

I'm A Quadrillionaire

Chapter 547 "Yeah, it's so that we don't have to order later. It'll be so troublesome to do so."

"I think we should..."

Before Lilith could finish speaking, the door of the private room opened.

The waitress came in and asked politely, "How can I help you?"

A boy who was two seats away from Lilith stood up and quickly took the menu from Lilith's hand before handing it to the waitress.

"We've ordered, so please serve them quickly."

"Alright, please wait."

After the waitress finished speaking, she took the menu and went out.

Lilith was starting to regret things a little now.

These people were clearly causing trouble for Celia.

In truth, she did not contact so many people yesterday, but as soon as she broke the news, everyone spread the word and she could not do anything about it. Moreover, some guests were even in the middle of something right now, but they would come at night.

Great!

After this meal, there would be eight or ten more people coming for the karaoke at night. Hence, they would need at least 20 million.

No one's money fell from the sky.

Besides, their circle could only be regarded as middle-class, which was much worse than the upper-class in Capital City.

Celia simply could not come up with 20 million at once!

She would surely be scolded if she asked Mrs. Young for it.

Furthermore, it was hard to say whether she could even get that much.

She also had only 1 to 2 million funds at hand which she had saved since she had not made any major purchases recently.

It was estimated that her girlfriends could only gather about a thousand dollars at most.

There was still such a huge disparity in cost.

Oh no, what had she done?

Lilith wanted to cry.

“David, right? We all ordered a little too much food this time because more friends will come later. You don’t mind, right?” Asked the boy who had just handed over the menu.

His name was Felix Duggard, and he was one of the people who were interested in Celia.

His family background was also the best in the circle.

He was furious about Celia suddenly having a boyfriend.

of course, he could not show it in front of everyone as it was too embarrassing , so he could only secretly pull some tricks.

He was the one who ordered the Romanée Conti that cost over one million dollars on the menu.

“Not at all, as long as everyone’s happy,” David said indifferently.

Money was just a number to him.

These people were Celia’s friends, so he could not embarrass her.

Although he knew that there were two or three men here who were in a bad mood since they were probably Celia’s suitors and would be a little ruthless, would he genuinely care?

Anything that could be solved with money was not a problem.

Besides, how much could they eat?

If these people could really eat up to 100 million, David would need to thank them because they would help him gain one lavish point.

“You’re not going to have Celia pay the bill at the end, right?” Felix asked.

This was a little offensive.

This piqued everyone’s interest and they felt that they would soon see some drama unfolding.

Who among them did not know that Felix was Celia’s number one suitor?

However, Celia never had any interest in him.

Felix should be on the verge of a mental breakdown now that his goddess was dating a paper from a small county. 1

Lilith wanted to cry now.

She swore she did not tell Felix about this.

She had no idea who invited Felix to come.

She knew once Felix was here, there would surely be trouble.

Indeed...

“Do you think I can’t afford to?” David asked with a half-smile.

“Of course not! I just think that it’s a bit cheap for a man to spend a woman’s money,” Felix said.

“Don’t worry, even though I’m not rich, I can still afford to treat everyone to this meal. Just eat and drink as you please.”

“I’m relieved. Everyone, you heard him. Eat and drink as you wish. David will be paying for all our expenses tonight!”

Felix said to the more than dozen people in the room.

“Thank you for your kindness and generosity, David!”

Seven to eight people in the room said.

Chapter 548

After the small episode, the alcohol and food were soon served.

Everyone was happy to eat.

Most of the people here had not drunk Romanée Conti, which cost over one million a bottle, before.

Even if they had, they would only drink a little on important occasions.

This time, since it was paid for by someone with more money than sense, everyone naturally did not restrain themselves.

When everyone was having a good time, the door of the private room opened.

Lorraine walked in.

She inquired about David’s location when she first came to the Great Wall Club and after she took care of Jeremy’s affairs, she came over.

She wanted to interact more with David and gain a better understanding of him.

It was not that she was interested in David, instead, it was because she suddenly remembered what her master had told her.

Chaos was coming.

Once she met someone of her age whom she could not see through with the secret technique at all, she had to pay special attention as they might be someone with great potential.

Throughout the long, thousand-year history of Somerland, such a character would surely appear whenever there was chaos.

They would lead the times, pacify the chaotic world, and make great achievements in throughout world. Then, their names would go down in history.

