

I' m A Quadrillionaire by Xiruo Huang chapter 241

Chapter 241

David looked at Leeman too.

Suddenly, Leeman let out a strong aura. He then moved in front of David in an instant and punched the latter.

David was still in a state of confusion at this point.

Everything was fine a second ago. Why did he take action all of a sudden ?

Even if it is to test David, he did not need to be so ruthless, right ?

Leeman's punch was so strong that David figured that if he did not use his full strength, he would end up badly injured.

Therefore, he did not care much. He used all his strength and punched the opponent using the Black Tiger Punch from the Eight Extremities Fist in his mind.

Thump!

A huge sound resounded throughout the courtyard which also seemed to have a roar of a tiger at its core.

David felt a huge force coming at him and his body involuntarily stumbled a dozen meters backward. The force finally relieved dispersed when he leaned against a large tree, but his hand started to feel sore.

'Is this old man sick in the head? Damn!'

If it were not for his quick reaction just now, or if he did not improve his strength before this, he would have been seriously injured by this punch even if it did not kill him.

This was not a test. He was clearly trying to take David's life!

However, David did not dare to say this out loud and could only think about it in his heart.

Wouldn't David be asking for trouble if he angered the other party, causing him to punch David again ?

Obviously, although his strength had improved, he was not the opponent of this old man. He who ran away lived to fight another day.

Plus, he did not believe that the other party truly wanted to kill him.

After all, there was no reason for Leeman to do so at all!

David had no clue that when he released his aura to resist Leeman, Leeman already knew that his strength was more than that of just peak Tiger Rank.

However, Leeman still struggled to believe this.

According to David's information, he should be only 21 years old now, right?

Going beyond the peak Tiger Rank at the age of 21 and entering the Dragon Rank?

Even if the legendary one knew about it, his jaw would drop, let alone Leeman. How old was he when he first entered the Dragon Rank?

If he remembered correctly, it should be 27.

This was simply unbelievable. He had actually met a talent comparable to the legendary one.

Judging from his current performance, David might be even more talented than the legendary one.

This was his luck, and also Somerland's luck.

However, he could not leak this information yet. Even if David was already a master of the Dragon Rank, in Leeman's opinion, he still had not fully grown up.

As soon as the dust settled, David keenly felt a commotion around the courtyard.

That was when Leeman spoke up.

"Everyone, dismiss. Everything's fine here."

With that, the sound around him slowly disappeared.

This was indeed the place where the emperor resided—it was so heavily-guarded.

David came back to his senses and realized that Leeman was staring straight at him. He looked as if he was staring at a naked beauty.

"Cough cough. Sir, did I pass?" David asked.

"Are you really only 21 years old?" Leeman did not answer David, but instead, asked a question.

“Yeah, I’m going to be 22 soon,” David replied.

“Haha, good! Thompson gave me such a huge present!” Leeman guffawed and said.

I’ m A Quadrillionaire by Xiruo Huang chapter 242

Chapter 242

Two hours later, David returned to the Starry Night Hotel with the middle-aged driver once again sending him back.

He was now an official member of Special Task Force Team A and no longer a backup member.

Originally, David was not ready to become an official member for the time being because he knew that once he became an official member, he would have to accept organizational arrangements and go on missions.

Right now, he did not have the time to do such things yet.

However, Leeman said that David could get special treatment and enjoy the rights of an official member. Furthermore, he did not need to accept any missions for the time being.

Only after this did David agree. There was a huge gap in status between the official members and the backup members.

The most basic benefits was that official members had the right to mobilize the local forces while backup members did not.

One should not underestimate the a huge gap between the two.

The simplest example was when David was in Springfield, East League International’s projects were all being investigated and delayed for various reasons.

If David was an official member of Special Task Force Team A, as long as he found the cabinet minister of Springfield and revealed his identity, no one in Springfield would dare to cause trouble for him.

Even under special conditions, the cabinet minister of Springfield had to obey his arrangements. This was the right of an official member of Special Task Force Team A.

They had the authority to ask for the cooperation of local forces when they performed their duties, which was a right granted to them by the state.

So, if one were to compare their identities only, David's identity was already higher than the cabinet ministers of the provinces in the country and also the cabinet ministers of Springfield and Capital City, the two international metropolises.

