I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1952-They figured Valerio was right.

It was impossible that the Fellowes family would randomly send them here without any backup plan.

In reality, Valerio gradually understood the family's intentions at this time.

It was possible the family sent the direct descendants here precisely because the family knew they could not escape the eyes of the Palmore family.

There was only one person who could save them from the situation today.

David!

“Grandpa Vai...”

Alba was just about to speak when she was interrupted by Valerio, “Alba, go to Master David immediately and ask him for help. We can't let anything happen to the people the family sent here.”

“Grandpa Vai, but...” Alba hesitated.

She still did not want to involve David.

Once David took action, the Palmore family would definitely not spare him.

There was no hope for the Fellows family, so why bother Master David?

“There's nothing to worry about, Alba, go! This is what the family wants, so don't worry! Even though Master David and his master cannot save the family with their strength, they should be able to save these people. The Palmore family won't dare to do anything over the line to the two of them,” Valerio said seriously.

“Well... Alright! I'm going to get Master David right now.”

After Alba finished speaking, she was about to leave.

Suddenly, another beam of light shot out from the huge ship that covered the sky and the sun.

It hit an area not far from Alba and the others.

Boom!

With a loud bang, countless buildings collapsed, and a large pit was left on the ground.

Although this attack did not directly land on Alba and the others, the huge shockwave still destroyed their hidden buildings, and even the team of more than a hundred people was affected.

Many direct descendants with relatively low strength passed out from the impact.

Others were injured by scattered debris and were lying on the ground, howling in pain.

“Ah! Help! My leg is broken!”

“Master Vai, save me! I’m blind!”

“Master Vai, help! I’m dying.”

The whole scene was a mess.

The attack came so suddenly that Valerio did not have time to react.

When he returned to his senses, he quickly moved to protect some direct descendants around him. On the other hand, he could only watch those who were far away get hurt.

Such a sudden scene also prevented Alba from leaving to find David.

At the same time, this also exposed them.

After one shot, the ship did not continue to attack.

Anders’ voice could be heard again.

“Alba, I trust you have been well since we last met!”

Alba looked up when she heard that. Then, she saw Anders standing in the air, looking down at the ruined ground with a maniacal smile on his face.

He felt pleased hearing the screams and pleas for help from the genius direct descendants of the Fellowes family.

He could finally release some of his pent-up emotions from the past few days.

“Anders!” Alba suppressed her grief and shouted through gritted teeth.

“Alba! I am back again. What do you think? You didn’t expect this to happen, right? Didn’t your family try their best to please David? Ask him to come out and save you! I want to see who dares to save you today. Hahaha!”

Anders started laughing maniacally after speaking.
