

CHAPTER 30 - THE TOUCH PAYBACK

PERKS OF REJECTED MATE

Speaking of the devil, Diana saw him standing by the door while eyeing her and Charissa at that moment her best friend left after saying a brief goodbye and gave her a pep talk about giving Tyrone a chance to explain.

"What the hell are you doing here?" Diana spat.

"I... uhmm... I came to... uhmm... it's... uhmm..." He stuttered.

"My bed buddies isn't here if you come here looking for him." Diana responds dryly.

"I just want to... uhmmm." Tyrone cleared his throat.

"I have no time for you, if you can't spit it out then might as well leave me the hell alone!" Diana closed the door but his reflexes are fast to stop the door from closing.

To be honest, Diana's words about the pull getting weak is true so seeing him is not as effective as it used too, Tyrone's action only makes her irritable. Diana gives him the score for still being handsome even with the entire growing beard around his face but that's about it because all the accusations and rejection continuously flashbaked on her mind.

"I came just to check on you, how are you?" Tyrone finally speaks.

"As you can see, I'm still alive but don't worry you can get rid of me soon. If you have nothing to say, you can leave." Diana rudely reacted.

"Diana, I'm sorry for all the accusations, the insults and most importantly for abusing you. I know you hate me and you don't want to see me; but I can't pass the day not seeing you again to be able to speak with you again and to know is you are alright." Tyrone is such a great actor, Diana thought.

"Funny thing is I don't give a fuck! Whatever you say will not change anything and last time I checked you don't care so spare me the nonsense dialogue. You have a great humor Alpha ha ha ha!!" Diana has a sarcastic laugh.

"I'm not expecting that you will forgive me but I'm willing to wait until you do and I'll do everything to have you back in my life." Tyrone insisted.

"You rejected me, accused me, misjudged me and abused me! Now you're suddenly going to barge in here and wanted my fucking forgiveness! Do you really think sorry can erase everything huh?!" Diana screamed and this time she doesn't care who hears it all she wanted was for him to be out of her sight.

"Please calm down Diana." He tried reaching out for Diana's hand.

"Don't you even dare fucking touch me!" Diana pushed him away.

At that exact moment, Tyrone was thrown to the other corner of the house about ten yards. If this is one of her abilities then she doesn't know what else she can do if she is mad.

"Diana! Check on him!" Her wolf instantly popped in.

"No, I won't." Diana rejects hardly.

"You have too! He is still the Alpha and the son of the people who fend you and your siblings." She reasoned out.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Fine!" Diana made a small growl.

She ran towards the location and saw few pack members attending to their Alpha, everyone bowed as she entered the scene but one particular scent and face was there too. It was a girl that has dark brown hair who is approaching Tyrone and seeing how close they are Diana can tell Tyrone is really such a bastard.

"Ron-Ron! Are you okay?! What happened?!" The girl helped him to get up.

"I'm fine Bug." He then glanced at Diana.

"What did you do to him?!" The girl is shooting daggers her way.

"I just hand him the taste of his own medicine." Diana sneered.

"What do you think you're doing standing there? Help me!" The girl barked and one guy helped Tyrone while the girl is still glaring at her.

"I have more important things to do, you can help him on your own or have him for all I care." Diana commented dryly.

"He got his new toy to flaunt in front of us! The hell with his guts! I am not going to allow him to come near me again!" Diana spoke to herself.

"Are you jealous?" Artemis jinxed in.

"Of course not! I don't care if he found another whore! The hell with him!" Diana blocked everyone this time including her wolf.

With the scene he saw, she head back inside the pack house and walked to the library where Marcel and Minerva are waiting together with Axelia and Marco. They saw Diana's action and it made them think that Diana seems more different now and tougher than she was.

"Hey sis, everything okay? I felt you're a little pissed and saw what you did to Tyrone." Her brother sensed her emotion.

"I'm okay I just hope this training will be over soon so we can leave this place soon." Diana told him.

"We can talk about that later, come to the library we have something to discuss about." Marcel is now with Minerva.

"Yeah I'm on my way." Diana is now calmed again.

"Alright, see you." Marcel cuts the link.