The most recent example was Mason, the current Chief of Staff of Somerland.

Of course, this was not absolute.

It was also possible that she could not see through him because she was simply not that good at the secret technique,

However, she always felt that David was not somebody simple, and her intuition had always been accurate.

No matter what, David was one of her big goals.

When she returned to Capital City for the first time ten years ago, she made a ten-year appointment with Stan and Clinton, which she did not intend to delay.

On the contrary, she wanted to confirm who was the number one among the younger generation in Somerland.

This was because ten years ago, Stan and Clinton were indeed the best in Capital City.

However, things had changed a little bit since then.

Opponents who could compete with Stan and Clinton for the number one among the younger generation in Somerland began to appear one after another.

She, Grant, and Fred could still compete for it, along with David, who was completely incomprehensible, as well as the descendants of many hidden sects and families who would also gradually.

As the saying went, heroes were born during troubled times.

Moreover, it seemed that the chaos this time around would be much more serious than during the previous occasions.

The competition would also be extremely fierce.

Nobody knew who would be able to suppress the surrounding talent, have the last laugh, and become the one at the top who shone throughout entire era.

When Lorraine first entered through the door, everyone thought it was the waitress. Hence, everyone continued eating and drinking, and no one paid attention to her.

Everyone's attention was only attracted when someone looked up at her and then kept their eyes glued to her, even forgetting to eat. After awhile, everyone was looking in the direction of the door.

Everyone was stunned when they saw Lorraine, both men and women alike.

They had never seen such an ethereal woman before. She looked like she had just walked out of a painting

Naturally, David and Celia also noticed her.

Celia was very satisfied with her qualities. At the very least, she was confident that she was not inferior to anyone.

However, when she saw Lorraine, she felt a slight hint of inferiority in her heart.

“How can there be a woman who looks so much like a painting in this world?”

Aside from David, everyone in the room had the same question.

David was a little surprised to see Lorraine.

‘Why is she here?’

While David was staring at her blankly, Lorraine spoke.

Chapter 549 “David, we meet again.”

‘Is she looking for me?’

David did not know how to answer for a while.

‘I think we’ve only met twice before, right?’

‘Am I that charming now?’

‘Even a fairy-like woman like Lorraine is obsessed with me.’

There was a trace of pride in David’s heart, but he came back to his senses in an instant.

‘I have Celia now.’

Pearl was enough to give him a headache and he still had no idea how to deal with her, so he could not let anything else happen.

“Miss Lovewood, what do you want?” David asked.

This time, it was Lorraine’s turn to be stunned.

This was the first time in her life that she took the initiative to strike up a conversation, but she was struck down by the other party.

In the past, she would be the center of attention regardless of if she was in the sect or in Capital City.

Almost everyone would surround around her and speak highly of her.

It was the first time she had encountered such a situation, and she did not know how to answer for a while.

“David, what is the meaning of this? Lori highly values you, and that’s why she’s looking for you. How dare you talk to her like this?!” Fred said, feeling a little displeased.

Lorraine had expressed her curiosity about David several times before, which had irritated him.

This was because this was the first time Lori had shown interest in a man her age, while Fred himself had never received the same treatment.

So what if David's identity was mysterious and he had a strong background?

The Krums were no worse than any other forces.

Plus, he did not think that David, who was ten years younger than them, was much stronger than them.

His background was just an external force after all.

The troubled times were approaching, and in the end, everyone could only rely on their own strength.

"Then what should I say? Why don't you tell me? Why are you making it sound like we know each other very well? If you don't need anything from me, please leave, we're having a meal," David said, feeling a little at a loss.

'Are the disciples of these hidden sects all so arrogant?'

They broke in asking and even questioned him!

"Are you..."

"Freddy!" Lorraine stopped him.

"David, I do need your help with something, but it's not convenient to say it here. Can you leave me your contact information?" Lorraine said.

She wanted to invite David to join the ten-year appointment.

At the same time, she wanted to expand its influence and make this upcoming ten-year appointment a stage for the younger generation to compete for the crown.

David looked at Lorraine and figured that she was not lying. She seemed to be really looking for him for something.

"Celia, please exchange contact information with Miss Lovewood."

After David finished speaking, he said to Lorraine, "If you want to find me in the future, just contact my girlfriend directly."