There were 66 provinces and 2 international metropolises in the country, so it meant there would be 68 cabinet ministers. However, how many official members of Special Task Force Team A were there?

No matter which province the official members of Special Task Force Team A went to, if their identities were revealed, they would become the honorable guests of the respective cabinet minister, and no one would dare to offend them.

This was because not only were they powerful, but under certain specific conditions, they had the right to kill first before asking questions.

This authority alone was incomparable to others.

After David got back to the hotel, he contacted the people from Falcon. He was going to quickly confirm these two identities so that he could go about his business.

The people from Falcon asked David to wait at the hotel too.

This time, the other party came much quicker, and they arrived in less than an hour. They asked David to go up to the top floor of the hotel and that they would be there right away.

Before David could ask, the other party hung up the phone.

David was puzzled.

What would he do on the top floor?

However, he still did as the other party asked.

David went to the top floor of the hotel only to find that it was huge and there were several helicopters parked on top of it. At this moment, he suddenly realized that he was going by helicopter.

David did not wait long before a military helicopter approached him from far away before slowly descending four or five meters away from the top floor of the hotel. After this, a rope about the thickness of a thumb was lowered before the helicopter stopped moving.

A man in military uniform waved to David from the co-pilot seat of the helicopter, motioning at him to come up quickly.

David then stepped forward, grabbed the rope, and with a little force, climbed into the helicopter.

After getting into the helicopter, the door closed automatically and the vehicle flew off into the distance.

There were only three people on the helicopter. Two people were in the cockpit while David was the only one sitting behind.

I' m A Quadrillionaire by Xiruo Huang chapter 243

Chapter 243

David sat in the helicopter while looking out the window to see the view of Capital City.

It was worthy of being called the world's number one international metropolis. A provincial city like River City could not compare to the level of hustle and bustle of this place.

The helicopter gradually moved away from the hustle and bustle of the city and entered a silent forest. After a few minutes, a red cross appeared in the forest. The helicopter then slowly descended a few meters above the red cross before the door opened.

David knew that they were asking him to jump straight out. When he walked to the door and looked at the distance of about two stories to the ground, he genuinely felt a little scared.

Although his strength had improved a lot, to be honest, he still had too little awareness of his own strength.

For example, he did not know something as simple as how fast he could move, how strong he was, or how high he could jump. He did not have a clear understanding of any of these things at all.

This all resulted from the rapid increase in his strength. After all, it took him only more than a month to go from an ordinary person to a master of the Dragon Rank.

If other people knew about this, they would surely cut him open to research him. After all, the fastest person to get to Dragon Rank before him took 27 years.

That person was also known as a once-in-a-century peerless genius.

David concentrated his strength on his feet, took one step forward, and jumped off the helicopter. After a few seconds, he landed firmly on the ground.

Hmm?

David examined himself and realized he did not feel any discomfort.

The weight of his entire body would be on his legs if he jumped down from such a height. If he was an ordinary person, his legs would definitely not be able to withstand such a large force and would definitely break.

However, the soles of his legs and feet were only slightly numb while the numbness disappeared after only a few seconds.

Sure enough, he was no longer in the same category as ordinary people.

As David landed on the ground, the helicopter closed the door and flew away. He then used his mind power to read the situation around him.

He could sense that there were multiple people around him, but when he looked around, he saw only green grass and trees. He could not see a single person.

It seemed that these people were masters of disguise.

Therefore, David pretended to be ignorant and just stood there and waited.

He was here to go through the formalities to join Falcon, so the other party definitely would not keep him waiting here.

Sure enough, after about five minutes, a whistle sounded. Then, there was a commotion around the grass and in the woods before seven or eight people slowly appeared and came out to surround David.

“Are you David Lidell?” One of them asked.

David looked at him but could not tell what the man looked like at all.

His entire face and body were painted in a shade of green that was similar to the surrounding scenery, and his face was completely concealed. The seven or eight people around were also dressed the same.

“I am,” David replied.

“You want to join Falcon but you’re not even the slightest bit vigilant? If we were your enemy just now, you’d have already died countless times. You got off the chopper and just stood there stupidly. Don’t you know to find a place to hide? Do you have sh*t for brains?”

This man immediately started scolding David, which puzzled the latter. David wanted to say that he had already discovered all of them a long f*cking time ago and that if he was their enemy, none of them would be able to get out of there alive.

