I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1980-“The earthquake is coming! Run!”

The Iridescent Sect was the closest to the source, so the tremors it felt were naturally the strongest.

In the courtyard where Celia and others live, everyone was caught off guard by the sudden earthquake and huddled together tightly.

Selena, Mia, and Astrid were the strongest, so they stood on the outermost edge.

Meanwhile, the others were protected by the three of them.

The disciples of the Iridescent Sect all flew into the air, wanting to see what was going on.

Nova was no exception.

She went into the sky and stood at the front of the Iridescent Sect disciples.

“Lady Dream! What’s going on? This has never happened in the Iridescent Continent before,” an elder asked.

“Yeah! Lady Dream, how could there be an earthquake in the Iridescent Continent? Is someone making trouble?”

Nova shook her head, expressing that she had no idea either.

However, she knew very well in her heart.

She could feel the vibration coming from the ice cavern.

David must have taken action.

However, did he need to cause such a huge commotion just to save someone?

Nova was very puzzled.

At this time, there was a sudden roar in the forbidden area of the Iridescent Sect.

“How presumptuous! Anyone who dares to behave recklessly in the Iridescent Sect will die!”

At the bottom of the ice cavern, Celeste could not help but tremble when she heard this voice.

The speaker was all too familiar to her.

It was her teacher, Eira, one of the four reputable elders of the Iridescent Sect, and an ancient True Saint.

Although Celeste trusted David very much, she was still worried about David in the face of her teacher.

After all, she had never seen David's strength with her own eyes.

Everything she knew, she learned from Nova.

She only knew that when she brought David to Star Kingdom, he had just entered Eternal Realm for the first time.

When he could feel Celeste's worries, David comforted her, "Celeste, don't be afraid! I'm not afraid of True Saints now. Just watch how I avenge you."

"David, you have to be careful! Master has lived for a long time, and she has many tricks up her sleeves. You must protect yourself. If you can't do it, you should leave first and come back to save me when you have enough strength. I can afford to wait."

"Don't worry! My current strength is enough."

After David finished speaking, he swiped his finger and a small wound appeared on his fingertip.

A drop of blood essence was forced out of his body.

Then, he started cloning himself.

That drop of blood essence began to change slowly, and finally, under Celeste's stunned expression, it turned into another David.

'W-What is this?

Celeste stared at David's clone which was exactly the same as David. She was speechless from shock.

David's clone looked at Celeste and smiled slightly. He said, "Celeste, you don't have to be so shocked. This is my clone, and he has the same strength as me."

As soon as David said that, Celeste shuddered.

As an elder of the Iridescent Sect who had lived for nearly two thousand years, she had never seen such a heaven-defying method.

She had never even heard of this even in the secret history of the Iridescent Sect.

He could use a drop of blood essence to conjure a person with the same strength as him out of thin air.

If David spent more blood essence, wouldn't he be able to create a powerful team full of True Saints?

No wonder David was so confident.

With this trick, no one would be able to defeat him aside from Sacred Saints.