Lorraine glanced at David, walked over to Celia, stretched out her fair and slender right hand, and said magnanimously, "Hello, my name is Lorraine."

Celia had to stand up and stretch out her hand to shake Lorraine's hand. Then, she said, "Hello, my name is Celia."

The two exchanged contact information.

After that, Lorraine left with her gang.

Her purpose for coming here had been achieved.

The reason David asked Celia and Lorraine to exchange contact information was that he noticed that Celia was visibly nervous when she heard that Lorraine was looking for him.

She must have felt badly threatened by Lorraine.

It was not hard to understand. No matter who the woman was, she would feel shameful when they were facing Lorraine.

Even a top-notch beauty like Celia was no exception.

She had greatly lost in temperament alone.

If he gave his contact to Lorraine, Celia would definitely feel like she was in danger.

He was doing this to dismiss the worries in Celia's heart.

Besides, he only admired Lorraine, but he did not want to own or dominate her. He already had Celia.

Chapter 550

Celia naturally knew what David was doing and she was very pleased by it.

In the past, Mindy said that she was afraid David would not be able to stand the temptation outside, but Celia refused to believe it.

However, the moment she saw Lorraine just now, she suddenly believed her mother.

She was a little worried that David would not be able to endure Lorraine's temptation.

This woman was really attractive.

Even a woman like her thought so!

No one here was a fool. After what happened just now, no one dared to regard David as an ordinary person.

The level of these people was too low, and they did not know how Lorraine was. However, from their temperament, her friends could tell that the people who just came in were not anyone simple. Only a powerful family could cultivate people like this.

Since David could handle them and even take the initiative to chase them away, how could he be an ordinary person?

At first, everyone was talking, laughing, eating, and drinking. They thought that they had captured a guy with more money than sense today.

However, after what happened with Lorraine just now, everyone became silent.

No one dared to open anymore wine now, instead, they would just finish what they had in their glasses.

After eating, no one said anything as the previous liveliness also disappeared

After eating, Lilith called the waitress.

“Is there anything you need help with?” The waitress asked respectfully.

She had been a waitress here for several years.

This was the first time she had seen a meal which cost tens of millions.

It was not like there were no such nouveau riches, but this kind of people would usually dine in the private room in the front. These kinds of meals would typically happen in the ten private rooms in front, so why were they suddenly showing up here?

There was no such local nouveau riche in the hundreds of private rooms behind.

She was so excited when she got the order, as this time, her commission alone would be 100 thousand.

“Um... we haven’t opened these wine bottles yet, so can we return them?” Felix asked embarrassedly.

He also felt ashamed when he had to return these things while eating in such a place.

However, what else could he do?

He was not a fool.

They clearly could not mess with David, so they could not let him foot the bill, right?

Furthermore, he could not come up with that much money all at once.

“I’m sorry, Sir, we don’t allow returns, but you can leave them here if you can’t finish drinking, so you don’t need to order next time you come,” the waitress replied.

“That’s fine. I said I’d treat you, so don’t worry about it, bring me the bill,” David said.

“Okay, Sir, please come with me.”

The waitress led the way.

David and Celia followed behind her.

They were followed by Lilith and the others.

David and the gang were soon brought to the front desk.

“Please give the guest in Private Room 138 their bill,” the waitress said to the cashier.

“Alright, please wait.”

The cashier took a look and then said, “Hi, Sir, your bill today has been waived.”

‘Waived?’

David and Celia were not the only ones shocked, Lilith and the others behind him were also curious.

That was more than ten million!

How could it be waived just like that?

David thought Lorraine and her gang paid the bill for him because she had only met Lorraine today.

However, after thinking about it, he felt that it was not right.

If it was Lorraine, the cashier would not say that it has been waived. Instead, she would say someone had paid for it.

Only the boss of this place could decide that.

“Who waived the bill?” David asked

“Our boss,” the cashier replied.

“Who is your boss?” David asked again

“Sir, please stop asking. Since your bill has been waived, you can leave now,” the waitress asked.

It seemed that they had been ordered to not reveal the identity of the boss.

David did not cause trouble for her. Hence, he turned around and said to Lilith and the rest, “Do you know who is the boss of the Great Wall Club?”

Chapter 551 “T Faction,” Lilith said.

She had friends who knew the people who worked here.

She asked a friend to help her book the private room, so of course, she knew who the owner was.