David felt that these people were too weak, and he estimated that they were only in the Tiger Rank. None of them were in the Dragon Rank. If David really were to fight them, it would be no use no matter how well they hid. David’s powerful mind power was no joke.

However, he did not say all of that. After all, it was better to keep a low profile since he had only just got here.

Plus, he also did not believe that there would be no masters in Falcon. Even the Special Task Force Team A had so many people that he could not defeat. Since Falcon was famous as the Special Task Force, then it was only logical that there would be quite a few of masters here too. However, these people were bound to be the best of the best in Falcon, and they would not show themselves without reason.

I’ m A Quadrillionaire by Xiruo Huang chapter 244

Chapter 244

“I understand, it won’t happen again in the future, Sir!” David replied.

“It won’t happen again? You are already dead, but you talk about a future? As a member of Falcon, we must be vigilant at all times. Not only does it mean that you’ll lose your life if you fail, but you might also drag down your teammates,” Ivan Tomlinson continued berating David. Ivan despised people like David who was recruited directly into Falcon without being trained by the military or going through multiple layers of selection.

These kinds of people got in because they were from big families, and they came in by pulling strings so they could enjoy training themselves before being called a member of Falcon. Although they were just freelancers, they were still part of the group.

Being part of Falcon was the honor that they fought hard and risked their lives for, but now they were being regarded as decoration for these people to show off outside.

So, when he received an order from his superiors to pick up a special recruit named David Lidell, he decided to give David a show of his strength immediately.

Even if he knew he would not change anything nor stop David, at least he could avenge his men who had sacrificed their lives to protect these kinds of people.

“Sir, I’m here to go through the formalities, not to listen to your reprimands. If you want to do it, then do it, but if you don’t want to, I’m fine with that as well. I don’t have time to listen to your nagging here,” David said angrily.

David was indeed a little mad. When he was working part-time before, he had encountered a lot of bosses and customers like this, especially when he was delivering food.

However, at that time, he was still a poor guy with nothing to his name, and he had to endure no matter what, but now that he was the richest man in the world, why would he still endure such grievances?

Moreover, it did not matter to him whether he joined Falcon or not. His status as an official member of the Special Task Force Team A was enough for him to act like a poser.

Joining Falcon now would just be the icing on the cake. It would be better if he could join, but it did not matter if he could not.

However, at this moment, he did not want to suffer this grievance. He had enough of this for the past 21 years.

He figured he had shown enough respect for these people at the beginning, and he still had no idea why these people were targeting him.

When David said this, it was not just Ivan, all the other members of Falcon looked at him with ridicule.

‘How dare this kid talk back to Captain Tomlinson?’

‘This is going to be good.’

Everyone knew that Captain Tomlinson looked down on this kind of special recruit the most.

They were all children of big families who wanted to come in to train themselves. They did not have the necessary ability at all, and they were very problematic.

It seemed that they had to carry David back today.

“Are you provoking me, kid? Ivan said with a cold look in his eyes.

“Sir, I’m here to go through the formalities. Just tell me if you want to proceed with it. I’m not your subordinate and I am calling you Sir as a sign of respect. I don’t have time to waste with you,” David said indifferently.

“You are my subordinate if you are already a freelancer of Falcon and I have the right to educate you,” Ivan said solemnly.

“Sir, I didn’t offend you, did I? What do you want? If you don’t want to proceed, then I’ll just go,” David said helplessly.

“I want to teach you how to be a decent human being. Come on, teach this kid a lesson! Let him know that Falcon is not the place for the children of big families,” Ivan said to the surrounding Falcon members.

“Let me do it.” One of the team members stood up.

“Don’t go too hard on him. Just make him bedridden for half a month,” Ivan said to the member.

“Roger, Captain Tomlinson,” the member replied.

“Go ahead, I’ll let you make three moves first,” the member said to David again.

“Are we really doing this?” David asked.

“What nonsense! I asked you to do it so just do it! Don’t worry, I will only make you bedridden for half a month at most.”

“If we’re really fighting, you’re not enough for me.”

“Are you looking down on me, kid?”

“I’m not looking down on you specifically, I’m looking down on everyone present,” David said after glancing around.

I’ m A Quadrillionaire by Xiruo Huang chapter 245

Chapter 245

This time, he immediately offended everyone.

