

I'm A Quadrillionaire

Chapter 1940

Chapter 1940

Sid was no longer the head of the Saints Association.

The new head of the Saints Association would be Deputy Head Zenon.

Once this message was published, it immediately caused an uproar in Star Kingdom.

It even directly surpassed the death of Nek the Saint.

No one could believe that it was real.

Sid was recognized as number one in Star Kingdom.

When he served as the head of the Saints Association, he set many rules that were beneficial to the weak.

That was how Star Kingdom stayed peaceful until now.

Now that this just and strict old man resigned from the position of head of the Saints Association, it also represented the end of an era.

A new era was upon them.

It was still unknown what changes this new era would bring about in Star Kingdom.

Ordinary people might not know the stakes, but many forces had already felt that something was wrong.

Because Zenon happened to be the one who proposed to abolish the old rules not long ago.

Sid, who was the head at the time, never agreed.

Now that Sid had stepped down, wouldn't Zenon be able to implement his ideas openly now that he was the head of the Saints Association?

Star Kingdom, which had been quiet for so many years, was about to become chaotic.

This was what a lot of the forces were thinking.

They also all began to discuss countermeasures.

Besides, everyone still had doubts.

Why did Sid suddenly resign as the head of the Saints Association?

One must know that the lifespan of Saints was unlimited.

There was no such thing as birth, old age, sickness, or death.

No matter how long Sid lived, he would always be at his peak.

Therefore, who did Zenon think he was to drive Sid away and become the head himself?

Could it be that the number one powerhouse of Star Kingdom had changed hands from Sid to Zenon?

Probably!

Otherwise, it was impossible to explain why Zenon could become the head of the Saints Association.

The change of the head of the Saints Association made all the forces in Star Kingdom except the six top forces panic.

They started to act and gather their sphere of influence.

They were prepared to stick to one side for the time being and see how it would play out.

And among these forces, the one that was panicking the most was the Fellowes family.

The Fellowes family was originally an affiliated family of the Palmore family.

Every year, they would provide countless resources to the Palmore family for their family members to cultivate.

The relationship between the two had always been good.

However, as Treasure Trove grew bigger and bigger, its money-making ability also grew.

Gradually, the Palmore family's appetite grew to match it.

The resources provided by the Fellowes family were initially 20% of Treasure Trove's profits, and gradually, it increased to 30%, 40%, 50%, and finally 60%.

Despite this, it still could not satisfy the huge appetite of the Palmore family.

The Palmore family believed that the reason why Treasure Trove could develop to today's scale was all due to their prestige.

Without the Palmore family, it would be impossible for Treasure Trove to become one of the five largest trading companies in the Central Sacred Continent.

Hence, they wanted more.

Not only that, but the Palmore family also believed that the Fellowes family had selfish intentions and concealed the profits of Treasure Trove.

Then, they began planning to seize control of Treasure Trove.

This led to the gradual deterioration of the relationship between the two.

The reason was that Treasure Trove was too profitable, which resulted in them being targeted.

If Treasure Trove was still a small or medium-sized business, the Palmore family would never go to such lengths to take over it.

Now, the two families had suffered a complete fallout.

The Fellowes family would do anything to help David, and in the eyes of the Palmore family, they were looking for help.

Therefore, in order to avoid any accidents, the Palmore family decided to speed up their plans and take down the Fellowes family even more aggressively.