“T Faction? Stan?” David muttered to himself.

Although David spoke in a low voice, everyone present heard it.

Lilith and the others’ foreheads started to sweat as they waited.

David dared to call the T-Man by his first name.

Either he did not know anything about the reputation of the T-Man, or he was a person of the same level. Even if he was not, his status would definitely not be much lower.

Moreover, T-Man personally asked them to waive David’s bill. What kind of treatment was this?

For a while, they felt that their hearts could not take it anymore and a few people who deliberately ordered alcohol to embarrass David felt like their brains were a little deprived of oxygen, and they began feeling dizzy.

Their level was too distant from Stan, yet they had now actually offended someone on the same level as Stan.

If David wanted to split hairs with them, all of them combined would not be David’s opponents.

David was also a little puzzled at that moment.

Although he knew Stan, the two had never met, so why would Stan waive the bill?

Moreover, they had beef. After all, two of T-Factions great fighters had died because of him.

‘This is unreasonable!!

“Where’s Stan?” David asked the cashier.

“What?”

“Where’s your boss?” David asked, changing how he addressed Stan.

“He has left,” the cashier replied.

“Well then, I will pay as much as I was charged. Settle the bill for me, I don’t need it to be waived.”

“Sir, please don’t make things hard for us. We dare not go against the boss’ order.”

David was speechless as he looked at the aggrieved cashier.

What was going on?

Although this amount of money could only give him 0.1 lavish points, many drops make an ocean. No matter how small a mosquito was, it was still meat at the end of the day.

Moreover, it was not about money.

Wasn't Stan forcing him into owing him a favor by waiving his bill?

In that case, what would he need to do to Clinton during the ten-year appointment?

'Why don't I go easier on him?

'Fine.

I'll go easy.

'It can be regarded as me repaying this favor.

Originally, we were going to kill or cripple him, I guess right now we just need to severely injure him.

David thought silently in his heart.

"By the way, give me a large private room for karaoke," David said.

"Alright, Sir, please wait."

"Um... Celia, M-Mr. Lidell, I need to go now. You guys have fun. I hope you have the time of your life.

Thanks for the meal," someone said.

"I have something to take care of too! Celia, Mr. Lidell, thank you so much," someone else said.

Then, everyone thanked Celia and David and claimed they all needed to leave because they were busy.

Furthermore, the way they addressed him also changed. It turned from David to Mr. Lidell.

This was the result of a change in identity.

After a while, only David, Celia, and Lilith were left at the scene.

Since everyone had left, who still dared to sing karaoke in this situation?

"Celia, I'm sorry. I didn't think that it'd be like this. I didn't invite Felix and his gang," Lilith said apologetically

"It's fine, Lilith," Celia comforted.

"I'll be leaving as well then. I don't want to be the third wheel. Bye!"

"Gosh!" Celia said, her face turning red.

"Since they all left, why don't we go have fun- just the two of us?" David asked. "Alright!" Celia said happily, holding David's arm.

Chapter 552

David and Celia booked a private room and had fun by themselves inside.

When Celia heard David singing the song he composed and wrote the lyrics to himself, her eyes twinkled.

Not everyone knew David's expert level lyric writing, song composition, and singing skills. He was better than most singers, so of course, Celia was utterly enchanted by him.

She had known David for so long, yet she had no idea just how talented David was.

This was the first time she had heard David sing.

He was so good, and she was drowning in his voice.

At this moment, Stan returned home.

He walked out of the private room and noticed that Lorrain and the others were still there. Moreover, they had gone to Private Room 138.

Hence, this made him curious.

It had only been a few days since Lorraine came back from Krum Mountain, so who was worthy of her personal greeting?

Furthermore, every member of the Krums was snobbish, so they would definitely not personally visit a normal person.

In the end, after he checked the security footage, Stan noticed David.

David might not have noticed him before, but he had purposely looked David up.

T Faction lost two great fighters because of David. Even though it did not affect him too much, it was a pretty big blow to T Faction's reputation.

Moreover, David was linked with Falcon in countless ways. Even after he asked the people in the military to look David up, he could only find out some irrelevant information about the man. He could not find any important information at all as David's information had been categorized as top-secret.

This was a little scary!

Stan did not dare to continue checking. If not, he would attract David's attention. Besides, he was at a critical moment in his life and it was not beneficial to him if he made another strong and mysterious enemy.

