ruined church.

Rex rushed into the church. Under the several polished statues, there was a pile of straw, and several people were lying on it.

The one in the middle was Brandon.

Rex immediately rushed over, grabbed Brandon’s hand, and felt his pulse.

After taking the pulse, Rex untied Brandon’s coat. A long wound stretched from Brandon’s left shoulder to his right abdomen. The wound was sprinkled with herbs, which were stuck with dark blood stains. The wound was slightly swollen.

The herbs could not stop the poison from spreading. If Rex arrived a bit late, he was afraid that Brandon would have died.

Rex began to observe Brandon. Brandon’s eyes were tightly closed, and his brows deeply furrowed, his lips pale. From that, Rex judged that Brandon should be unconscious and might not know that they had come.

Rex opened the medicine box and took out the scalpel that had been sterilized. He asked Seth and Jim to go out and then immediately cut the wound on Brandon's chest with the scalpel to detoxify.

Half an hour passed. It was not until the blood on Brandon's wound turned red that Rex heaved a sigh of relief and bandaged Brandon's wound.

After Rex finished dealing with Brandon's injuries, he began to treat the other three men, who were also seriously injured.

Jim was lucky, and only his calf was shot. After Brandon was attacked, Jim summoned up his courage to dig out the bullet from his calf with a knife.

After Rex dealt with Jim's injury, he smiled and said, "Jim, you are really good. You dare to use a knife, but you are not infected. I admire you."

Jim said, "At midnight, we were ambushed by a group of evil people. If we did not react fast enough, we would have died. Because their target was Mr. Young, they first attacked Mr. Young. We were awakened by the sound of fighting. Mr. Young was injured. After fighting with them for a while, we quickly protected Mr. Young and escaped to this broken church. Fortunately, we contacted Seth.

Otherwise, the consequences would be unimaginable."

Rex asked, "That group of people didn't chase after you?"

"Yes. But we got rid of them. There were about a dozen people who wore masks. I don't recognize any of them."

After about an hour, Brandon slowly woke up. He was still dizzy, and his mind was a mess.

Rex's voice came from outside.

Brandon looked down at the gauze on his chest and sensed the smell of disinfectant. He finally heaved a sigh of relief.

He endured the pain in his chest and shouted, "Rex."

Rex immediately came in and met Brandon's lifeless gaze. He joked, "You are so lucky. Such a long wound can't kill you."

Brandon said, "Are you a dog? You can hear me even when I shout so softly."

Rex laughed. "If I can't hear you, you will be in trouble. If I am a bit late, you will really go to see Yama."

Seeing that Brandon was still able to chat with him, Rex deduced that Brandon had recovered quite well.

Rex said more loudly, "You're willing to give up your life for love. I'm impressed."

Knowing that Rex was mocking him, Brandon was not to be outdone. "You actually look down upon love. I curse that one day, you will be beaten up badly by your love."

Rex said, "I've told my mom that I'm a bachelor for the rest of my life. Look at you, Brandon. You've made yourself half-dead. I'm really afraid of women."

Brandon smiled, "That's because you haven't been in love. When you meet the woman you like, you won't say that."

Afraid that those bad guys would come back to them, Rex inquired about Brandon's opinion. "Are we going down now? It's not safe here."

"No. Let's go forward. Before I fainted, I checked. If we go forward for several miles, we will reach Cloud Church."

It turned out that Brandon had thought it through early.

To go to Cloud Church, he could give up his life.

Love was great.

Rex sighed. "Alright, I'll do as you say. You're really devoted to love."

In Cloud Church, the courtyard was clean, and there was not even a piece of leaf on the ground.

Brandon and the others walked up the steps and saw a fat puritan wearing a red robe in the main hall. The fat puritan was sitting in the middle with his eyes closed, muttering be praying.

Looking at the solemn hall, no one dared to disturb the puritan. A young puritan walked past them, and Jim stopped him.

“Excuse me. We had a long journey and came there with great difficulty to meet Mr. Andrew Jones.

Please help us.”

The young puritan glanced at everyone. Finally, his gaze fell on Brandon. He lowered his head and bowed.

“Please wait a moment.”

After he finished speaking, the young puritan slowly walked into the main hall. He moved closer to the fat puritan and whispered. The fat puritan sat still for a moment, and then he finished praying. He opened his eyes, and his sharp gaze swept toward the group of people at the door.

He looked at Brandon in the end.

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 305

Chapter 305

The fat puritan looked at Brandon meaningfully and said something to the young puritan. The young puritan came out and bowed to Brandon. “Please follow me.”

The young puritan instructed the other puritans to prepare some food and arranged for Rex and Jim to live in a room. He then led Brandon to a quiet courtyard.

After turning a few times, they reach a room with red walls and white tiles. The young puritan lowered his head and said, “Pleased.” He gestured for Brandon to enter and immediately turned to leave.

Brandon knocked on the door. After a while, someone said from inside, “Come in.”

Brandon pushed open the door and entered. He raised his head and saw a large painting hanging on the wall. Under it, the person with a rosy face was the puritan who had just sat in the hall and prayed.

“Please take a seat.” The puritan looked at Brandon with his deep eyes, “Thank you.” Brandon took a seat opposite the puritan.

The puritan handed over a cup of tea. Brandon thanked him and took it, placing it in front of him.

“Everyone says that you are an otherworldly expert. Today, I came to ask for a favor. I hope that you can give me some pointers.”