Everyone was ready to teach David a lesson.

“F*ck...”

The member only said one word. David approached him in an instant and put his hands on his shoulders before raising his right knee, taking that man down immediately.

The surrounding members also reacted quickly and began to charge David.

However, David’s mind power was too great. He tilted his head to avoid a punch and an elbow before defeating another one.

Although these members were very fast, none of them could hit David.

This was the effect of the mind power. It could help David accurately perceive the opponent’s attack, and then cleverly evade it before counterattacking.

Almost all of the people he encountered would lose their fighting strength in an instant. Of course, he knew when to stop. These people would only lose their fighting strength temporarily.

He dodged another punch after bending down slightly. He then bowed and exerted some force, with the strength-generating skill from Mountain Lean in the Eight Extremities Fist, he directly bumped into the captain, Ivan.

Thud!

Ivan only felt a huge force approaching him before his body flew back seven or eight meters and fell to the ground.

If not for the fact that he was also a master of the Tiger Rank and had a strong body, David's blow would at least seriously injure, or even disable, him.

At this point, the eight members of Team Falcon and their captain were wiped out. No one could get up while David was the only one left standing in the middle.

It had to be said the members of Falcon were very well-trained. Even if they were all lying on the ground and their bodies were in great pain, no one made a sound.

However, they were now looking at David with a little fear and admiration.

People with great strength would be respected wherever they went.

David looked around at the members lying on the ground and shook his head slightly.

These people were all too weak. Almost all of them were newbies to the Tiger Rank. The captain who just reprimanded him was slightly stronger, but he was not too strong. He was not even a peak Tiger Ranker.

This time, he was fighting while suppressing his power for fear of destroying these people if he used his full strength.

This was not fun at all.

David did not know that the scene of him fighting Team Falcon was being watched by someone from all angles.

Not far from them, in a secret base.

An old man and a middle-aged man were watching the scene of David fighting the Falcon members.

"What do you think?" The old man asked.

"He's so strong," the middle-aged man answered.

"Get someone from Team Vulture over to test him out so that he won't think that there are no strong members in Falcon," the old man said.

Clearly, he had seen David shaking his head.

“Okay.”

After the middle-aged man said that, he took out a walkie-talkie and said,

“Vulture nine, come in.”

After he just said that, a voice came from the walkie-talkie.

“Vulture Nine, roger. Please advise.”

“Go to number landing site to pick up a newbie named David Lidell.

While you’re at it, go and test out his ability,” the middle-aged man said.

“Roger that.”

I’ m A Quadrillionaire by Xiruo Huang chapter 246

Chapter 246

David walked up to Ivan and asked, “Sir, you’re the ones who wanted to attack me first, so you can’t blame me, right? I’m just defending myself.

After all, no one wants to be so badly beaten that they have to be bedridden for half a month, right? And I didn’t go all out on you, so you’ll only need to stay in bed for 3 days at most.”

“David, I underestimated you, you are indeed different from the other children from rich families. Just wait, someone will pick you up soon,”

Ivan endured the pain and said.

David’s strength really exceeded his expectations as his team of nine was defeated before they could even touch David.

Although the strength of their team was only average in Falcon, the members were selected through several levels.

Moreover, in their missions, they had also experienced life or death situations.

David was able to take down their team unscathed, so he had the right to be arrogant. He was different from those children of big families who just came here to get a title.

“Alright, I’ll just wait,” David said.

He had no choice but to wait.

Soon, there was a commotion in the surrounding woods again. David thought that the people who came to pick him up were here, but he did not expect that the people who arrived were only here to carry away the people who had been defeated by him.

He tried to ask them questions but they were all ignoring him.

Alright, he would just keep waiting.

If he was not in the mountains and he could not find his way back, he would have left a long time ago.

It was fine not joining Falcon anyway.

He waited a few more minutes.

David's mind power sensed a strong aura coming over and he instantly perked up and looked at the woods across from him.

A man who was wearing the same outfit as the Falcon members just now appeared.

However, David noticed that even though their outfit was similar, the picture on their arms was different.

The people whom he just defeated had a wolf on their arm while this man had a bird on his.

Yes... It was a bird.

No, it should be an eagle.

Anyway, it was some kind of large bird.

David's strong mind power told him that this man was dangerous.