Thus, he directly asked someone to waive David's bill to express goodwill to him.

Even if they could not be friends, they should not be enemies at this critical moment.

He would only think of the future when the time came...

The ten-year appointment was the most important thing to him now, and once he defeated Clinton and became the number one among the younger generation in Somerland, he would not only have the number one beauty in Lorraine.

What was more important was that he could summon countless elites during the troubled times, which would give him the resources to act as a hero during troubled times.

When the time came, it would be much easier to solve any of his problems.

However, Lorraine knew David, and Stan was curious about this.

The Gooding family had hushed up what had happened in the Gooding residence a few days ago. They only knew that Lorraine brought the people from the Krums to cause trouble for the Gooding family, causing the Gooding family to submit and lose their dignity.

However, they concealed the fact that David also went to the Gooding family to stir up trouble.

Therefore, naturally, Stan did not know how the two had met before this.

As for the meeting at Mason's residence, naturally, Stan was even more clueless about this.

In a secret forest in Somerland where there was an intense magnetic field.

The precious head of the Gooding family, Ben, was waiting.

This time, Old Master Gooding used a secret channel to contact a strong sect.

The two parties agreed to meet here to talk about their collaboration.

As for why they chose a secluded place and not the city, it was because this sect was somewhat shady.

Meanwhile Mason said that they could not work with hidden sects with a dirty history.

However, the Gooding family was in a dilemma.

According to reputable sources, Mason was indeed at the end of his life.

The Gooding family had offended the Krums, and once Mason was no longer around, the Krums would definitely target the Gooding family.

The Gooding family only had Old Master Gooding, someone who was halfway to the God Rank, to face the Krums, who were very powerful. Hence, there would be no way for the Gooding family to fight back.

Thus, the Gooding family had no chance but to seek out a powerful sect to work with.

Yet, there were not many sects that could compete with the Krums.

The Gooding family eventually found one, and despite them having history, the Gooding family did not care. Mason was going to die anyway.

Once he died, Somerland would be like a plate of loose sand.

When the time came, it would come down to a battle of strength.

No one would notice these minor details.

Furthermore, they needed to use an even more powerful force to avenge Jensen and his sister.

While Ben was contemplating this, a sinister voice filled his ear.

“Sorry for the long wait, Head of the Gooding family.”

Ben was startled and he looked over to the voice. Then, he saw a shadow of a person standing not far away from him. His body was covered with a black robe, and he was blending into the darkness around him.

They were in such close proximity, and yet, a peak Dragon Ranker like Ben did not notice him at all.

Not until the person had said something.

This caused Ben to break into a cold sweat.

This sect was indeed mysterious.

At the same time, he was a little excited.

This random person from the sect could make him feel as if they had a dagger to his back. So, Ben could only imagine the power of the entire sect.

According to what the Gooding family had learned, this sect was not inferior to the Krums in the slightest. Moreover, they even had a huge grievance with the Krums.

This was also why they chose to work together with this sect.

If this were another sect, even if they could compete with the Krums, they would not risk offending the latter for the sake of the Gooding family.

There were a lot of other families to choose from in Somerland, so even if they did not work with the Gooding family, there would still be other options.

From the looks of it now, this rumor was true. This sect was indeed powerful.

However, the more powerful they were, the more beneficial it would be to the Gooding family.

“Are you from Star Sect?” Ben recomposed himself and asked.

“I am. I am the guardian from Star Sect, Kit Powers,” the man in the black robe said.

“I see. I am Ben Gooding from the Gooding family in Capital City,” Ben introduced himself.

“Why did the Gooding family choose to work with Star Sect? You have to know that there are a lot of people who want to work with us in Somerland. Aren’t you worried that your family will invite trouble onto yourself by doing this?” Kit asked.

This was also why Star Sect was curious.

Recently, a lot of hidden sects and families were looking for collaboration so that they could peacefully come out of hiding.

Star Sect was no exception.

However, Star Sect contacted a lot of families in the dark. However, when these families heard who they were, they would reject them immediately.

Star Sect naturally knew why.

It was because Star Sect was categorized as a dangerous hidden sect in Somerland.

Thus, they could only lower their requirements for collaboration time and time again.

Until now, even none of the small families wanted to work with them.