Andrew looked at Brandon with a faint smile. “You have a broad forehead, and there is a heroic aura between your brows. With one look, people can tell that you are rich and noble. If you have something to say, just say it.”

Brandon was delighted when he heard this. He slowly told Andrew about Savanna’s poisoning.

As Andrew listened, he was deep in thought. After Brandon finished his words, Andrew’s expression became a little grave. “Your evil aura is too strong. You and your ex-wife have been wronged in your previous life, so you suffer in this life. In your previous life, you owed her, so in this life, you have to repay her, which is why you have suffered so much.”

Brandon never believed in gods, and he was even less superstitious. But now, he seemed to be possessed and asked nervously and urgently.

“I owe her and I am willing to repay her. But is there still hope for her illness to be cured?”

Andrew’s gaze at Brandon had a subtle change. He said, “Sometimes, it is just between your thoughts. In fact, your fate with her has come to an end. You have always been deep in love, but you are not fated to be together.”

Hearing this, Brandon was upset, and his heart sank

Seeing Brandon’s pale lips and face, Andrew continued, “Many things can be changed. It depends on how you choose and how you do it.”

After Andrew finished speaking, he stood up and left the room without looking at Brandon.

Brandon chased after Andrew but was stopped by the young puritan when he reached the door. “Mr. Jones wants you to rest in the room and wait for four hours. Then he will give you the answer.”

Brandon had come to find medicine for Savanna, so he didn't dare to be rash. He could only follow the young puritan to a clean room and wait patiently.

Brandon sat in the wing room. Outside the window, the trees were fresh and green. The tree closest to the window was covered with countless love buttons. When the wind blew, they swayed in front of Brandon. Brandon couldn't help but be a little dazed. He got up and walked to the window.

From where he was standing, he saw the wishing well under the wishing tree. The pool was filled with countless coins, which were quietly lying in the water and represented the wishes of countless men and women.

Savanna's happy, sad, upset, painful, and angry look kept appearing in Brandon's mind. And all of her voice and smile were reflected in his mind.

Brandon touched the right side of his ribs with his fingertips. Inside it was a kidney that Savanna had donated to him. When he thought of her organs being stored in his body, Brandon felt that he and Savanna were connected by blood.

In this life, they were inseparable as one.

His love for her was already engraved in his heart. What else could stop them from being together?

The sun was slowly setting, and it was gradually getting dark.

Knock!

Someone was knocking at the door

ne Wo

Brandon walked to the door and opened it. The young puritan's round face appeared in front of Brandon's eyes. The young puritan bowed to Brandon and whispered, "It's time for dinner."

The young puritan led the way, and Brandon followed him through a few courtyards. When they arrived at the side hall, Rex, Jim, Seth, and the others were sitting beside the table and eating.

Brandon glanced at the figure in front of the opposite room. It was Leo.

Brandon wondered, why is he here?

Seeing the doubt in Brandon's eyes, Jim put down his bowl and hurried over to whisper, "Mr. Young, not only Leo but also Mrs. Cassel came."

Brandon's gaze froze when he heard this, and his face was filled with surprise.

Seeing Brandon's eyes, Jim knew that he was looking for Savanna. "Mrs. Cassel was called into the wing room by Mr. Jones the moment she arrived."

Brandon didn't say anything and turned to leave the side hall.

Seeing this, Jim was about to chase after Brandon when Rex stopped him. Rex frowned. "Let him go."

"But..."

Rex joked, "If you are bored, send a message to your girlfriend. Otherwise, if she cheats you, it will be enough for you to suffer."

Jim rolled his eyes at Rex and retorted, "My wife loves me so much, and she won't do that. Dr. Barton, with your cold personality, your future girlfriend will definitely cheat you."

"Nonsense." Rex patted Jim on the head.

Brandon hurried to the room he had entered earlier. He was leaning against the wall in the corner. On the surface, he looked calm and composed, but in reality, he was in anxiety. He crossed his hands in front of his chest, his fingertips lightly trembling. It was not hard to tell that he was very nervous.

Because he did not know what Andrew would say to Savanna.

caus

After a long and anxious wait, Brandon heard the door of the wing room open with a creak. A slim woman who came out was still wearing the delicate fox mask. When she met Brandon's anxious gaze, she was obviously stunned. Then, she quickly reacted and put on a faint smile. When she walked toward him, Brandon greeted her.

Brandon couldn't be bothered to ask her why she was here, but he cared a lot about the contents of her conversation with Andrew.

What did Mr. Jones say to you?"

Savanna smiled and showed her white teeth. "He said that we were wronged in our previous life, and he wanted me to leave you."

Brandon's heart skipped a beat. His brows couldn't help but twitch. He grabbed Savanna's hand. "I don't believe it. Mr. Jones won't say that."

Brandon's hand was dry and warm, and it brought a strange feeling to Savanna. Thinking that this was a solemn church, Savanna shook off his hand. "Brandon, are you alright?"

Brandon asked, "You heard them say that something happened to me, so you rushed over?"

Savanna answered, "Yes. Rex said that you were seriously injured, and I was scared."

Savanna looked at Brandon up and down. Seeing that he was really fine, she finally relaxed.

Suddenly, something occurred to Savanna, and she immediately looked at the side hall. Afraid that Brandon would misunderstand, she hurriedly explained, "I didn't ask Leo to come with me. It was Lizeth who was afraid that I would be in danger, so she informed Leo."

Brandon had always focused on Savanna's illness. When he heard that Savanna had rushed to find him, he was thinking in his heart that if something happened to Savanna on the way, he did not know what to do.

