A Man Like None Other Chapter 2256

A Man Like None Other Novel

Despite Tucker's high cultivation level, Kai felt no fear whatsoever when dealing with his attacks. Having defeated Elgado, a Top Level Ninth Level Martial Arts God from Scorching Heaven Sect, Kai was confident that he could easily defeat Tucker, who had just become a Ninth Level Martial Arts God.

With a slight twist of his body, Kai was able to dodge Tucker's incoming blade. Tucker froze in shock as he didn't expect Kai to dodge his attack so effortlessly.

"Ten Thousand Swords Slash!" Tucker yelled. Countless energy blades came out of the sword in his hand and headed straight for Kai. Kai adjusted his aura and snapped his fingers, firing bursts of martial energy at the energy blades.

Boom! A deafening explosion rang out and shook the space around it, forming huge waves on the ocean surface. Kai didn't even need Dragonslayer Sword to fight Tucker. Instead, he was able to deal with Tucker using only his bare fists.

The look on Tucker's face grew solemn as he narrowed his eyes and glared at Kai. Sonyx, who had been fighting a demon beast, was just as shocked when he saw Kai fight Tucker with his bare hands.

"You dare come after me for revenge when you're that weak?" Kai asked with a sneer and gently grabbed at the ocean surface with his right hand.

A pillar of water rose and turned into a spear within Kai's hand. Tucker could even see a stream of air surging around the tip of the spear. As Kai hurled the spear at Tucker, the momentum generated so much force that it created a gigantic whirlpool around them.

Tucker's face clouded over when he saw that. He did not expect a Third Level Martial Arts God like Kai to have such a powerful aura. With his teeth tightly clenched, Tucker slashed at the incoming spear and shattered it on the spot. Huh... As terrifying as Kai's aura may be, his attacks aren't as powerful as they seem!

Right as Tucker was about to mouth off gleefully, however, the shattered spear rebuilt itself and continued flying toward him. Realizing that he would not have time to dodge the incoming attack, Tucker could only block it with his sword.

Boom! The impact sent Tucker flying in an instant and left a dent in his sword. Ripples formed on the ocean surface as Tucker flew a few hundred meters backward before coming to a halt.

His aura depleted rapidly as he coughed up a mouthful of blood. The martial artists of Stormwind Sect began to panic when they saw that. If Tucker is no match for Kai, then there's no way we'd stand a chance against him! Sonyx's eyes went wide with shock and disbelief.

What? Kai wounded Tucker severely with just one blow? That huge difference in power is definitely not something I can handle! There's no way Kai is only a Third Level Martial Arts God! He has got to be at least a Martial Arts Sovereign!

Their assumption of Kai being a Third Level Martial Arts God was what led to him wiping the floor with them. Sonyx felt glad that he had decided to observe the situation before attacking Kai. Otherwise, a mere Top Level Ninth Level Martial Arts God like himself would never stand a chance against Kai.

"Let's go!" Sonyx shouted as he ordered his men to retreat. The guys from Stormwind Sect wanted to leave too, but they were locked in combat with the demon beasts.

"Don't even think about leaving now that you're here!" Kai yelled as a strong murderous intent formed in his eyes. The next thing they knew, a huge wave that was dozens of meters tall appeared on the ocean surface. A second later, the gigantic wave came down on the fleeing members of Flying Star Sect. Inside that gigantic wave were thousands of arrows, all of which contained Kai's ridiculously powerful spiritual energy.

It didn't matter if the martial artists from Flying Star Sect were Martial Arts Saints or Martial Arts Gods. The arrows went right through their bodies and killed them all regardless.

The ocean surface was stained red in an instant. Sonyx's eyes were filled with fear when he saw that his men were all dead. All he could do was fully unleash his aura and shield himself with it.

He was so focused on ensuring his own survival and getting out of there that he couldn't even be bothered to worry about anyone else. At that very moment, Sonyx truly regretted agreeing to kill Kai. He never expected a martial artist from outside the hidden realm to be as powerful as a Martial Arts Sovereign.