However, they suddenly received news that one of the top four prominent families in Capital City, the Gooding family, had contacted them voluntarily and even expressed their willingness to collaborate. This confused Star Sect and they figured that it might be a trap set by Somerland so that Star Sect would come out of hiding and they could capture all of them in one go. With that, Somerland could then give the other hidden sects and families an initial show of strength.

Everyone knew that Mason was about to die, and it was not impossible that this could be his last burst of strength. Therefore, they had to be careful.

Chapter 553

“Mr. Powers, you have no idea. Old Master Gooding found the details surrounding Star Sect in the top-secret vault in Somerland. As for why we’re working with you guys, it’s because Old Master Gooding not only found that you’re very powerful, you’re even rivals with the Krums,” Ben explained.

“Oh? Your family has beef with the Krums?” Kit asked.

“Yes, one of the disciples of the Krums is a member of the Lovewood family, and my family has huge beef with them.”

“How can you prove that?”

“This is no secret in Capital City. You’ll find out if you ask around. Plus, we already shared grievances as far back as three years ago. Back then, we didn’t know the Krums were backing the Lovewoods, if not, my family would not have ended up like this.”

“Really?” Kit asked.

However, his tone was not icy anymore. Instead, it was laced with a hint of surprise.

If what Ben said was true, then this would be astronomically good news for Star Sect.

The Krums were Star Sect’s biggest enemy.

They would not be able to get along peacefully with or without the Gooding family.

If that was the case, the best choice was undoubtedly to work with the Gooding family as there would be great benefits for both sides.

The Gooding family had someone to support them in their fight against the Krums and Star Sect had a collaboration partner to aid them with their resurfacing. Hence, they could proceed with the next step in their plan.

This was definitely a win-win situation.

“Everything I’ve said is true. Not only that, a few days ago, the people from the Lovewoods came to my house to protest, along with three disciples from the Krums and two elders. They made us lose out face and become the biggest joke in Capital City.”

“Alright, I’ll go back and tell the head about this. If we confirm that everything you said is true, then we can continue to talk about the collaboration between us. Don’t worry. If we’re able to collaborate successfully, Star Sect will protect you from the Krums and your family will not need to fear them anymore.”

“If that’s the case, thank you, Mr. Powers! However, since Star Sect is categorized as a dangerous sect in Somerland, the Chief of Staff in Somerland, Mason Stefani, said that we can’t work with sects like you.

So, we have to do this in secret, and we can’t give ourselves away. If not, my family will be in danger and Star Sect will have no hopes of resurfacing. Only after Mason is dead will we not need to fear anyone and be able to show ourselves openly.”

“Alright, if Star Sect agrees, we’ll do everything according to the Gooding family’s plan.”

Both of them immediately got along, and both sides soon went back to report the discussion.

Once these two forces successfully collaborated, they would not be inferior to the Krums and Lovewoods. They might even have a slight upper hand.

After all, the Krums and Star Sect were rivals. These two sects were in a stalemate when facing each other as they were evenly matched.

However, the Lovewoods could not rival the Gooding family.

However, the Goodings did not know that Mason had been cured by David and he had recovered to the peak of his powers. Moreover, he could still go on for ten more years.

If they had known this, they would have instantly chosen not to work with Star Sect.

If not, if they were exposed, their family would lose their foothold in Somerland.

The best result the Gooding family could hope for would be to be banished from Somerland like the previous hidden family, the Haran family.

Alternatively, they might completely disappear from the annals of history.

A lot of families in Somerland were still working with hidden sects and families as they wanted to find protection for the impending troubled times.

The more powerful a family was, the more powerful the sect they would work with.

One could imagine how chaotic the world would be not long after these hidden sects and families came out from hiding.

Nobody knew which of these families and sects would rise and which of these sects and families would be destroyed.

However, all of this had nothing to do with David.

He was still proceeding with his money-spending plan. He was still not strong enough after he had entered God Rank. Hence, he still needed to continue working hard.

Chapter 554 Now that Mason was back to his peak, he should be the one worrying about this. David trusted that Old Master Stefani would handle it well.

After all, after his strength deteriorated, he could still defeat the nine God Rank guardians.

Now that he was back to his peak, his strength would be even more of a deterrent.

Right now, everyone in the world thought that this old man was about to die, and they were getting restless. All of them wanted to get a slice of the Somerland pie, of which the hidden sects and families in Somerland were no exception.