With Savanna's reminder, Brandon felt a little jealous when he thought of Leo's cold eyes.

Brandon said, "Why would I be jealous? You can get here safely all because of Leo."

Savanna chuckled with tears in her eyes. "That's good. Brandon, it's great to see that you're fine."

When she had just arrived at Cloud Church, she heard Rex say that Brandon was not seriously injured, and she was finally relieved.

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 306

Chapter 306

Brandon and Savanna walked forward shoulder to shoulder. When they went to the side hall for dinner, Rex and the others had disappeared. They should have returned to the wing room to rest.

Brandon and Savanna sat face to face, enjoying the light dishes with happy smiles on their faces.

The moment he saw Savanna, Brandon was both happy and excited in his heart. If he wasn't in the church, he would have...

They didn't know that under the shade of the tree opposite the side hall, Leo was standing there.

Under the dim light, the shadow of leaves was cast on his face, and his deep eyes were fixed on the two people eating dinner in the side hall.

The faint bitterness spread in Leo's heart.

Someone gently patted Leo's shoulder. Leo turned his head and saw Jim, frowning.

Jim also looked at the side hall and smiled faintly. Then, he said, "Leo, aren't you tired?"

Leo lowered his eyes. He did not want to respond to Jim and turned to leave.

Jim shouted behind Leo, "If it doesn't belong to you, why would you covet it?"

Jim thought that Leo would not answer him. Unexpectedly, Leo's voice sounded. "As long as I'm happy."

Brandon and Savanna finished their dinner. The young puritan came in and bowed to them, conveying Andrew's words. "Mr. Jones wants you to go to his place. Please."

This time, the young puritan no longer led the way. Seeing that Brandon and Savanna had left the side hall, he directly went to the meditation room to do what he had to do from another path.

Andrew sat in the wing room. Savanna and Brandon came together. Andrew opened his eyes and looked at Brandon and then Savanna. After asking them to sit, he took two pieces of paper and handed them to Brandon and Savanna. He slowly said, "Please write down your wishes."

Savanna turned to look at Brandon. Brandon happened to look at her as well. It was obvious that Andrew wanted to test them. They raised their eyebrows one after another, took the paper from Andrew, and began to write down their wishes.

Brandon wrote two lines of words and looked back at Savanna. Savanna was afraid that he would peek, so she got up and went to the windowsill to write.

Brandon was not satisfied after writing twice. The third time he asked Andrew for the paper,

Andrew stroked his beard with his hand and shook his head. He sighed. The difference between Brandon and Savanna had already been decided. The one who could not bear to part was naturally the one who was in deeper love. In the future, there would naturally be more suffering.

Savanna wrote down her wishes and folded the paper. She respectfully handed it to Andrew with both hands. Andrew took it and looked at it. Then, he took the lovesick buckle, put the paper into it, and sealed it.

Brandon finally finished writing. He folded his paper and handed it to Andrew.

Andrew stroked his beard while carefully checking Brandon's wish

Brandon wanted to see through Andrew's heart from his subtle expression. However, Andrew had no expression. He put Brandon's wish into the lovesick buckle, sealed it, and then folded the two lovesick buckles together.

Andrew got up and took the lead to walk out of the meditation room. Savanna followed him out, and Brandon could only take a step forward to catch up.

Andrew came under the wishing tree and slowly closed his eyes. It was unknown what he was muttering. Then, he opened his eyes, looked at the tree, and hung up the two lovesick buckles in his hand.

The wind blew gently, and two red lovesick buckles swayed in the wind.

Then, Andrew said to Savanna, "Please come with me. Sir, go back to your room to rest."

Savanna followed behind Andrew. Brandon looked back at Savanna, and his heart was a mess. It wasn't until Savanna disappeared at the end of the path that Brandon retracted his gaze. He looked at the two lovesick buckles that were swaying in the wind. A faint worry appeared between his brows. Brandon's chest ached and he let out a soft hiss. He endured the pain and returned to his room from the wishing tree.

In the meditation room, Andrew looked at Savanna. "Do you think it's easy for you to be with him?"

The countless images that appeared in Savanna's mind were the miserable past between Brandon and her.

Savanna was sad. "Naturally, it was not easy."

Andrew continued, "He has paid far more than you can see. In the secular world, love is always a restraint. If he hadn't thought about you, he would have died when he came to Spiritual Mountain."

Andrew's words caused Savanna to be anxious again. "Rex said that Brandon was not seriously injured, so ..."

Andrew looked at her and said, "Don't use your eyes to see and judge. You have to do it with your heart. His face is too vicious. In his previous life, he was a heartless person who owed you. In this life, he would repay the debt to you. You can believe me or you cannot. In short, to wait for you and him to come, I have stayed in Cloud Church for more than a month."

Andrew's words shocked Savanna. "Mr. Jones, you knew we would come?"

"Yes."

"Why?" Savanna asked.

Andrew didn't answer but only said, "It's a secret."

Andrew's gaze was fixed on the mask on Savanna's face. "Remove your mask, or I can't remove your worries in your heart. What he cares more about is your heart. Only when your love is stronger than before can you be together with him again and reduce his suffering in the future."

After saying that, Andrew took out the medicine from the lottery. Savanna counted it, a total of ten packets.

Andrew said, "I prepared these ten packs of traditional medicine for you. I don't dare to say that it can cure your illness, but it can relieve your pain."

