

Chapter 873 The Most Eligible Man

Derek looked haggard. He had dark circles around his eyes and one could clearly see from a glance at him that he hadn't managed to get a wink of sleep all night.

"Go and ask the police to see how the investigation is coming along," he said. Derek was drained of all energy and didn't even notice that there were other people in the elevator ahead of them.

"Don't bother. Look ahead." Wilder nudged Derek's arm and signaled him to look up.

Derek looked up at the elevator in confusion. When his gaze fell on Janet, there was a spark of surprise in his eyes.

But soon, he also noticed the man standing beside her.

Derek's face darkened. Without saying a word, he pulled Janet away from Brandon and straight out of the elevator.

"You bastard!" Derek stood in front of Janet and angrily questioned Brandon, "Where did you take my Janet last night?"

He assumed that the man before him must have had some bad intentions with Janet.

Brandon had an aura of iciness. His eyes were dark like a bottomless pit. "Your... Janet?"

He took a step forward and sneered.

Derek felt a little anxious being stared at by Brandon in such a vindictive manner. He straightened his neck and said, "I have asked you a direct question. Don't change the subject. Believe me or not, but I will call the police to arrest you!"

Seeing that Brandon didn't say anything, Derek instructed his manager, "Wilder, call the police immediately. Tell them that there's another one of those rapists."

"What makes you eligible to meddle in Janet's affairs?" Brandon said with a derisive chuckle. He raised his chin and asked Janet, "Who is this man?"

Janet pursed her lips and braced herself to explain,

"He is..."

However, Derek immediately cut her off. "Don't be scared of him, Janet. The police will deal with him!"

Janet was nervous now. She wanted to return to Brandon's side but Derek pulled her aside once more.

"Let her go," Brandon said, his eyes threateningly cold. He grabbed Janet by the wrist and was about to pull her back to him.

"No way! Who do you think you are to take Janet away?"

Derek was also trying to pull Janet to his side. He looked at Wilder unhappily and said, "I asked you to call the police. Didn't you hear me? Why are you still standing there?"

The two men were like two bulls who had locked horns and a battle was about to ensue. 2

The two men jostled and pulled her from two opposite directions. She felt as if her arms were going to dislocate and pop out of their sockets. She couldn't bare the pain, and heatedly shouted, "Stop it!"

Both Derek and Brandon were shocked and loosened their grips on her.

Janet looked at Derek with no expression on her face. "Derek, you misunderstand him. He isn't a bad guy. There is no reason for you to call the police. He is the most qualified man in the world to take me away." 2

She walked up to Brandon's side and explained, "He is my husband, Brandon Larson." 2

Gesturing to Derek, Janet then said to Brandon, "This is Derek Ramsey. I had an accident on the Iridescent Show. He helped W Marks finish the show."

Derek was so shocked that he didn't know what to say. After a few seconds, he forced himself to calm down and then asked, "Are you lying to me again? You told me you were married before, but..."

Janet shook her head. Derek was too stubborn to believe that what she had said was indeed the cold hard truth. For a moment, she didn't know what else to say.

"Derek, don't be rude. Let them go." Wilder stopped Derek harshly and whispered in his ear, "I ran a background check on Janet last night. She is indeed Brandon Larson's wife. We can't afford to offend them."

Derek was surprised. He could only vent his anger on Wilder, "Why didn't you tell me earlier?" 4

He had thought that it was a lie when Janet said she was married.

He hadn't imagined that she was in fact married and that her husband was actually Brandon.

The Larson Group was internationally famous, so Derek had heard of its CEO since he lived overseas for the greater part of the year. He calmed down and told Janet before he left, "Don't get me wrong. It's just... We heard about the accident last night. Wilder and I had been looking for you the whole night. We were afraid that something bad would happen to you. It's good that you are fine now."

Janet looked at the haggard look on Derek's face and felt guilt wash over her. "Thank you. As you can see, I'm fine. You'd better go back and have a good rest."

Janet knew that Derek wasn't lying, but she could do nothing but thank him.

Caressing Janet's back, Brandon reminded her,

Chapter 873 The Most Eligibl...

 +90 Points at most

"The driver has been waiting outside for a long time."

Janet nodded and looked up at Derek for a few seconds. Then she turned around and left with Brandon. 10

 I want no ads >