Sonyx was able to escape with his injuries, but the men he had brought over had all died at sea. Instead of chasing after Sonyx, Kai slowly walked across the ocean surface and made his way toward Tucker. Fear and terror were all that filled Tucker's eyes as he watched Kai approach him.

After all, he had just witnessed all of Sonyx's men die while trying to escape from Kai. Sonyx was a lot more powerful than he was, so Tucker knew he was as good as dead for attempting to fight Kai. So, this is why Sonyx chose not to attack! He was observing the fight to assess Kai's strength!

"P-Please don't kill me, Kai!" Tucker pleaded with Kai out of fear. "You tried to kill me even though I had left you alone, so why should I spare you?" Kai asked coldly.

"I was only trying to avenge my son! You said it was Elgado of Scorching Heaven Sect who killed him, right? Well, I believe you now! I'll have Stormwind Sect destroy Scorching Heaven Sect! I promise not to bother you ever again!" Tucker exclaimed. Kai stared Tucker in the eye. "Emiliano is your son?"

Tucker nodded without saying anything in response. Kai's lips curled into a faint smile as he said, "Very well, then. I will spare your life, but you will still be punished for trying to kill me."

The next thing Tucker knew, Kai kicked him in the arm and broke it on the spot. Tucker's forehead was drenched in cold sweat as an intense pain tore through his body, but he simply endured it without making a sound.

He didn't mind having his arm broken as he could heal it with genetic modification later. His main priority at the moment was simply to stay alive.

"You may leave now, but keep in mind that it was Elgado of Scorching Heaven Sect who killed I your son. Emiliano's death had nothing to do with me," Kai said as he jumped onto a nearby demon beast and rode off at full speed.

Tucker gritted his teeth and endured the intense pain as he dragged himself ashore. In the meantime, Sonyx had also been badly wounded and was making his way through the mountains near the ocean.

I'm incredibly lucky to be able to escape with my life. I must return to Flying Star Sect and tell Wrey that Kai is far more powerful than they imagined!

With that in mind, Sonyx was about to continue on his journey when a bunch of people blocked his path. Sonyx's face went pale the moment he looked up and saw who they were.

"Y-Yona?" His eyes were filled with terror, and his body was trembling in fear. Yona was the head of Scorching Heaven Sect, which bore a grudge against the sects of the hidden realm. As such, Sonyx knew that he was in trouble when Yona and his men had blocked his path.

"To think that the greatest fighter of Flying Star Sect would be bested by a nobody from outside the hidden realm... How embarrassing!" Yona said with a faint smile. "How did you know?" Sonyx asked in confusion. We were fighting Kai out at sea, and not many know about our plan to kill him, so how did she know?

"Of course, I'd know! I also know that you wanted to kill Kai to avenge Mr. Lindt. Unfortunately, you won't be able to avenge Mr. Lindt even if you succeeded in killing Kai!" Yona said with a sneer.

"Why is that?" Sonyx's face scrunched up in confusion. A few seconds later, he recalled what Kai said. He mentioned something about Elgado of Scorching Heaven Sect killing Emiliano. Given what Yona has just told me, it would seem that Kai was telling the truth! Sonyx narrowed his eyes as he said coldly, "So, it was you b*stards from Scorching Heaven Sect who killed Mr. Lindt!"

“That’s right! Our elder killed Emiliano and Avery by absorbing their power! Well, it’s too late for you to do anything about it now!” Yona said as she swung at Sonyx. Sonyx tried to dodge his attack, but he was too badly wounded to react in time. Just like that, Yona killed him in a single slap.

“Dump his body into the ocean. This way, Flying Star Sect will go after Kai for sure!” he said with a sneer and stared coldly at Sonyx’s corpse before leaving. Meanwhile, Kai had just returned to the island. Flaxseed ran up to him and asked, “Are you all right, Kai?”

“Why wouldn’t I be? I went there with dozens of demon beasts and crushed them all!” Kai replied gleefully. He felt great just thinking about how cool he looked while leading the demon beasts into battle. “That does sound kind of fun. Could you teach me how to control these demon beasts? I want to give it a shot!” Flaxseed said excitedly.

“Forget it. We’re heading back right now!” The Secret Realm Conference was about to begin, so Kai needed to rush over as soon as possible. He didn’t have time to fool around with Flaxseed.