This man was from Team Vulture of Falcon. His codename is nine, so he was also called Number Nine.

They did not have names, only codenames.

"Are you David Lidell?" Number Nine asked.

"I am," David replied.

"I was sent by the captain to get you," Number Nine continued.

"Do they still want to test me, or rather, do they still want to probe me out?" David asked.

He felt that Falcon had to be sending someone so strong to probe him. It seemed like he was always fighting someone whether he was at the Special Task Force yesterday or Falcon today.

Perhaps they were testing for his true skills.

“Indeed,” Number Nine said.

“Let’s start then,” David answered.

Since they were going to fight, then they should get it done quickly. He had to return after he was done here.

He did not want to spend the night here. Was it not good staying in a ten-star hotel? Why would he want to stay here and feed the mosquitoes?

“Watch out then,” Number Nine wanted.

Then, he focused his energy on his legs and charged toward David like a missile.

David did not waste any time. Ever since this person showed up, he was tense the entire time, ready to fight at any moment.

When Number Nine charged at David, David also charged toward him. They were moving very fast, and in a blink of an eye, they collided in the middle.

Bang!

It sounded like a small artillery shell bursting, creating a strong shockwave that rippled through the surrounding area.

David and Number Nine both took several steps back.

Number Nine looked at David, his eyes filled with horror. On the other hand, David was looking at Number Nine with a burning desire to fight.

I’ m A Quadrillionaire by Xiruo Huang chapter 247

Chapter 247

This was the strongest opponent he had ever faced apart from Jordan and Leeman.

When he met Jordan, he was still too weak, and on the contrary, Leeman was much stronger than him. With that, he was defeated twice.

The person in front of him was the best opponent and David wanted to display his strength as much as he could to see where the limit of his strength was and how far he was from being the best of the best.

Inside the base, the old man and the middle-aged man were obviously surprised when they saw David and Number Nine collide. David and Number Nine were on the same level.

The men were very clear about Number Nine's strength.

Team Vulture was the strongest and most elite team in Falcon. Every member of the team had the strength to at least enter the Dragon Rank..

How old was David?

He had the strength equivalent to Number Nine of Team Vulture.

However, they did not speak and instead continued to watch the battle.

David and Number Nine started fighting again after stopping for a while.

Thump!

Thump!

Thump!

These kinds of sounds never stopped.

These accurate punches made their blood race.

Both of them were masters of the Dragon Rank and their bodies were abnormally strong. That was why they dared to go head-on with each other.

David's advantage was that he had a strong body and also strong mind power. Plus, he knew the Eight Extremities Fist, a fighting technique known for its ferocity. Naturally, he was not scared of this kind of combat.

Of course, he also had his shortcomings, which was that he did not have enough actual combat experience and was only relying on his strong mind power to judge the opponent's attack method.

As a member of Falcon's Team Vulture, Number Nine would constantly interact with all kinds of masters from overseas. Furthermore, he would even wander on the brink of death for the honor of the country

Even though his body and mind power were incomparable to David's, he had a lot of combat experience compared to the other.

Because of this evenness, the two only sustained light injuries after a few hundred rounds of combat.

David was getting more and more ferocious as he fought. This was the battle that he could fight to his heart's content. The pain in all parts of his body made him gradually more bloodthirsty.

He almost completely ignored his defense. In doing so, he would only manage to hit Number Nine once for every three punches Number Nine gave him.

Thump!

Another collision caused the two to fly a few meters back.

However, this time, David was ready.

He kicked the huge rock behind him, dissipated the force, and stopped himself from staggering backward in time. Then, he kicked both legs off the rock, causing his body started to charge behind Number Nine at lightning speed.

He wanted to use this method to end this fight.

Mountain Lean from Eight Extremities Fist.

The most powerful method in the Eight Extremities Fist.

This was the benefit of having strong mind power. While he was in combat, he could still keep an eye on his surroundings and come up with a battle plan that was beneficial to him.

As Number Nine was staggering backward, he also crashed into a huge tree and stopped himself from falling.

As he was about to prepare for his next move, a dangerous feeling overwhelmed his heart. This was a feeling that he recognized after experiencing multiple life and death situations.

Before he could think much, he turned around and rolled to the other side, leaving his initial position.

Boom!

Before he could stand, a loud sound filled his ears.