David was waiting to see what everyone's expression would be like when they found out that Old Master Stefani was back to his peak

In the end, they would just be shooting themselves in the foot.

Besides, as the person who started this, he would have been given a great reputation.

East League Capitals was developing rapidly, and while it was burning money madly, there were still a lot of problems accumulating that required David's attention.

Even so, these things were too scattered. If he were to handle them one by one, it would take too much time, which David could not spare.

Thus, he was waiting for a chance.

A chance that would make everyone realize how strong East League Capitals' backing was.

Once the secret boss of East League Capitals was exposed and it was discovered that he had a close relationship with the MPs of the Somerland Parliament, then he could take care of all the problems he was facing in one go.

No one would dare to go against a company with such a strong background.

However, he still needed to wait.

He was not scared of having many problems, he only needed to spend some money and put in some effort to resolve them. After that, he would take care of them all at once.

It had been a week since he had become a God Rank guardian, and throughout this period, his lavish points had been increasing greatly. After all, he had a few big projects running simultaneously. Communication centers were being built quickly around the world. Communication satellites were also steadily being set up with technical support from Somerland.

The fund was building schools, old folks' homes, and orphanages in impoverished places in Somerland, contributing to the welfare in the country.

Red Flame Mercenaries were buying all kinds of powerful weapons in Dark Cape to arm themselves, and at the same time, they were also recruiting all kinds of powerful talents with high salaries.

Right now, Red Flame Mercenaries had become the second most powerful mercenary in the mercenary world

All this required money.

In just one week, David accumulated more than two thousand lavish points.

Right now, there was nothing much to say about the use of his lavish points. He spent two thousand lavish points to upgrade his physique from God level 1 to God level 3.

His strength greatly increased again.

During this period, David was glad.

Not only did he save Old Master Stefani and gained this powerful backing, he also broke through God Rank and became a guardian.

Furthermore, his lavish points were also quickly increasing everyday...

He believed that soon, he could increase his strength to a level where he would not need to fear anyone.

If he did not become invincible, he would not be able to live peacefully.

After all, the system was too strong.

Once others learned about it, all of the powerful people might gang up to cause trouble for him so they could learn more about his secret.

'So...

'Since everyone is in God Rank, then I, David Lidell, will go beyond God Rank!

Chapter 555 David brought Celia to the Starry Night Hotel. He did not bring her here to fool around. Instead, the two were very clingy with each other and were always sticking together. There was no need for them to fool around in a hotel.

They were here for a party. The previous day, David received a call from Empress Elsa Winters where she invited him to attend this party Plus, Elsa even said that she was going to sing the song Flower Woman David wrote for her last time.

David wanted to reject, but after recalling how much Celia liked Elsa, he figured this would be a great chance for her to bring Celia along.

However, when the two of them entered the hotel and went to the hall where the party was hosted, they were stopped by security.

What made David curious was that the two security guards were both in their forties or maybe fifties, and they were Tiger Rankers.

Since when were Tiger Rankers everywhere? Right now, they were even security guards guarding a door? Even though they were at the beginner stage of Tiger Rank, they were definitely masters compared to normal people. When he thought about Elsa's strength, these people did not seem to be so simple anymore. Elsa should be from a powerful and influential family. Furthermore, these two were just wearing security outfits as a disguise. In reality, they should also be people from that family.

“Hello, we’ve been invited to this party,” David said to the two Tiger Rank experts wearing security outfits at the door.

“Do you have an invitation card?” The security guard asked. “I was invited over the phone, so I don’t have one.” “Well, I’m sorry. I can’t let you in without an invitation card. This is not a normal party, so please leave.”

David had no choice but to call Elsa.

He was already here so he could not leave disappointed, right?

Besides, when Celia heard that Elsa was going to sing the song he wrote for her, she had been overjoyed for such a long time. Wouldn’t he be letting her down if they went back now?

Soon...

The door of the hall opened, and Elsa walked out.

“Miss!” The two Tiger Rankers in security outfits greeted respectfully.

“They are my friends,” Elsa said to the two with no expression on her face.

“Yes, Miss!”