Flaxseed had no choice but to contain his curiosity for the time being. After saying their goodbyes, Kai had Archer and Skyler head back and prepared to return to Jadeborough. Kai had just departed from the island when he noticed a faint light coming from the ocean surface.

“Look over there, Mr. Flaxseed! What do you think that is?” Kai asked while pointing in the direction of the light. “What are you talking about? I don’t see anything!” Flaxseed replied.

“Something is glowing there! Do you not see the light?” Kai was confused as to why Flaxseed couldn’t see the light. “What light?” With a puzzled frown on his face, Flaxseed turned toward Godrick and asked, “Godrick, do you see any light?”

Godrick shook his head. “Nope!” “See? Even he doesn’t see this light that you’re talking about. You must be imagining it!” Flaxseed said. The light was faint, but Kai knew for a fact that he could see it.

He then headed in the direction of the light, but Flaxseed and Godrick were still unable to see it. Kai found it strange that he was the only person who could see that light.

“Wait here, you two. I’ll go and have a look,” Kai said. He was planning to go underwater and see where the light was coming from. “I don’t see anything, but I’ll go with you just in case.”

Flaxseed wanted to go underwater with Kai and see if he would find the source of the light. Just like that, Kai and Flaxseed dove into the water.

After Kai and Flaxseed got into the water, they continuously swam downward. As they descended further down the sea, their surroundings grew dimmer and soon turned pitch-black. “Kai, it’s so dark here. Where’s the shiny thing you mentioned?”

Scanning his surroundings, Flaxseed felt nervous and gripped the corner of Kai’s clothes tightly. Meanwhile, Kai unleashed his aura, creating a shield around them as their bodies plummeted. “Don’t tell me you can’t see the light source?”

Kai asked Flaxseed in surprise. “I really can’t see it. This whole place is pitch dark. If there were light, I would’ve noticed it early on. Stop scaring me!”

Flaxseed looked around him and grimaced. Kai furrowed his brows in silence while he continued moving toward the source of light. / don’t get it. Why can’t Flaxseed see it? Why am I the only one who can see the light?

They plunged deeper into the sea and arrived at a narrow ravine not long after. Staring at the gloomy and oppressive ravine, Flaxseed started to regret his decision to follow Kai there.

Unfortunately, at that point, he could only desperately hold on to the corner of Kai’s clothes and press on with the dive. After an unknown amount of time passed, the initially inky environment suddenly lit up.

“What’s that?” Flaxseed shouted as he could. also see the radiance now. Kai looked at the source of luminosity and noticed a glowing white skeleton. Kai was baffled by the existence of a skeleton in the depths of the ocean. Moreover, why is the skeleton alight?

They moved closer and realized the skeleton was actually glistening and translucent, shining brightly like crystals. "Is this a real skeleton or one made from crystal?"

Flaxseed crouched down and inspected their finding. The skeleton was complete, as even its finger bones were still intact and visible. However, the presence of the skeleton there was rather puzzling.

Upon scrutinizing the skeleton, Kai suddenly discovered some special markings on its skull. He hurriedly squatted down and examined the skull. To Kai's astonishment, an intricate network of lines and labels was engraved on the skull.

"Mr. Flaxseed, check this out. What do you think this is?" Kai called Flaxseed over to study the unique markings on the skull. Upon closer investigation, Flaxseed exclaimed joyfully, "This seems to be a map. Could it be a treasure map? Don't you think this resembles Kazillion Mountains? Also, here and here."

Flaxseed pointed out some trails on the skull to Kai. After hearing Flaxseed's insights, Kai realized it was indeed a map with some specially labeled spots. He figured it must be a map depicting directions to a specific ancient ruin filled with treasures.

After all, thousands of years ago, the earth was populated with countless spiritual energy- cultivating sects. Hence, the existence of such treasure-loaded ancient ruins was just an ordinary occurrence.

"But who is this? I can't believe he carved a treasure map on his own skull. And how did his remains end up here?" Kai asked..