As he spoke, Andrew took out a pen to write down the prescription and gave it to Savanna. "After these ten packs of medicine are consumed, take this prescription to the pharmacy to buy the ten more packs. Remember what I said. No matter when it is, you must believe him. Otherwise, when you meet each other again, you will be strangers."

Savanna looked at the medicine on the table and asked Andrew, "Mr. Jones, can this medicine really cure me?"

Andrew said, "Just try it. My medicine can only cure the fated."

When Savanna left the meditation room, Andrew's words kept echoing in her mind. "Otherwise, when you meet each other again, you will be strangers."

OU IN

At night, Brandon lay on the small bed in the wing room. The wound on his chest was painful, and his heart was difficult to calm. Facing double tortures, he could not fall asleep for a long time.

At midnight, Brandon got up and walked around outside. He did not find Savanna's room and returned to the wing room. He took out his phone and turned it on, but it had run out of battery long ago. Brandon went to ask the young puritan for the charger. The puritan was woken up and rubbed his sleepy eyes. He yawned and handed Brandon the charger.

Brandon took the charger back to the wing room. After his phone was charged for a while, he couldn't wait to turn it on. As soon as he turned on his phone, he immediately sent a message to Savanna. "Did you sleep?"

After a while, Savanna did not reply. Brandon directly dialed Savanna's number, and it was connected.

Savanna should have fallen asleep but was disturbed by Brandon. Her voice was lazy and a little vague.

"You slept?" Brandon cursed in his heart, she had no conscience. I had always been concerned about her and could not sleep at all.

Savanna glanced at the watch on her wrist and muttered, "Of course, I slept. Why don't you check what time it is?"

"I can't fall asleep."

Hearing Brandon's low and husky voice, Savanna suddenly sat up from the bed. "You... Brandon, you're acting like a spoiled child?"

Savanna thought that Brandon would hang up, but unexpectedly he laughed. "Can't I?"

Savanna was completely confused. "No. It's just a little unexpected..."

"Which room are you in?"

Hearing this, Savanna sat up straight. "What are you doing?"

Brandon's laughter carried faint ambiguity. "I'll go to sleep with you."

Savanna felt that her face was hot. She touched her face and said, "No..."

Brandon was about to say something when Savanna hung up the phone.

The beeping sound was cold and hit Brandon's heart.

Brandon called again, but it couldn't get through. Savanna actually ... turned off her phone.

He thought, damn it.

I want to go to her because I miss her too much.

But she actually didn't appreciate it.

Brandon suddenly thought of Savanna's face. Thinking that she might be afraid that he would see her face, Brandon felt a little better.

Brandon finally fell asleep, but he woke up at five o'clock in the morning. Then, he used his hands as pillows and kept looking at the red lovesick buckles outside the window. He quietly waited for dawn.

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 307

Brandon had been staring at the two Lovesick buckles that Andrew had hung up for two hours.

Brandon had to clench his fists to suppress the urge to rush out and take Savanna's lovesick buckle to see what she had written.

He thought, am I in Savanna's wish?

Is there Mandel? Mandel must be on it. But I... It was hard to say.

At seven o'clock, the young puritan came over to ask Brandon to go to the side hall for breakfast. Brandon finally saw Savanna, as well as Cain, Neil, and Justin.

So many people came.

Savanna was talking to them happily. When Brandon thought of Savanna's coldness toward him last night, he felt uncomfortable. He could stand the fact that Leo accompanied Savanna to get there for the sake of her safety. But since Cain also came, Brandon was not that generous anymore.

Everyone saw Brandon come in with a cold face, and they stopped talking and quieted down to eat breakfast.

Savanna looked at Brandon, ignoring the coldness on his face. She took a piece of bread and handed it to him. "Hurry up and eat. After eating, we can go down the mountain."

Brandon took the bread. There happened to be an empty seat beside Savanna, and Brandon sat down without any hesitation. He picked up a piece of radish from Savanna's bowl and chewed it hard.

Everyone could see that Brandon minded Cain, Leo, and the others going up the mountain.

Savanna knew that Brandon was used to being overbearing. She did not say anything but just smiled at him. And then she lowered her head to eat the food in the bowl.

After they finished eating, Savanna and Brandon went to bid farewell to Andrew. They walked to the meditation room and waited. But they didn't see Andrew but the young puritan. The young puritan said to them, "Mr. Jones has gone down the mountain for travel. Miss, before Mr. Jones left, he told you to remember his words."

Savanna nodded. "I will remember what Mr. Jones said."

On the way down the mountain, Brandon could not help but ask Savanna curiously, "What did Andrew say to you?"

Savanna looked at him and did not want to increase the burden on his heart, so she said, "Mr. Jones didn't say anything. He just asked me to take his medicine. He said that his medicine only cured fated people."

Brandon was convinced by Savanna's words.

Brandon reached out to smooth the wrinkles between Savanna's eyebrows. "Don't worry, Mr. Jones' medicine can cure you."

After returning to New York, Rex immediately took the medicine that Andrew gave Savanna to the medical testing center.

The report not only surprised Rex but also made the medicine research team under him happy. The problem that they could not solve was actually solved by Andrew.

The two medicines that Andrew used were not the two that the research team had thought of. However, Andrew could replace them with another two medicines, which had similar effects and were beyond the research team's expectations.

This was a piece of good news that could cheer up Rex and the others.

Rex felt that he could finally stop staying in the laboratory all day.

He called Brandon and told Savanna to take the medicine without worry. He also said that Andrew was worthy of his reputation as an immortal puritan.