Few minutes later, Diana has entered the library after knocking to the door and she was instantly being tackled by Minerva.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Mini!" Diana bends down so she can capture her small arms.

"Deeee! I know you will be back!! I missed you!! Please don't go missing again." Minerva started to cry.

"Shh, I'm here now Mini don't cry." Diana soothed her.

"I'm so afraid to lose you like Mom and Dad I thought you will never be back." She sobbed and hiccupped at the same time.

"You will never loose me neither do Mom and Dad, in fact I have some news about them you want to hear it?" Diana lifted her spirit.

"Tell me please Dee." Minerva wiped her own tears.

"All right, then come sit beside me and Marcel." Diana stood up and occupied one of the chairs.

Minerva followed and sat beside Marcel while Marco and Axelia are sitting across them. Diana told them where she was captured and details of the conversation most importantly about the killing part that made Hades agreed to free her.

"So we're only related because of Dad?" Marcel sounded sad.

"Yes, but it doesn't matter I still love you and Minerva the same way. The only difference is I have another brother." I smiled.

"Can I meet him? Is he nice too like Marcel?" Minerva butted in excitedly.

"I will introduce him to you and to Marcel. I'm sure Apollo is excited as you are and don't worry he is as very nice." Diana assured her sister.

"Diana, since you found a way to escape, then what about Hera and Zeus?" This time it was Marco who asked.

"That's why I'm here, we need to create a plan for them escape including Apollo, but I have one favor to ask." Diana paused for a bit.

"Sue, go ahead." Marco gave the signal to continue.

"Let's keep this information amongst us we need to be careful on who we speak too since we're not sure if they are Hades accomplice." Diana said in one go.

"I agree on that, we need be cautious on who to trust." Axelia nods.

"Tyrone is included on this or we can tell him, given that you are still his mate?" Marcel wanted to be precise about this.

ADVERTISEMENT

"I don't know to be honest since my primary goal is to save our parents and my brother." Diana looked at them.

"He is still the Alpha and it would be better if he is aware of this." Marcel added.

"I think Marcel is right, Dee. You need to tell him even though you're not mate anymore." Minerva took her chance to speak.

"Very well but please don't expect me to tell him about it, I really don't want to see him. I hope you don't mind my attitude towards your son but I would really appreciate if he is far from my sight." Diana hoped they are okay with her idea.

"We understand and respect your decision Diana." Axelia held her hand.

"Thank you." Diana smiled at them.

"By tomorrow, we will start your trainings and I'll do the brief lesson with Minerva in the afternoon, will that be fine for you or you need more time?" Axelia asked.

"I will be fine besides we can't afford to waste any time its Hades we are talking about. We need to calculate each tactics that we need to do, it's better we prepare early than be sorry later." Diana stated very much driven.

"But are you sure it's okay I'm worried that the trainings will worn your energy down?" Axelia voiced her concern.

"I have some vial courtesy of Apollo – this will help me lessen the pain and symptoms if that happens." Diana showed them the vials on her pocket.

"I'm worried about Minerva is she ready to be train? She's way too young." Marcel threw his attention to his little sister.

"She might be young but definitely the smartest among us. That's one of her abilities she can even cast a spell, do transmutation and lightning projection am I right Axelia, Marco?" Diana wants confirmation from them.

"Yes you're right. Since last week she's been doing some advance learning in her abilities same with your brother but she can't overtire herself. Minerva will get weak because she's still not shifting and her body is not well sync with these abilities." Axelia noted.

"If you're worry about her getting tied easy, I can transfer my energy with her and heal her wounds if there is any so there's nothing to worry about her health." Diana assured them.

"What about my school and my friends?" Minerva frowned.

"I'll just talk to the School's administration so the three of you can focus on your tasks." Axelia notified them.

"Well noted, we will see you in the morning, does six in the morning sounds fair?" Diana checked her watch for estimated time.

"It's settled then, I will knock on your bedroom just in case you wake up late but I doubt you will." Axelia sounded very confident since she knew the siblings are not deep sleeper.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Oh, I forgot Diana, my brother and his family are here to help the pack trains. I will introduce you with them over dinner." Marco informed her.

"Alright, I'll go back to the bedroom to rest, see you tomorrow." Diana took Minerva with her and Marcel followed.