David did not expect Number Nine to react so quickly. He managed to roll away and dodge his strongest attack

This time, he did not have a choice and he could only brace himself before crashing into the huge tree.

The huge impact caused David to stagger a few steps backward. He fell to the ground as the vibration shook his internal organs. He almost vomited blood from this.

Damn, he suffered because he did not have enough combat experience. At this moment, Number Nine heard a voice in his ear.

“Number Nine, that’s enough. You can bring David over now.”

“Roger,” Number Nine replied.

Then, he said to David, “Come on, the captain asked me to bring you over.”

David got up and brushed the dust off himself before following Number Nine into the woods.

I’ m A Quadrillionaire by Xiruo Huang chapter 248

Chapter 248

David arrived at the base, which had been built in a mountain. It was spacious inside, but it looked like an ordinary mountain from the outside. A staff member received him.

Number Nine disappeared after sending him here.

Shortly after David left the number 3 landing site, the two who had just watched David and Number Nine fight arrived.

The middle-aged man took a closer look at the tree that David had hit with his final blow. “What do you think?” The old man asked.

“He’s very strong. There are several cracks in the center of the solid hophornbeam. This blow has far exceeded the strength needed to enter the Dragon Rank. If it wasn’t for Number Nine’s experience, this blow would be enough to send him for an early retirement. We have to keep David, his potential is too great,” the middle-aged man exclaimed in admiration.

“I know. David seems inexperienced in combat, and he can’t properly control his own strength very well, otherwise he wouldn’t have blindly tried to deliver the final blow.”

“Indeed, this is the only way to show his potential. He is not yet even 22 years old. If he continues to hone his skills, he may be able to break through that step in the future and become another protector of our country.” The middle-aged man’s voice sounded a little excited.

“Did you get David’s file?” The old man’s voice trembled.

Obviously, what the middle-aged man said also excited him a little.

A protector!

If there was even one more person like this in Somerland, it would be enough to change the hierarchy of today’s world!

“It has been taken away by the Special Task Force and it has been restricted with the highest level of confidentiality.”

“It seems that the Special Task Force already knows about David’s strength. Put David in your Team Vulture, codenamed Number Ten. Let him enjoy the same general-level treatment as other team members.”

“But what about the Special Task Force? It’s a bit unethical to do this,” the middle-aged man asked.

“Don’t worry about them. Rules are meant to be broken. When the time comes, at worst we’ll just fight over David,” said the old man.

“I got it.”

Shortly after David sat down, the staff gave him some documents to sign. He signed it without looking.

After signing, a middle-aged man walked in.

“David, welcome to Falcon and Team Vulture. I’m the captain of Team Vulture, Lucas Brown,” the middle-aged man said to David.

“Hello, Captain Brown,” David also quickly got up and said politely.

Captain Brown gave David a strong sense of danger.

This was another Leeman-level character.

“You will be a member of Team Vulture in the future, codenamed Number Ten. Since you are still a university student, you don’t need to go on missions for the time being,” the middle aged man said again.

“Um... Captain Brown, I’m just a freelancer. So, unless there are special circumstances, I shouldn't need to go on missions, right?" David asked suspiciously.

This was what he knew. A freelancer generally did not need to go on missions assigned by the organization. That was why he could join Falcon and the Special Task Force at the same time.

"Who said that? The letter you just signed clearly states that you are joining Falcon voluntarily to become an official member of Team Vulture and dedicate your life to the motherland, but because you are still studying, you don't have to go on missions," Lucas said with a smile. David, "..."

He knew he had been fooled.

No wonder the staff just now asked him to sign quickly. It seemed that there was something fishy going on.

"However, Captain Brown, I'm already an official member of Special Task Force Team A. Won't there be a conflict if I join Falcon as an official member?" David said helplessly.

"It's fine. When the time comes, we'll just let the chief captain talk to their head team leader. Just do what you have to. You don't need to go on missions anyway. Isn't it good to enjoy the same treatment with your new title for the time being?" Lucas asked.

Alright then!

Since Lucas had said that, David was fine with it.

He did not need to go on missions for either of them anyway.

It was good to have another identity to protect himself too.

Who would dare to force himself when he used his lavish point to raise his strength to become the most invincible person in the world?

Next, Lucas explained the basics of Falcon and Team Vulture to David.