"How would I know? However, this skeleton most likely appeared here because this person was murdered at sea, and his corpse was casually tossed and ended up here. In addition, due to the influence of the underwater environment, the bones underwent crystallization and turned into this state. To think that you managed to perceive the light from the sea surface, this might just be the work of fate!"

Flaxseed couldn't explain the origin of that skeleton either, nor could he fathom why someone would carve the treasure map on his skull. After all, a normal person wouldn't do something like that.

Kai nodded. Then, he put away the skull in his Storage Ring before burying the rest of the skeleton with the sand and silt on the ocean floor. Regardless of who this person was, he could now rest in peace.

Kai didn't plan to follow the markings on the skull to search for ancient ruins or treasures at that moment because he didn't have the time to spare. He needed to hurry back to Jadeborough to participate in the Secret Realm Conference.

"Kai, Mr. Flaxseed, did you find anything?" Godrick asked curiously when he saw Kai and Flaxseed return from under the sea. "Nothing much, just a skeleton. If I had known, I wouldn't have tagged along," Flaxseed said.

"Let's get going, then. We need to get back to Jadeborough as soon as possible!" Godrick urged. After they came ashore, the gang boarded an airplane to fly back to Jadeborough. While Kai and the others were rushing back to Jadeborough, the atmosphere within Stormwind Sect was subdued and tense.

Tucker returned to Stormwind Sect with injuries. He reported the circumstances to Hugh. After learning Kai's abilities had surpassed the Top Level of Ninth Level Martial Arts God, Hugh's expression turned grim.

"Tucker, Tucker!" At that moment, Hugh's wife ran over anxiously. "Tucker, I heard you were wounded. Are you all right? How did you lose to an upstart?"

"I'm fine." Tucker shook his head. Hugh watched as his wife expressed great concern for Tucker, his eyes filled with intense rage. Still, he suppressed his anger. "Tucker, this is a Healing Pill. Take it and get some rest."

Hugh took out a green pill and handed it to Tucker. "Thank you, Hugh." Tucker received the pill gratefully and consumed it without hesitation. A sneer spread across Hugh's face after he saw Tucker swallow the pill.

A few moments later, Tucker felt his internal organs churned. Immediately afterward, excruciating pain erupted within him. Tucker spat out a mouthful of blood before falling to the ground, his eyes riveted on Hugh in incredulity. "Hugh, w-what did you give me?"

“That was an Intestine-crushing Pill. Anyone who took it would face inevitable death!” Hugh replied while wearing a frosty smile. “Tucker, Tucker!” Hugh’s wife called out in perturbation before glaring at Hugh angrily. “Hugh, what are you doing?”

“What am I doing? Of course, I’m killing him.” Hugh snorted. “Why, Hugh? Why are you doing this?” Tucker asked as he was puzzled.

“You still have the audacity to ask me why?” Hugh narrowed his eyes. His fury instantaneously burst forth. “You’re a shameless couple who have been cheating on me behind my back. Do you think I was unaware of your betrayal? That Emiliano was your child. Don’t assume I didn’t know he was completely unrelated to me. I sent him to the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace because I knew that place was dangerous, and he would most likely be sacrificed there.

Unexpectedly, he really died. I couldn’t be happier with that outcome. Moreover, I instructed you to hunt down Kai with the intention of letting him do away with you. Unfortunately, he failed to kill you and merely allowed you to return with grave injuries. He might not have killed you, but I still won’t let you live. After enduring this shame for so many years, I can finally tear you two into pieces!”

Hugh’s aura rapidly intensified and extended to engulf the duo before him. Colors drained from Tucker’s face as he realized their adulterous act had been exposed. Hugh’s wife also hastily begged for mercy. “Hugh, I was wrong. Please don’t kill me. I promise I won’t repeat the same mistake....

“Hmph! You want me to spare you, but you two were already plotting to assassinate me. Your schemes could never escape my eyes! Go to h*ll, you shameless couple!”

Hugh waved his hand, and an enormous force instantly crushed his wife and Tucker into a pile of bloody pulp. Looking at his wife and sworn brother, who had suffered terrible deaths, Hugh remained unpacified. He continued thrusting his fists, eventually demolishing the entire room.