If there was a chance, Rex would go to Spiritual Mountain to visit Andrew.

Savanna began to take the medicine Andrew gave her.

On the day Brandon and Savanna returned to New York, Aldo kept calling Brandon. Brandon was forced to return to Philadelphia with Rex.

Lorena took the poison by mistake. Because of the high dosage, her organs were failing. Aldo could not find Brandon and signed the operation agreement on behalf of Lorena's family. After the experts diagnosed, they quickly took emergency measures for Lorena's illness. Before taking measures, the doctor did a comprehensive physical examination for Lorena and found the cancer cells in her esophagus.

Lorena had advanced-stage esophagus cancer.

Brandon stood at the door of the ward and listened to Aldo's choked words. Brandon did not speak, but his lips turned pale.

His aura was cold and oppressive.

"The Heart Restoration Pill has been replaced with poison. Aldo, haven't you always been with her?"

In the face of Brandon's interrogation, Aldo's heart thumped.

The tip of Aldo's nose was covered in sweat, and his voice trembled slightly. "Mr. Young, I've checked all the surveillance cameras in the house and the servants. Only Mia is suspected because she was the one who took care of Mrs. Young that night. The next day, she took leave and did not come to work."

"Where is she now?" Brandon asked.

Aldo said, "She's gone. I couldn't find her when I went to Ewton University. People said that she had dropped out of school."

Aldo quickly handed Mia's information to Brandon.

Mia, 20 years old, a sophomore at Ewton University. She went to work in the Young's home to support herself.

Brandon saw Mia's family members.

Renee Sloan, 49 years old, was Mia's adopted mother, and her profession was unknown.

Rhett Latimer, 18 years old, Mia's younger brother, dropped out of school and made a living by playing games.

What made Brandon pause was that Renee's appearance was actually similar to Savanna's. Although the photo was a little hazy, Brandon could still see Renee's facial features.

Brandon was stunned.

"We must find Mia. If you can't find her, investigate Rhett or Renee."

When Brandon entered the ward, Rex was checking Lorena. Lorena was lying on the bed, motionless. Her eyes were turning, but they were unfocused. She should be unconscious now.

Brandon asked Rex, "How is it?"

Rex replied, "She is too stubborn. In fact, she has been in bad health long ago."

Rex pointed outside. "Let's talk outside."

Rex led the way out.

Brandon followed him out.

At the Rose Villas in New York.

Lizeth prepared the medicine for Savanna. "Savanna, Mr. Jones is really an expert. If you take two packs of the medicine, your illness should be cured."

Savanna finished the medicine and wiped her mouth. "Mr. Jones said that his medicine cured the fated person."

Lizeth said, "There are rumors that Mr. Jones was a medical doctor when he was young. He became a puritan because of love. As for puritans, they usually speak in a mysterious way. Since he was willing to wait for you and Mr. Young for more than a month at Cloud Church, it meant that he knew that you were going to visit him, and he wanted to help you sincerely.”

Savanna smiled bitterly. “I hope it is as you say.”

Lizeth took the bowl from Savanna and went to the kitchen to wash it.

Savanna sat down on the sofa and focused on TikTok. Mandel came downstairs and walked to Savanna. He pulled her hand around his waist. Then he sat on Savanna’s lap and nestled in her arms. He fiddled with the iPad in a comfortable posture.

The trending topic always popped up, covering most of the screen. Savanna was going to remove it, but she accidentally clicked on it.

“The only daughter of the Thompson family abandoned her insane mother and tried to flatter the power and rich. She was heartless and would eventually go to hell. Perhaps she would follow in her mother’s footsteps and become a prostitute...”

The news was unbearable to look at. Savanna narrowed her eyes and got a little angry. She did not think the woman in the news was her. After all, there were thousands of women with the surname Thompson in the world. But the last sentence made her emotional.

“Those who abandoned her mother, her husband, and her son must be punished in hell.”

Savanna did not abandon her mother, but she had once abandoned Mandel and Brandon... She bit her lips, and her face turned pale.

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 308

When Savanna read the trending topic for the second time, it was quickly replaced by another entertainment gossip. The news about the only daughter of the Thompson family was no longer on the list.

It was obvious that someone had deliberately removed it.

Savanna followed the Thompson Group’s Twitter. Thompson’s post was normal. Recently, the announcements were all about the various projects that it invested in.

Savanna called Neil. "Did you get the public relations team to remove the trending topic?"

Neil was in the office checking the progress of the projects he was in charge of. When he saw that it was a call from Savanna, he immediately sat upright. Seeing Savanna mention a sensitive question, Neil didn't focus on the work but answered Savanna seriously, "Ms. Thompson, it's Mr. Young's idea."

Savanna said, "Alright, I understand."

Neil was a little confused in his heart. I told Ms. Thompson about this. Is it proper?

Savanna ended the call with Neil and directly sent a video call to Brandon.

Just as the video call was about to hang up automatically, Brandon picked it up.

On the screen, Savanna did not see Brandon but a swaying ceiling. She knew that Brandon should be walking, and the camera on his phone was aimed at the ceiling above his head.

Savanna did not speak, her eyes fixed on the video. After some rustling, the camera turned. Brandon's delicate facial features suddenly could be seen, and he did not look very well. His lips were pale, and he had dark circles. In Spiritual Mountain, because it was a solemn place, Savanna did not share a bed with Brandon. Just as they returned to New York, Brandon and Rex took her medicine to appraise it. Then, Brandon was asked away by Aldo.