He was also given credentials to represent Falcon.

By the time David returned to the Starry Night Hotel, it was already night.

On this day, he completely understood the nature of the two major organizations.

One would be responsible for the affairs inside the country while the other one was responsible for the affairs outside the country.

The Special Task Force targeted domestic martial artists who were disrupting state laws to prevent them from committing crimes and endangering society.

Team A was the most elite existence in the Special Task Force as each of the members would at least have the strength to enter Dragon Rank.

Meanwhile, Falcon targeted the people from outside the country coming into the country to steal information, or the mercenaries from abroad from coming into the country to carry out missions.

Team Vulture's existence in Falcon was equivalent to Team A's existence in the Special Task Force. They were the best of the best, and all of them would have the strength of Dragon Rankers.

As for why Falcon was called Falcon, it was because there was another country that was opposed Somerland, and it was called Falconia.

The two countries never had any huge wars, but they were always engaged in countless small scale wars to probe each other.

Falcon's existence was to fight Falconia's Somer Hunting Team.

These two teams were like mortal enemies.

It could be seen from their names. One was called Falcon and one was called the Somer Hunting Team.

Small-scale wars were going on almost every day on the borders of the two countries.

David looked at the two identity cards placed on the table.

One represented his identity as an official member in Special Task Force Team A.

With this card, he could utilize the local forces for his own benefit under certain special circumstances.

As long as he showed this card, the cabinet ministers of all provinces would need to listen to him, which made him very powerful.

There were only 11 members of Team A including himself that held this kind of identity card in the Special Task Force. Jordan whom he met at the Luthers' house was one of them.

The other one was the identity card of an official member of Team

Vulture of Falcon.

This card was not inferior to the one from before. He could maneuver the troops of wherever he was if he showed this.

There were even fewer people in Team Vulture compared to Special Task Force Team A, as there were only ten including himself. Here, his code name was Number Ten.

Logically speaking, David's double identity could never appear on the same person.

However, since David had huge potential, the two organizations were unwilling to give David to the other party, which resulted in this situation.

He could do whatever he wanted in Somerland with either one of those identities as long as he did not betray the country, let alone when he had both of them.

With the two combined identities, it was no exaggeration to say that even if David spent one trillion dollars now, no one would dare to do anything to him if he showed them his identity.

I' m A Quadrillionaire by Xiruo Huang chapter 249

Chapter 249

After David fully understood the importance of two identities, he felt that he had really changed.

He changed from a good-for-nothing who had nothing but low self-esteem to a person who now not only had unlimited wealth but also a high status in the country.

With the combined identities of being an official member of Special Task Force Team A and Falcon Team Vulture, it could be said that the provincial and municipal cabinet ministers and the local military commanders would need to show him respect.

Of course, what they needed to pay to have such treatment was not comparable to that of ordinary people as they often needed to risk their lives to go on missions.

Leeman and Lucas had also told him that as long as he did not commit treason and harm the country and society, the Special Task Force and Falcon would always have his back.

After all, the country was the one supporting the Special Task Force and the Falcon.

Since the country had his back, he could also start his own plan and spend crazy money to get lavish points.

Everything he had right now was based on his strength. If he did not have strength, would Leeman and Lucas value him so much?

Certainly not!

Although David did not know his position very well because his strength had improved too fast, he had a strong mind power and he could feel that Leeman and Lucas were looking at him with endless admiration and excitement.

This, combined with the fact that Lucas wanted to get him into Team Vulture even if it meant fooling him, proved that he had great value.

In reality, David's original intention was just to join the two major organizations and become a freelancer.

The difference between the freelancers and the official members of the elite team was not small- in fact, it was not an exaggeration to say that they were worlds apart.

However, he got his strength from lavish points, so what he needed to do right now was to get more lavish points to increase his strength.

Even though he was very strong, it was far from enough. At least, he was far inferior to Lucas and Leeman.

He could not relax as long as there was someone stronger than him.

When he raised his strength to the point where no one was stronger than him, then David could relax slightly.

When that happened, he was going to spend money extravagantly in Capital City.

He was going to randomly buy a few houses in Capital City, a place where every inch of land was extremely pricey. By then, his lavish points would rise exponentially.

Besides, Pearl was making more lavish points for him in Springfield. So, he believed that he could increase his mind power as well soon.

