

I'm A Quadrillionaire

Chapter 1998

The longer one lived, the more one would fear death.

Of course, Dane was no exception.

“Heh, very good! As the head of the Fellowes family, you’ve done a great job!” Cedar sneered.

Dane lowered his head and dared not speak.

He decided to go all out to have a chance of survival.

“Roald, get over here!” Cedar snapped.

“Grandmaster!” Pre-Saint Roald stood up.

“Is this the head of the family you elected? He retreats before the battle and is only interested in saving his own neck! How can such a person take on this important role?” Cedar questioned loudly.

“I’m sorry, Grandmaster. This is all due to my ineffective supervision. Please punish me, Grandmaster.”

Roald was the Saint who was most active outside of the family, so he would also participate in family affairs.

Dane needed his approval to become the head of the Fellowes family.

“Hmph! I’ll deal with you after this is over. It’s also time to reshuffle the family. How can such a family with no sense of solidarity survive the storm?”

Cedar’s words stunned the seniors present.

Then, a gleam of joy appeared in their eyes.

Everyone was trying to figure out what the grandmaster meant.

Was there hope for the Fellowes family?

However, no matter how much they thought about it, they could not figure out where the hope of the Fellowes family would come from.

Their enemy was the Palmore family, one of the six top forces in Star Kingdom.

Now, the Palmore family’s prestige had soared to the top after Zenon defeated Sid and became the head of the Saint Association.

It was not an exaggeration to call them the top force in Star Kingdom.

No matter how one looked at it, the Fellowes family was doomed facing such a powerful family.

Everyone looked at Cedar with doubt in their eyes.

They wanted to ask the grandmaster about this.

However, before they could say anything, Cedar continued, “Since you want to resign as the head of the family, then I will agree. From now on, the position of the head of the Fellowes family will be temporarily held by Valerio.”

“Thank you for trusting me, Grandmaster. I will definitely do my best to lead the family to glory,” Valerio stood up and promised.

Valerio actually had no ambition of becoming the head of the Fellowes family.

However, since the grandmaster said it in front of so many people, he could not refuse or embarrass the grandmaster!

Cedar nodded in satisfaction.

“Val, although you have become the head of the family, you still have to take care of the Treasure Trove. Train Alba as soon as possible, and when she can be independent, hand over Treasure Trove to her.”

He had a reason for doing this.

Even if Valerio was not the head of the Fellowes family, Cedar was still prepared to hand over Treasure Trove to Alba.

Treasure Trove’s owner was not just the Fellowes family now.

David and his master also had a 45% stake in it.

Alba and David also had a good relationship.

Therefore, handing over Treasure Trove to Alba’s management was the safest strategy.

“Yes, Grandmaster!” Valerio replied respectfully.

“Thank you for trusting me. I will definitely live up to your expectations,” Alba also stood up and replied a little excitedly.

The dialogue between the three of them made the seniors feel that the Fellowes family might have a chance.

Otherwise, how would they be in the mood to talk about this when they were about to die?

Dane already had some regrets at that moment.

He felt that he might have made a mistake.

If the family managed to survive this, then it would be so awkward for him.

While the seniors of the Fellowes family were having a meeting, a well-equipped fleet was rapidly approaching the Fellowes family.

There were two large words engraved on each ship.

‘Law Enforcement!’

It turned out to be the Saint Association’s law enforcement team.

They were the most elite unit in the Saint Association.
