Chapter 1421

Upon seeing Matthew, James and Helen instantly sighed with relief, as though they had finally seen their backer.

Sasha immediately ran over and threw herself into Matthew's arms. She had been afraid while being surrounded by so many people just now.

Only when she was by Matthew's side could she really feel relieved.

Matthew gently stroked Sasha's beautiful hair, but his expression gradually turned frosty. He had heard what President Ramsey said when he came in just now.

Consequently, he was inwardly consumed with murderous rage toward the man.

President Ramsey and the others didn't know him and the crown prince, though.

Upon seeing the two men, they looked at each other in puzzlement.

"Who the f*ck are they?"

President Ramsey asked curiously.

The manager shook his head.

"I don't know either. I've never seen them around here before!" he said.

President Ramsey followed Tommy into the room while yelling excitedly, "Tommy, these are the motherf*ckers. I mentioned your name just now, but they turned up their noses at you and even spoke of you rudely. Not only that, but this son of a b*tch calls himself 'the crown prince of Mightwater' Ha! Tommy, it's my first time seeing someone being so audacious as to impersonate the crown prince of Mightwater. Let's beat him up and tell the crown prince about it later on. He'll surely be pleased to hear it."

Then, he suddenly turned to look at Sasha with covetous eyes.

"Oh, right, Tommy, there's that woman as well. She hurled insults at me just now. I want to take her with me and have her apologize to me in person later!"

As he spoke, he eyed Sasha up and down without restraint.

Of course, his intention of taking Sasha away wasn't to have her apologize to him. It was clear that he had his eye on Sasha and wanted to make her his! However, Tommy didn't say a word in reply to all President Ramsey had just said.

Upon entering the room, he was stunned and speechless, for he saw Matthew and the crown prince as soon as he entered.

President Ramsey was still yelling as he didn't know what had happened.

On the other hand, James and Helen were both scared when they saw so many tall and sturdy brutes on President Ramsey's side.

"What the hell is the matter, Tommy? Why did you tell me to get down on my knees?"

President Ramsey asked anxiously.

Without saying a word, Tommy kicked President Ramsey hard in the back of his knee, knocking him to the ground.

"Just behave yourself and kneel here, or I'll break your f*cking legs and let you kneel forever!" he growled angrily.

President Ramsey was frightened.

Indeed, he dared not challenge Tommy, so he had no choice but to kneel on the ground as he was told to.

Only then did Tommy turn to bow to Matthew in humble reverence with panic written all over his face.

"I'm really sorry, Mr. Larson. I didn't know that you and the crown prince were here. Otherwise, I'd never have come over to set myself against you two! I'm not on close terms with this son of a b*tch, so his matters have nothing to do with me. Feel free to tell me how you'd like to punish him, or I can chop him to bits and feed him to the dogs. The manager almost cried while shaking his head vigorously.

At the moment, he was simply overwhelmed with regret.

President Ramsey was an old customer of his, and he knew that the former had deep pockets and was very powerful in Eastshire.

Therefore, when President Ramsey asked for the car, he immediately forced James and the others to give up the car to the former regardless of the rules.

At the time, he thought that James, Helen, and Sasha were just three non-locals.

Even if they were rich, they certainly couldn't compare to President Ramsey.

To him, bullying these three people for President Ramsey's sake was no big deal.

However, he never dreamed that these three people had such a powerful background.

Now that even the crown prince of Mightwater was here, he simply couldn't imagine how high Matthew's status was.

No one in Eastshire—including the heads of the Ten Greatest Families of Eastshire—could be held in such reverence by Tommy, but even Tommy had to be respectful to this guy.

The manager really freaked out. He really couldn't understand what kind of people he had messed with, but he knew that he was really finished this time.

Do you think you can easily kick me around? Do you really think I'm not gonna kill you?"

In an instant, the manager's face turned as white as a sheet, and he trembled all over at the thought of what the crown prince was capable of.

The situation now was obvious.

If he refused to do it, the crown prince would kill him, but if he agreed to do it, he would be finished when the car was gone.

The person who could afford the car was definitely not someone he could mess with.

If he couldn't hand the car over when the customer asked him to, he would definitely be done for.

That person was the scion of a wealthy family in Eastshire. He definitely wouldn't have the nerve to make a fuss with the crown prince, so the manager would have to bear the responsibility.

