I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2063-Lorraine was a little dazed when she heard David's voice.

David did not answer like this the last time she was in a state of confusion and was hallucinating.

'Why is he so gentle this time?'

After she heard what David said, she felt the condition of her own body.

It was almost exhausted, but there was a powerful vitality continuously entering her body.

Then, she recalled what David just said.

'Did he save me?'

Lorraine's eyes slowly opened, and she lifted her head slightly to look at her chest.

There was a stone emitting a milky white halo at her wound.

This stone was the thing that was injecting boundless vitality into her body.

Even though she still felt weak, Lorraine could feel herself turning for the better.

The chains inside her body were gone.

It seemed that she was saved.

Meanwhile, the person who rescued her happened to be David, who had humiliated her in public and rejected her.

What puzzled Lorraine was if David had known she was in danger and so came all the way here, or if he was just passing by.

'Who cares? It's fine as long as I'm safe.'

In reality, Lorraine did not want David to see her in such a state.

However, compared with her life, obviously, the latter was more important.

Suddenly, Lorraine thought of the words of her four teachers.

There was a powerhouse from a higher civilization hiding in the forbidden area, and he should have awakened now!

Since he had four True Saint slaves, this person's status must be very high, and a high status meant great strength.

'No, it's not safe here.'

'We can't stay here anymore.'

"David, let's get out of here quickly. There are big secrets and great horrors in the forbidden area of the sect. If we don't leave, it will be too late," Lorraine whispered weakly.

"Oh? Do you know the secrets? Tell me," David asked curiously.

"I'll tell you when we get to a safe place."

"It's fine. Tell me now. Don't worry, as long as I'm there, this will be the safest place."

'As long as I'm there, this will be the safest place.'

David's domineering statement shocked Lorraine for a moment. While she was shocked, she was also in disbelief.

If they were on Earth or the Milky Way, Lorraine would definitely believe David if he said this.

However, they were in Star Kingdom.

It was more than one level higher than Earth and the Milky Way.

How dare David say such a thing?

Even though she was in disbelief, Lorraine did not say it, but quickly explained, "David, I don't know much about it. According to my guess, there is a person hidden in this forbidden area. This person has been in a deep sleep, and he and the four reputable elders do not belong to Star Kingdom. Instead, they came from a much higher civilization. The four reputable elders are just his slaves, and when addressing this person, they will call him Master."

When David heard this, he was a little shocked.

'The secret of the forbidden area of the Iridescent Sect was actually someone from a higher civilization who had been in deep sleep?'

'And the four True Saints are just his slaves?

'This person's identity and strength are probably not low.

'Did he emit the blue lights when he woke up?

'Which part did they come from?

'His eyes, probably.

'He's been asleep for countless years, and he has such power after opening his eyes for the first time.

'This person is a little hard to deal with.

'He can't be a Pre-Deity, right?' David's heart started to race.
