

Chapter 14

Rick slept soundly, she gently moved out of bed to see what was going on. Pushing open the bedroom door, Daniel was pouring water, with one hand covering his stomach, his face looked pale.

Selena hurried over, "Mr. Lu, are you alright?"

"No problem."

"Uh, do you have a stomachache?"

Daniel didn't speak.

Selena knew she had guessed right.

Khan, it turned out that Daniel couldn't eat spicy food, why would he eat it if he couldn't?

"Wait, I'll get you stomach medicine."

Fortunately, the commonly used medicines are all prepared at home.

Selena hurriedly brought stomach medicine, "Take both."

"Thank you." Daniel took the pill from her palm. The slightly cool fingertips brushed lightly, and the feeling was like scratching on the tip of her heart, which made people feel crisp.

In this stormy, rainy, moonlit night, and in the dead of night, with such a beauty in front of him, it's too easy to misfire!

Selena recited pi silently for a while before she calmed down.

Seeing Daniel take the medicine, she couldn't leave immediately, so she stayed with him for a while.

"Is it better? Do you need to go to the hospital? Sorry, I didn't know you can't eat spicy food..."

Originally, she was worried about Rick, but it turned out that Rick was fine, but something happened to Daniel, what is this...

"No problem."

The two were silent for a while, then Daniel suddenly said, "The reason for bothering tonight is because Rick wants to see you."

Selena was surprised when she heard the words, "Rick wants to see me?"

"Little Treasure was frightened in the warehouse. You saved him. Now he relies on you." Daniel explained.

Selena found that as long as Rick was by his side, or whenever he mentioned something about him, Daniel's cold and permeating aura would subside a lot, and it was no longer as scary as it was during the day.

"So that's how it is..." Selena nodded.

Probably because it was easy for people to let go of their guards and worries on such a night, Selena asked a question that she had always cared about, "Well, let me ask you a question, does Rick know how to talk?"

She hasn't heard a word from Rick so far, the little guy just nodded and shook his head.

"It's not that I don't know how to say it, but I don't want to." Daniel replied.

"Is that the psychological reason?" Selena frowned.

"Yes." Daniel didn't hide anything.

"This way..." It was almost as she had guessed.

As for what accident stimulated the child's psychological problems and made him unwilling to speak, she naturally didn't dare to ask further about the secrets of such a wealthy family.

"Miss Ning." Daniel suddenly stared at her intently. His gaze was clearly cold and clear, but it gave her the illusion that it was burning hot.

"Huh?" Selena was stared blankly.

"Have we met somewhere?" Daniel asked.

If this question was asked by someone else, Selena would definitely be sure that the other party was trying to strike up a conversation, and it was an old-fashioned way, but the person who spoke at this moment was Daniel, and the confusion in his eyes was real.

"Probably not, Mr. Lu, if I've met someone like you, there's absolutely no way I won't be impressed... Well, what's the problem?" Selena's tone was fairly certain.

With her identity, even if she still When Miss Ning was young, it was impossible for her to meet someone of Daniel's level.

"It's nothing." Daniel looked away, his eyes reflected the deep night outside the window, he looked a little lonely.

If you continue to get along like this alone, the atmosphere seems a bit bad!

"Mr. Lu, if you're fine, then I'll go to bed first?" Selena said cautiously.

As if seeing through her, Daniel raised his hand, "No hurry, sit down."

No hurry! She is in a hurry!