But how could he bear responsibility for a car that cost over 20 million? Wearing a long face, the manager said in a quavering voice, "Quit kidding me, Prince. I really can't bear the responsibility for this. Why don't you let me do something else? I'm willing to do anything else.."

The crown prince's expression was frosty.

In the end, the 4S Center was smashed and all the cars were destroyed. The crown prince made his subordinates drive away with their favorite Ferrari cars.

The bicycle was packed in the Mercedes-Benz G-class' trunk and taken away.

James, Helen, and the others were joyful as they felt refreshed after the vengeance.

The manager slumped on the ground as he knew that he was screwed.

The salesperson who served James and Helen was trembling at the side as she was utterly startled by the violent spectacle.

"Manager, what should we do now? Should we call the boss? How do we explain this to him?" a man came over and asked anxiously.

He stood up abruptly, thereafter pointing at the salesperson and shouting, "It's all your fault. You served them, so they are your clients. Therefore, you have to take full responsibility for the incident!"

Hearing this, Helen was furious and she looked at the manager angrily.

"Is that true?"

His face was pale at that point.

"S-She—"

Upon hearing that, Helen angrily said, "What now? You tried to put the blame on someone else even though it was your own fault? I'll let you know that my son-in-law and the others didn't punch you earlier because they're showing mercy. Listen here—from now on, this girl is my employee. If you mess with her, you must fight against me too. You can try that if you dare."

The manager turned pale and he didn't dare to say a word. Helen grabbed the salesperson's arm.

"Girl, come with me. Just ignore him! I will let Matthew help you with your resignation, and no one will let you take the blame!" The salesperson was full of tears and she followed Helen meekly.

Helen then took the salesperson into the car.

Matthew and Sasha had already driven away in a sports car, leaving only Helen, James and the salesperson in the vehicle. The salesperson wiped away her tears and said respectfully.

James and Helen then took the salesperson away from the 4S Center.

On the way, after chatting for a while, Helen discovered that the salesperson was a fellow from her hometown.

The salesperson, named Lynn Taylor, lived in a town not far from Helen's hometown.

After graduating from university, she stayed in Eastshire and worked hard alone, so her life in Eastshire had been quite tough.

Although she worked in the Ferrari 4S Center, she didn't enjoy the glamorous life as an insignificant salesperson.

After paying for the monthly rent, water and electricity bills, there was not much left in her bank account, and Lynn was strapped for cash.

Initially, Helen took a fancy to Lynn's kind personality.

However, after learning that Lynn was a fellow from her hometown, the former liked her even more.

With a smile, she took Lynn's hand and said, "Don't worry. You can address me as Mrs. Cunningham from now on. If you have any difficulties, just tell me about it."

Tears were welling up in Lynn's eyes. No one had supported her since she started working in Eastshire.

Helen's words made her feel like she had found someone to rely on.

Helen was surprised.

Chapter 1429

In the Cameron Hotel, James and Helen led Lynn into the hall.

This was the first time Lynn had walked into the Cameron Hotel. She had heard about the Cameron Hotel in Eastshire years ago.

This was a high-end hotel in Eastshire, and not even money alone could let one stay here.

During Lynn's college days, a big shot took a liking to her classmate and treated her to a meal in the hotel.

Since then, her classmate showed off her experience for a long time.

When Lynn passed by the Cameron Hotel, she would always glance at it enviously. She never thought that one day, she would be able to walk into the high-end hotel in Eastshire. She walked behind James and Helen uneasily, not letting go of Helen's arm.

Lynn felt that she was incompatible with this classy place.

As soon as Lynn entered the top floor room, she saw President Ramsey kneeling at the entrance.

President Ramsey had his head lowered and he had been beaten severely.

Matthew, Sasha, the crown prince and the others sat at the table while Tommy respectfully stood off to one side.

Lynn was stunned when she saw this scene.

President Ramsey used to be domineering, and even the owner of the Ferrari 4S Center must be respectful and polite to him.

However, now he was kneeling on the floor, not even trying to move an inch.

As a big shot in Eastshire, Master Marshall stood aside like a waiter and didn't take a seat for himself.

Lynn could never imagine such a scene. She knew Matthew was not a simple guy from the beginning, but she was still shocked after seeing this scene.

On the other hand, James and Helen were stunned when they saw the scene.