Elsa ignored the two and said to David with a smile, “David, you’re finally here. I thought you were not coming.” “Hello, Miss Winters. This is my girlfriend, Celia. You’ve met before. She loves your songs, so I brought her here,” David said with a grin. Indeed, it was just as he expected. This person was not simple at all! From the looks of it, this party did not seem simple either. “Hello, I am Elsa Winters. I am so happy to meet you,” Elsa reached out her hand and said to Celia.

“Hello, Elsa. I am Celia. I love your songs!” Celia cried happily and shook hands with Elsa.

“Thank you. Let’s go. Let’s get inside first.” After Elsa said that, she gestured to the two of them. Celia held David’s hand and walked into the hall.

“Be more careful in case someone comes in to cause trouble.” Before Elsa left, she said to the two people at the door.

“Understood. Don’t worry, Miss!” “Roger that.”

David and Celia walked into the hall.

There were a lot of people in the hall, and it was very lively.

Chapter 556

It did not seem different from other parties.

However, after scanning the hall with his mind power, David discovered that there were a lot of masters in the hall.

There were even a few masters of the Dragon Rank, let alone Tiger Rank experts and first class experts.

“David, you can take Celia to look around first. There is food and drinks here, and there’s also a dance floor so you can dance. I have to take care of something so I can’t stay here with you for the time being. Sorry, I’ll come back when I’m done,” Elsa said to David apologetically after she walked in.

“You don’t have to be so courteous with me, Miss Winters. Go ahead with your affairs. Celia and I are just here to hear you sing,” David said humbly. “Great! You can look around as you please. After this, I’ll sing Flower Woman, which you wrote. It’s written so well and it’s so perfect for me. I love it so much, thank you!” “It’s good that you like it, Miss Winters.” “Please help yourselves.” Else did not continue talking to David. When she finished speaking, she left. Today, the Winters family was also one of the main characters of the party. Hence, she needed to take care of a lot of things. The entire hall was split into sections. Some people were chatting and eating desserts, and there was also a dance floor for dancing. David brought Celia around the hall. It was boring to attend the kind of party where they did not know anyone since everyone in the hall was busy chatting with people in their circles. A lot of youngsters' eyes fell on David and Celia. When they did, their eyes would light up. However, when they saw Celia holding David's arm, they could guess that these two might be a couple, so they did not do anything. Of course, there were a few of them who came to flirt or invite them to dance on the dancefloor. However, they were all rejected by David and Celia.

David also noticed a few actors and singers at the scene, but he did not spot Marie.

She should be busy with the movie he had invested in. Among the various celebrities, David only knew Marie and Elsa.

He felt that if no celebrities were at this kind of high-end party, the party would feel cheap.

After all, he had never attended a party with no celebrities up until now. The two were bored after wandering around so they stopped at the food area. Celia loved the desserts here and the two started to enjoy the high-end food here.

After a while...

They suddenly heard voices in the hall.

"Hello, everyone. Welcome to the party. Everyone who is attending is a friend of the Winters family and the Patton family. The collaboration between our families this time is very important for the development of our families in the future. Next, please welcome the people representing the two families to say a few words about this collaboration.

Everyone in the hall stopped what they were doing and looked at the stage.

Even though David did not want to go, he could not stick out from the crowd, so he could only follow Celia.

Half an hour later...

The person on the stage finally finished their speech.

David finally understood what kind of party this was.

This was a party where the Winters family, which Elsa was representing, and the other family called the Patton family, officially announced their collaboration and marriage.

Collaborating through marriage were the strongest and most common form of collaboration. The Patton family was an old family in Capital City, and they had deep history and background. Their existence was second only to the top four prominent families in Capital City.

Meanwhile, the Winters family should be a hidden family, so one could not underestimate their strength. This could be seen from Elsa, the daughter of the Winters family, and the two Tiger Rank masters standing guard at the door.

The collaboration between the two families could be considered a collaboration between the two powerful parties.

As the one representing the Winters family, Elsa was naturally not the one getting married. The person who was going to marry into the Patton family was her cousin, Gina Winters. She was a beautiful young woman in her twenties.

A party involving the marriage of the two families would typically only include guests who were very close to the two families.

Hence, David did not understand why Elsa invited him to the party.

Was it just because he wrote her a song?

Perhaps not!

There had to be other reasons.

However, Elsa was still busy right now. As the person representing the Winters family, she should still have a lot of things to take care of. She said she would go find David after she was done, so when the time came, he would learn the reason.