When the time came, his skills would go up a level too.

While David was planning his next move in his room, inside a luxurious manor in Capital City, Zachary was busy typing in a special web address on the computer in his room.

He wasted a lot of effort to get that address. Moreover, he could only use it for one day, after which, this address would be invalid.

After entering the website, he posted a message.

“A 500 million bounty to assassinate a peak Tiger Ranker. Location: Capital City in Somerland.”

After he posted that, Zachary waited quietly.

The special website he entered was on the dark web, an underground side of the Internet.

There were all kinds of shameful transactions going on here. They were all sorts of assassinations or kidnappings, while the bounties offered would be huge.

The people who would post missions on the dark web would often have extraordinary identities in reality.

It was possible for them to be important political leaders of a country, heirs to a consortium, or children of aristocratic families. However, they would be in disguise so no one would know who they really were.

Meanwhile, the people accepting the missions would be mercenary groups that were on the top of the list in the underground world or super assassins who preferred to work alone.

Once the mission was accepted, the employer would send the money into a designated account on the platform. When both parties confirmed that the mission was completed, the platform would take a commission and then transfer the remaining money to the person who completed the mission.

I' m A Quadrillionaire by Xiruo Huang chapter 250

Chapter 250

If the mission failed, the money would be returned to the employer in full. The employer and the person executing the mission would not meet the entire time, and they would not get into contact. This way, the employer's identity would be better protected.

Ever since the establishment of the dark web, the failure of a mission had never affected the employer too badly. Hence, the popularity of the dark web ended up increasingly quite rapidly.

Nowadays, the dark web had become a place that provided for countless mercenaries and assassins.

Also, it would rank the mercenary groups and assassins according to the difficulty of the mission and completion rate.

The ones who could get to the top of the rank would be the people who were very famous in the underground world.

As for the dark web itself, all the countries insisted on abolishing it. A country's important political leader might be assassinated at any time because of its existence.

However, it could not be helped. The dark web's address seemed to be changing every day, and it was maintained by the best hackers in the world, making it impossible to get rid of it completely.

Thus, the dark web was getting stronger day by day.

Zachary was warned by T-man Stan that the ten-year appointment was approaching, and he should not get into trouble for the time being.

He did not dare to go against Stan brazenly, but he was unwilling to let David off the hook just like that. Hence, David's arrival in Capital City would be the opportune time to strike.

He decided to post a mission on the dark web as an employer so that he could get internationally famous assassins to get rid of David.

It would be best if it was successful. Even if it failed, he would not be affected too badly.

After waiting for some time, there was no response from the dark web, which meant that no one was accepting his mission.

He was a little puzzled. From what he knew, the price to assassinate a peak Tiger Ranker would cost about 300 million dollars and he had raised the price to 500 million dollars.

Logically speaking, a mission offering almost double the bounty would be accepted immediately in the dark web. He wanted it to be accepted as fast as possible, which was why he increased the bounty by so much.

He did not expect that no one would accept it even after almost an hour.

What went wrong?

Zachary was confused.

This was the first time he had posted a mission on the dark web.

What Zachary did not know was that not only did the target's ability play a role in the assassination, their identity and location were also taken into consideration. These aspects played huge roles.

For example, when it came to the assassination of a peak Tiger Ranker, there would be a massive difference between one who was just a lone individual with no forces backing them and one who was an heir to a huge family.

The price might even be ten times higher in the second case.

What Zachary posted was just a name without any personal information.

Moreover, the location was also Capital City in Somerland, which was regarded as off-limits by mercenaries and assassins.

Everyone knew that Somerland had special organizations to target mercenaries from abroad like them.

Assassins who worked alone were slightly better off because their targets were smaller. Some of the bolder ones would dare to come but most of them would not be able to return. There were not many who were able to successfully complete their mission here.

Mercenaries were even worse. They were unwilling to accept missions in Somerland because they would go on missions in groups. Occasionally, they would even go in groups of more than ten.

They would be spotted easily in Somerland, and it was too dangerous.

Hence, it was almost never worth it.

Therefore, it would be strange if someone accepted Zachary's mission. These people were not idiots. They would still need to stay alive to spend the money, right?

Due to this, 500 million was not worth it for them to risk coming into a forbidden land like Somerland.