As a result, Savanna had not checked Brandon's injury. Rex said that it was not serious, but Andrew had reminded her not to believe what her eyes saw but to feel with her heart.

Now, her intuition told her that Brandon was in a bad state, and she felt a little distressed.

"What are you doing?" Savanna forced a smile.

Brandon looked ahead as he walked. Occasionally, he would look down at Savanna. Perhaps because he was walking in a hurry and could not hold his phone. properly, in the video, Savanna could only see his outlined lower jaw.

“Grandma is very seriously sick. Jim will come back immediately to get the prescription that Mr. Jones gave you. Is that okay?”

Brandon asked carefully.

As Aldo urgently looked for Brandon everywhere, Savanna knew that Lorena should be seriously ill and that Lorena would not be acting.

“Sure. I ate one pack, and there are nine more packs...”

Brandon interrupted her. “No, I won’t take yours. I’m asking Jim to come back and take Andrew’s prescription to go to the pharmacy to get medicine.”

Brandon’s gentle words and his concern made Savanna touched. She strongly felt that she was quite important in his heart.

In his heart, her life was more important than Lorena’s life.

Savanna knew clearly what Lorena meant to Brandon. In this world, other than Mandel, Lorena was the only relative of Brandon.

Thinking of this, Savanna felt sad, and her eyes gradually turned wet. She called out to him, “Brandon.”

Brandon stopped in his tracks and turned his phone in the right direction. His angular face immediately appeared in the video, and his eager voice sounded. “What’s wrong? Savanna, are you in pain again?”

Looking at Brandon’s anxious expression, Savanna felt her heart ached even more. She forced a faint smile. “No, don’t worry about me. I just...”

Savanna hesitated.

Brandon saw Savanna’s hesitation, and his eyes were full of concern. He stopped walking and looked at Savanna’s face. He could only see a vague outline because the sunlight shone into the room and the mask on Savanna’s face glowed.

Savanna originally wanted to ask Brandon about the trending topic, but now she was too emotional to say a word.

In the end, Savanna said, “I want to come to you, can I?”

Brandon let out a soft breath and smiled, "Jim is back to get the medicine. Come with him."

In the end, he added, "Settle Mandel down."

"Alright."

The video call was hung up. Savanna looked down at the screen for a long time. "The call lasted for eight minutes and seventy-six seconds."

She felt even more bitter in her heart. Her heart ached for Brandon, and she felt extremely distressed Seeing his pale face, she felt uncomfortable and panicked.

In the afternoon, Jim came back. Savanna entrusted Mandel to Lizeth, took the prescription, and hurriedly went to Philadelphia with Jim to see Brandon

Brandon left Young's house with Savanna, so the Young Group had been temporarily under Lorena's control. Since Lorena was seriously ill, the Young Group had no head, and many things were a bit messy. In the two days that Brandon came back, he had been arranging the internal affairs of the Young Group

As soon as Jim arrived in Philadelphia, he took the prescription and went to the pharmacy to buy medicine. Savanna went to Rex.

When Savanna went to the Young Group, the receptionist did not know Savanna. She stopped Savanna downstairs and called Brandon. After a while, the receptionist received Seth's call.

Seth ordered, "She is Mrs. Young. Let her in."

The receptionist looked at Savanna and was dumbfounded. Her voice trembled. "Mrs. ... Mrs. Young, please."

Savanna thanked the receptionist with a smile and then entered the elevator exclusive for the president.

The receptionist was shocked. It turned out that she was Mr. Young's son's biological mother.

She seems so kind.

Seth brought Savanna into Brandon's office.

Seth made a cup of coffee for her and said to her, "Mr. Young just went to a meeting, and it will take about an hour. He asked you to wait for him here."

Savanna nodded and asked Seth to go to work.

Seth closed the door and went out.

Savanna began to size up Brandon's office. The style was the same as that of his office in the Cassel Group, and the main colors were black, white, and gray. Perhaps because Brandon was too busy, the office was a bit messy, and even some cigarette ash was on the table.

Savanna put down her handbag and put the scattered documents into the folder. A piece of paper fell out of the folder.

Mia's phone number was written on the paper.

Savanna frowned.

She recorded Mia's number on her phone and put the piece of paper back into her clip.

An hour later, Brandon pushed open the door and came in. He saw Savanna and smiled slightly. He reached out to pull the tie on his neck away, put the documents on the table, and sat in the chair. Savanna walked over. She put her hands on his shoulder and gently massaged him. "Thank you for your hard work."

Savanna's gentle voice echoed in Brandon's ears. He looked up and saw her plump bosom.

Brandon's breath suddenly became a bit quicker, and he swallowed. He grabbed her soft waist and gently pulled her into his arms. Savanna sat on his thigh and wrapped her arms around his neck. She gently kissed him.

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 309

Savanna's enthusiasm pleased Brandon. Lately, Savanna had always refused to have sex with him.

Brandon had suppressed his desire for too long. He pressed his hand against the back of Savanna's head and held her chin with another hand. He kissed her on her lips passionately and wouldn't let her go.

It was far from enough. Brandon held Savanna's waist and gently turned her over against the chair. Savanna felt hot but nervous. She knew that she hadn't recovered yet. Even though Brandon was sexy, and he tried his best to please Savanna, she still didn't want to be touched.

Just as Savanna was getting out of breath, she accidentally hit Brandon's chest.

Brandon hissed in extreme pain. He frowned and turned pale.

Brandon let go of Savanna and took a step back. Standing in the shadow, he lowered his head and covered his chest.

