

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1956

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1956-Then, he pointed his sword at his opponents.

“Both of you should fight me at the same time. Otherwise, don’t blame me for not giving you a chance. Of course, you can attack me all at once. I have no objections to that.”

As David pointed the long sword in his hand at Anders, Anders felt a chill rising to the top of his head, making his scalp numb.

He wanted to get out of here.

He did not want to face David anymore.

The two encounters with David gave Anders a huge blow.

When he was on his way here, he originally thought that since his grandmaster had become the head of the Saints Association, David would definitely not dare to help the Fellowes family anymore.

Unexpectedly, David was not afraid at all.

Anders swore that he would never want to meet David, the bringer of bad luck, again.

The two True Saints beside him were actually not much better off.

They were already weaker than David.

Now, coupled with the Soulbound Weapon in David’s hand, it was even more difficult for them to defeat him.

Moreover, after David broke through to partial Pre-Deity Rank, his energy also changed drastically.

Even if he was suppressing his strength, he still could not change his imposing aura.

Even the late True Saints would have lost in the face of David’s energy.

The two True Saints of the Palmore family knew very well that they could not beat David even if they joined forces.

This mission to chase down the direct descendants of the Fellowes family was a complete failure.

It was not their fault either.

No one expected David to still dare to protect the Fellowes family.

One of them said, "David, since you are so stubborn, the Palmore family admits defeat today. Let's meet again in the future. I hope that you can still speak with so much confidence when we meet next time."

After speaking, he took Anders back to the ship and was ready to leave this place.

Unexpectedly, David grinned at this time.

"Do you think you can come and go as you want? Do you really think this is your family's territory? I was sleeping just now, and you woke me up, so you must bear my wrath."

"You... Oh no! Run!"

The two immediately realized that David was not backing down.

Therefore, they quickly took Anders away from the ship.

Shortly after, a dazzling red light pierced everyone's eyes.

When the red light disappeared, everyone regained their eyesight.

Nothing seemed to have changed.

Only that the two True Saints of the Palmore family had left the ship along with Anders.

However, after that, they were stunned by the scene before them.

The Palmore family's ship, which balanced both defense and attack and cost a lot of money to build, slowly split down the middle into two parts.

Boom boom boom!

Then, amidst countless explosions, it turned into thick smoke and flying ashes.

Aside from Anders and the two True Saints, none of the other powerhouses of the Palmore family escaped.

David's sword did not simply cut the ship apart, it also carried countless sharp energies, destroying everything on the ship, not even sparing the powerhouses of the Palmore family.

The Fellowes family on the ground, as well as the surrounding onlookers, all stared dumbfounded at the scene in the air.

'The Palmore family brought so many powerhouses and they were all killed with one wave of his sword?'

Alba and Valerio never expected David to kill the Palmore family members.

They thought it would be nice for David to show up.

After all, once he killed someone, this matter would only end after one party was completely annihilated.

Recommended Novels