

My Mates 480

Chapter 480-It All Began Years Ago

Author's POV:

Two Years Ago:

Christina had yet to expose Enya's mother's truth to Maynard, but prior to that, she had visited Enya's old home with Enya, Maynard, and Lazio. It was hard for her to be friendly with Enya and always be there for her when, in reality, she just wanted her out of the picture now.

"Are you okay?" Christina heard Maynard ask Lazio, who looked stunned. He was staring at Enya's face, making Christina think something must have happened. She noticed Lazio was looking straight at the photo frames.

"Lazio?" Enya called for him, but he didn't even blink. The intensity he was looking at her was making Christina uncomfortable. If looks could kill. Christina bet Lazio would have murdered Enya by now.

It was rare to watch any of them look at her with these glares, so Christina was intrigued to know what was going on.

"Lazio!" Maynard shook him awake while Christina stayed silent, enjoying the show. "I am sorry!" Lazio whispered.

"It's too dusty for me. I will wait outside," he rushed out of the house, leaving us all confused by him. Christina noticed Enya and Maynard. She knew they would talk the moment she left, but she had no other choice left. She had to rush after Lazio because she believed she would never get a better time than this.

"I will go see if he needs help." Christina said, smiling sadly at Enya before running out of the house.

found Lazio in his backyard and "Are you okay?" Christina asked him, watching him pass her a sweet but bit dusty. "Why did you come out?"

she said, knowing Lazio would not believe her here to check on me?" Lazio asked, and Christina feeling some type of way about Enya. Christina had been just don't want you guys to separate," Christina sighed, looking down at his a part of any relationship," Lazio reassured her, as there was no way he was thinking about leaving Enya. Just because he was upset and angry with her didn't and after that, our lives turned into a mess. I just get scared at the idea me. Tell me, why did you come out?" She asked him, but he refused to tell her anything before he missing my pouted, pulling a picture out of her pocket and staring at that your-?" Lazio tried asking, and Christina nodded, turning is my mother when she was my age," she laughed a little, smiling at the picture. It wasn't like she hadn't seen at the picture as safe from Enya's mother!" He didn't want to speak so much, but that escaped his lips in haste. He covered his mouth, but it was knew it was Enya's mother who had cursed

Christina gasped, covering her mouth