Savanna was sorry. She rushed over and grabbed Brandon's suit jacket. She was about to unbutton Brandon's shirt.

Brandon's warm hand covered hers.

Savanna looked up at Brandon's deep and bright

Cataon, eyes.

Savanna said eagerly, "Let me take a look. Rex has told me that you were seriously injured."

Hearing this, Brandon was afraid that Savanna would misunderstand him. He took off his jacket and unbuttoned his shirt.

Looking at the knife wound from Brandon's left shoulder to his right abdomen, Savanna burst into tears.

Savanna was shocked, heartbroken, and full of emotions.

The words of Andrew echoed in her mind.

Andrew said that Brandon survived this trip to Spiritual Mountain only because Brandon loved Savanna very much.

And a minute before the accident that night, Savanna was still talking to Brandon on the phone.

After Savanna fell asleep, Brandon had a dangerous fight with the gangster. Brandon nearly died.

No one could love Savanna more than Brandon.

Thinking of this, Savanna cried harder.

Brandon wiped her tears with a tissue gently. He said softly, "I knew it. If I don't show it to you, you'll get angry. If I show it to you, you will cry. Women are really hard to deal with."

Brandon's words ruined the mood.

Savanna said, "Women are complicated!"

Savanna pulled open the zipper of her bag and took out a bottle of medication. She gestured for Brandon to sit in the chair. Brandon glanced at the bottle in her hand and looked back at her. "You went to Rex?"

"Yes," Savanna responded as she gently applied medication to his wound.

Savanna hurriedly came here from New York because she worried about Brandon. He felt sweet in his heart. But finally, he said, "I've applied medication this morning."

"It's almost five o'clock in the afternoon. Besides, I've asked Rex. He said that this medication has no side effects. You can apply it several times a day. It's very good for the recovery of your wound."

Brandon stopped moving. He sat in the chair and looked at Savanna without blinking. Savanna carefully applied medication for him. She was so close that Brandon could see every detail of Savanna's face. Savanna was a real beauty. Brandon could not shift his gaze from her face.

Brandon was not attracted to Savanna's beauty, but to the effort she had put in for him when they were together. Brandon was accustomed to Savanna's company. He gradually noticed her and fell in love with her.

"It's done."

After applying the medication to his wound, Savanna buttoned Brandon's shirt and helped him put on his coat.

“Who is Mia?” Savanna asked casually as she put away the medicine bottle.

Brandon was stunned. He stopped buttoning his coat. He thought, how does Savanna know about Mia?

Brandon wanted to keep it a secret because he did not want to involve Savanna in the grudges between the Young family and Mia. So, he said, “An insignificant customer. What’s wrong?”

Savanna stared at Brandon. “Brandon, you said that you wouldn’t lie to me. Tell me the truth.”

Brandon replied, “I don’t want to bother you. Believe me, I have my reason. It may not be a good thing for you to know these things.”

Savanna thought of Andrew’s words again.

Andrew said that at any time, Savanna had to believe in Brandon. Otherwise, she could lose Brandon.

Savanna gulped. “Alright, I believe you.”

Savanna didn’t want to go to the Young’s villa. After work, Brandon brought Savanna back to the Moon Villas.

Savanna made dinner for Brandon. Halfway through the meal, Aldo called Brandon. Aldo said that Lorena’s condition had worsened. He asked Brandon to come to the hospital.

Brandon put down the bowl and left in a hurry.

Savanna cleaned up the dishes and returned to the living room. She sat on the bed and dialed Mia’s number.

Mia had turned off her phone.

Savanna thought for a moment and then called Neil, “Neil, help me investigate Mia.”

Half an hour later, Neil replied to Savanna, “Mia, a sophomore at Ewton University. She used to be a temporary servant in the Young’s villa for a while. After Mrs. Young fell ill, Mia disappeared. Several groups of people have gone to the Young’s villa to look for Mia, including Seth, Jim, and Rafael Colon. Rafael is the fourth son of the Colon family. It seems that Rafael is in love with Mia. A while ago, the rumors between Mia and Rafael were in full swing. The underworld is also looking for Mia.”

With so many people chasing after Mia, Mia wouldn’t dare to go home.

Brandon looked for Mia because he thought that Mia had replaced Lorena's pills stealthily.

But he didn't know why Mia would harm Lorena and who was behind this.

Savanna suddenly thought of the top trending searches. She asked Neil, "What about the IP address of the people that slandered me?"

Neil replied, "The source of the news was from a TikTok account named 'Evil Girl'. After the news spread fast, the account was removed. There should be someone behind this. He wanted to kill Mrs. Young. At the same time, Mr. Young went to Spiritual Mountain to seek medicine for you. On the way, he encountered danger and almost lost his life. Maybe it is the same person behind these two cases. He wants to destroy the Young family. Perhaps, it is related to the arson case many years ago. It killed Mrs. Young's parents."

Listening to Neil's analysis, Savanna realized that Mia was a key clue. Mia could help Savanna find out the mastermind behind the murder of Brandon and Lorena.

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 310

Savanna ended her chat with Neil.

Then, she made a video call with Mandel. Mandel's little head appeared on the screen. He winked mischievously, licked his tongue, opened his little mouth, and shouted, "Mom."

Mandel's hair was a little wet. He was wearing pajamas. Savanna knew that Mandel had just finished bathing. Lizeth chased after Mandel.

