

Love Has its Will by Selena Lewis Chapter 448

After more than a month, Brandon finally heard the news about Savanna.

Brandon thought, I let her slip away again.

What's going on

Brandon was a bit hazy about that. He thought, is Savanna's hiding skills becoming more sophisticated?

Or is it that there is no fate between them?

Brandon suddenly remembered that time in Ireland, when Savanna hid abroad. At that time, he had run into her.

However, this time, even though they were in the same city, he could not find her.

After sending his assistant away, Brandon took out his phone and looked through the photos of Savanna.

Savanna looked gorgeous. Her eyes were clear. When she smiled, her eyes curved. She was a mother, but her eyes were as pure as a child's.

Brandon thought, was I blind before? Why didn't I find her beautiful before?

If I had recognized my feelings for her in the beginning, things would not have developed to this point.

Brandon was both regretful and upset. Unfortunately... It was too late. Savanna's heart has been broken, and she won't turn back.

Days passed.

It had been 40 days since the day Savanna disappeared.

"How about Tye?"

Since he could not find Savanna, Brandon planned to focus on Tye. He believed that Tye was the key person.

One month after Savannah gave birth, she braved the cold to come to school to see Tye. It meant that she cared about him very much.

Sure enough, after squatting and guarding for ten days, things changed.

Janet used to be busy until very late. That day, she ended her work early and went out with Tye.

Brandon was afraid that his subordinates would lose track of them, so he asked Jim to borrow a Charade car and drove on his own, following them from afar.

Brandon was rich and had never driven such a car that cost only tens of thousands of dollars. The seat was hard and bang, like a cold stool.

However, Brandon did not care about this. His mind was filled with the thought of "meeting Savanna as soon as possible".

Janet took Tye to the mall to buy some gifts and supplements for Savanna.

"Tye, are you happy to see mom and sister today?"

Tye smiled, "I'm very happy, but why does it take me so long to see my mother?"

Janet replied, "Because your mother gave birth to a younger sister. She is not feeling well."

"What about dad? Why have I not seen dad and mom together recently?" Tye was very distressed about this.

Janet always told him that his parents were too busy recently, so they did not have time to meet him.

But Tye knew that this was not the case.

When he was in class, he learned a new term called "Marriage Upheavals".

It meant that if the father and mother no longer loved each other, the family would be broken. because of this.

"Are my parents going to get a divorce?" Tye raised his head and asked pitifully.

Janet sighed, "Well, you can ask Savanna later yourself."

Soon, they carried some fresh fruits and tonics out of the mall.

Brandon drove Charade and followed them.

Janet's car gradually drove away from the bustling city center and drove towards a remote path.

There were very few cars on this road, so when Janet turned several times and saw a Charade car in the rearview mirror, she was on alert.

She thought, do we be followed by Brandon?

But when she saw the dirty Charade car, she instantly dismissed the idea.

Janet thought, how could Brandon condescend to drive such a small broken car and personally follow people?

After going through many detours, Janet drove the car into an old sanatorium.

She parked the car in the parking lot on the first floor of the basement and took the elevator up to the 18th floor.

The whole floor was very quiet. Savanna was holding a baby, walking in the corridor.

"Roya, you are a good baby. When you wake up, you just laugh and never cry."

"Mom!" Seeing Savanna, Tye directly pounced over. He hugged his mother's waist and did not let go at all.

Savanna did not expect his son to come. Her body froze for a moment, and she was suddenly overjoyed.

“Why are you two here?”

“Tye missed you, so I brought him here.” Janet shook the things in her hands and said, “You had just given birth to a child and needed nutrition, so I brought you some tonics.” Savanna saw the ginseng and nest and said, “The food here is very nutritious. Thank you for spending money on me.”

“What money? I’m happy to do this for you.”

They walked back to the ward.

At this time, in the corridor next to them, a tall, slender man slowly moved out.

The wind stirred a corner of his clothes.

Brandon murmured, “Savanna, you’ve made me suffer.”

It was unknown if it was because of the telepathy between husband and wife, but Savanna, who was just talking and laughing with Janet, suddenly changed her expression.

“Janet, did someone follow you just now?”

Janet shook her head. “Are you afraid that Brandon will follow me? Don’t worry. There is only one suspicious Charade car on the road. It will not be Mr. Cassel.”

“Savanna, why are you hiding from me?”

Brandon’s voice sounded from the end of the corridor.

Brandon quickly walked over from the other side of the corridor.

At that moment, Savanna felt the power of fate. It seemed that no matter what, she could not escape.

Janet shouted angrily from the side, “Brandon, you despicable bastard! You actually followed me!” The man walked straight over. Without even looking at the other people, he walked directly in front of Savanna.

Brandon was tall. He looked down at the thin Savanna and asked, “Why did you leave with your daughter? Why did you hide from me?”

“I didn’t hide from you.” Savanna held Roya tightly in a defensive posture.

“You abandoned us first. In that case, I have the right to take her away.”

“Savanna, that night was a misunderstanding.” Brandon wanted to explain.

“Alright, I don’t want to hear it.” Savanna didn’t want to hear his explanation.

“Listen to me, that night...”

Savanna interrupted him. “Brandon, let’s get a divorce.”

She said with a loud voice.

“What do you say?” The man’s pupils dilated. His eyes were filled with disbelief.

“Mr. Cassel, let’s get a divorce.” Savanna looked into his eyes. Her gentle eyes were filled with determination.

It was as if she had wanted to say this for a long time.

It was as if she had been freed.

“Savanna, are you angry? You don’t want to divorce me, do you?”

Savanna resolutely shook her head. “I didn’t say that out of anger. I thought it through very clearly.”

“Brandon, let’s get a divorce,” she repeated.

Her tone was solemn and firm.

Brandon heard it clearly.

Every word was like a blunt knife, drawing a bloody mark in Brandon’s heart.