Lizeth helped Mandel dry his hair as she looked up at the camera. Seeing Savanna's face, Lizeth smiled, "Savanna, when Mandel received your call, he ran over to get his phone without drying his hair. After he came back from school this afternoon, he kept asking where you went. I said that you went to Philadelphia to meet his father. Mandel sighed and insisted that he should have followed you."

Savanna's gaze fell on Mandel's little face. Mandel was watching his iPad. He asked Savanna, "Mom, how is great-grandmother?"

"Your great-grandmother is seriously ill. She is lying in the hospital and has not woken up yet."

Savanna told Mandel about Lorena's condition.

Mandel looked away from the iPad and looked at Savanna, "Why does great-grandma have such a serious illness?"

Mandel asked curiously.

Children did not understand the illness.

Savanna said, "Your great-grandmother has always been in poor health. Rome is not built in one day."

Mandel chewed on Savanna's words. He did not understand it. But he stopped asking.

Savanna chatted with Mandel for a while longer and told him to behave well. She said she would return to New York in a few days.

After his hair was dried up, Mandel ran away with the iPad in his arms. Lizeth took the phone, and Savanna could see her face. "Savanna, I will take good care of Mandel. You don't have to worry about him."

Savanna trusted Lizeth.

As soon as Savanna hung up the phone, Brandon came back with cold air. He pulled off his tie with a worried face.

Savanna quickly walked over. She took his jacket and hung it on the hanger.

"How is Lorena?"

Brandon rolled up his sleeves and sat down on the sofa, looking exhausted. "The doctor saved her life, but she is still unconscious. I asked Seth to look after her in the hospital."

Lorena had never liked Savanna. She framed Savanna. Now, Lorena was also poisoned. In Savanna's eyes, it could be considered retribution for doing evil.

Brandon would not force Savanna to do anything for his grandmother.

Very few people could return good for evil.

Brandon was grateful that Savanna still cared about Lorena.

Brandon did not want to embarrass Savanna with Lorena's illness anymore, so he changed the topic. "Who were you chatting with just now?"

Brandon had heard Savanna's voice when he walked to the door. But she was alone in the room. She must have called someone.

"I made a video call with Mandel. He behaves well at home."

As she spoke, Savanna went to the kitchen to bring Brandon the tonic soup that she had brewed.

"I asked Rex to give me the prescription, and I added two chicken drumsticks to it. It is very nourishing."

Brandon looked at Savanna gently as he smiled. He took the soup and drank it all in a few mouthfuls. Then, he put the empty bowl on the table and reached out to hold Savanna. Brandon pulled her into his arms. Savanna pressed her back against his broad chest. She could feel the heat of Brandon's body. His heart went pit-a-pat.

Brandon rested his chin on Savanna's head. He looked down and saw her cowlicks. Brandon raised his hand and gently rubbed the hair on her temples. After a while, his fingers slid down and pinched her ear beads. Brandon knew that this was the most sensitive part of Savanna's body.

Sure enough, just as he rubbed it twice, Savanna's body began to shake. Brandon's breathing became heavy.

Brandon turned Savanna's body around. His eyes met hers.

In the dead of night, it was cold.

But Brandon and Savanna didn't feel cold. It had been a long time since Brandon had sex with Savanna. He had teased her in the office during the day. Now, Brandon felt unbearably hot and thirsty. He leaned over and kissed the lips that he had missed for a long time.

How could Savanna not understand Brandon's repressed longing?

Savanna was distressed that she could not help him with that. And she was a little sad. During the day in the office, Savanna was worried that someone would open the door and break in.

However, now, in the quiet space, no one could disturb them.

So, when Brandon unbuttoned her clothes, she did not stop him. Savanna knew what would happen next. She tried to relax and empty her mind. She wanted to throw herself into the upcoming sex.

Savanna hadn't had sex for a long time.

She felt very strange now.

Brandon took off her clothes and threw them onto the sofa. He brushed her hair to the side with his large hands. Under the light, Savanna's back was as smooth as jewelry. Her slender neck and beautiful shoulders quickly drew Brandon's attention.

Brandon slowly touched Savanna's skin. Savanna could clearly feel the heat.

Brandon's hands trembled, and he could no longer suppress it. Savanna could feel Brandon's breath spraying on her neck. It was so itchy that Savanna shrank her neck.

Brandon turned Savanna around and burned every inch of her body with his eyes. He held her chin, lowered his head, and kissed her rosy lips.

Savanna let out a soft moan. She was not as afraid as she had expected. Instead, a trace of anticipation surged in her heart.

Brandon was extremely surprised.

Savanna's indulgence made Brandon speed up. He couldn't wait for another second.

Excitedly, Brandon almost tore off Savanna's mask. Savanna was scared, and she quickly stopped him. There was sweat on her face. Savanna shook her head slightly. Brandon's breath fell on her exquisite mask.

He whispered into her ear with a trembling voice, "I don't mind it, Savanna."

Brandon once again covered Savanna's body. His action made Savanna unable to reply. "After taking a course of medicine from Andrew, no matter what the result is, I promise to remove it in front of you, okay?"

Brandon felt incredibly joyful that Savanna would change for him. It was not only sex, but also a conversation between two souls. Brandon found it wonderful.

It finally came to an end.

Brandon kissed Savanna's sweaty lips. He didn't want to let her go. He yearned for the wonderful feeling of kissing Savanna.

When Brandon carried Savanna to the bathroom, he whispered in her ear, "You've recovered. Andrew has magic."

Thinking of the incredible feeling just now, Savanna blushed. "I just ate the medicine for two days."
